Friendly Thoughts

PEOPLE'S FUNERAL HOME

To be dependent upon another is human. To need sympathy, understanding, to need another's patient consideration and friendliness is natural. To supply such needs is divine.

We urge a consideration of the cost of furnishings that the expenses of the service may be moderated to suit the family's means.

Hundreds Pay Tribute To McCoy Memorial Usher Bd. For Progress in Four Years

Amid a true setting of reverence and thanksgiving, the McCoy Memorial Usher board marched up the aisles rendering a mammouth program to the satisfaction of several hundred well-wishers who filled the church auditorium to capacity.

Mrs. Gertie R. Lee, president of the Southern district, was mistress of ceremonies and the honorable Rev. A. A. Peters, pastor of Victory Baptist church, brought the anniversary message, which was very inspiring.

Much commendation and gratitude to the board of the city and members of the various churches who supported the effort was voiced by the pastor, Rev. E. A. Anderson. The McCoy Memorial choir under the direction of Mrs. Revere Green rendered soul-stirring numbers and several guest artists appeared on the program.

A fine job of presiding and planning the work of the board was capably handled by President Hammock, vice-president, Nodie Herd, and William Armstrong. The other officers are working, each in his separate sphere to make a well rounded organization.

The program was climaxed when the entire board led by the pastor, 40 strong marched around the rostrum clad in their new fall uniforms, trim and dignified. The board boasts of having grown from one member to 40 in the past four years.

The church is indeed proud of this strong organization that furnishes a bulwark of solid strength and helpfulness in this great Christian service.

The program will commence at 8:30 p.m. The Gilbert family will be presented on October 30 and 31 of the same week by the Music department. Albert J. McNeil, minister of music, and Fannie E. Benamin, organist.

Christian Science Topic 'Probation after Death'

"The hour is coming, and now is, when the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God: and they that hear shall live." This declaration of Jesus as recorded by John will be the Golden Text of the Sunday Lesson Sermon on "Probation after Death" in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

John's Gospel relates that after the resurrection, "when the doors were shut where the disciples were assembled for fear of the Jews, came Jesus and stood in the midst, and saith unto them, Peace be unto you." Luke adds, "But they were terrified and affrighted, and supposed that they had seen a spirit. And he said unto them, Why are ye troubled? and why do thoughts arise in your hearts? Behold my hands and my feet, that it is I myself: . . . for a spirit hath not flesh and bones, as ye see me have. . . . and he led them out as far as to Bethany, and he lifted up his hands, and blessed them."

Mary Baker Eddy says in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures:" "The reappearing of Jesus was not the return of a spirit. He presented the same body that he had before his crucifixion, and so glorified the supremacy of Mind over matter."

2 Stars of 'Crossfire' to Address Conference Sunday, Oct. 26

Robert Ryan and Gloria Grahame, two of the stars of the motion picture "Crossfire", will be guest speakers Sunday at the second annual convention of the American Jewish Labor Council at Rodger Young Auditorium, 936 W. Washington blvd.

The picture has received high praise for its skillful and dramatic presentation of a message against anti-Semitism. In the film, Robert Ryan portrays man whose smoldering hatred of Jews eventually leads him to murder.

The conference will open at 1 p.m. with a report by Dr. Sanford Goldner, national board member and president of the Los Angeles Chapter of the Council.

Two panel discussions will be held from 3 to 5 p.m. The legislative panel, will include such speakers as Mrs. Charlotta Bass, editor-publisher of the California EAGLE, and Leon Clifton, publicity director for AFL Retail Clerks.

The panel will take up legislative action against anti-Semitism such as the Buckley Bill in congress and state, city and county regulations, the Case Anti-Lynch Bill in congress and proposed state and city legislation for a Fair Employment Practices Commission.

Participants in another panel will hear former "displaced persons" from Europe speak of the problem of displaced persons, their rehabilitation, and Palestine.

A specially arranged show will start at 8 p.m.

Bread Prices Here Soon To Rise

Bread was up two cents a loaf today in many cities across the nation, as bakers blamed soaring prices at grain exchanges.

Bread prices in Los Angeles had not risen as the EAGLE went to press, but were expected to join the upward price spiral early next week.

A Travelog

was still undecided when we went to bed.

The next day was Sunday, but to us it was merely another day.

We arose briskly, lighted the gas heater and dressed to go out for breakfast. It required quite a hustle and bustle to find enough of our summer clothes to keep us warm and the activity cheered us. Momentarily at least, dread for the coming days left me.

We clumped down the long flight of creaky stairs to the street. A soft frost glistened in the sun over the dirty snow and ice that had collected in the streets the day before.

Only a few people moved along. Occasionally I noticed small groups hunched in the doorways of clothing stores, pawn shops and novelty firms, all closed for Sunday. Over this scene I heard the distant ringing of church bells.

After breakfast we walked to San Jacinto Plaza and snapped six pictures of the billboard with its poll tax message.

"Why'd you take so many?" asked Vaughn.

"To be sure of at least one good one," I replied.

We walked along the edge of the Plaza, crossed the railroad tracks and reached the library.

The sun was out in full force, but it was not enough to keep us warm. I snapped a few pictures of the kids, the library and the mountains to the west and then reluctantly returned to the hotel. It was beginning to seem like home, yet the barrenness of the room made me feel depressed.

As soon as I could, I went in search of a grocery store. I walked aimlessly for 15 minutes before I found one set in a row of tiny cell-like dwellings of wood and brick construction. Some of these had narrow, fenced-in grassless yards. Young people lounged along the fences and sauntered along the black sidewalk.

Sitting on the curb in front of the grocery was an aged, plump grandfather, whose brown wrinkled face and neck absorbed the sun like the fissures of parched soil absorb an early fall rain. Everywhere I looked were these quiet people.

I returned to the hotel by a different route and was amazed at literally hordes of people ranged along the store fronts or standing in knots at the street corners. Months later I was to learned to my surprise that I had passed close to the Mexican border. The shabby clothes, the way they stood in closely-knit groups indicated their immigrant status. As I climbed the stairs to our room, I remembered part of the verse inscribed on the Statue of Liberty in New York:

"—give me your tired, your poor,
Your huddled masses
Yearning to breathe free,
The wretched refuse of your teeming shore,
Send these, the tempest-toss'd to me—."

'People's World' To Close Drive With Bazaar

SAN FRANCISCO—The Daily People's World, only pro-labor daily paper in the West, yesterday announced a gala banquet and bazaar as a wind-up to its annual financial campaign on Sunday, November 9, from 2 p.m. on.

To be held in the building of the paper itself at 590 Folsom street here, the affair promises to be a real social event. A turkey dinner, for $1.25 a plate, will take care of the eats. Added attractions will be a photography booth, where a commercial photographer will "shoot" you for a nominal fee; and the bazaar where Christmas shopping can be done at bargain prices.

English Firm Puts Out New Cosmetics

Sidney of London, an English firm now manufacturing in Hollywood, has brought to the West Coast a new prestige line of fine cosmetics for Negro people. These specialized cosmetics were styled originally for their British East Indian clientele for which this company has been widely known for many years.

In addition to their complete line of cosmetics, they feature a liquid powder base that has no equal. This base contains the finest oils, and is skillfully blended in five different shades. Theirs is a special ingredient that makes it possible to use on both dry and oily skins.

At present, these exclusive cosmetics are only being sold through Sidney of London's special representatives, however, they will soon be available at your leading beauty salons.

John Garfield Maps Film-Race Relations Plan

CHICAGO — John Garfield, one of Hollywood's biggest box office names, outlines in November Negro Digest the plan which his committee of the Screen Actors Guild is now presenting to the producers and casting directors in film-land for immediate adoption to improve the roles of Negroes in U. S. movies.

Garfield outlines the main points of his platform as:

- Negro parts in all scripts will be played by Negroes and the racial character will not be changed.
- The Negro will be portrayed on the screen not as a caricature but as a simple human being, a normal member of the community.
- Negroes will be cast in the routine, un-named bits in the script as mechanics, secretaries, nurses, etc.

"This program is not perfect," Garfield concludes, "but it is good. And all of us who are rooting for it know it's exciting to have such a forward step."

Right thoughts and deeds are the sovereign remedies for all earth's woe.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Freedom Train Set-up Lilly-White

NEW YORK—Harlem this week took with a grain of salt the announcement by the American Heritage Foundation, sponsors of the much ballyhooed Freedom Train, that it would not tolerate any type of racial or religious segregation at any exhibition of the Freedom Train in its travel through 48 states and the District of Columbia.

Reason for Harlem's scepticism is the knowledge that the Freedom Train set-up is completely lilly-white. There is not one Negro on its 38-member advisory committee. Nor was there a single Negro on the program of rededication at Grand Central Station.

In addition, the staff of 38 which has been assigned to man the Train on its 33,000 mile tour is all white, with the exception of three pullman porters.

The board of directors, headed by Winthop W. Aldrich, chairman of the powerful Chase National Bank and brother-in-law of John D. Rockfeller, has banned documents of labor, such as the Wagner act considered by labor to be its charter of emancipation. It also forbids inclusion of President Roosevelt's Order creating the wartime Fair Employment Practices Commission.

Protesting the domination of the Train's board of trustees by reactionary capitalists, Negroes and labor leaders alike stayed away from the rededication. Of the thousands of people on hand for that ceremony, the only Negroes observed were representatives of the Negro press.

While the train harbors such documents as the Emancipation Proclamation, the Bill of Rights, and the 13th Amendment, which are ignored, anyway, in many states, Negroes are looking askance on the avowed purposes of its mission because of the biased policy of the sponsors of Freedom Train.

Recent reports from Southern states indicate that the biased policy of the Train's sponsors will be matched with Southern jimcrowism despite the sponsors pious announcement that they will "not tolerate any type of racial or religious segregation" at exhibitions of the Train. Several southern cities already have set aside one Freedom Day for whites, and another for Negroes.

4 Kelly Kar Officials Indicted by Gov't

Four officers and 27 employes of the Kelly Kar Co., this week had posted bonds in federal court as defendants under a federal grand jury indictment charging conspiracy and illegal sale of used cars in violation of the now defunct OPA.

The indictment contains 101 points, covers a period from July, 1946, to April of this year.

Secret study, silent thought, is, after all, the mightiest agent in human affairs.—Channing.

Time U. S. Cleans Up Own House, Wallace Tells Cheering Crowd

BALTIMORE—Continuing his speaking tour throughout the Eastern seaboard for peace and against war and discrimination, former vice-president Henry A. Wallace told a packed audience at Baltimore's Enon Baptist church that "It is time now to end the most heinous of all sins—segregation—it is time this nation cleans up its own house."

As evidence of the spirit behind his words, Wallace announced to the cheering audience that he had cancelled a scheduled appearance at Little Rock, Ark., because the owners of the local auditorium there refused to permit a non-segregated meeting.

Introduced by Rev. E. W. White as "a great statesman and great spokesman for minority groups," Wallace asked: "Why do we have armed adventures in Greece on the borders of Russia, why do we tell Bulgaria and Hungary what democracy would be like for them, when we don't have full democracy here? The measure of our failure is the fact that a Negro child has 10 years less of life than a white child has."

Stressing the importance of equality of educational opportunities as well as equal job opportunities, Wallace pointed out the indivisibility of oppression of Negroes, anti-Semitism, red-baiting, the high cost of living, war talk against Russia. "It's all one thing," he charged, "it stems from the same source."

In Baltimore for a mass rally sponsored by the Maryland chapter of the Progressive Citizens of America, Wallace spent a busy day speaking before audiences all over the city.

At a luncheon for Wallace given by the PCA at the Belvedere Hotel, the PCA backed up Wallace's attack on segregation. It marked the first time in the hotel's history that a non-segregated luncheon was held. The PCA group insisted that if any discrimination were practised the luncheon would be cancelled. The hotel complied, and established a hopeful precedent in Baltimore race relations.

In the mass PCA rally before 8000 Baltimoreans at the fifth regiment armory, Wallace again lashed out at discrimination and segregation and pointed out the relationship between race-haters and war-mongers.

"Among the most eloquent spokesmen for American foreign policy are the same people who insist that advocating the abolition of the poll tax or a permanent FEPC or appropriations for housing or health programs is proof of subversive tendencies," he declared.

"If such things are subversive, they are subversive of reaction and I am guilty. I advocate them. I believe in them. I shall fight for them, and far from being subversive they are the most elemental measures in a real defense program.

"No American with any sense of justice or freedom or democracy can look at the policy of racial segregation in our armed forces and believe that the program for universal military training is, as it often advertised, a plan to give our 18 year olds an education in democracy."

Wallace shared the platform with Dr. Clark Foreman, president of the Southern Conference of Human Welfare and a PCA vice-chairman, and Paul Robeson, famed ginger, another PCA vice-chairman. Robeson's recital of Langston Hughes' protect ballard, "Freedom Train," drew a thunderous ovation from the mixed Negro and white audience.

Dr. J. E. T. Camper, one of Baltimore's most prominent Negro physicians, is secretary of the Maryland PCA.

U.S. Asked to Get Out of Greenland

NEW YORK—Denmark wants the United States to take its troops out of Greenland, Gustav Rasmussen, Danish minister of foreign affairs, said yeterday upon his arrival in New York.

American troops still are in Greenland, despite an agreement that they would be called home upon cessation of hostilities.

Mona Freeman, who plays Betty Grable's daughter in "Mother Wore Tights," started her career as a model for the Sears Roebuck catalog.

THE KENNY WASHINGTON OF '39

Kenny Washington rates an applause for a fine showing Sunday when the Rams downed the Cards 27-7 to tie the pro season three ways. His beautiful hip throwing for 31 yards for a tally reminded Yours Truly of the Kenny Washington of UCLA in '39. Now that the Rams have shown up the Card "Dream Backfield" starring Charlie Trippi, and now that they are back in the fight for the National League Western Division Championship, Ram backers are betting harder than ever, and they will be looking for more of the thrills the '39 All-American gave them Sunday.

'SUGAR' AND THE TITLE

"Sugar" Ray Robinson has been attracting more attention in certain places lately, although some say he won't continue to do so. The future will tell, however. On January 30, in New York's Garden, a repeat performance between "Sugar" and Tommy Bell may take place at which Robinson will defend his welterweight crown. The match should tell a lot if it takes place. On the 28th of October, Robinson will fight a non-title bout with California's Jackie Wilson.

IT WILL BE ONE BIG GROWL

A week from his Saturday, UCLA will meet their brother school, the University of California, and it will be one big growl from the first quarter to the fourth. LaBucherie will be expected to throw all he's got into this game because the Bears from Berkeley will be out for blood. U. of C. has 23 veterans back from last season ready to fight for the pushing around they received last year, and the boys are much more experienced and under a new coach who seems to know what it is all about. Bob Mike, Bruin guard, says, "So what, UCLA has a lot of boys back too, and they're better too."

THE HARDWOOD FLOOR WILL SHINE

Basketball is and about L. A. this season should arouse a lot of interest. Some of the local teams that will be out for a title of some kind will be he Top Hatters, Avalon, Ack-Ack "5", Sir Debs, Watts' Vets, Whizz Kids, Comets, Saints, Monrovia "5", and a few new ball clubs. The Inter-Frat games will also shine this season with the Alpha Frat looking for revenge after a shave by the Kappa 5 last season for the championship.

LET'S MAKE IT A FAMILY AFFAIR

Ted Strong, better known as "Mr. Hands," because of his 15 inch spread on the basketball, will begin practice with the Harlem Globetrotters on November 1, for his ninth season with the famed comedy team. Along with brother Ted, may be playing Othello Strong, another natural who will try out for the team in the near future. Othello has quite a record as an athlete in Chicago and his experience as a prep in the recent past will help him to be able to play along side of his brother.

UP AND READY TO GO AGAIN

Looking over national news, Yours Truly also noticed that Levi Jackson is up from the bed and out of the hospital to get right back in the Yale lineup. During the Yale-Cornell game, Jackson received a head injury and was sent to the hospital for treatment and rest, and now he is as good as new.

THEY'VE GOT WHAT IT TAKES

A good ball club is organized because a certain group of fellows want to play ball and they want to play bad. From here on ability and plain ole "guts" count. The Los Angeles Wild Cats is such a team and you'll get what I mean when they play against the San Jose Padres this Sunday at Jefferson High School. The club is composed of former Jefferson High School stars and a few other fellows who have carried the ball gaining a share of stardom. In the past some comments have been made that were not too much in favor of the Wild Cats, but Sunday will tell whether or not the Wild Cats can play good ball.

BATTLES FRIDAY—There should be plenty of action Friday night at Hollywood Legion Stadium when Bobby Yeager (above) trades leather in the 10-round main event with Vic Grupico of San Francisco.

Bobby Yeager Vs. Vic Grupico Fri.

A rough and tough fight is in prospect for patrons of Hollywood Legion Stadium Friday night when the colorful Bobby Yeager, of the Bert Lewis-George Tolson stable, goes to the post against club-fighting Vic Grupico of San Francisco.

The two boys will meet at the welterweight poundage and Yeager should be strong after adding weight. He has been fighting as a lightweight. Yeager has met and beaten some of the best leather-pushers in the game from all parts of the nation.

Many fans wonder why Yeager hasn't been matched with Enrique Bolanos, the Mexican lad who stopped John Thomas, his stablemate, twice. Fact of the matter is Yeager has been neatly side-stepped by the Mexican. Bobby carries plenty power in each hand and the handlers of Bolanos evidently don't want a setback at this time while he is ranked nationally and on the waiting list for a crack at Ike Williams' lightweight diadem.

In Grupico, the hard-hitting Yeager will be meeting a guy who is also pretty well respected for his punching prowness in the Bay area.

Cubs Tame Mustangs, 19-13

Led by the galloping of Woodly Lewis and the sterling defensive play of Leroy Criss, a fighting band of Los Angeles City college Cubs eked out a hard-fought 19 to 13 victory over a surprisingly strong Muir Mustang team, Friday night in the Rose Bowl.

It was Woodly Lewis again who carried the offensive cudgel for the local lads. With the game scarcely under way, the "Galloping Greyhound" took a hand off from quarterback Rueben Markanian and galloped 84 yards to the land of "milk and honey." Genial Joe Hines, the ex-Belmont All-Northern ace, came in and split the uprights with the extra point. After that the game became a see-saw struggle with first CC and then Muir in the lead. The bruising play up and down the field was highlighted by the fine defensive play of Leroy Criss, the former All-C.I.F. end from Monrovia High school. Because he was covered by two men and sometimes three on offense, Criss was unable to show his usual pass catching ability.

In the second half when the Mustangs came roaring back to score twice, and almost scored the winning touchdown in the last 26 seconds of play, it was Lewis again who starred. Woodly batted down two sure touchdown passes and made several six-point saving tackles.

"SHUCKS I'M CORNSHUCKS"

'Satchel' Fans Eight But His '9' Loses Game

Whiffing eight batters the one and only Satchel Paige playing with the Kansas City Royals, outpitched Bob Feller of the Major League All-Stars but the All-Stars won the game 2-1 after Satchel left the game at the end of the fifth with his teammates leading 1-0.

The game played at Wrigley Field drew a crowd of 13,000 fans and most of the crowd applauded the efforts of Satchel as he struck out Ralph Kiner, the homerun slugger twice.

Pafko homered in the sixth off Johnny Williams, who replaced Paige, and Jerry Priddy hit a four-tripper, also off Williams, in the seventh to provide the winning margin.

Feller struck out five men and gave up three scattered hits.

Rams Trounce Cards 27-7 For First Place Tie

69,631 spectators jammed the L.A. Memorial Coliseum Sunday to see the L.A. Rams topple the Chicago Cardinals 27-7, tying the pro season thus far with three wins and one loss for Los Angeles, Chicago and Green Bay.

Kenny Washington started the ball rolling for the L.A. Rams by running 31 yards around end in the second quarter to score. In the same period, Hoerner, after three tries, punched his way over the goal line from the 4 yard line for the second tally.

Coming back in the half, the Rams chalked up another 7 points when Jack Banta dashed eight yards around end.

The Card's one and only score came soon after when Card Bill De Correvant returned the Ram kickoff only to the Card 20 yard line, after which the Cards went down field in ten plays to score. The Rams came back only to go 93 yards in 13 plays, the last seeing Bouley scram 35 yards for the fourth Ram touchdown and final one of the game.

L.A. Dons Down Colts, 38-10

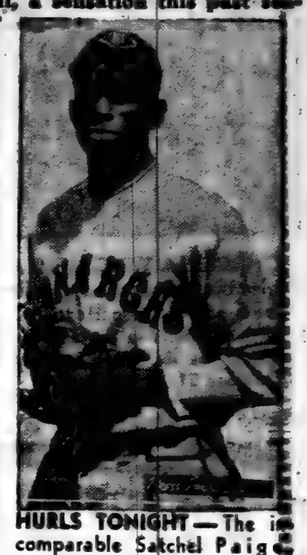
Home team, the Los Angeles Dons kept L.A.'s proud name by defeating the Baltimore Colts 38-10 Sunday in the Colt's own back yard.

The ten point lead that the Colts acquired by a Bud Shwenk pass to Billy Hillenbrand and a Augie Leo 32 yard field goal only put fighting spirit in the Don eleven when the second quarter came around. In the second part John Kimbrough went 23 yards on a pass to score the rifst Don T.D. After two successful Don passes which put the Dons on the Colt 15 yard line, Chuck Fenenbock swept around end for another T.D.

In the third quarter, a Don down-the-field drive put the ball on the one yard line from where Bob Mitchell plunged over for the third 6 points.

In the last quarter, Harry Hopp intercepted a Colt pass on the latter's 14 yard line to see teammate O'Rourke, later, toss to Bob Reinhart for the 4th Don T.D. Five minutes before the gun, Agajanian booted a field goal (the second longest on pro record) from the Don 47 yard line. Final Don score came when Schwenk toss was intercepted by Walter Heap who ran 55 yards for the score. Aggie kicked for the final point of the game.

Rod & Gun Club To Reorganize



(NPB)—With such well known field and stream sports figures as Capt. Archie Woodyard, Paul Hickman, Rich Baker, Arthur Dennis, Eugene McNeil, Leonard Senters, Leon Washington and scores of others, registering excited interest over reports of a reorganization program underway by the Eastside Rod and Gun club, the scheme appears likely of actually becoming a reality.

The report grew out of a series of conferences held by Will Roberts, well known mortician, with a former publicity man of the organization, formed some years ago by the late Lt. Littleton McDuff, over the financial status of the recessed club. Roberts is treasurer of the club.

Faces Blackwell on Mound Thursday Nite and Sunday

Satchel Paige, the elongated lad, who out-pitched Bob Feller in the last all-star series will again match slants with a big timer this coming Thursday night and Sunday afternoon when Ewell Blackwell, no-hit twirler with the Cincinnati Reds, brings his star-studded major league team, headed by Johnny Lindell of the 1947 world series here to Wrigley Field for a series of two games. Blackwell, a sensation this past season, his first, will open Thursday night and Sunday afternoon. His record is well known and he is in the best of shape.

Satchel Paige, his opposition, has already pitched nine innings here against Bob Feller and his stars. Paige allowed only five hits, three runs and struck out fifteen men during his stay on the mound. He is truly the wonder of the sporting world. While Dan Bankhead disappointed by not coming, his loss was not felt when Paige with two days practice stepped into the breach and hurled much better ball than Bankhead is capable of doing. Satchel is receiving the plaudits of the crowds because of his sportsmanship in meeting such tough competition on such short notice. A large crowd is expected at both games and reservations should be made as soon as possible.

HURLS TONIGHT—The incomparable Satchel Paige, sometimes called the world's greatest pitcher, will toss the pellet for the Kansas City Royals tonight (Thursday) in the first game of a two-game series against Ewell Blackwell, no hit, no run twirler of the Cincinnati Reds at Wrigley Field. The teams play again Sunday.

Docusen Gets Xmas Gift Nod

By EDDIE BURBRIDGE

Bernard Docusen, 144, stepped out ahead of Santa Claus Tuesday night and received an early gift in the way of a 10-round decision over Hankin Barrow, 144.

Barrow outsmarted Docusen throughout the bout and Bernard found it extremely hard to find his opponent with any sort of punch, jab or otherwise. Meanwhile the Cuban piled up enough points to win the fight by a country mile, and many ring experts were saying before the decision that Barrow had won at least nine rounds.

Judge Benny Whitman did call the bout a draw but Referee Frankie Van and Judge Tommy Herman saw Docusen as the winner, which only goes to prove that an optician should be standard equipment at a fight arena.

Felton Is Stopped By Garland In 8th

Tommy Garland, 187, scored a technical knockout over Gene Felton, 189½, last Friday night in 2m. 55s. of the eighth round before 5500 fans at Hollywood Legion Stadium. The bout was scheduled for 10 rounds.

In the 6-round semi-windup, Bob Ferris, 153, outpointed Johnny Meyers, 154, getting up from the canvas after a nine count knockdown to turn the trick.

Sugar Robinson Debuts Here Against Jackie Wilson Tues.

By GENE VINESSA

Ray (Sugar) Robinson, world's welterweight champion, known as the Harlem Hammer, makes his Coast debut Tuesday night against our own "California Jackie" Wilson.

The Harlem sugar-man won the title last December 20 in Madison Square Garden by defeating Tommy Bell in a rough, tough bruising fifteen round battle.

They boxed for the title abdicated by Marty Servo when he was bothered with a nose injury.

Robinson, loser of only one fight in his career of close to 100 matches, and that one to a middleweight, Jake LaMotta, had to come off the floor from a second round knockdown to finish in front of Bell. Robinson, known for five years as the uncrowned welterweight champion of the world, finally got his shot at the crown and hit the jackpot in the Bell scrap.

The Associated Press said it was the roughest and hardest going over he ever went through in this career, as Bell walked in and belted away from start to finish of the 15 round slugfest.

Fiery, colorful Jackie Wilson gave Tommy Bell plenty of trouble in their memorable battle in this arena last April. Many fans, and some critics, thought the referee robbed Wilson of a knockout victory in round three, when Bell was on the floor for an 8-count. For hectic action, the Wilson-Bell fight was one of the greatest in recent years. This will mark the second time Robinson and Wilson have clashed. Jeckie dropped a split duke in ten vicious rounds to the Harlem stringbean at Madison Square Garden, Feb. 19, 1943. The rivals went at it for ten rounds of block-busting belting.

On the official ballots, Judge George Kelly called it a draw; Ref. Frankie Fullam and Judge Bill Healey voting for Robinson.

Wilson is keyed up for the greatest fight of his life next Tuesday night. He plans to turn loose the most explosive dynamite of his career against the welterweight monarch. From the bombs Jackie tossed around in the Bell fight, the world title holder better be extra good next week.

The 1948 National Tennis Championship Tournament, which is scheduled to take place here, may make it possible for the National Negro Tennis Championship Tournament of 1948-1949 to be held here also. At the present time, the Municipal Association is building a stadium for the '48 matches and the lack of such a stadium has been one of the main objects.

NO FOOLING

By EDDIE BURBRIDGE

IN CASE YOU DIDN'T KNOW—This is the KING COLE TRIO Anniversary Week. Columnists are featuring the trio throughout the nation and the group were network guests on several programs around New York way. Highlight was the appearance of the trio at Carnegie Hall last Saturday . . . Concerning NELLIE LUTCHER, new blues sensation, the New Yorker said through its "Tables For Two" column, "Nellie Lutcher, at Cafe Society Downtown, has a way of starting each line of a song so loudly and ending it so softly that the effect is almost hypnotic. Much of the time, she abandons her lyrics altogether and substitutes something that sounds like 'peep, peep' or 'be, be, be,' but she accompanies herself so magnificently on the piano, that you'll probably not care much about the words." . . . JULIA LEE is still at Milton's Tap Room in Kansas City . . . Seen dining at the Harlem Cafe Tuesday were MRS. WILLIE PERRY, who with her husband WALTER, is visiting here from Oklahoma City. Her attractive companion was BERNICE ODES. Mrs. Perry's stay here is indefinite . . .

There was a fine press party at the NEW RINGSIDE Club Wednesday night, with HALLEY HARDING greeting various members of the Fourth Estate . . . Nov. 27 will be a gala day here for early celebrants of Thanksgiving. On that morning from 5 to 10 a.m. a breakfast dance and show will be given at the Elks Ballroom starring MABEL FAIRBANKS with SUNNY BRIDGES and his orchestra. All sorts of dinner material will be given away, from the highly regarded turkey to the fast running rabbit . . . We hear that our friend LEONARD McCLAIN, Central avenue's high-powered bailbondsman, has tossed his hat into the ring for the post of mayor of the avenue . . . LILLIAN CUMBER had a slight auto accident on her way to the ranch of CLARENCE MUSE last Saturday. The Muse rancho is located near Elsinore and he celebrated his birthday with big goings on there last weekend . . . interest is mounting high in the MURIEL RAHN concert which is set for Sunday at the Philharmonic under the sponsorship of Delta Sigma Theta.

GOSSIP TIME—The St. Paul bandleader EL HERBERT says he has temporarily broken up his combo . . . HARRY MERCER's on the ball with his well-equipped office over on Wall street . . . TRAVIS LOTT is fast gaining a rep as one of the leading realtors in Southern California. He just completed a deal in which DR. RICHARD NELSON bought a mansion through Lott's office . . . BUDDY GARCIA seen seconding DARNELL CARTER, the fighter, at the boxing bouts Tuesday night . . . The apartment of MR. and MRS. HOUSTON FARRELL on Walton street is pretty sharp. They transported furniture here from their home in Sacramento to furnish it . . . AT THE CLUBS — T-BONE WALKER is singing his blues and playing his electric guitar for the final week at the LAST WORD night club and the gals are swooning as per usual. Also on the bill is EMILY FOSTER, Brown Bombshell of Rhythm, GENE PHILLIPS and his recording band and other great acts . . . CEECHIE SMITH and band still wowing 'em at the Cricket Club . . . CLUB SHANGRI-LA presenting great entertainment at reasonable prices.

La Churchill Much In Demand By Night Spots

NEW YORK—Savannah Churchill electrified the country several months ago with her throaty recording of the passionate plea that she wanted to be loved but there is absolutely no love in sight among the operators of the clubs along Swing (52nd) Street, who are staging a no-holds-barred tug of war to land the voluptuous Brooklyn beauty for their bistros.

At the moment three of the top night club owners along Swing Lane are keeping up a constant barrage of blandishments to the singer in an attempt to put her unique talents and singing style on exhibit. As is always the case in this kind of battle, the eventual winner will have to be the songbird who will in all probability receive the highest stipend of her career to play in jazzdom's sacred precincts.

This is a far cry from the days just a few years ago when this same Savannah Churchill went from spot to spot along the thoroughfare of tempo earnestly trying to get a hearing and a job. It was the old story of no interest in discovering latent talent. Now those same owners, who turned a disinterested ear to her requests, are virtually standing in line meekly awaiting their turn to reach an agreement with the brightest record star of the year. Such is the strange whirligig known as show business.

La Fitzgerald Playing Apollo

NEW YORK—Harlem's big apple has taken on one of its periodic festive airs during the last few days and the glow in her collective eyes can be traced to the fact that one of her own native stars returns this week to play a single week engagement at the Apollo theatre. Ella Fitzgerald's return to the Apollo is always a signal for high rejoicing among the show fans because, somehow or other, she has never ceased to be the talented but charming little neighborhood girl who appeared on an amateur show and won the hearts of everyone who heard her.

Miss Fitzgerald, whose strenuour schedule called for a week of rest, was prevailed upon to play the theatre when she heard that brilliant trumpeter "Cat" Anderson and his band were to be the musical background of the show. Having an uncanny ability to pick new instrumental stars and bands long before the general public spots them and an astute spotter of trends in jazz, she always enjoys working with a band offering something excitingly new. It was Miss Fitzgerald who first spotted the potentialities of Dizzy Gillespie's be-bop and went on a tour with the Goatee.

Horn Player To Be Heard Here

Alfred Brain, one of the world's foremost horn players will be one of four assisting artists to appear with the Budapest String Quartet, under Music Guild auspices, during the second concert of the season, October 29, in Wilshire-Ebell Theatre.

ON BENEFIT PROGRAM FRIDAY—Peg Leg Bates, famed dancer and entertainer, who is shown above with Ken Murray, who features him in the "Blackouts of 1947" show, will be one of the featured performers at the annual dance and benefit show given by the Sunshine Unit of the Outdoor Life and Health Association Friday night, Oct. 24, at the Elks ballroom, 4016 S. Central avenue. Peg is shown fully draped in his pirate's costume.

Celebs to Appear Friday in Benefit Dance at Elks Hall

A galaxy of celebrities will be on hand Friday night, Oct. 24, at the Elks Hall, 4016 So. Central avenue, when the Sunshine Unit of the Outdoor Life and Health Association stages its annual dance and benefit show. Purpose of the affair is to raise funds to install a building on their property, a recent gift of the Los Angeles Jewish Sanitarium in Duarte.

Noted artists who will appear are: Peg Leg Bates, the one-legged dancing man, T-Bone Walker, the man who sings the blues, (appearing through the courtesy of the Last Word), Eddie Green, radio star of "Duffy's Tavern," Bobby Pittman, singer, Henry Armstrong, former world's boxing champion in three divisions, Mantan Moreland, stage and screen comedian, Haywood Jones, Martina D'Arck, Flora Washington and Madeline Green with Sammy Franklin's band.

'Peer Gynt' To Continue Run

Because of popular demand, the Actors' Laboratory Workshop has extended its run of Ibsen's "Peer Gynt." Coe Norton is seen as "Peer", and Adele Mara as "Solveig" in this production of the Ibsen classic directed by Benjamin Zemach.

Playing week-ends only in their Laurel Avenue theatre, the last two performances will be October 31 and November 1.

Crowds Favor Ringside Show

The Ringside Club's new policy of continuous entertainment seems to have caught the public's fancy judging by the many favorable comments anent the grand re-opening last Wednesday night.

Tris Paule, pretty and talented singer, recently from the Ritz Club in Chicago was a hit with her unique style and pleasing personality. Bill Austin at the piano and Joe Stone at the bass formed a fine background for her music. The club goes into the second week of bigtime continuous entertainment.

Philharmonic Stage to Be Setting for Young Singer

When Muriel Rahn makes her bow at the Philharmonic Sunday, at 3 p.m., it will be her debut concert before a Los Angeles audience and the chance of music lovers here to see a versatile young singing actress on the way up the ladder of fame.

Less than a month ago, Miss Rahn excited critics with her stellar performance in Carnegie Hall opera. She was acclaimed most likely to succeed at the Metropolitan Opera House where no dark stars have yet appeared.

Her rich, big soprano voice hung up another record for the highest number of solos with the "Pop" concerts this season by symphony orchestras. She sang and pleased more than 30,000 music lovers at Bridgeport and New London, Conn., and filled numerous radio engagements as soloist with such leading symphony orchestras as the Boston, New York and Cleveland orchestras.

The attractive young singer started her career as an actress and gained her first national notice as the hot sister, Carmen in the spectacular "Carmen Jones."

Her dark beauty, pleasing personality and perfect handling of a rarely beautiful mezzo voice with its tonal colors ranging from icy clarity to dazzling rainbow hues and faultless diction, make her a hit wherever she appears.

This year's concert tour marks Miss Rahn's seventh anniversary in the concert field. She has never been West of Chicago, however.

Delta Sigma Theta sorority sponsors the Philharmonic concert Sunday as a benefit for its local scholarship fund. More than 1000 prominent Angelenos are registered on the patrons list to give Miss Rahn a welcome in her debut concert. Tickets at popular prices are on sale at the Philharmonic box-office, MI. 8401.

'Peer Gynt' Accents Basic Struggles of Modern Man

By PHYLLIS SCOTT

One of the high points of the theatre this season is certainly the Actor's Lab production of "Peer Gynt", a poetic fantasy depicting the basic struggles of modern man. Benjamin Zemach, director, explains that the main conflict in "Peer Gynt" between integrity and opportunism is accented by the struggle between commercial values and human ones, the development of man's creativity and his greedy obsession with self, deep love and animal lust, social responsibility and personal freedom.

At present when many people are torn between that which is just and unjust, the fight for human rights and the dignity of man as against the struggle for the maintenance of the status quo, this play seems particularly timely.

Benjamin Zemach is to be commended for achieving such power and movement on so tiny a stage. The action is wonderful. The manner in which the actors move across the stage in the scene where he rejects the mountain people's rituals attains more than a touch of realism. However, action and interest drag in scenes when he struggles with himself.

Giving an exceptional brilliant performance as Peer's mother is Helen Malsed. Coe Norton, in the title role, gives 'Peer' vitality. As the faithful but forsaken love, Janet Brandt is natural and lovable. A host of others gave wonderful performances, including Camille Cannady, who starred in two roles — as the lead Satyr Girl and an old woman.

'Sepia Cinderella' Contest At Lincoln Hits Spotlight

Who will be the "Sepia Cinderella"? This question is being asked by scores of ladies who are registering at the Lincoln theatre for the contest to be held at the theatre on Hallowe'en eve.

The lucky lady whose foot fits the slipper will receive a Cross Fox Jacket, a wrist watch and a complete outfit.

IVORY "DEEK" WATSON

The occasion is the premiere in the west of Herald Picture's musical film, 'Sepia Cindrella." This lavish production is a literal cavalcade of beautiful girls, song hits and some of the greatest star names in the swing world.

Deek Watson and his Brown Dots, John Kirby's All-Stars, Sheila Guyse, Ruble Blakey, and many others frolic in the film, which is rated by critics in the east as "the musical of 1948."

Bob Bundy Is Signed By Gale

NEW YORK—Bob Bundy, perhaps the top man along Broadway in the concert and special events booking fields, last week was inked to a long-term contract with Gale Agency. Thus the nation's leading agency handling Negro talent scores another ten strikes in its program of supplimentation of the personnel. Within the past twelve months, the Gale organization has lured no less than four acknowledged leaders in the field into the fold, headed by Executive Vice-President Billy Shaw.

Pleasure Pier Books Hawkins

PORT ARTHUR, Tex.—Erskine Hawkins, the famed author of "Tuxedo Junction" and pace setter of the trumpet brigade, hung up another noteworthy achievement in the popular music field this week when he and his band were engaged for a date at the swank and exclusive Pleasure Pier here. They appear in the heretofore lily white spot this Saturday night. Long considered the most exclusive night rendezvous in Texas, it has also been the measuring rod for a band's stature. In the Southwest, Pleasure Pier holds the unique distinction of being the "rating" spot. When a band plays that spot, it is tantamount to saying that it has "arrived." None but the top "name" bands are engaged there.

Heretofore only the leading white bands have been engaged there.

Lionel Hampton Will Choose 'Miss Sepia Queen' Nov. 24

"There have been many contests held throughout the country in an effort to select sepia beauties, but this beauty contest is one to top them all," announced Lionel Hampton, swing sensational bandleader and "King of the Vibes," when he revealed that during his last week at the Meadowbrook he will choose "Miss Sepia Queen," to share his throne at the swank nitery, starting Monday night, Nov. 24, 1947, at which time she will be selected.

Contestants are to fill out the blank printed below, giving the name of the paper from which it was clipped. This is an official entry blank and all questions must be answered in full.

The winner will not only reign during the last week of King Hampton's engagement but will be eligible for the "Miss Universe" beauty contest to be held next year.

Winners will not be judged solely by applause but are compelled to meet the requirements of a beauty meter.

The grand prize will consist of a week's engagement at the swank Meadowbrook. The paper having the winning entry will have its editorial staff royally entertained along with "Miss Sepia Queen" by King Lionel Hampton.

All entries are to fill out blank below and mail to "Miss Sepia Queen Contest," c/o Meadowbrook, 8781 Washington Boulevard, Culver City, Calif., except those aspirants living in South Los Angeles, Watts or Compton, who are to mail application blanks to 1666 East 103rd St.

Louise Beavers to Get Good Role in New RKO Radio Film

Norman Panama and Melvin Frank last weekend signed Louise Beavers to play one of the top supporting roles in RKO Radio's "Mr. Blandings Builds His Dream House," which is being directed by Henry C. Potter for Selznick Releasing Organization. Miss Beavers currently is appearing in another RKO picture, "Good Sam," the Leo McCarey production.

Miss Beavers plays Gussie, the maid, in "Mr. Blandings Builds His Dream House." Cary Grant, Myrna Loy and Melvyn Douglas are co-starred.

Wallace Beery's first three musical shows on Broadway were "The Balkan Princess," "The Prince of Pilsen" and "The Student Prince."

Irving White Signed as Biz Mgr of 'Deep Are the Roots'

Irving White has been signed by Ray Spencer to take over the business management of the forthcoming production of "Deep Are the Roots," opening for the first time in Los Angeles late December.

White was associated with Gilbert Miller in the Broadway theatre for many years. More recently, he was general manager for that Los Angeles hit a few seasons back, "Meet the People."

Play on racial prejudice ran four hundred and seventy-six performances on Broadway, and after an early summer opening in London, England, is still running there to enthusiastic audiences.

Widespread interest has been shown in the local production by church, social and civic organizations, and producer Ray Spencer believes that "Deep Are the Roots" has every chance for success here before taking the play to San Francisco, Portland, Seattle, Vancouver and various towns and cities between here and Chicago.

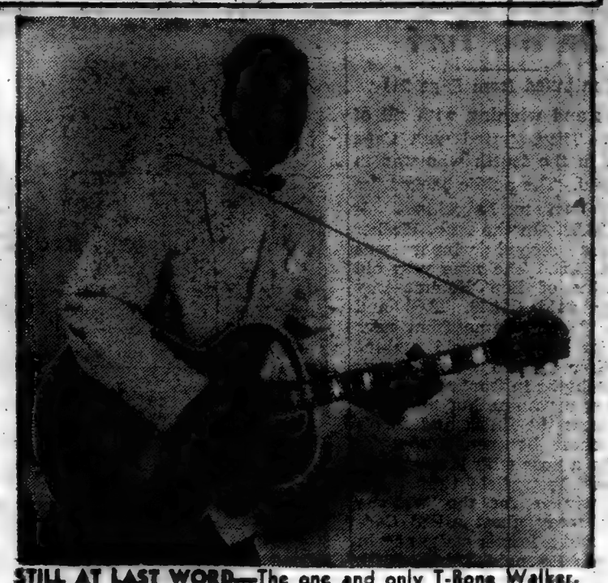
Tommy Breen's first screen job was that of technical adviser for M-G-M's "No Leave, No Love."

Set To Release Pic In December

Herald Pictures' third production for Screen Guild Productions' release, "Miracle in Harlem," is now in the editing and scoring stages in New York City and will be set for nation-wide distribution in December, according to Screen Guild's sales manager, F. A. Bateman.

Tots Visit Movie Set

Gale Sondergaard took her two children, Joan, five, and Danny, three, on the set of Universal-International's "Pirates of Monterey" for the first time in their lives to see how movies are made.



Gale Storm is as wise as she is pretty—and that's awfully wise.

'TALENT SCOUTS' WINNER

List Caribbean Folk Songs On Sir Lancelot's Program

Folk songs of the Caribbean and West Indies, "Bassia Fong" from Suraname, "Besse Dame" from Dominica, "Jamaican Rhumba" from Jamacia, "Muleta" from Cuba and stirring Afro-French patois chants from the back hills of Trinidad, "Oken Karange" and "Congo Bara," will be featured in Irwin Parnes' "Calypso Song and Dance Carnival" at the Philharmonic Auditorium, Thursday evening, October 30, starring Sir Lancelot, the world's foremost Calypso singer and Calypso Joe and Coco Te, celebrated rhythm dancers. Supporting artists include Chico, "King of the Bongo Drums," the Continental "Calypsomonic" Orchestra and Volunteer Singers, Percussionists.

Reminiscent of an actual Trinidad Carnival, Sir Lancelot's program will consist of six imaginary tents out of which 21 numbers will be presented. Calypso Joe, Coco Te and Company will revive in dance the first Calypso ballad to become popular in the United States, "King Edward and Wally." They will also offer their impressions of a "Carnival Street Scene in Port of Spain."

Sir Lancelot will sing about the propensity of West Indians to raise large families, about his romance with a "Tie Tongue Mopsey," the advisability of marrying an "Ugly Woman," the fun of flying "Pan American Airways," advice on politics and the "Atom Bomb" plus unnotated ballads never before heard in this country.

horses and winning with all of them. They started with Cape Town in the fourth who was in the field. The public backed the field down to Favoritism. It paid $6.80. In the fifth, Walker Brothers second winner was Amy's first. The nine year old daughter of Bon Homme-Amy Cooper paid $34.40, 18.60 and $9.80. Money came from near and far on Brownfield and at one time in the race he was eight lengths in front and looked all over a winner, but he weakened near the finish and Amy's First came between Horses To Win by a nose with Kiskum second and Brownfield third. The third winner for the Walkers was a greay ghost called Cadmium and a former stake nag in Florida. He paid $14.00, $9.00, $6.20 across the board.

The feature attraction of the day was won by Navy Test who beat the odds on favorite Alamo Boy. Helen Pat was second and Proud Slave third. Alamo Boy was cut down in the race and finished last.

The secondary event at one mile was an easy victory for the favorite Sacristan who paid the shortest price of the day: $3.60 for two. The Daily-Doubles combination of Teddy Martin winner of the second race and Silent Tick victor of the third rewarded its lucky backers $428.-00, while the Quiniela holders of Red Clipper and Fern Creek who finished in this order paid $25.00 with many holders of the winning combination.

Powell Urges Defeat Of Tory Congressmen

CAMERA GLIMPSE—Caught by Vera Jackson, California EAGLE photographer, is this interesting study of Hazel Scott, extreme right, piano stylist, who is perhaps the foremost exponent of "Bach to Boogie Woogie" method of playing, her husband, the honorable Congressman Adam Clayton Powell Jr. of New York, and Charlotta A. Bass, Editor-Publisher of the EAGLE. The occasion was last Sunday night at the People's Independent Church of Christ when Congressman Powell spoke. Mrs. Powell, nee Scott, will appear in concert Saturday night at the Philharmonic Auditorium and Los Angeles music enthusiasts are expected to turn out en masse to hear her.

On The Sidewalk

By C. A. B.

AM passing on to California EAGLE readers Paul Robeson's column which appeared in last week's issue of The People's Voice, published in New York City.

I feel, as I am sure most people feel that the majority the American people are loyal to their government. ey are not a part of any foreign government seeking to verthrow ours, but on the other hand they realize that lling groups of people before censorship boards to ques-n their political beliefs is not a solution to the problem unrest, doubt, and fear that is finding room in the arts and minds of our people.

To steer our Ship of State away from rocks and shoals at are threatening to wreck South-West Africa, Britain, ance, Belgium, and the Netherlands, let's stop chasing adows, and not only investigate the evil forces of de-uction in our midst, but dig deep enough to destroy the rmites eating at the very foundation of our democracy.

Particularly do we refer to the 15,000,000 Negro Ameri-ns, 6,000,000 of whom are victims of the poll-tax evil gether with 5,000,000 working or poor class Ameri-ns of the white race—as the chief targets of the hate ngers of the General Smuts and the KKKs. Better to free than to live a slave.

I quote Paul Robeson's column:

AST Wednesday's vote in the UN's Trusteeship Com-mittee on India's resolution to force the Union of South rica to comply with the UN's charter and the Assembly's quest to bring South-West Africa under the Trusteeship stem, was indeed revealing. The Indian resolution di-cted the South African Government to submit a draft usteeship agreement for the former German Colony hich it has administered under mandate since the end World War I. The resolution passed by a vote of 27 20. There were four absentions, one of which was hiopia.

I was most interested in the way in which the coun-se lined up on this important issue, particularly so in e case of our own country. I must admit that I had no sions whatever about the way the U.S. delegate, John ster Dulles, would cast his vote in the Trusteeship Com-itee. He did not disappoint me. For the United States ted with the worlds' major colony-holding powers—itain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands, along with such bious democracies as Argentina, Greece and Turkey.

What is important here is that the U.S. voted to sup-rt one of the most violently anti-Negro regimes in the rld in its plan to delay surrendering control over a ter-ory wherein live over 300,000 Negroes. When Dulles ted against the Indian resolution he voted for the color r, pass laws, peonage, super-exploitation of native labor the mines and farms, disfranchisement, and legalized gotry, all of which make up the pattern of life in South rica today.

HIS is the meaning of Mr. Dulles' vote for South Africa last Wednesday. It was essentially a vote against the st interests of 15,000,000 fellow citizens of his own coun-who are racially allied to the Hereros, the Ovambos d the Hottentots living in South-West Africa.

There ought to be a great and ringing outcry in the nd against this betrayal of the American people's trust. ere ought to be some kind of national repudiation of lles and Co. who, under careful instructions to be sure, placing the U.S. in the vanguard of world reaction on major issues before the UN.

How do the Negroes of South-West Africa feel about matter of the incorporation of their country into the ero Union of South Africa? Here is a quote from the utes of a meeting held in August of this year between ite native commissioners and certain spokesmen of the rgdamaras tribe who inhabit South-West Africa. This the reply of the Bergdamaras to the request of the com-sioners to state their opinion on incorporation into the ion:

"We do not want to be under the rule of the Boers. e do not want to join the Union Government. We have ffered since the day the Union Government became the stee of South-West Africa, and we are still suffering."

HIS is the real voice of black Africa denouncing the crimes committed by South Africa where white supre-y reigns supreme.

It is this voice which the U.S. and the bloc of votes ich it influences in the United Nations is seeking to nce, or at least render ineffective. But the voice of people of Africa will be heard. We here in America st help it to find expression and provide it with a ready d sympathetic audience.

For there is a danger that if the forces of freedom d equality now rising in Africa are not given the widest pport in this country, the South African government y more boldly push its plans to impose its color bar lities upon the rest of that great continent and thus halt progress of the African people. Negroes must realize at the crucial fight for democracy now going on in ica is a part of our own struggle against reaction and e here in America.

Warren Urged Drop Jimcrow In State Guard

Gov. Earl Warren was urged this week to "follow the example of the governor of Connecticut and of other governors, by immediately ordering a discontinuance of the practice of segregation in the militia of the state of California."

The demand was made by the Southern California branch of the American Civil Liberties Union. In its letter to the governor, the ACLU pointed out:

"Our observation is that the only Negroes who countenance segregation in the present instance are those in the service who feel that opportunities for higher ranks are open to them personally in such a system. The vast body of Negro voters, on the other hand, regard segregation anywhere as an affront to the race. We hold it to be a violation of the fundamental right of American citizens to be treated on a basis of full equality without distinction as to race."

Contests Will Of Woman Who Left $100,000

Attorney Willis O. Tyler this week opened an attack on behalf of David Brunson, 912 East 28th st., on the will and disposition of the property left by Callie A. Brunson, deceased.

Mrs. Brunson died on May 17, 1947, leaving an estate of over $100,000. Her will cuts off her husband with $100 and distributes the bulk of her

HPA Meeting Friday

The regular meeting of the Home Protective Association will partake of the nature of a Hallowe'en Party. It will be held Friday, Oct. 31, at 8 p.m. in the home of Mrs. George O'Neal, 2916 Halldale street. A short business meeting will be held first, and following this there will be Hallowe'en games and stunts.

The HPA was organized to fight restrictive covenants, particularly the case of the Laws family. This family, ordered out of their home on East 32nd street, went to jail rather than obey the unconstitutional verdict of the court. Their case has since been taken by the HPA through the municipal courts, the county courts, and is now awaiting a decision from the State supreme court.

Report Calls for Stiff Laws on Lynching, FEP, And Police Brutality

WASHINGTON—The President's Civil Rights Committee yesterday warned the nation that "a state of near-hysteria" over so-called Communists in this country threatens the freedom of all citizens, and particularly the rights of minority groups.

The committee, appointed by President Truman last December to survey the state of human freedom and equality in this country, also recommended in its 178-page report a series of steps to protect the rights of Negroes and other minority groups.

It informed Truman that "public excitement about 'Communists' has gone far beyond" the dictates of "good judgment and calmness."

"A state of hysteria now threatens to inhibit the freedom of genuine democrats," the report said, as the committee warned against an emotional abridgement of the traditional American right of free speech.

The report, one of the strongest documents against discrimination and segregation ever issued by the White House, contained these basic recommendations for strengthening

Judge Mosk Cites Guarantees Of Constitution

Judge Stanley Mosk's decision denying the validity of a restrictive covenant complaint against three Westside families was hailed this week by progressives and minority groups as an important and far-reaching victory against the covenant racket.

The decision was a direct blow to the Southwestern Wilshire Protective Assn., which had promoted the suit against the three families as part of a widely publicised campaign to drive all Negroes and other non-Caucasians out of the Southwest Wilshire area.

In his decision, Judge Mosk said the complainants had no "cause of action" in the complaint, because they claim the defendants were violating a restrictive covenant "is incon-

CIO Endorses DeSilva for State Assembly

The Los Angeles CIO Council unanimously voted to endorse Joseph T. DeSilva for State assemblyman from the 63rd district in the special election to be held Nov. 4.

In discussion preceding the unanimous vote, CIO members repeatedly lauded DeSilva as a battling union leader who has unceasingly fought to stamp out racial discrimination.

In announcing the endorsement, William Lawrence, the CIO's Political Action chairman, said, "Joseph DeSilva has a long record as a fighting leader of the AFL. He has fought, and in the legislature will continue to fight for lower prices, for child care centers, for tax relief for the wage earner and the small businessman. Both in the community and in his own union he has fought racial discrimination and for the equal rights of all people for jobs and advancement.

"I feel sure," Lawrence added, "that the election of DeSilva will demonstrate what the political unity of all labor working with organizations of the Negro people and the liberal community groups can do in the 1948 elections. This fight in the 63rd is being Speaks at 32nd Ann. Meeting of Independent Ch.

The Independent Church of Christ marked its 32nd anniversary last Sunday with the ringing voice of New York's fighting Congressman, Adam Clayton Powell Jr., urging an all-out attack on California's 17 reactionary congressmen to the end that they will not be returned to congress again in 1948. Only five of California's 22 members merit the term "progressive," said Powell.

Rev. Clayton Russell, pastor of the Independent church, introduced his friend from the East as one who fights continuously against discrimination, segregation, restrictive covenants, and all the evils running riot today.

Rowell called for unity in the rank and file of the Negro people, declaring that the road that leads to the emancipation from slave practices that keep us, as he said, "second class citizens,"

Teamsters Bar 'Eagle' From Meeting Slated To Sift Bias Charges

Representatives of the California EAGLE were refused admittance last Thursday evening when they sought to attend a meeting of the Teamsters Joint Council No. 42 held in their hall, 846 South Union avenue. The excuse given was that newspaper representatives were not admitted to the regular meetings of the Council.

But the reason the EAGLE was so anxious to attend was to ascertain the truth concerning certain reports made to the EAGLE. It has been reported that Negro taxi-drivers of the Yellow Cab Co. do not receive the same pay as white drivers, and that they are placed on a limited service schedule.

For example, Negro drivers are not permitted to pick up white passengers, especially if there is a white driver near. When a call

1- Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion,* thus help build resistance for the "time" to come.

2- Started 3 days before "your time", it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes.

NAACP Branches Urged to Help Get Coast Voters to Register

SAN FRANCISCO—N. W. Griffin, NAACP west coast regional secretary, yesterday urged all west coast branches of the organization to immediately secure voting and registration information in their localities and concentrate branch activities on an intelligent and continuing program to induce all voters to register and vote. Griffin's proposal is based on a resolution adopted by the annual NAACP conference last June.

NAACP branches also were reminded that they are charged with the responsibility of examining proposals affecting the total community, and specifically the Negro community, including proposals arising out of initiative and refelendum, bond issues, charter and constitutional amendments.

The NAACP legislative program includes FEPC, anti-lynching and anti-polltax legislation, anti-Jimcrow bill, anti-filibuster resolutions, housing, federal aid to education, equal rights in the District of Columbia, displaced persons, minimum wage law, social security, national health insurance bill, Virgin Islands revenue, Missouri Valley Authority. The 80th congress adjourned without taking action on these important measures.

Griffin urged NAACP branches to:

- appoint a committee on registration and voting headed by a dynamic chairman;
- distribute registration information to branch members and others;
- outline a registration and voting campaign;
- see that voting schools are conducted to teach people how to vote intelligently; door-to-door canvass made to get out the vote on election day.

The branches were advised that information on state voting laws and registration information can be secured from the secretary of state and the city and county clerks.

Court Dismisses Police Charges In Rucker Case

Charges of "resisting arrest" and "battery" brought by two husky white policemen against a mother and her daughter were thrown out by Municipal Judge Benton Worley last Thursday and the case dismissed.

Mrs. Etta Rucker and her daughter, also named Etta, testified that when two plainsclothes men came to their home at 13171 Mercer st., Aug. 27 to serve an arrest warrant on Mrs. Rucker for a traffic violation, they beat and slapped Mrs. Rucker and choked and mistreated her daughter.

The policemen admitted on the witness stand that Mrs. Rucker was given emergency treatment before she was taken to Van Nuys jail.

ASTHMA
BRONCHIAL—CATARRH-SINUS

Don't be discouraged: Read what this famous doctor says:

"Difficulty in breathing is the most characteristic symptom of asthma. Inhaling and exhaling the necessary air for the body's use are accomplished mainly by the action of the diaphragm, which is a flat muscle separating the lungs from the stomach and intestines. When the diaphragm is contracted the patient exhales the air and poisonous gases, and when it is expanded, air is drawn into the lungs. If stomach or intestinal gases are pressing the diaphragm upward, the patient will have difficulty in forcing the pressure down sufficiently to inhale. A weak diaphragm will be unable to do its work properly under this condition and there will be a struggle to draw enough air into the lungs resulting in the peculiar wheeze of the asthmatic when attempting to inhale. Of course, there are contributing causes such as irritating dust and pollen of plants, also a deranged condition of the nervous system. The patient usually wheezes along to a good age, with the misery of seeing every proposed remedy fail until he dies from the effect of drugs taken in an attempt to relieve his symptoms. It may be truly said that at first he is afraid of dying and then afraid he will not."

This Doctor further states. "A permanent cure depends entirely upon the following:

"First: The development of a strong diaphragm, so the patient can inhale and exhale to the extreme with perfect freedom of movement.

"Second: Avoiding those foods which produce an excess of stomach and intestinal gas, until digestion is improved to the point where properly proportioned meals may be taken. Certain foods produce enough flatulence to bring on an asthmatic attack and must be entirely eliminated for a considerable period and then used with great caution.

"If much bronchial mucus is present in the lungs the cure will be slower but none the less sure. Advanced cases seem to yield as readily as those just beginning, so do not think you are an exception because you have tried everything from climate to vaccines, as I do not know of a single case coming under my observation where the cure was not complete and permanent if the patient followed instructions carefully. Probably the reason the old cases respond to this method of treatment as easily as the mild ones, is because the patient who has suffered so long will follow a strict regime without deviating in a single degree whereas the patient whose symptoms are just beginning has hopes for a remedy which will relieve, and allow him to live without diet regulations. Do not waste time looking for an easier method; there is no other way.

Daniel C. Munro, M. D. says: "If I were to write the story of all the cases in which colonic irrigations seem to lift the patient from the very jaws of death, it would fill volumes."

Dr. Chas. A. Tyrell, M.D., eminent physician, says: "If the colon is clogged, the penned-up acid permeations of the stomach and duodenum will have to seek other outlets.

"The most rational and practical manner of dealing with this . . . breeding place of disease is to wash it out.

"With me, it has passed beyond the theoretical stage, for I have in my office fully 15,000 letters from grateful patients who have used this process, under my direction, with the most astounding results; scarcely a disease known to humanity, but has been relieved, and in ninety-five per cent of the cases, cures effected, while tens of thousands of gratifying messages have reached me from time to time; nor is the testimony in its favor confined to the laity, for hundreds of physicians (including some of the most prominent authorities) testify to the wonderful beneficial results achieved by its use."

"Constipation is one of the greatest causes of disease, misery, inefficiency and premature senility, and should be most earnestly combatted," says Dr. Kellogg of Battle Creek Sanitarium fame.

"Every case of constipation is curable, but not by means of any panacea.

"A coated tongue, a sallow complexion, dark circles around the eyes, appearance of brown spots upon the hands or other parts (the so called liver spots), offensive breath and perspiration . . . a thin inelastic, parchment-like skin, dullness of mind, mental irritability or depression without cause, cold hands and feet, chronic headache, arthritis, neuritis, rheumatism, asthma, pains around the heart — these and a score of other symptoms which might be mentioned are certain indications of chronic poisoning.

"A thorough cleansing of the colon, removing the cause, may prevent more serious conditions."

Residents of Los Angeles are fortunate in having the New Yorker, a haven for those who suffer, where the cause may be removed. New Yorker specializes in thoroughly cleansing and eliminating from the colon all waste matter causing toxic poisons. Rid yourself of toxic poisons. If suffering, come to our office at once. Conference Nov. 9 On Issues Facing U. S. Negro People

A call to the second ansual conference of the National Negro Congress has been sent to labor, church and civic groups, Helen Samuels, the organization's executive secretary announced yesterday.

The big parley is slated for Sunday, November 9, at the Masonic Hall, 1050 E. 50th St., 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Crucial issues facing the American people will be discussed in four panel groups. Assemblyman Augustus Hawkins will lead the panel on the Taft-Hartley Bill and the Third Party; Sidney Moore, international representative, UPW, CIO, is leader of the Fair Employment Practices Committee and the Fight for Price Control panel.

Attorney Leo Gallagher is slated to head the group on Lynch Terror and Police Brutality; and the fourth panel, Housing and Restrictive Covenants, will be led by an outstanding authority on housing.

Pointing out the tremendous sacrifices of freedom-loving peoples in their fight against the facist nations, their confidence in a future made secure by the guarantee of the Four Freedoms, the militant call of the NNC stated:

"But here in America, before the din of battle had faded, we heard new sounds. The angry protests of Negro Americans who rose up against the brutal gorging out of the eyes of Isaac Woodard, a Negro veteran; against the burning to death of the Short family in Fontana, California; against the murderous assault on the Fergerson brothers in Freeport, Long Island; against the attacks of 'white supremacy' vandals who raided, pillaged and killed Negroes in Columbia, Tennessee; against the 'White Only' signs tacked up in industries throughout America.

". . . We turned to find native fascists in our midst," the call continued. "They began calling for an atomic war against Russia. They left American soldiers in Europe and Asia to 'guarantee' free elections. They began playing dollar diplomacy."

Condemning the indifference of government officials to the demands of the people, the call charged: "The 80th congress sold out and the fight against the American people became easier with each victory. FEPC was scuttled, OPA killed, rent controls lifted, plans for low cost housing shelved, the Taft-Hartley Slave Labor Bill passed. Quickly, deftly, the reins of control are tightened by greedy imperialists seeking to enslave the American workers, White and black alike!

"But their attack was against the Negro people!"

Quoting the words of the famous Negro statesman, Frederick Douglass, the call urged: "There is no time to delay. . . It is 'Now or Never.' Either we close ranks and hurl our powerful strength against the enemy at home—or we, ourselves, become enslaved. . . We must act—but only after we have planned our strategy!".

During the year of its existence, the NNC has played an outstanding role in the fight against discrimination in civil service, against lynch terror and police brutality and against attacks on the labor movement. The NNC campaigned actively for progressive candidates, fought for a State FEPC, initiated a campaign for a federal anti-lynch law, and was in the vanguard in calling for immediate low-cost housing and an end to restrictive covenants.

Hallowe'en Spooks 'Ware, Cops Looking

"Full police strength will be in the field on Hallowe'en night to prevent acts of vandalism," stated Chief of Police C. B. Horrall yesterday as he planned to keep the city well policed on th night of the "Roaming Spooks." "There will be three men assigned to every car, and our entire Reserve Unit will also be active."

In a recent bulletin to all officers, the chief ordered arrests to be made in all instances of law violations and particularly emphasized the more serious crimes, calling attention to acts of sabotage, attacks on women, assaults, purse snatchings, etc.

Films Witch Hunt at Shrine Rally, Nov. 9

Robert W. Kenny, one of the attorneys representing 19 Hollywood celebrities summoned to Washington by the House Un-American Activities Committee, will give an eye-witness account of the controversial proceedings on the Potomac at a "Stop Operation Witch Hunt" community rally in Shrine Auditorium Sunday evening, Nov. 9.

Sharing the platform with Kenny will be Howard Fast, author of Freedom Road, novel of the betrayal of the Negro people after the Civil War, and O. John Rogge, former assistant United States attorney general.

The three will speak on the current "loyalty checks" instituted locally and nationally, as well as on the tactics of the House Un-American Activities Committee. They are expected to point out the mounting threat to minority groups embodied in the "investigations."

Kenny, in accepting the invitation to speak at the rally, wired, "Gladly accept. Thomas committee inquisition part of same witch hunt being conducted by means of L. A. county and federal 'loyalty' checks. All cut of same cloth piece and designed to impose thought control by intimidation."

The rally is being held under joint labor auspices—CIO United Public Workers and AFL State, County and Municipal Workers Local 558—and the Mobilization for Democracy.

Objectives of the rally—to spur opposition to the "loyalty checks" and the House Un-American Committee have received the support of united labor and progressive community groups.

The County's "loyalty" investigations, particularly, have come under attack from such varied organizations as the National Negro Congress, County Democratic Central Committee, Americans for Democratic Action, Improved Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, Progressive Citizens of America, United AFL, Los Angeles and State CIO Councils and American Veterans Committee.

Tickets for the rally, at $1.80, $1.20 and 60 cents, including tax, are available at the following ticket stations:

49 Turn Out for MacPhee Rally

SAN FRANCISCO — Chester R. MacPhee, restrictive covenants advocate and candidate for mayor, got the cold shoulder from Negro voters this week when only 49 persons, all self-elected "Negro leaders" turned up for a MacPhee "mass meeting" at Harold Blackshear's Supper Club here.

At least 400 places had been set for the occasion, and each of the "leaders" felt called upon to apologize for the tiny audience.

One William H. Wilson, introduced as "the elder statesman of the community" explained that the handful in attendance represented the cream of Negro intelligence.

MacPhee was introduced by J. Beaver, a real estate operator, who was dubbed "the dean of Negro businessmen in the community." Beaver asserted that MacPhee's "stand toward minority peoples is untarnished."

No mention was made of MacPhee's opposition to low rent federal housing in the Fillmore area and his public statement that private housing redevelopment would not be successful without radical restrictions.

Florida Realtor In Swank Office

By DR. LEONARD F. MORSE

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — (Global)—A little more than a year ago, Lorenzo I. Alexander, licensed real estate broker, opened offices in the Ritz Theatre building here.

He had just completed a fine volunteer job as chief petty officer in the U. S. navy, in charge of recruiting of Negro personnel in Florida during World War II. Formerly he had served as special expert for a Florida insurance company, becoming an ace technician in one of the most difficult branches of that field.

He had no sooner hung up his shingle than his office was swamped with business. In a few months it was apparent that his expanding business would require larger quarters. To his delight and that of his patrons and friends, Alexander has just moved into his new location at 614 Broad street opposite the Stanton Senior High school.

In beauty and in its appointments it is no exaggeration to state that his office is not excelled by any real estate headquarters in the City of Jacksonville. In a word it is strictly modern and the last word in a realtor's office.

Kiss and Make Up But Not Too Often, Warns Marriage Expert

NEW YORK — Husbands and wives who quarrel and then "ransom" family harmony with gifts or concessions are risking failure in marriage, declares Dr. Paul Popenoe, director of The American Institute of Family Relations, in the November Journal of Living.

The idea that a quarrel has some mysterious value because it's fun "making up" is dangerous, warns Dr. Popenoe. In the first place, making up isn't fun if it happens too often. In the second place, nothing can actually be gained from a quarrel that could not be achieved better in some other way.

TOUCHDOWN! FON-A-ROW KICKS THE EXTRA POINT. THE MAGICAL MAN ALWAYS CROSSES THE GOAL POSTS.

As one of our better sports writers pointed out the other day, the extra point makes all the difference in in a big football game, but most of the boys don't know it. Leo Sunshine Fon-a-row, that genial, generous, gentleman of music, mirth and merchandise, never misses—makes every point count: No. 1—easier terms—care free credit! No. 2: Famous Bronson suits, exclusive at the Victor—$30 to $90, and Victor has two trouser suits. No. 3: Greater selections, finer service—happy Union crews to serve you. Yes, point by point, the Victor Clothing Co. is your best bet, a sure touchdown for clothing values. Less than 50 days for Christmas shopping—stop in tomorrow. Open week day nights til 6—Saturday nights til 9—free next door parking all the time.

Ban on Anti-KKK Film To Be Argued Nov. 1 In Virginia Court

The fight for a court reversal of the Virginia State Board of Motion Picture Censors' ban against Screen Guild Productions' "The Burining Cross" will go before the Richmond circuit court November 1 with Judge Gunn presiding, according to word received in Hollywood yesterday.

In an unusual procedure Screen Guild's attorney, Robert T. Barton Jr., has arranged for a special screening of the picture for the presiding judge, witnesses and various leaders of civic, fraternal and other organizations at the very start of the hearing.

The Virginia Board banned "The Burning Cross" on September 17 but Screen Guild obtained a review of the ban with the full board, the attorney general of Virginia and several representatives of local organizations in attendance.

At the conclusion of the review the board took the matter under advisement but two days later reiterated the ban with some changes in wording indicating that the fact the picture is an expose of the Ku Klux Klan was part of the reason for banning the picture.

The Board's second ban read in part, "public exhibition of the film would have a tendency to excite prejudices and intense emotions thereby reviving controversies and disputes which the Board believes presently to be quiet."

During the hearing, Walter Craigie, Protestant co-chairman of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, had flatly stated, "It is no secret that the Ku Klux Klan still rides in Virginia under the name of the American Shore Patrol." He went on to say that he could see nothing objectionable in the underlying theme referring to the anti-Ku Klux Klan story upon which the picture is based.

As the trial date for Screen Guild's appeal from the ban drew near hundreds of Virginians lodged protests against the ban. Such organizations as the Southern Conference for Human Welfare, Virginia NAACP, B'nai B'rith, National Conferences of Christians and Jews, and others took similar steps and requested they be allowed to have representatives attend the court screening and testify in behalf of having the ban reversed by the court.

Wilkins Hearing Set For Nov. 10;

Hearing of the case of Dr. Alonzo Wilkins and family, 2425 Sixth avenue, which was to have been held last Monday morning in Judge Swaln's court, was postponed to Nov. 10, at 9:30 a.m.

The Wilkins family is one of six non-Caucasian families which the Southwest-Property Owners Association is attempting to force out of their homes. There is a total of 18 families fighting restrictive covenant cases in this section of the city, but the remaining 12 already have been appealed to the State supreme court and are awaiting a decision. Dr. Wilkins moved to the present address about three months ago.

A demonstration of some 100 pickets carrying signs denouncing Jim Crow and restrictive covenants, was held before the beautiful home of the Wilkins family last Sunday afternoon.

Men, women and children; white and black and yellow took part in the demonstration. One man brought his baby and trundled him back and forth on the picket line, that he might absorb even before he could speak, the hatred for injustice because of race or color.

One sign read: "We want our Neighbors, the Wilkins, to stay." Whether or not that could be taken literally, many neighbors on both sides of the street, and many motorists passing by, watched and wondered and discussed the pros and cons of restrictive covenants and segregation.

One small boy, arguing with others in a group, was heard to declare militantly, "Well, he bought the house, didn't he?"

The demonstration was staged under the direction of the Committee Against Restrictive Covenants, of which John Rogers is chairman.

Cites Slums Toll in Lives Of Children

Some of the more pitiful cases which come to the Children's Hospital, Los Angeles, were cited in a talk given last week by Mrs. Helen E. Boardman, director Medical Social Service Workers, before the board of associates.

She told graphically but in a few terse sentences the conditions which prevail in the slums of Los Angeles—those sections which the L. A. Chamber of Commerce insists do not exist.

Nevertheless, here are a few cases Mrs. Boardman described.

A family of four living in a garage. The mother left to use a nearby bathroom, and when she returned she found the kerosene stove had exploded and her two babies, aged 4 months and 16 months, badly burned.

Nine months old Johnny lived in a tent with his parents and two sisters. No floor. No heat. He rolled off a cot and sustained a skull fracture. He was treated at the hospital, discharged, but was back six weeks later with pneumonia. Died.

A family of 7 living in one room. The 10 year old boy has poliomyelitis. A child suffering from cerebral palsy is living with its family and 9 relatives—a total of 17 in 6 rooms.

"Department officials report that our highest incidence of venereal disease, tuberculosis, rheumatic fever, meningitis, common colds, influenza, scabies, diphtheria, and typhoid, occur in over-crowded communities with bad sanitation," says Mrs. Boardman, then asks "What is the cost to the community? What is our present danger of an epidemic?"

"Poor housing breeds illness and wide-spread illness costs the community money," says Mrs. Boardman, stressing the economic side. "Disease is no respecter of persons. It spans the gulfs of social and economic strata. The only security for the individual is the health of the community at large."

The Children's Hospital is a Red Feather Agency. It has served the children of Southern California for 46 years.

It and other agencies like it form some of the few bright spots in the picture of "Our American Way of Life." And if we wish to make that picture brighter we shall have to dig deep into our pockets and contribute to their support.

The United States consumes in the neighborhood of 4,200,000 gallons of lubricating oils daily.

Immunize Now, Uhl Warns as Diphtheria Deaths Mount Here

"Immunize Now" warnings against diptheria were issued yesterday to parents of preschool age children by City Health Officer George M. Uhl, who said the disease was running 136 percent above the average of the last five years.

Uhl said most of the fatalities this year were youngsters just over the age of seven, but that there has been a deluge of cases between the ages of six months and six years—the under-school age children who have not been immunized either by their family doctors or in the present school campaign."

Councilmen Allen and Hahn Back Central Ave. Clean-Up Campaign

Cleaning up Central avenue so that its appearance is as tidy as any other main thoroughfare in Los Angeles has the wholehearted cooperation and support of Councilmen Don Allen and Kenneth Hahn, of the 7th and 8th councilmanic districts.

This was the opinion of members of the Central Avenue Community Council present at the luncheon meeting of the organization Tuesday, October 21, at the Elk's Temple. Councilmen Allen and Hahn, who came to the meeting at the invitation of the council, to discuss ways and means of making the Central avenue Clean-up Campaign a success, gave a full-dress review on ordinances applicable, equipment and manpower available, and the city clean-up schedule now in effect.

Calling attention to the necessity of community cooperation in getting the job done, the councilmen reminded the group that laws against littering sidewalks and vacant lots were difficult to enforce because of personnel shortage and lack of community cooperation. Campaign by daily and weekly newspapers exposing the sorry condition of the city's streets, alleys and vacant lots have evoked city-wide protest and condemnation.

It has been urged that an all-night parking ban be decreed by the mayor and city officials. The city council recently approved a proposed ordinance dividing the city into districts for street-cleaning purposes. Each district, in turn, would be posted against all parking during the period the district was scheduled to be cleaned.

The Central Avenue Community Council has instructed its clean-up committee to consider the following suggestions:

- A community campaign designed to promote and encourage community cooperation.
- Active support of an all-night parking ban on the day streets are scheduled to be cleaned.
- Make the no-parking ban effective from 2 a.m. to 6 a.m.
- Propose that the city circularize official notices of the days no-parking ban would be in effect.

Appointed to the committee were: Harold Scott, chairman; Mrs. Jessie L. Terry, Reginald Jones, George Bryant, Nathan Golden.

Corwin Will Chair Demos For Wallace Parley Sun., Nov. 2

Norman Corwin, radio craftsman and outstanding foe of racism, will act as chairman of 15th and 16th congressional district supporters of the Democrats for Wallace movement at 1 p.m. Sunday, November 2.

Robert W. Kenny, state chairman of the Wallace group, will speak. Another highlight will be a report from Ellis E. Patterson, former congressman from the 16th district, recently returned from a tour of Europe.

The Retarded Children's Club, 452 N. Westmoreland avenue, is appealing to public-spirited citizens to help provide for the care of mentally retarded children unable to attend public schools.

The club points out that Los Angeles, the third largest city in the country, has no private day or resident school that will accommodate Negro children "average or below average." There are, it says, 1500 mentally retarded children unable to attend public school and on a waiting list to be placed in private or public institutions, "but the city and county placement agencies claim they are unable to place Negro children whose parents are willing to pay for such service."

Classes for such children are being conducted at the East Side Settlement House mornings, but the actual need, says the club, is for a building devoted exclusively to this purpose, centrally located and easily accessible to all groups.

Navy Okehs Commission For Negro

WASHINGTON—The navy announced yesterday it had approved the application of Ensign Charles Teale, 24, of Indianapolis, Indiana, for a regular navy commission.

It was the second time in history the navy approved a commission for a Negro-American. The first was Ens. John Lee, whose commission was approved last March. Lee is now at the General Line Officers school, Newport, R.I.

Teale is a graduate of Yale university and of the Yale Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps.

Brunson, Atty. Taylor told the court, was married to the decedent for about 12 years during which time he conducted a profitable trucking business, never personally cashed a single check received from his trucking business, other employment and farming.

Atty. Tyler contended that Mrs. Brunson was not mentally competent to execute a will, and further that most of the property distributed by said will was accumulated from community earnings.

The case is expected to be presented to a jury on Nov. 12.

sented in record form to the 80th congress by your own congresswoman of the 14th District, Helen Gahagan Douglas.

Mr. Powell's description of what's happening on the political front in preparation for the 1948 election, to say the least, was exciting. Said he, "Old line politicians whose job is taking orders and passing them on, are now coming out in front for action."

No doubt they will follow the same line being used by the Un-American Activities Committee — everything and everyone not in line with the program for intimidation of American citizens who believe in the Declation of Independence which declares that "all men are created equal," will be called Communist. And their claim that denial of any voice in their own government is the supreme denial of freedom and democracy, is subversive.

The authors of the Taft-Hartley law and the seekers-of-office from the Republican controlled 80th congress, will send their phoney leaders out to tell the people the virtues of President Truman, Taft, Warren, and others from the same political stables.

It is time for the people to rise up and push these deceivers of the peace and betrayers of the people back into the pit from whence they came.

Negro drivers are never sent to Beverly Hills or Hollywood, or Wilshire or any of the better-class sections of the city. It is always a white driver.

These were some of the problems supposed to be discussed at the meeting last Thursday evening, together with that of equal pay. But a curtain of silence has shut out every attempt to learn the truth.

Calif. Eagle Endorses De Silva

This newspaper has made no secret of its endorsement, support and definite preference for Joseph T. DeSilva in the 63rd District special election for Assembly next Tuesday, November 4. Its choice was based on the fine record of Mr. DeSilva as head of the AFL Retail Clerks union, his militant leadership in the field of labor and the down-to-earth, people's issues in his platform.

The California EAGLE and its publisher have believed that Mr. DeSilva was by far the best of the three candidates for all the people of the district and should be elected because his background, platform and character show great promise of a fearless spokesman and a good legislator. These columns have cited the sound, progressive qualities of the DeSilva platform, of his pledge to call for a special session of the Legislature to do something about runaway prices and a real housing program.

In their universal and urgent appeal, these issues know no color line. They apply to all people within the 63rd District and the state of California as a whole. No amount of innuendo and mud slinging by one of the opposing candidates has caused Joseph T. DeSilva to waver from his campaign of economic issues and firm positions against all discrimination and for a return of civil rights.

This paper has chosen this approach too, rather than seeking any racial issues in the campaign. But we would be derelict in our duty to the community if some notice were not taken of a statement made last week at a public gathering by the Republican candidate, G. Delbert Morris. To the very small group of Westsiders who have chosen to "go along" with Morris, largely because of an ingrained party loyalty, these words may yet come as an eyeopener. (By a man's words shall he be judged—by his peers and fellow citizens on this earth and by God in the other).

Without drawing a breath between the phrases, Morris spoke these words: "The State Bar Association does not accept any members of minority groups . . . it is a fine organization."

Even from a down-the-line reactionary, such a statement would seem startling and certainly identifies Mr. Morris. It should point up, to the voters in the 63rd District, that they must go to the polls on November 4 and elect the candidate who will represent all of them.

His name is Joseph T. DeSilva.

No, Thank You!

It is not a new Magna Charta we need, just the enforcement of the American Constitution. However, here is the work of the President's Committee on Civil Rights, which promises a "new Magna Charta for the Negro People."

The report of the committee is being drafted into legislative form to be submitted to Congress in January.

Heading a list of recommendations is one calling for fines of $10,000 and 20-year prison terms for lynchers and public officials who permit lynchings. Another is one that will eliminate Jim Crow practices in the Federal government. It "suggests" that the different states enact legislation to protect the property rights of non-Caucasians. It also suggests that the various states be "encouraged" to adopt a State FEPC, and admits the poll tax is a very bad feature of several states, but doesn't know exactly what to do about it.

This committee was appointed by President Truman several months ago. It spent much time cogitating on what was to be done for evils it already knew existed and which the Constitution condemned years ago.

The people of America, and least of all the Negro people, do not need a "new Magna Charta." Our own Constitution will answer every purpose. If the measures of that Constitution are enforced.

One reads of the fascist street meetings in London (every Sunday at Dalston) with a shock of recognition. The young men in back ties, raising their arms in the fascist salute and chanting: "Down with Communism" sound like something out of Berlin in '31. One has the feeling one is reading an old diary, not today's newspaper. — Samuel Grafton, in syndicated column.

Physchology . . . would be much more of a science if there not so many scholars anxious to show that wage earners have relatively low I. Q.'s and that subject peoples are psychologically incapable of self-government. — Barrows Dunham in Man Against Myth.

Stop Warren Campaign

Carl J. Johnson, president of the Young Republicans of California, has not capitulated to the trend to nominate Earl Warren for the presidency in the 1948 Republican convention.

In a letter to Mr. Leslie Claypool of The Daily News, in whose column of October 20, Johnson was listed as one of those who strenuously opposed Warren but who later "was shown the light" and so retracted, Mr. Johnson states definitely "Please be advised that my opposition has not lessened and that I am now conducting a nation-wide 'Stop Earl Warren Campaign.' Using the words of your article, it is Earl Warren who needs to be shown the LIGHT OF TRUE DEMOCRACY."

These are heart-warming words of Mr. Johnson. We feel sure that in his campaign to stop Warren, he will fight to stop all reaction within the Republican Party and to prevent all candidates from being nominated and later elected whose records do not square with the principles of the founder of the Republican Party—Abraham Lincoln.

To have a candidate like Lincoln for the presidency, a candidate who would strive with all his strength to complete the emancipation of the Negro race by enacting a permanent Federal FEPC, who would work with a liberal Congress—for electing a Lincoln as president would virtually also insure a Lincoln Congress—for anti-lynching, anti-poll tax, anti-restrictive covenant legislation, this would indeed revive the Republican Party and make it and its officials truly a government of the people and by and for the people.

Is this too much to strive for?

A candidate for the presidency that will "stop Warren" must be a candidate who will think primarily of the needs of all the people, not merely of the few at the top. Who will go all out for a housing program that will give homes not only to the returned war veterans, but to all the citizens of America. Who will work for peace in all the world. Who will fight against high prices, who will stop the attempt to control the thinking of the American people, who will prevent America becoming Fascist.

This is the kind of candidate we believe Mr. Johnson has in mind when he speaks of a "Stop Earl Warren Campaing." Nothing short of this could be successful.

Judge Mosk vs. Un-American Activities

"We read columns in the press each day about unAmerican activities," declared Judge Stanley Mosk, of the Los Angeles County Superior Court, in giving his decision involving the restrictive covenant cases of six Negro families in the Arlington area.

"This court feels there is no more reprehensible unAmerican activity than to attempt to deprive persons of their own homes on a 'master race' theory.

"Our nation just fought the Nazi race superiority doctrines. One of these defendants was in that war and is a Purple Heart veteran. This court would indeed be callous to his constitutional rights if it were now to permit him to be ousted from his home by using 'race' as the measure of his worth as a citizen and a neighbor."

These words of Judge Mosk should hang on the walls of our homes beside our copies of the Declaration of Independence and the Emancipation Proclamation. They were spoken only in decrying a case of local injustice, but they ring true for all such cases all over the land.

May we have more Judge Mosks in our courts of justice! Then indeed America would be in truth the republic "with liberty and justice for all."

Physical science was one of the weapons which the middle class forged against the aristocracy; the aristocracy had therefore to do all in its power to prevent the weapons being forged. For Galileo to assert that the earth is a sphere rotating upon an axis, when feudal myth held it to be stationary and flat, was as "subversive" as for a sociologist to assert today that wars originate from the nature of capitalism.—Barrows Dunham in Man Against Myth.

. . . beliefs are chosen and propagated not for their conformity with science, but for their effect on human behavior. Generally speaking, truth has been suffered to exist in the world just to the extent that it profited the rulers of society. There was a time—and not so very long ago—when these rulers could not afford the knowledge that the earth is round.—Barrows Dunham in Man Against Myth.

THINGS I SEE

By Marian Inglewood

In all the witch hunting—and we don't mean the pranks of witches on Halloween—no one seems to know exactly what sort of witch we are seeking to burn.

The authorities of old Salem seemed to know pretty well. It was usually some poor, defenseless old woman who was managing to eke out an existence in a way which they couldn't understand, and so of course, they argued, it must be done in a supernatural way. All that was needed then was some additional evidence that the poor old lady had an evil eye, that she had cast a spell on someone—and off she was carted to a hill to be burned to death.

Horrible! We here today in the same America are not so crude as to burn the people who don't believe as we do. We resort to a more refined form of cruelty. We merely let them starve to death. We hold over them the threat of losing their jobs, of seeing their loved ones go hungry—and naturally we expect them to conform with our views rather than endure such a long-drawn-out form of suffering.

Now how do we decide who these witches are whom we are to burn or to starve? They don't cast spells on us any more. They really don't need to do anything. All we need is some evidence they think differently from what we do. And we've decided to find out their method of thinking by submitting them to what we have dubbed "loyalty tests." Ask them what magazines they read, what papers they subscribe to, what meetings they attend, what organizations they belong to.

And then we decide arbitrarily, without giving them a chance to defend themselves, they are "un-American," and they are fired forthwith and sent out into the street to go hungry and cold. Much more expeditious than the trials they held for the witches in Salem before they were burned.

But this loyalty to American ideals is a relative matter, as Einstein would describe it. There was a time when the public school system was opposed as a violation of American principles. We don't think so now. It wasn't so very long ago that almost everyone decried Socialism as something that smelled of brimstone. Socialis mis beginning to become respectable today, and so we have to turn to something else as scrapegoat.

'We have decided upon Communism. And so everything that we don't like, everything that would help the working people, that would give little children food to eat, that would perhaps distribute the great wealth of this country a little more evenly, we call Communistic. We say it is unconstitutional, contrary to the ideals of America. And the great mass of American people believe this bunk, just as they used to believe the lies about our American school system, and more recently about Socialism.

This warmed-up hysteria opposing everything decent and human, has been called "an era of lawless and disorderly defense of la wand order, of unconstitutional defense of the Constitution — in a very literal sense, a reign of terror."

The United States Supreme Court has declared: "If there is any fixed star in our constitutional constellation it is that no official, high or petty, can prescribe what shall be orthpdox in politics, nationalism, religion, or other matters of opinion, or force citizens to confess by word or act their faith therein."

This attempt to create a cloud of fear hanging over the heads of the American workingman, is but an expression of the fear in the soults of American capitalists that their much-loved private-profit, "free enterprise" system is crumbling in the dust.

Said Charles Luckman, head of the Food Administration program, before a large business men's convention: "We got the reputation we have because, by and large, we earned it. How? Well, we declared war on collective bargaining. We actually opposed increased taxes for education. We fought health and safety ordinances. The record proves that we battled child labor legislation. We yipped and yowled against minimum wage laws. We struggled against unemployment insurance. We decried Social Security, and currently we are kicking hell out of the proposals to provide universal sickness and accident insurance.

"We did all these things, and today we wonder why people don't like big business! We wonder why it is necessary to start campaigns to save free enterprise."

So, you un-American Committees, if you want the American people to fall in love with our "American free enterprise system" again, you make this system so attractive that no one would even think of having another. If you can possibly do so big a job. Knocking people over the heads, burning them, sending them to jail, making them lose their jobs, won't make anybody like you. That's just telling the world how terribly scared you yourselves are of what the common people may do. The more witch-hunting you do, the more violent it becomes, the more Communists you will be making every day.

A Business Women Points The Finger

By HELEN JANE ALBERGA

EDITOR'S NOTE: The EAGLE publishes this article by a business woman in the community, in the hope that it will lead to a thorough discussion of the points raised. The EAGLE does not necessarily agree with either the premises or the conclusions drawn by the writer.

"Ignorance is bliss" is oftimes quoted. Nevertheless, at this point in my life it seems to ring true. Many of our people are foot-loose and fancy free, and seem to enjoy themselves so much doing nothing. I have often wondered, as a 20th century Negro woman, what I would have been like if my family had not the foresight to give me the blessed opportunity for an education. Black seems to have been a tragic color to draw in the eternal lottery, because for centuries it has damned the ones who drew it. In my opinion, one educated, thinking Negro has to carry the weight of a dozen uneducated, unthinking Negroes on his shoulders, or sink under the mire in this changing scheme of things.

Often it seems useless to carry the burden, because of the lack of encouragement from our own people. Ignorance breeds contempt for the rights and qualifications of others. If one is qualified for his business or professional venture, it should not be with misgiving that people in all walks of life ask his assistance for their every day wants and needs. It should however, be with pride and pleasure that we trade with and ask help of our own. Instead, there is a sort of jealous tolerance of our business and professional people that leads Negroes to outside communities to trade, thereby retarding our growth.

We have all at one time or another, heard of some injustices and underhanded transactions on the part of a few Negro professional and business people. However that does not render them all incompetant. It is unfair to judge all by a few. I speak from the standpoint of a business woman in these our times.

There are compensations for being in business, especially if one is doing what one wants most to do. But there are also quite a number of consumer faults to be corrected. I have noticed that we as a race expect to be pampered and given things because we are Negroes. We all, white and black, have to earn our livelihood unless someone dies and leaves us a tidy sum. Take for example the retail business. Many Negro customers think nothing of asking a loan of the little shop around the corner just because he has purchased $1.75 worth of merchandise at one time or another. He feels deeply hurt if you refuse him and in some instances will become downright angry if refused. Not once will he stop to think that you have other obligations and even if you had the money to give him, your shop is not a loan company. Each time he came in you gave him value received, so why expect you to go over board on a loan? Would they do the same to a white-operated business? No! Also, most customers want quite a lot for the price you are asking. If for instance you deliver as well as gift-wrap, does he pay without mumbling and accept it politely or tactfully disagree? Occasionally, yes. Ordinarily, no. He must see it before delivery, insist on a specific time as though he is your only customer, change his order invariably and roar to high heaven if it is not delivered on the minute, or either tell you to keep it because he can get it cheaper down town.

Another nightmare to the Negro businesses are the advertisement sharks. No week is complete without at least five good will ad seekers asking your help, with the added phrase "I know it will boost your business." They do not stop to think that you do advertise freely where you are sure of getting results and also keep an annual budget for that purpose. Invariably it will be for some benefit cocktail dance or church affair. If you let them talk you into the ad you may never see them or anyone connected with the affair again until the next season of donations begins. No doubt the spirits flowed so freely, the inebriated guests could not have read the ad if they were of a mind to. I have also had customers to ask to accompany their purchases to their destination with the added insult that they "might as well ride over with you." Evidently taxi fare has increased as this is certainly a very poor way to save the expense of going about under their own power.

Why, I wonder does it have to be this way? I always come back to the same thing. Because the majority of us have yet to learn the technique of living in a precise world as it is today. We want to poke out our chests and say we are advancing to meet advancing conditions, but are we? Not until we learn the rules. I ache deeply inside for my people. Our professional and business men and women are trying to advance, but our masses of consumers keep the pressure on us.

I recently made a survey of the businesses our people do support to the hilt and found only six. Liquor stores, cocktail bars, barber shops, hotels and restaurants. I cannot leave out the churches. Three of these are necessities. The other three, purely a means of coloring our inhibitions with forgetfulness. Instead of trying to get up out of the mire, we sink despairingly down and wonder why we get no further. We use each other as worms on a fish hook and when cash jingles in our pockets, are on top of the world. When it is gone, then only do we think of each other.

To me, the greatest assets any race can have is pride, tact, politeness, a sense of humor, a smile of encouragement and that inner confidence for our own to advance. It is an accepted fact that Negro-owned businesses indeed take time, patience and a great deal of cooperation to get them on the same level. Remember, it is our own skins in escrow. We must learn to work thoroughly together. We ourselves are to blame for some of the intolerance thrust upon us.

The Singing Measure

THAT'S LIFE
By Joe Swift

Life is love and hate combined
Today to lose, tomorrow to find,
To laugh or cry or think at will,
And madly reach for every thrill.
To act when sure or take a chance,
Face, disappointments in romance.
To wrongfully condemn a race,
Or lie when lies are pure disgrace,
That's Life.

To shake the hand of every friend,
Or find there's hate behind one's grin,
To face each obstacle as they come
Or cowardly turn your back on some.
To dream of castles carved in gold
Or that certain girl you long to hold.
Killed in youth by death's sharp knife,
Or live to a ripe old age,
That's life.

A CHANGE OF SHADE
Written June 1945

Cursed from birth, in a world of creed
The odds are strong against me,
A change of shade is all I need
Then no racial ban could fence me.

Deaf, dumb and loss of sight
Bodily disfigured,
A change of shade would make life bright
At least I won't be niggered.

Washed ashore with hopes defied
From a sea of natural men,
A change of shade would turn the tide
And cast me in again.

My heart behind its birth-browned front
Beats proudly through life's grind,
No! It's not a change of shade I want
But a change in men and mind.

W. J. Wheaton Says

We had just finished our bounteous repast of fried chicken and southern biscuits, when our hostess broke into such a loud guffaw of laughter that made us jump. When she had recovered sufficiently and regained her breath, she informed us why her mirth. I will not attempt to write in the venacular, her soft southern drawl would be too hard to imitate.

"Well, Honey," she said; "Remember the time you asked me, had I registered? Well I was just thinking. Down home when you talk about registering you think of hogs and such. So I asks little Mary Ann what you meant, and she says you register to vote. Then I says register to vote? Oh no! Says me, I got no money to pay tax. But Mary Ann, she says we don't have to pay tax to vote. Well, says me: Where is this register place? Mary Ann didn't know but she asked her teacher, and she come and took me. Now, what I want to say is: Down home we are taxed if we want to vote, so we don't vote. Maybe we could if we wanted to. Now, what I can't understand is why we have to be dragged to the register place here and rode to the place to vote in order to have that right. It just don't seem sense. Seems to me that we would only be too anxious.

"But us folks are funny creatures, we fight for something and when we can get it, we don't appreciate it. Bet you I'll be one of the first at that place where you vote, come voting day, and me, I'll be the proudest colored woman that ever put a vote in the voting box. The man or woman who don't vote ought to go back home and stay. We'uns don't 'preciate things we have wished for all our lives. Schools and such things as votes. Wish sometimes I could gather all my folk and tell them of the blessings they have."

It was getting to the leaving hour, so after making arrangements for once a week suppers we told our hostess how we appreciated her view and heartly coincided with her.

The President has called a special session of the congress. Ostensibly, the call is to consider the immediate relief of European conditions, but we venture to say that before the session closes, subjects not germane will be injected in the agenda. The opportunity to air political views and sling some party mud will be too great to pass over.

The witch hunt on the Potomac holds the spotlight at present. If one dares to speak his or her mind, such narrow-minded legislators as the Rankins will never pass up the opportunity of spitting their venom and tainting the air of the house of congress with fetid breath. We have at all times, when opportune, spoken out against the undemocratic attitude of sections of this nation toward certain minority groups of the citizenry. We will continue so to do as long as we live, and those conditions exist. If that is Communism, then we plead guilty to being communistic—though registered as a Democrat. The right is reserved to criticise any public official, who has been selected to serve the people, and that right should not or can not be construed as a plot to overthrow constituted authority. In the interpretation of some, any criticism of a public official is a menace to the government. We claim that unless there is an obvious attempt to inflame the minds to revolutionary acts, that all criticisms are valid. Of what use is democracy in a government, or any organization, if one's personal opinions can't be expressed? Muffle the voice of the people, and you kill democracy! That is evident in the sections of this nation where the right of franchise is denied one third of its citizens. Communism is the redherring thrown across the trail to seek to divert the minds of the people from the real democracy, which this nation boasts.

Can there be any more undemocratic section of this nation than Mississippi? Yet t representative of that section, Rankin, is one of the rabid race-baiters and Communist-hunters in the nation. It has got to be the fad to label every sane thinking person who advocates equal citizenship for all as one who seeks the overthrow of the government by subversive speech. The act can't be proved. Can anyone with the widest stretch of the imagination tell us why John Steinbecks "Grapes of Wrath" should be placed on the Communistic list? If one can see where it caters to Communist ideas, then we don't know how to read. These conditions might have happened to any under the same conditions, regardless of racial origin. Let us clean house before we go too far with our criticism. There are many incongruous elements in our democracy that only criticism and plain democratic talk will eliminate. Let's be fair. That's the democratic way.

The supervisorial race seems to have taken on new life. The campaign workers for the aspirants are doing a lot of backslapping and hand shaking. The candidacy of F. D. Haynes appears to be rolling nicely. As you may know, F. D. Haynes is a candidate for supervisor. He is a man of ability, one who knows the needs of San Francisco and is well aware of its problems. O'Day, representative of our 24th legislative district, aspires to the municipal judgeship. O'Day is competent and his terms as a legislator has been entirely satisfactory. There is no doubt of his making a very satisfactory judge. Then the mayoralty contest is growing more heated. Radio and Forum meetings where each can tell what they will and won't do. Just Phooey.

BOOKS and AUTHORS

"The Wedding Journey" by Walter A. Edmonds, a New York author of many books having as their locale the Erie Canal section, is the story of a honeymoon at Niagara when four miles an hour was considered an alarming speed. He paints a colorful picture of the canal life of a century ago. There are the boisterous docks where packet and freighter jockey for place, the strain of the tow rope against horse and mule, battles of boatmen, grain from the West, machinery from the East, and travelers of all kinds. Young Roger Willcox and his bride travel through the locks to their future and the reader takes the return trip to another day.

"Speaking Frankly" by James F. Byrnes is an important book which records the experiences of the former Secretary of State during the critical period following victory, of the foreign policy then adopted by our government, of the methods used by the Soviet to attain its own ends rather than a common welfare. Mr. Byrnes' conclusion at the end of this revealing volume is that no one nation should have the power to veto any program for world peace. His efforts at peace-making began at Yalta and on through the heartbreaks and triumphs of the many conferences which followed. Most of this book is unpublished material, and at the end the author points the way to the solution of the difficult problems ahead. Mr. Byrnes is well qualified for his task as he is the only man who has served as Representative, Senator, Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court, Secretary of State, and attended all of the conferences.

"Sure Hand of God" is the new novel by the well-known author, Erskine Caldwell. It is the story of Molly Bowser, a widow, who wants a steady provider, preferably a husband for herself or for her teen-age, precocious daughter, Lily. Brother-in-law Jethro descends upon the family and nearly destroys Lily's market value only to have her elope with a neighbor boy. Fat, thirty-five year old Molly is a tragically real yet humorous character. In spite of desperate odds she is triumphantly alive—an extraordinary woman of the Deep South.

"Your Community" by Joanna C. Colcord has for a sub-title "Its provision for health, education, safety, and welfare" which gives a good idea of the scope of the book. It was first published in 1939 and has been revised and brought up to date by Donald S. Howard, Director of the Department of Social Work Administration, Russell Sage Foundation. There are sections on local government, crime, labor, housing, planning, organized care of the sick, public assistance, family welfare and child care and racial questions. There are many questions designed to make the student realize how much must be considered when planning the best community possible. There is a good index, also many references to other helpful books on the subject, and a list of clubs, associations and agencies.

Frederic Wakeman, author of the recent best-seller, "The Hucksters," has a new novel—"The Saxon Charm"—a portrait of Matt Saxon, a fascinating theatrical producer. Even his enemies admit he has a charming personality and shrewdness. Eric Busch brings a play to Matt for production and is ordered to rewrite it. He tries to follow Matt's advice and loses his virtue and almost loses his wife before he discovers that the producer is a complete heel. The book has already been purchased for film production.

"Sketching for the Draftsman" by H. W. Michelson and R .O. Buck of The Lane Technical School of Chicago is written primarily to train students to make preliminary sketches either original or from working drawings and objects. Many short cuts have been used with satisfactory results. It is well illustrated and very useful for students.

Both Helen Hunt Jackson Branch Library, 2330 Naomi avenue, and the Vernon Branch, 4504 South Central Avenue, are open Monday through Friday from 1:00 to 9:00 p.m. and on Saturday from 9:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.

A LAYMAN'S VIEW

By Leon W. Steward

TUESDAY IS ANOTHER ELECTION DAY—VOTE!

Yes, we folks in the 63rd assembly district are among those who have been sent sample ballots which urging us to go to our polling place next Tuesday (Nov. 4) to vote for one of three candidates who wish to fill the state legislature post which was vacated by Don Allen, who was elected into the city council last Spring and to give up his job in the legislature. This brings up several points which we consider note worthy to those of us who realize how very important our vote is at every election. (And may their number increase).

Leon Steward

POINT NUMBER ONE

Any man worthy of the blessings of democracy (and they are many)—should make it a practice to always go to the polls, whenever they are open, and VOTE. He should consider voting as one of his highest duties to himself. The vote is a power in our kind of government and the man who uses it is exercising power—just as much power as anybody else does unless he has not learned how to make his vote serve his own welfare. When he gets this requirement his vote is indeed powerful.

And to "serve his own welfare" requires giving the matter of voting some thought and preparation. In the first place he must identify his own welfare as being related to the welfare of others like himself. If he is a laborer, he identifies himself with other laborers and votes in the interest of labor when the issue involves the welfare of laboring people. If the thing he wants is the thing the property owners of his district desire, of course he votes with the property owners of his district and so on. This requires some effort which is well worth the trouble. But try hard to know why you wish to vote for a man or measure. Never the less if you can do no better, look up some one whom you suspect as being of your own situation and get his ideas about it and vote. In time you will become a solid citizen whose vote counts because you use your opportunity to vote and try hard to make it tell your story.

POINT NUMBER TWO

Now is to a choice of a candidate for whom to vote Tuesday. First, let us tell you that we have not seen any one of the candidates nor have we talked with either, but we are going to tell you for whom we intend voting and why. We have read the qualifications of each candidate. From their record none appears ready to run for governor but all have something to recommend them to this position. Of the three JOSEPH T. DeSILVA, the second on the list, appears more likely to represent our interests in the present more-or-less reactionary legislature. He is an official oof a labor union which means that he would hardly add anything to the reactionary element at Sacremento. Assemblyman Augustus Hawkins appears to think that he will be of assistance to the progressive forces in the assembly judging from his statements regarding DeSilva. We notice that he is evidently acceptable to the California EAGLE and the other papers in the neighborhood. Now, this is not the very best way to go about making such an important decision, but it does signify a minimum effort towards preparing to go to the polls. Of course we shall have much more information on the subject when we vote but if we should get no more we certainly would go to the polls Tuesday and Vote for DeSliva.

POINT NUMBER THREE

There appears to be little interest in this election along the paths which we travel. Is it because no Negro candidates have entered the race? Surely this should not be the case. But it does bring up the point of how greatly a non-partisan league is needed among these people whose political powers are waning just when it is needed most. Such a league would tend to make every election an important occasion to new and old voters alike. (More of this later.)

POINT NUMBER FOUR

What Negro political leaders or civic leaders were taken into the caucuses—Democratic or Republican—out of which these names have come? Surely we have not heard of any. Speak up. We would like to know you.

A Travelog

By VAUGHN G. PROCTOR

My return to El Paso's Armor Hotel that wintry Sunday in January, 1946, will always be clear in my mind. With the groceries under one arm and the verse from the Statue of Liberty still running through my head, I left El Paso street and climbed the creaking stairs. At the top landing I stopped abruptly. Vaughn's shrill voice pierced the dimly-lit hallway like a rifle shot. In the split seconds it took me to plunge across the hall I suffered all the agony a parent suffers in the presence of great danger. When I burst into the room I found Vaughn on the bed, shouting at the top of his voice and slapping the foot-rail with a rolled-up newspaper. Behind him Christie crouched at the head of the bed. In an instant I had them both in my arms and Vaughn was telling me about a big rat and I was trying to dry Christie's tears.

Vaughn showed me with his hands how big the rat was and we searched beneath the bed and behind the dresser, but found nothing.

That night, after we were all tucked in snugly, I lay awake, staring up at the black ceiling and wondering. The gas heater was turned off and the chill night began to penetrate the room. I was smoking a cigarette. I could see through our one window across a low roof and into the lighted windows of another hotel. Even at that distance I could see the shabbiness of the furniture, the blotched walls and the so-familiar light bulbs dangling from the ceiling of each room.

Several men entered a room on the top floor. They sat on what appeared to be a bed. presently one of them, who was smoking a cigarette, got to his feet and performed a strange kind of clogging dance in the center of the floor. He was joined by another and the two of them bobbed up and down, bumping into each other, swaying and almost falling. As seconds passed their dance became a frenzy of wild disorder and without sense to me. Nevertheless I was fascinated. I was conscious of being a witness to something not intended for public display and the though made me withdraw a little from the window.

Before long those who had remained seated arose and joined the dance. The room became a seething mass of motion, and framed as it was in the small rectangle of window, it was like a soundless television broadcast—one that bored deep into a darker aspect of life for its drama. I suspected that they were smoking marihuana. I'll never know if I was right. I tried as I sat there on the edge of the bed to understand how such things could be. I realized that by judging on the basis of such flimsy evidence I was in grave danger of being wrong.

Suddenly, as if by arrangement, the men stopped their dance and quietly filed from the room. The muffled sounds of the street grew fainter. My bare feet were numb with cold. I crawled into bed. I closed my eyes but realized I was not sleepy. My mind was a torrent of words and scenes. One terrible conclusion thrust itself upon me. The will of the majority of the people in the United States is not being translated into constructive good. Millions and more millions of people have been shunted into trailers, shacks, tents and slums to perish in a sea of degeneration and despair. The significance of Tom Paine, of Lincoln and of Franklin Delano Roosevelt was beeing denied. I wondered how this could be. Having seen the magnificent spirit of people everywhere, I could not understand.

The next day I spent the entire morning searching for a job in lithography. On the way back to the hotel I had an experience which underscored our desperate plight. I saw two young men with a portable radio transmitter set up on the sidewalk in front of a jewelry store. Grouped about them on the sidewalk were piles of brown paper-wrapped packages. I moved closer. The thought that I might get one of the packages as a present for being interviewed thrilled and excited me. Maybe it would be food or something which I could sell. I shouldered my way into the front row of the crowd which had gathered.

"Yes-siree folks of the radio audience," said the man into the microphone, "we're going to give away every one of these 500 prizes." He looked at me and I smiled back eagerly.

"Now, young man," he said, addressing me, "would you care to step forward." I inched out into the tiny cleared circle. My heart was pounding.

"What is your name," the man asked and held the microphone closer for me. I told him and then in succession answered questions about where I lived and where I was going and what kind of work I did.

"Thank you very much," said the man, "and here is your prize." I held out my hand.

"And now if you will," said the man, "I'd like you to place in this basket whatever you feel you can spare." I was stunned. I wanted to back out, yet I knew I couldn't.

"It goes for a good cause," said the man, "yes-siree, the March of Dimes; we're all giving to the March of Dimes." The mistake I had made gnawed at my stomach. Served me right, I thought, for trying to get something for nothing. I felt in my pocket for some money.

"Anything you care to give," said the man, "I guarantee the value of this prize is as much as $1.50." I dug deeper in my pocket but found no coins. I brought out a dollar bill and hesitated. In that moment he slipped it from my hand. I wanted to ask him for some change, but the concentrated attention of the crowd prevented me.

"A dollar bill," shouted the man, "Mr. Proctor from Los Angeles, California gives one dollar to the Marhc of Dimes!" I felt sick.

Back at the hotel with the kids hopping excitedly around me, I carefully opened my "prize." It was a hot tire-patch kit for repairing blow-outs. The absurdity of it made me laugh. Vaughn and Christie joined in and we rolled over and over on the bed, laughing until the tears streamed down our faces.

"Just what we needed," I roared.

"Oh, boy," laughed Vaughn. I thumped him in the stomach and he climbed on my head, squeezing me until I had to beg him to stop. That was more hilarity than we had shown since we started our trip.

That afternoon we visited the library. I was hungry for some escape from the icy streets, from the poverty of our material lives. We spent a pleasant interlude and then returned to the hotel.

Dusk fell and the loneliness of our one room frightened me. We went out to Walgreen's Drugstore for supper.

I remembered eating in Walgreen's Times Square in New York, and the memory was pleasant. As we ate I made a few notes in my black leather notebook, which I always carried with me.

Some time later, after a quiet tour of the downtown area, we walked back through the throngs of people to the hotel. No sooner had we entered our room than I knew something was wrong. I had lost my black leather notebook!

I had used it as a pillow in my fox-holes overseas; I had carried it with me on numerous trips throughout the United States—the though of losing it horrified me.

Leaving the kids in the room, I dashed out of the hotel and along the crowded streets. I cursed myself for having placed so much sentiment on a material thing. I reminded myself, however, that the notebook contained valuable addresses and notes which I could not afford to lose. There was only one place I could remember having the notebook. That was in Walgreen's. Sure enough, it was there. I clutched it securely under my arm and walked from the store.

I had not gone far before I felt someone tapping me on the shoulder. It was a young man carrying a small suitcase.

"Can you help a fellow out for something to eat?" he asked.

I shook my head. I explained that I had two kids and that we were hitchhiking.

"Gee," he said, "I guess you're worse off than I am." He disappeared into the crowd before I could reconsider. I should have given him something, I thought, but it was too late then.

Vaughn and Christie were happy and sympathetic when they learned that I recovered my notebook.

We drew pictures, wrote letters and studied our road-maps. Vaughn placed the hot tire-patch kit beneath his pillow.

"I want it," he said. I saw that the shiny metal clamp and the cellophane-wrapped patches interested him.

In a few minutes we turned off the light and the gas heater and crawled into bed. Vaughn made sure his tire kit was safe and Christie snuggled her doll close in her arms.

Trail Blazers: Dr. Benjamin A. Jordan

By PHYLLIS SCOTT

Professionally he is a nationally known figure. His social and fraternal affiliations stretch across the country from metropolis to hamlet. From the beginning of his practice years he has earned the reputation of being one of the most capable dentists in the city, particularly in the field of extractions.

It's Ben Jordan or just plain "Doc" as he is fondly known by his friends. He was born in Pulaski, Giles County, Tenn., of who might have been well-to-do landowners had it not been for crooked profiteers. Even during his boyhood "Doc" was somewhat of a cosmopolite, growing up in Nashville, Tuskegee, and Chicago. He received his education at Tuskegee, Walden university, and the University of Illinois Dental college.

Before he entered the University of Illinois, Jordan ran on the road as a dining car waiter. "On one of the runs to Brooklyn, I had a toothache so badly," Doc declares, "that I didn't see how anyone could suffer so and not receive adequate help." It was then that he decided to study dentistry.

Dr. Benjamin A. Jordan

Jordan has a strong, affable personality. His old friend, Atty. Willis Tyler, says that he is really a man's man. He likes to fish, hunt, golf, and spend an evening with "the boys." More than that, he loves life and admits that he has always enjoyed the same things that makes others happy.

Jordan, who came to Los Angeles in 1915, has always been a strong member in the African Methodist Episcopal church. His middle name, Arnett, is for a great bishop in the AME church. Since his residence in Los Angeles, he has been affiliated with First AME church, 8th and Towne. Fraternally, he is a charter member of Sigma Pi Phi Boule, 32nd degree Mason, and is actively connected with Elks Lodge. Along with Alva Garrott, Willis O. Tyler, and others, he took an active part in the formation of the Urban League.

His social inclinations have been very pronounced. As early as the '20's, his large and palatial Westside home was the scene of many leading social activities. He and his estimable wife, Mrs. Lou Jordan, have been married 10 years and reside at 5100 Wall street.

THE LIVING SOUTH

BLOOD AND CANDY

Every damned old rogue and rascal is yelling "Red" in these days when big bellies get fatter on the warm, red blood of suffering mankind.

Every puking old pirate and politaxer has tried to turn his skin outside and fool the people into believing that he's a patriot when he's nothing in God's tortured world but a "pay-triot" and a "hate-ri-ot."

Every fawning old bootlicker, every old mush-mouthed Uncle Tom (white and black), has found new boots to lick by talking like a parrot and yelling "Red" or "Communist" when the boys wearing the boots tell him to yell. And every one of those boots, being licked by the scared and the servile and the stupid, has hobnails on it to grind down the lives and the hopes of little people like you and me.

I guess every pirate has his pet parrot, white or black. And parrots don't mind their masters feeding on human flesh if they get a little piece of the bone and a little taste of the gristle.

But on whom do they feed? And shall the people be led as slaughter to the feasts by being persuaded to slaughter each other through wars and witch hunts, through Red baiting and black baiting?

Hooray for Rankin! Down with the Reds! Pour water on the knives of the Red baiters so they'll cut sharper—and get your own throat cut for your "patriotism."

Hooray! Hooray! Hooray for Uncle Tom building up his cabin!

Hooray for Rankin! Hooray for hate! Hooray for hell!

Now, I deckon that I was never much of a cheer leader so I don't guess that what I've written is a very good start. And I don't think that my good friend, Dean Gordon Hancock, meant to wind me up like this when he attacked Red-baiting as "our dangerous diversion" in his fine column, "Between the Lines," for October 11.

"Instead of tackling dollar-a-pound chops," Dean Hancock wrote with a pen that cut through this Red-baiting hullabaloo like a sword," we are busy trying to divert that attention of the nation from the real issues with cries of 'communism'! All of Truman's political shortcomings are to be overlooked in our shudders over 'impending communism.'"

And Dean Hancock, with Brother Preece from Bull Creek, Texas, sitting over here in the "amen" corner, lays on with a sword instead of a butter knife. He declares that "politics and Russophobia are being handed to the people of a great country that is crying for able leadership."

Well, Brother Gordon Hancock, I can believe your witness when I see what is going on right in our own capitol in Washington where Bilbo is no longer mayor but where his topdog, John Rankin of Mississippi, is certainly making Bilbo feel a little bit better in hell.

THE CRUCIFIED

The finest and most liberal minds of the moving picture industry are at this writing (October 26) being crucified on crosses of shame by the Rankin-Thomas "un-American Activities Committee" because they dared to make pictures that pulsed with that warm, red blood of the people instead of pictures that were as sweet and gooey as those candy pullings that I used to take in back there on Bull Creek.

I raeckin that gang of pukes and pirates and polltaxers who are the "unamerican" committee don't want Hallywood to make any pictures that would have any meaning to anybody with more brains than God put in the carcass of a flea. And that's because, hating the people, they think that the people are flea-brained.

I figure that they don't want any pictures made about Negroes unless the Negroes play Aunt Jemimas and Uncle Toms.

Hooray for handkerchief heads! Hooray for Carter Wesley and Almena Davis and the rest of those who figure their heads are safer under handkerchiefs! Hooray! Hooray!

I guess that all this business of fighting Russia instead of fighting Rankin, of fighting "communism" instead of fighting Kluxism, is one reason why Hollywood has shelved the filming of Howard Fast's great novel and Negro history, Freedom Road while Hollywood goes on making pictures with Negro talent being insulted in Aunt Jemima and Uncle Tom roles.

I guess that this witch hunt, whooped up by the pirates echoed by the parrots making sure of their crackers, is another reason why Howard Fast, the author of Freedom Road, has been sentenced to jail for "contempt" of the "Un-American Committee."

And I kind of have a hunch that it's to keep Aunt Jemina enthroned in Hollywood that Walt Disney, who made the stinking, rotten anti-Negro film, "Song of the South," was one of the star witnesses against "communism" for Rankin, Thomas, and the rest of that cussfired committee.

Hooray for Disney and Mickey Mouse! Hooray for Tom and Jemima! Hooray for Rankin! Hooray for everything—but decency and equality and freedom of the human mind.

But when are we going to stop being scared by the bought-up cheer leaders, our generally corrupt daily newspapers, and stop being Mickey Mouses dangled around by our masters?

Hooray——!

But if I'm not mistaken, there are a couple of other words that American people know how to use to put a stop to this kind of a pirate picnic.

And the word ain't "hooray"!

The Cost Of Living Under Socialism

By PAUL FRENCH

The price of bread in Los Angeles has gone up two cents a loaf. The price of meat is already beyond reason and still climbing. Testimony before a Congressional committee shows that the price of vegetables and fruits are "marked up" by the retailers as much as 100 percent over what they pay the wholesalers; and every farmer can tell you that he gets only a very small part of the price which the wholesalers charge the retailers.

All of which is interesting, in view of the frequent assertions by many 150 percent Americans, that American capitalism "can prove that it is better for the people than Soviet socialism, by producing more cheaper prices so the people can eat better."

It is interesting, twice over, because recent authoritative reports from the Soviet Union, published in the USSR Information Bulletin of Oct. 8, tells of price reductions!

Yes, there it is! "Market prices for food are continually dropping in all the republics of the USSR," it says, "as the supply of agricultural products, especially vegetables, potatoes, meat and dairy products, increases."

You who do the shopping, will remember that here, in capitalist America, that even when, as last year, the crop of potatoes was enormous, so abundant that many were destroyed by the thousands of tons, still the price was held up to and often above five cents a pound. But in socialist (real socialist, not the phony kind of fake "socialism" they have in England) Russia, when the potato crop was good this year, the price to customers was cut in half.

That was in the Ukraine, where the price of meat and dairy products, also, was likewise cut by 25 percent this year, and cabbage sold for 70 percent less than before.

Fruit and vegetable prices in the markets of Kiev, Kharkov and Odessa fell 60 percent when the summer crops entered the market. Nothing like that here, there? In the Soviet Republic of Latvia, good crops also brought down prices this summer, with potatoes and tomatoes selling for half what they did before, and meat, butter and apples also being reduced in price by one-third.

One must remember that the destruction of war, when the Nazis deeply invaded the land of socialism, was utterly appalling; estimated in values of American dollars as much as 200 billion dollars. Over 25,000,000 houses burned, everything laid waste. And, last but not least, every food production plant razed to the ground.

But, by this summer, and without any "Marshall Plan," 85 per cent of the canning plants destroyed by the Nazis have been restored, and with new ones built in the Soviet Far East, in the Baltic Republics and the Ukraine, the production of canned goods such as fruit, vegetables and corn, was 10 percent above last year.

Compare this thriving situation with the paralysis and near famine conditions in the other countries being "helped" by the Marshall Plan. Yes, compare this even with the "richest country on earth," capitalist America, whose fruit rots under the trees from which it falls, and vegetables are fed to the hogs, rather than lower the price to the hungry people.

In the central part of the European part of the Soviet Union, in the Kursk area, where millions of Red Army soldiers clashed with Hitler's best troops, and where the ground literally ran red with blood, the prices of meat and dairy products have fallen by 30 to 35 percent this past summer. And in "White Russia," or as it is correctly called "Byelorussia," which was so thoroughly ruined by the Nazis that absolutely no single house was left standing intact, and all cattle and machinery were taken away by the Nazis, the production of farms is 150 percent over last year, and prices to consumers are considerably lower than last year.

Everybody, of course, is more interested about conditions in Moscow than in what conditions are in other smaller cities in the far-flung provinces.

Well, of course the Moscow workers have a lot of advantage over those of America in having a great network of co-operative stores—and we must remember that even such institutions are different under socialism than they can possibly be under capitalism, since the idea of little "islands" of co-operative enterprises in a sea of capitalism being fully effective, is absurd.

The Moscow cooperative stores are like a vast system of big super-markets, under one management (and, by the way, they are equipped with every modern device of refrigeration and attractive display cases, and, what our markets here pay no attention to, artistic arrangements, complete stainless steel fixtures and many other things).

More than 100 new cooperative stores have been opened in Moscow this year, in addition to the old ones, and in them, Moscow workers are now buying meat and meat products from 20 to 30 percent cheaper than last year, butter 20 percent cheaper, fish also 20 percent cheaper, and jams and marmalades 23 percent cheaper than last year.

Try to find any kind of food anywhere in capitalist United States, that is getting cheaper to buy and to eat than last year! Only one thing seems to be cheaper in America than last year, that is the kind of "red herring" we are getting from the "un-American Committee" investigating Hollywood; and possibly the tripe we get in every Los Angeles newspaper—except the California EAGLE, naturally.

Jewish Parley Blasts British, U. S. Ties With Arabs, Fascists

In ringing terms the American Jewish Labor Council meeting in the Rodger Young Auditorium last Sunday, condemed "the inhuman treatment meted out by the British to the Jewish people in Palestine," the maintenance of Displaced Persons in concentration camps in Europe, and urged the immediate withdrawal of British troops from Palestine and the adoption of the majority report of the United Nations Committee on Palestine.

"While there is agreement between the United States and the Soviet Union on the Palestine issue, the British in collaboration with reactionary Arabs and their friends in our State Department, are still maneuvering for the defeat of the majority report of the UN Commission on Palestine," is the Council's analysis of conditions in the UN on Palestine today.

In the resolution on Displaced Persons in Europe, this cogent statement is made: "While the Jewish victims of Fascism are thus kept behind barbed wires, their torturers are permitted freedom and even occupy high places in the American and British zones in Germany."

The resolution also condemns the delaying tactics of President Truman and of congress and accuses them of paying mere "lip service" to the attempt to bring Jewish refugees to the United States. The refugees to whom President Truman would grant asylum in this country, "are not refugees of Hitler's Fascism," states the resolution, "but fugitives from democracy and justice. Only Nazi collaborators and murderers of Jews, as well as their own people, would be in fear of returning to their own homes."

The resolution demands the passage of the Stratton Bill, which calls for the admission of 400,000 displaced persons into the U. S. within the next four years, with priority visas granted to the victims of Fascism—the Jewish Displaced Persons, and condemns the attempt to import into this country an army of strike breakers under pretense of their being refugees.

The Legislative Panel proposed a State law which would make it unlawful for any individual or organization to spread or disseminate "malicious hatred by reason of race, color, or religion" against any person or group of persons.

The city council of Los Angeles, too, was urged to adopt an ordinance that would prohibit the publication or distribution of anything that would expose "any racial or religious group to hatred, contempt, ridicule, or obloquy, or which endangers life or property."

The conference held last Sunday marked the end of the first year of the existence of the Los Angeles Chapter of the American Jewish Council. The constitution which was adopted stated that membership in the Council should consist of trade unions, labor, and fraternal organizations and other organizations which support the purpose of the JLC—that of furthering the welfare of the Jewish people, particularly those in trade organizations.

A show and program with a guest speaker were held in the evening after the conference.

The 25,846 oil field wells drilled in the United States in 1945 attained a total footage of 90,486,215 feet.

Newsmen Cool to U.S. Policy in UN

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y.—The reporters who cover United Nations meetings—and whose stories are tailored to fit the editorial policies of their papers—do not feel that U.S. policy has strengthened the world organization, according to a poll conducted by the magazine Newsweek.

Newsweek polled 45 UN correspondents, 90 percent of them American. To the questions, "Do you think the policy pursued by the American delegation has strengthened the UN?" 28 replied No, and nine answered Yes.

The correspondents were especially critical of Secretary of State George C. Marshall, Newsweek reports, saying they feel he has failed "to provide hoped-for leadership."

The Road to Health

By A. G. RAWLINS, M.D.

FINISHING THE CURE

"I have to get back to work, back to my family, doctor."

"But you have to get well first, Jim," was my answer to the man pleading with me for permission to leave the tuberculosis hospital.

Jim Thornton couldn't be put off so easily. "I feel fine, now. I've got to go home," he insisted. "Look, here at the 'san' they let me work in the shop. I wouldn't work much harder on my own job back home. I'd be careful. I'd try to live just the way they've taught me here. I can get my job back if I go now, maybe later it won't be so easy."

"You may get your job back if you go now, Jim, but you probably won't be able to keep it. Your tuberculosis is not entirely cured, and if you have another breakdown, you'll be back in bed," I told him.

Jim didn't like that. Perhaps it sounded harsh, but I had to make him face facts. I have known many cured and half-cured tuberculosis patients. The first get along very well and eventually their bout with tuberculosis becomes a memory. Those who are satisfied with half-cures lead an up-and-down life. They work for a while and then they must stop and rest in bed for a while. They return to the hospital in much worse condition than the first time, with a much poorer chance of recovery. They get nowhere because they would never take the time to clinch their cure.

"You can't be forced to stay in the sanatorium, Jim," I said. "You can walk out right now. But you are too smart to make such a terrible mistake, a mistake that may ruin the rest of your life. There isn't a job in the world worth such a gamble. If you stick with us until your cure is complete and successful, I'd be willing to bet you can land an even better job—and, what's more important, you'll hold it."

Jim Thornton was a stubborn man. He wasn't going to take my word for it. I had to prove it to him. Thousands of patients like him become impatient with the long, slow process of treatment necessary in tuberculosis. They want to leave the hospital against the advice of the doctor. But they are only half cured and not ready to go home. Almost inevitably a spread of the disease follows. Many die. Others have to be readmitted to hospitals for a long and difficult treatment, and, incidentally, at great cost to the taxpayers.

I emphasied this last point especially to Jim, because I knew he was the kind of man who didn't like to be "beholden" to anyone. Until he contracted TB he had always taken good care of his family. I realized that one of the reasons he was in such a hurry to get back to work was that he did not like to think his family might become dependent on public help. I pointed out to him that he had contracted TB through no fault of his own and that it would not be "charity" if he and his family accepted help. In fact, it would cost the community much more if he left the hospital now and had to return later in much worse condition.

"There's one other point that a man like you, who loves his family, must consider," I told him. "If you go home and back to work now and then break down, you run the risk of infecting your family with the disease. What about that cute baby whose pictures you've shown me? You've never seen a baby with TB. Babies get very sick and usually die from TB. And what ly die from TB. And what about your wife and those two promising youngsters in school? This is a good hospital, but I don't think you want them here."

Jim Thornton reached out his hand and shook mine hard. "I'll stay," he said. "I'll stay until I'm cured. I'll spend the rest of my time here learning what to do to stay well. And when I'm out, I'll stay out."

sistent with the guarantees of the 14th amendment to the constitution."

There is no allegation and no suggestion that any of these defendants would not be law abiding neighbors and citizens of the community," Judge Mosk said. "The only objection to them is their color and race."

"We read columns in the press each day about unAmerican activities. This court feels there is no more reprehensible un-American activity than to attempt to deprive persons of their own homes on a 'master race' theory.

"Our nation just fought against the Nazi 'race superiority' theory. One of these defendants was in that war and is a Purple Heart veteran.

"This court would indeed be callous to his constitutional rights if it were now to permit him to be ousted from his own home by using 'race' as the measure of his worth as a citizen and a neighbor.

"The alleged cause of action here is thus inconsistent with the guarantees of the 14th amendment to the constitution."

The Purple Heart veteran referred to by Judge Mosk is Frank L. Drye, former army major and a veteran of both world wars. He is partially disable.

The two other defendants were Lee Steward, a businessman, and Mrs. Blanche Strickland, widow of a former Texas insurance executive.

All three have been living in their homes on South Arlington ave., for almost one year.

Judge Mosk's forceful decision against restrictive covenants, using violation of the 14th amendment as the yardstick, is the second of its kind in recent years.

The first such decision was rendered by Judge Thurman Clark in 1945 in the famous "Sugar Hill" case involving some 40 families.

That case was appealed to the state supreme court by the covenanters and no decision by the high court has yet been rendered.

Judge Mosk's decision is expected to have a favorable effect on the state court, as well as on the U.S. supreme court which is scheduled to rule on three representative covenant cases in December.

U.S. High Court To Hear Dec.6 4 Covenant Cases

WASHINGTON — Four vitally important cases involving racial restrictive covenants in housing have been set for argument in the United States supreme court December 8.

The high court on Monday, Oct. 20, granted certiorari in two cases involving covenants in the District of Columbia. These two cases are Hurd vs. Hodge, et al., and Urciolo vs. Hodge, et al., and are set for argument immediately following the cases of Sipes vs McGhee, and Kraemer vs. Shelley, so that a total of our restrictive covenant cases will be argued during the week of December 8.

The court on June 23 granted certiorari in the case of Sipes vs. McGhee, involving the validity of restrictive covenants on property in Detroit, Michigan, and in the case of Kraemer vs. Shelley, involving validity of covenants in St. Louis, Missouri.

The high court will review two main aspects of the question of validity of restrictive covenants, (1) a state court's action in upholding such covenants, and (2) the action of a federal court in upholding their legality.

The District of Columbia cases and the Michigan cases are being supported by the NAACP, whose legal and research staffs are preparing briefs in these cases to be filed November 17.

Many liberal organizations throughout the country have requested permission to file briefs amicus curiae in these cases and is expected that a large number of such briefs will be filed to show the full extent of the evils inherent in racial restrictive covenants. The cases are attracting world-wide attention, and the attorney general of the United States has been requested by many organizations to file a brief on behalf of the U. S. government.

Farmers Market To Be Opened On Central Ave.

Elated by the success of the first Farmers Market at 5512 W. Imperial highway, CIO leaders this week announced plans to open a second market on Central avenue, between 66th and 67th streets, near the Goodyear rubber plant. The new market is backed by the Goodyear CIO Rubber Workers and supported by the CIO Council.

Prices at the Imperial highway Farmers Market are considerably under those of regular commercial markets. During the first two Saturdays of its operation, farm products were brought and sold directly by the farmers, who sold out in 45 minutes.

She will spend some time in Seattle, Wash., and Portland, Ore., before returning to her home in Denver, Colo.

The national meeting of Iota Phi Lambda will be held in New York City, in August of '48.

Bourne-Vannecks Play Host To Americans in London

LONDON—In what was one of the most elaborate entertainments ever tendered in honor of a group of colored Americans, Mr. and Mrs. V. P. (Dicke) Bourne-Vanneck, were hosts to an interesting international group here in London last week. The affair began at seven in the evening with a cocktail party in the beautiful, modernistic home of the Bourne-Vannecks at 11 Whiteshead Grove in Southwest London, and was catered by the exclusive Logan's. At 10 o'clock a fleet of cars conveyed the group to the Blue Lagoon in Mayfair where they carried on until 3 a.m.

The luxurious background of Mayfair, the beauty of the fashionably gowned feminine members of the group, the fine spirit of the English patrons who were about them all conspired to make of the occasion, an evening which will long remain as a delightful event in the memories of those present.

Among those in attendance were: Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kenny and Mr. and Mrs. Bowen of the Ink Spots: Harold and Dorothy Nicholas and Fayard and Gerry Nicholas of the Nicholas Brothers; Mrs. Peters, the mother, and Mattie, Virginia and Anna Peters (the Peters Sisters); Turner Layton, the dean of Americans in London and Mrs. Layton; Miss Alelia Layton, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Milner; Dr. Bruce Maxwell, prominent Hollywood dentist, in London for the Rank Film organization; Miss Pettigrew, daughter of a millionaire Australian sheep farmer; Mr. M. Conley, owner of a number of clubs in London and Mrs. Conley; Nat Wells, a stock-broker; Miss Millie Hoey, known to thousands of Americans as the owner of "The Bag of Nails"; Jimmy Head, Miss Noreen Jamieson, Arthur Fagan, Miss Carmen Bragg of New York and Miss Mable Lee of the Palladium.

The hostess, Mrs. Bourne-Vanneck, wore a pale blue gown with orchids which were the gift of Lady Greene, Mrs. Kenny, a white dress with applique gold lacework, the Peters Sisters, egg shell blue and black ensembles.

Before the evening was over, impromptu entertaining was in vogue which thrilled everyone present.

Mr. Bourne-Vanneck is an English engineer and industrialist who visited the United States with his wife last year on a tour which took them to New York, Chicago and Los Angeles, and are well known in the social circles of those cities.

WHAT'S DOING IN THE SOCIAL SET

By JESSIE MAE BROWN

A SMART SOCIAL AFFAIR of the waning fall season in clubdom was the reception given last Friday night at the home of Mrs. Gertrude Reese Hicks, chairman of the State Executive Board of California State Association of Colored Women, honoring the new state president, Mrs. Esther T. Greenly. Some 100 women were in attendance between the hours of 7 and 10 p.m., congratulating the diligent little club leader, who for five years has been a presiding officer of the Southern District. Sharing honors in the receiving line were Mmes. Ruth Williams, president of the Past Presidents' club; Mrs. Lillian Anderson, a past president of the organization; Gertrude Hicks and Mable Gray, also past presidents. The women dressed in smart formal attire lent color to the "come and go" affair. Serving as hostesses were: Florence Grear, C. A. Heatly, Velma Soders, Margaret Wright, Myrtle Brown, Myrtle Goins, Lillian Anderson, Anita Reed and Leola Wilson.

Jessie Mae Brown

The Southern Section and Past Presidents Council co-hosted the elaborate affair honoring Mrs. Greenly. The California State Association of Colored women is now in its 40th year of organization. The association is composed of service, art, charity and literary clubs of the state. Taking part on the musical program were Juanite James Ingram, Mrs. Wilbur Chapman and Mr. James Soder. Mrs. Emma Drisdom, second state vice president, sent her congratulations with flowers, from Bakersfield. Another noted club leader, Mrs. Elizabeth St. Charles Edwards, received with the past presidents of the organization.

CONCERT GOERS

On Sunday afternoon one of the most important spots in the city was Philharmonic Auditorium, and reason enough was the very fine Muriel Rhan concert. Many were those in attendance and their comment on the performance goes way past the favorable mark. The Leon Stewards (she being a noted music teacher in the city, and he a feature writer on the EAGLE staff) were carried away with the performance. Miss Rhan's poise and her fine selection of songs, that are well known and loved by all, won the Stewards admiration. Ruth West Jones, sister to concert singer, Virginia Paris, was held spell-bound throughout the entire performance. Guess the tasty bit oof comment came on Sunday night, when a large group of the city's women leaders gathered to take part in the Second Baptist Women's program. Jessie Terry was there, and mentioned along with a few other reemarks, in the Terry manner, that Rhan is the perfect lady, and that the Los Angeles auidence was not at its best, especially when the lady of the hour had to stop her program until they were seated. Camille Cannady, wearing furs and looking oh so smart, had the look of satisfaction, for she is a member of the Delta sorority that sponsored the concert. Esther Griffith, president of the local graduate chapter of the sorority, arrived at the church a little late, due to the fact that the smart follow-through of the concert kept her over time. Etta Harvey, Anna Griffith Morrow, Mary Lou Roberson, made a trio of Delta sorors happy over the success of the affair, while Jessie Coles Grayson and Irene Bradford shared a like feeling. All proceeds from the Rhan concert will go into the Delta Scholarship fund . . .

■ Saturday night will find the spotlight again focused on Philharmonic aud. Hazel Scott, gracious queen of the ivory keys, is scheduled to thrill a packed auditorium. Had my first glimpse of the vivacious congressman's wife at the crowded mass meeting at Independent church last Sunday night. Ye Scribe has special plans for being among those present at the Saturday night performance . . . By the way, while mentioning the concert stage, I find myself wondering just how Ursula Murrell does it. Guess by now you have heard of her hospitalization. Believe me, she isn't letting it stand in her way, the little telephone by her bed is being well used, as she continues chairing the Carol Brice concert committee for AKA sorority. The committee members are doing the leg work, but chairman Murrell is still giving the orders . . . Here's hoping her recovery will be a speedy one and that she will be able to take active part when Brice appears on Dec. 7. . . .

HERE AND THERE

Lila and Tony Green were quite the host and hostess on last Friday night when they put the welcome mat out at their Dalton avenue residence. The informal gathering honored Mrs. Thelma Lott, visiting here from Chicago. The Elmer Johnsons, brother and sister-in-law of the charming visitor, are great friends with the Greens, so you can gather, a fine time was had by those attending. Lila was quite attractive in a green jersey dress trimmed in gold, properly complimenting her red hair. Tycine and Melvin Webb were among the guests. Melvin recently took the bar exam, and in all probability will be an attorney in a month or two. Charlie and Fannie DeMan were also there, along with Alma Watt, Mr. and Mrs. Pettis and Mrs. Adams. Lila holds membership in the smart Les Dames club and is quite popular in the social set. Hear that comes Sunday she will put the welcome mat out again, but this time t'will be a Women's Stag, honoring another out of town visitor. . . .

The Junior League to West View, met shortly after high noon last Sunday and made some definite plans for its next event for the hospital. The Cricket Club will be the setting and the girls are putting on their own entertainment. . . . Another note of interest comes from the Calverette Club, Inc. Among HALLOWEEN, goblins and the like were much in evidence when Les Dames entertained last Saturday night. A group of the guests and club members may be seen enjoying the funfest along with president, Lillian Randolph Chase. Left to right: Chester Russell, Ruth Mars, Coleman Bains, Mrs. Chase, Vivian Stevens and Quentin Mars. The highest number of tickets to the affair were sold by Ernestine Tinsly, treasurer of the club.

LES DAMES carried out the Halloween motif on last Saturday night when they entertained with a pre-Halloween cocktail party. Photo shows, Ruth Mars, Sgt.-at-Arms; Audrey Scott, who won the prize, Antionette Renty, Club reporter; Laura Slayton, founder; and Pauline Evans, Corr. Secty. The affair was crowded and highly successful.

The visitors enjoyed a delightful Spanish dinner prepared by Mrs. Cassie Patterson on Saturday evening and Sunday morning breakfast complete with fresh fish caught by Mr. Carter on Saturday, was served in the Carter home.

Included on the guest list were Mesdames Maude Hicks, Dorothy Merritt, Dorothy Shannon, Odessa Simmons, Lucille Brown, Anna Bell Powell, Reda Jordan, Rosa Little, Ellen Brooks, Cassie Patterson, Catherine Connor, Frances McDonnel, Versie Rainwater, Etta Vonner, Bertha Skelton, Berta Baham, Ruth Thornton, Marie Robinson, and China Love.

Mrs. Zelma Wilson and Mrs. Fannie Cassman, both members of the club were unable to make the trip.

Bridge Enjoyed By Puente Club

Mrs. Grace Williams was the hostess at the last regular meeting of the club.

Friends of the Puente Hostesses are looking forward to attending their Fiesta to be held Sunday, Nov. 9, at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Bridgewater, 1119 E. 115th street. A full afternoon is planned for the enjoyment and entertainment of the guests.

The club is glad to learn that William Aldridge, the husband of one of the members who has been confined to the hospital for the past week, is doing fine and expects to be home this week.

Bridge prizes were won by Mrs. Wilma Dean, first; Mrs. Margaret Varnado, second; and Mrs. Dorothy Bridgewater, consolation and roving. Guests were Mrs. Helen Riddle, who won the guest prize, and Miss Rozalia Allen.

Next meeting at the home of Mrs. Wilma Dean.

Fortnightly Dinner For Y's Men's Club

Brice U. Taylor of Jefferson High school faculty was guest of honor at the regular fortnightly dinner meeting of the Y's Men's Club of 28th street YMCA. Introduced by the meeting chairman, Becher Qebbs, Mr. Taylor gave his views on some service projects the club might undertake.

Covans Lend Skill To Dance Line Up For Femmes

The main topic of conversation these days in the social world is the gala benefit affair to be given by Les Femmes Au'jour-'dui Nov. 8 and Nov. 9, for the worthy cause of the Laura Slayton Youth Foundation.

The question ? ? ? "Are YOU going"? If you haven't made arrangements, call ADams 7735 for additional information for tickets and reservations.

The show is well worth the public's attendance as the members of the popular club are rehearsing under the skilled supervision of the famous Willie and Florence Covan, who are donating their talent and time, and who for the last 15 years have given much to the theatrical world and general public of all nationalities and ages. Such stars of today as Shirley Temple and Lorraine Day, and a host of others studied under Covan.

"The Covan's" toured with the Orpheum Circuit for a number of years, and Willie Covan is an instructor at Metro-Goldwyn Mayer (MGM).

For a fine evening of entertainment remember "A Nite in Gay Paree," at the Club Alabam, Sat., Nov. 8 and Sun., Nov. 9.

TO ASSIST YOU IN MAKING WISE DECISIONS

JOY AND SORROW

Joy and sorrow are not always defined as contradictory expressions.

One writer has expressed the blending of joy and sorrow in this way: "These two states of mind, both of them the natural operations of any deep faith or feeling, may co-exist and blend into one another."

Joy lives in the midst of sorrow; the sorrow springs from the same root as the gladness, and is sobered, and chastened, and made manly and noble. It is like some thundercloud, all streaked with bars of sunshine, that pierce into its deepest depths.

Dear Prof. Herman: This is the first time I have written to you, although I am a constant reader of your column and find it very interesting. Do you think marriage would interfere with my other plans for the future?

Ans.: Your future husband is just as interested in your continuing the course of study at college as you are . . . and would be only too glad to co-operate in every way so that the plans you have will work out smoothly.

Mrs. M. W.: Does this man really care for me?

Ans.: Probing into the matter I find that your friend is indeed very fond of you and wants to please you. Your constant accusations, however, are causing a lot of misunderstandings and will prove harmful if you continue.

T. E.: From what is the word ballad derived?

Ans.: The word ballad is derived from the old French word 'baller,' to dance. Ballad originally meant a song sung to the rhythmic movement of a dancing chorus.

A. L. C.: What does the future hold for me?

Ans.: Your Lucky Stars and Guiding Planet indicate many interesting events. You will in all probability meet the man of your dreams during the next few months. For a more complete reading, send for your own personal Horoscope.

F. M. J.: Because of the nature of your question, I cannot answer it in the column. I do, however, recommend your consulting a good women's specialist at your earliest convenience.

B. R.: Why is it that I cannot have any luck in my endeavors?

Ans.: Probing into the matter I find that you are disgusted because the men you have come in contact with have not been honest with you and you are wondering if you ever will find a true and honest friend. Don't give up; you are destined to meet a suitable companion and find true happiness in the very near future.

Mrs. J. J.: Will we have to wait much longer before moving into the house?

Ans.: My Psycho-Mentalist Crystal reveals your being able to occupy the house within the next few weeks.

W. A.: Will I find a job soon?

Ans.: Concentrating upon your question I find that you haven't been successful so far because there is a certain type of work you desire, and this field is not open for, all just yet. You are qualified, however, and if you take a civil service test you may get placed much sooner.

Supervisors Postpone Registration Action

The Board of Supervisors yesterday again postponed action (for one week) on a request to open voters' registration Nov. 1—two months early—to enable all potential voters to register for the 1948 primary election.

Representatives of the CIO, AFL, Progressive Citizens of America and the California Legislative conference urged the supervisors to move the opening date up from Jan. 2 as now planned by County Registrar M. J. Donoghue.

'Embarrassed' by NAACP Plea to UN, Clark Says

WASHINGTON—U. S. Atty. Gen Tom Clark yesterday announced he would order an increase in the personnel of the civil liberties bureau of the Department of Justice as a result of the filing with the United Nations of charges that American jim-crow oppression violates the UN charter. The charges, fully documented, were filed by the NAACP last week.

Clark said the filing of the charges with the UN had caused him the greatest embarrassment.

Formal presentation of the document was made to M. Henri Laugier, assistant secretary general for social affairs of the UN, and John P. Humphrey, director of the division of human affairs. Dr. W. E. B. DuBois, who made the presentation, declared:

"It is to induce the nations of the world to persuade this nation to be just to its own people, that we have prepared and now present to you this document. It has not been hastily conceived nor carelessly written. To its composition we have brought men of experience and learning, scholars trained in the highest universities. They have arrayed historical, legal, social, and scientific data to buttress their every assertion. We hand you this documented statement of grievances, and we firmly believe that the situation pictured here is as much your concern as ours."

The NAACP charges, supplementing similar charges filed with the UN several months ago by the National Negro Congress, are contained in a 154-page document.

The NAACP will seek to have the document introduced in the UN general assembly for action by that body. Since the United States manifestly will not introduce it, it is believed the organization may seek the good offices of the Soviet Union, India or some other nation not under the dollar domination of this country.

The NAACP document created quite a furore in Washington, drew comment of Thomas L. Stokes in his syndicated column. Said Stokes, in part:

"It is a timely reminder for us to take a look at ourselves, while we are proclaiming about the shortcomings of people elsewhere. The people of the rest of the world have a stake in our democracy now, too, and its institutions, including congress which is shaping policies that will affect the whole world."

SANTA MONICA CALVARY BAPTIST CONGREGATION TO ENTER NEW EDIFICE—The Calvary Baptist Church, 20th and Broadway, Santa Monica, will hold three dedicatory services Sunday, November 2: 11 a.m., Sermon by the pastor, Rev. Welford P. Carter. 3 p.m., Rev. John L. Branham, pastor of St. Paul Baptist church and radio choir; Echoes of Eden, directed by Mr. Hines. 7 p.m., Sermon by the pastor, and Baptism Services. The public is invited to attend.

Warden's Shot Set Off Killings, Witness Says

BRUNSWICK, Georgia — Southern "master race" practices and terrorism preceded the massacre of eight Negro prisoners at the Anguilla State Prison last July, Elijah Kiser, a Negro prisoner testified yesterday.

Kiser, a member of the road gang accused by prison authorities of staging a "sit-down strike," testified as the federal government opened its case against Warden H. G. Worthy and four guards accused of viloating the civil rights of the eight murdered men.

Kiser said the trouble which culminated in the shooting in the prison stockade began early in the morning when the white guards ordered the prisoners, whose job was removing to brush, to doff their caps and ask permission to move each branch.

The prisoners then were forced into a ditch where water ran belt-deep, Kiser said. A later witness said poisonous snakes were in the ditch.

The prisoners asked for wading boots, Kiser said, and when they were not provided several refused to enter the water. Guard Guy McNabb Sr., father of one of those on trial, then ordere the other prisoners out of the ditch, Kiser said.

McNabb Jr. then ordered them to sit down, Kiser testified, and after they had done so he said "why don't some of you take off? I've never killed a n----r?"

...uh ...ruls

Kiser added that the prisoners continued to sit in the broiling sun, afraid to move even to egt their dinner pails for fear they would be shot. Warden Worthy came by later, the witness said, and told those who didn't want to work to step out of line and return to camp.

Kiser said he was one of 13 who stayed to work while 27 others were loaded into the rear of a cage truck. Several of them, he said, asked to see higher prison authorities and one said he "was going to write the governor."

Worthy then said "when I get through with you, you won't be able to write anybody," Kiser said.

Worthy and the guards were indicted by a U. S. grand jury after they had been absolved by a coroner's jury, a special Glynn county grand jury and a legislative committee.

Sues S. Pacific, Charges Travel Discrimination

Mrs. Annie Francis of 1439½ East 22nd street this week filed a damage suit against the Southern Pacific Railroad Company charging discrimination in interstate travel.

The suit, which was brought through the office of Attorney Curtis C. Taylor, arises out of a trip Mrs. Francis made to New Orleans in April of this year. Her complaint charges that agents of the company sold her a ticket on the Sunset Limited which assigned her certain riding accommodations which the conductor refused to furnish her with.

Her appeals to the conductor, the complaint charges, "fell on deaf ears," and she was compelled to stand until the train arrived in El Paso, Texas.

Atty. Taylor told newsmen that it was a violation of California state laws and of federal regulations to discriminate against any person in interstate travel because of race or color. He cited U. S. supreme court decision on the matter, and urged Negroes to vigorously press their cases against any public carrier guilty of discrimination.

Fast, Rogge in Long Beach

LONG BEACH—Howard Fast, author of Freedom Road, and O. John Rugge, defense council for the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee, will speak Friday evening, Nov. 7, in a "Let Freedom Ring" meeting at the New Masonic Temple here.

Beta Pi Models Schooled By Charm Experts

Beta Pi Sigma sorority is all set for its much publicized "Premiere in Fashions" to be held at Meadowbrook Gardens on Nov. 11. For several weeks a refreshing glimpse has been given the fashion review that will boast the very latest in design.

Aside from the review, a star sprinkled program will hold sway with such participants as: Peg Leg Bates, Mable Scott, Lillian Randolph, Edith Wilson, Bobby Pitman, Jean Arthur, Georgiana Brown, Marjorie Day, Willie Covan and many others taking part. Gwendolyn Valentine is chairing the program.

To date the name of review commentator has not been announced, however Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew, one of the leading voices in the community will probably give the highlights. Representatives of the recently organized Charm School are giving the models instructions at the dress rehearsals, according to Juanita Lucien Jones, publicity director for the show.

What's Happenin'

By JOHNNY DELGARDO

For many years, men and women of the medical profession ve been striving to improve relations between boys and girls. s longer are the facts about sex considered "taboo," as in the st. Modern parents will have to be as broad-minded as possible, en teaching their children about sex life. The greatest majority adults of today were raised under the "hush" system, conse-ently they were left to pick it up in the streets. Many have d their married lives ruined because of ignorance on this vital bject.

Sunday night, at Lincoln Memorial Congregational church, Dr. Robert Harwell and Dr. Moore will lecture to the Pilgrim Fellowship club on the current subject of boy and girl rela-tions, married life, and health habits in modern-day living.

Dr. Harwell, health director of Independent church, will speak the boys, while Dr. Moore, working in connection with the Com-unity Medical Center, will confer with the girls. All are invited come and ask questions on these problems.

Everyone turned out to have the time of their lives last Friday ght, when Georgette and Bill Shores presented the collegiate set th one of the finest barn dance parties of the year. Finding emselves under the spell of this gay affair were: Herbert How-d, Joyce Finney, Horace Griffin, Gerrie Barnum, Bob Logan, Ber-ce Rigard, Hilton French, Betty Price, Osie Jones, Thelma Fields, rry Jones, Yolande Stovall, Norman Watson, Lorreta Pruit, Alvin wens and Yvonne Livingston.

Humor was supplied by "Worms" (Pledges) of the Alpha Phra-ies of LACC, who were made to do all sorts of skits at the com-and of their superiors. Among those participating in the skits re: Carol Hithe, Jackie Rigard, Pat Brown and Lady Mark Wil-ms, who have now become superiors themselves.

Saturday night, at the East 55th street home of Harry Jones, Alpha men of the two local chapters, Gamma Xi and Alpha lta, welcomed into the world of Alpha recently initiated broth-. New brothers and their company were: Clayton Moore and tty Wallace; Bill Hill and his attractive wife, Wilma; Gerald ovall and Pauline Jones, and the rest of the new and old Alpha en and their company.

Saturday night, November 8, the California Eagle is giving its nual party. Spotlighting the affair will be several prizes, such a baseball autographed by Jackie Robinson a watch, a radio, d many other beautiful gifts.

Time to run now, so here's hoping you get over Halloween.

OMPULSORY MILITARY TRAINING

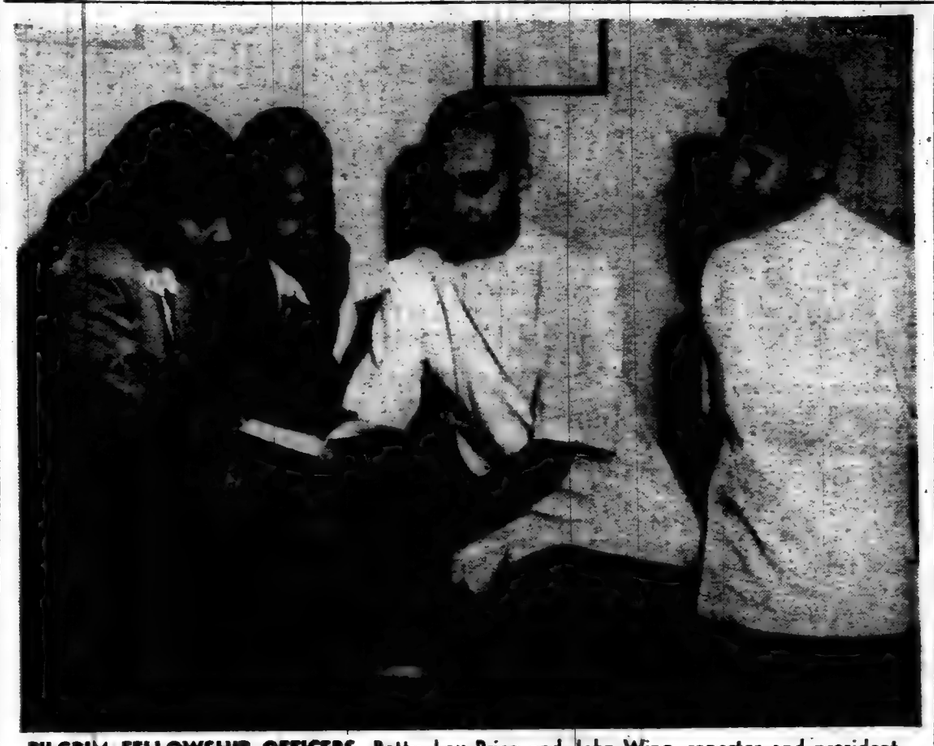
For some time now, the entire gigantic puzzle has been ing fitted together, piece by piece. Long months have lapsed, d dragged slowly by with the eyes of the nation asleep to at was actually coming to pass. And now, the gigantic plan coming to view. Who wants compulsory military training for erican youth? It seems that almost all the Big Shots want a training. There is persistence on every turn, and campaigns ing staged every day. The generals agree, the politicians ree; everyone seems to agree to the idea of compulsory train-g as boys become 18 years of age. And strangely, everyone o wants military training is either too old or too rich to rry a gun.

It seems that the cause for the training is clear . . . to mbat the spread of communism that will "wipe us from the ce of earth if we do not strike first." Due to the fact that idea is spreading too rapidly, in spite of the tons of propa-nda that can be poured at it by all immediate sources, we all therefore rush to means of arms for security. That's how r leaders see it, and that's how some of us Americans in ery walk of life see the situation. "A large and powerful my" seems to be the password. It seems that the only thing at makes us Americans now are two things (1) hating com-nism, Russia, anyone who sees, speaks, or hears communism, has ever done anything for Negroes or Jews, thereby 'making nself a communist,' and (2) campaigning for compulsory mili-ry training, for 17 and 18 year olds.

But how do the youth of today feel about the situation, en they are the most concerned?

Well, frankly, we're a pretty scared lot. In the locker om and on the campus at school I have noticed their anxious nversations on the subject. I have heard many of their inions and they are all in the negative. We are looking to ngress and hoping that the bill, when presented, will be ted down. Disloyalty?—No. It is just that we have seen r ourselves that wars are needless, and only lead to more rs in the end.

The most vital phase in the pattern of compulsory training the effect that it would tend to have upon the nation as a ole. Other nations would soon say that if America is taking e law into its own hands and preparing an army, why shouldn't ey? And I ask you, why shouldn't they? Before long there uld be a rush among nations to arm themselves for battle, ough no war is readily in sight . . . except the war that litics would have the people of our country believe is go-g to be fought with Russia within the next two or three years.



In the days of the old Wild West, a fast "lead slinger" ad to be constantly on the alert for there was always some-ne who believed that he could draw faster than the "cham-ion." And as a result, the "fast gunman" always had his fe hanging in the balance of his alertness. That's the in-vitability of the situation with nations. There will always e some nation or government that will believe that its power s superior. And then only another bloody war could prove ho was actually the most powerful.

A large army would never protect a nation because of the ct that it is an army. Proof by battle is the only way. Wars ways mean more cross-lined cemeteries and more war dead be shipped home on the Honda Knots; more weeping mothers d broken-hearted sweethearts . . . finally by all the kill-gs, the hell, and the chaos of war could the armies prove emselves superior. Armies deal in blood and death, not in litical agreements. Building a large army at this point would so build up a challenge and a threat. Instead of turning the United Nations Organization for the plans of peace and curity, governments will turn to guns, and planes, and the omic bomb, following the example of the world's greatest mocracy, America.

I do not believe that a nation should be wholly without ilitary protection. I believe that there should be an inter-tional army and navy, for the protection of the large as well the small nations. The Security Council should decide whether meries should automatically carry on its persecution of the ssian people because of their way of life. The personnel ovided by nations for this international army and navy should grown-up adults, perhaps 24 years of age, and not immature ys hardly out of high school. Peace was never made by blood-ed, no matter how bitter the war, or how long it lasted. Peace me with the realization of the warring nations that fighting as the wrong way, so they got themselves together and ac-mplished what they should have built for themselves before e first shot was fired, or the first cross marked a fallen soldier's ave.

America has come a long way in government and democracy. e foundation has been the firm principle of justice and freedom , well, for a great majority of the people, at least. In addi-n, our leaders, the clear thinkers, the level headed Americans, have led the crusade. Never in our history have we surrendered completely away to the ideas and opinions of the few who own and control the wealth of this country.

Today, I fear, we are backsliding. We are all being swallowed up in the ideals and the opinions of the rich people; the 10 percent who own 90 percent of America's wealth, the few who reap the vast profits from wars so costly in human lives. I pray that we shall continue to rule our nation and not be ruled by money. It can all be summed up in the few words that wars, and armies, and bombs never wove the fabric of peace; it only shows mankind that human existence is only a dream without brotherhood.

PILGRIM FELLOWSHIP OFFICERS, Betty Lou Price and John Wing, reporter and president, respectively, discuss plans for the Sunday lecture at Lincoln Memorial Congregational church on a scientific presentation of sex to teenagers and young adults with Dr. Robert F. Harwell and Dr. Doris Sanders Moore, who are guest lecturers. Dr. Harwell will give a special address to the girls and Dr. Moore, the boys. —Johnny Delgardo photo.

NAAPC Supports PR

NEW YORK—Retention of the proportional representation system of voting (PR) was urged at a meeting of NAACP branches in New York City at Freedom House yesterday. The newly-formed Council of branches composed of executive committee members in the metropolitan area stated that PR "is the best method through which minority groups can be assured of satisfactory representation in the City Council."

Less than half the cities of the United States of more than 1000 population have airports.

About 300 Gra-Y and Jr. Hi-Y boys will attend a big carnival in the gym and back yard of the "Y" in the afternoon, with ghost walks, apple dunking, pie eating contests and plenty of eats topping the list of fun-provokers.

In the evening the Co-ed club will sponsor a masquerade ball with High school students being invited as their guests. About 200 boys and girls are expected to be in attendance at the ball.

Pilgrim House Needs Equipment And Volunteers

Pilgrim House is at best a sub-standard work in an area of deterioration and change or a place of preparation for California citizenship. Its main task is one of interpretation and orientation.

Interpretation includes forums, discussion groups, conferences, committee meetings and addresses to present the problems of in-migrant population. By orientation is meant the adjustment of the in-migrant to his environment. This involves the introduction to health services, sanitation and hygiene, educational facilities, housing and employment.

Pilgrim House now needs volunteers to help direct the work of its younger people. Pilgrim House needs equipment for directed play, arts and crafts. Pilgrim House would appreciate whatever help civic, fraternal, or social groups could give them in either or both directions.

Pilgrim Fellowship Offers Scientific Lecture on Sex By Two Physicians Sunday

Lincoln Memorial Congregational church, corner Hooper and Vernon avenue, offers to the youth of the city, through its Pilgrim Fellowship, a very special program, Sunday, Nov. 2, at 6:30 p.m.

Rev. Lloyd Galloway and his youth sponsor, Horace Johnson, are agreed that one of the most vital services the Christian church can render its youth is to present to them a scientific and spiritual knowledge about sex. We feel this is where youth are left to stumble and fall by ignorance and by trashy street talk about sex. Sex drives are not limited to adults but appear early in youth—about 12 years old in girls and 14 years old in boys—and it cannot be overlooked that these youth need a wholesome and scientific knowledge of what is happening to them. We agree that the sex life in us is mankind's most sacred and beautiful spetite and that it must be held in the most sacred and intelligent trust.

In our meeting Sunday at 6:30 p.m., Dr. Doris Sanders Moore, M.D., will talk to the boys, and Dr. Robert F. Howell, M.D., will talk to the girls. Movies will be shown of the health care and the social responsibility in sex life of youth. All youth are invited to write out their personal questions in advance and place in a box at the door to be presented to the doctors in the discussion period. In addition, the doctors will hold personal interviews with any youth who wishes personal and confidential information.

Rev. Galloway feels this is a very important meeting that Pilgrim Fellowship is offering all high school and college age youth. He feels assured the parents will apureciate the Christian help we are going to give their youth in so difficult a subject as sex.

Confab Objectives Outlined At NAACP Annual Youth Meet

NEW YORK. — Ruby Hurley, youth secretary, NAACP, in the Call to the Ninth Annual Youth Conference in Houston, Texas, Nov. 5-9, 1947, emphasizes youth on the team—not on the sideline.

Mrs. Hurley continues: "The NAACP is a big team of more than a half million people on the field of human relations. It is a team working toward the goal of justice and equality for all. Its ball is the Constitution of the United States and all the precepts on which this nation was founded.

"The NAACP team is a growing one. It will be a larger, and stronger one if the youth members of the team continue to bring in reserves who can call the signals, run interference or carry the ball."

The conference objectives include: mobilization of strength, enthusiasm and organized power of youth to help carry out the program of the NAACP, and special projects which are of particular interest to young people on the campus and in the community, and the development of personal interest in the problems affecting the Negro in America, and provision of leadership training for those on whose shoulders will soon fall the responsibility for solving those problems.

Halloween Program At Compton Offers Prizes for Costumes

In addition to the bonfire, a costume parade is programmed for 7 p. m. with prizes being given for the prettiest, ugliest and most original costume; while carnival games and the sale of popcorn and other goodies will prevail throughout the evening.

"Months of painstaking preparations have been put into this program," said the directors, and expressed the hope that both parents and children would avail themselves of the opportunity to spend the evening in wholesome fun.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. IKE EVANS, D.D.

Subject: Christian Standards of Conduct. Lesson Text and Outline, James 3:1-8; 4:7-12. Motto Text Psalm 19:14.

Introduction

Continuing our study of the epistle of James we note Christian standards of conduct: the life of wisdom, the life of godliness, and the life of service.

Comments

1. Do not give yourselves the air of teachers and judges, but rather speak with the humility and spirit of learners; do not censure one another, as if all must be brought to your standard. Those who thus set up for judges and censurers shall receive the greater condemnation. Our judging others will but make our own judgment the more strict and severe. Those who are curious to spy out the faults of others, and arrogant in passing censures upon them, may expect that God will be as extreme in marking what they say and do amiss. Were we to think more of our own mistakes and offenses, we should be less apt to judge other people.

2. Christians should forsake the friendship of the world, and watch against that envy and pride which they see prevailing in natural men, and should by grace learn to glory in their submissions to God."

Since Christians are brethren, they should not defile nor defame one another. It is required of us that we be tender of the good name of our brethren; where we cannot speak good we better say nothing than speak evil.

Comment on the Motto Text

The pious meditations of the heart must not be smothered, but expressed in the words of our mouth, for God's glory and the edification of others: and the words of our mouth in prayer and praise must not be formal, but arising from the meditation of the heart. Gracious souls must have all they aim at if they be accepted of God, for that is their bliss. If we seek assistance from God as our strength in our religious duties, we may hope to find acceptance with God in the discharge of our duties; for by his strength we have power with him. In singing this we should get our hearts much affected with the excellency of the word of God and delivered into it, we should be much affected with the evil of sin, the danger we are in because of it and the danger we are in by it, and we should fetch in help from heaven against it.

Inter-Denominational Ministers' Denounces and Pledges Fight Against Restrictive Covenants

The Inter-Denominational Ministers' Alliance, representing all the evangelical churches of Los Angeles city and County, in its regular monthly meeting, elected officers for the ensuing year. church; recording secretary, Dean G. W. Reed, founder and promoter of the Reed School of Religious Education; assistant secretary, Rev. Clifford Spears, pastor of the Western Avenue Christian church; corresponding and financial secretary, Rev. J. A. Davis, pastor of the Monrovia Baptist church; treasurer, Rev. G. L. Hays, general evangelist of the Colored Methodist Episcopal church; chaplain, Rev. William Venerable; sergeant-at-arms, Rev. James V. Allen; parliamentarian, Rev. Amos, pastor of the African Methodist church.

Installation services will be conducted at the Victory Baptist church, 48th street and McKinley avenue, Rev. J. Peters, pastor. Program committee for the occasion is headed by Rev. Rakestraw, pastor of Wesley M. E. church, with Rev. Clifford Spears and Rev. Walter J. Bryant as members of the same committee.

Besides the election of officers the ministers unanimously endorsed a report of the Educational committee, headed by Rev. Clifford Spears, against restrictive covenants. These hellish covenants, directed against the minority groups, perpetrated and originated out of the hearts of people who are endeavoring to set aside or ignore the principles of the ten commandments, the sermon on the mount, the magna charter of Christianity, as well as the constitution of the United States. This group of Christian ministers pledged its wholehearted moral and financial support to eradicate and uproot this and every other vistage of segregation. These un-godly and un-Christian acts are contrary to the ideas of American democracy.

Symphonic Choristers Received Grand Ovation At Bowen Memorial Sun.

The Symphonic Choristers, a group of male singers under the direction of Andre' Green made a distinct impression upon a large audience last Sunday night at Bowen Memorial Methodist church.

They opened the program with Molettes "Lord's Prayer" followed by director Green's own compositions, "Sanctus" and "Lord Most Holy." These were all well received especially because of the unique symphonic-like interpretation of Mr. Greene's arrangements. Spirituals such as "Roll Jordan Roll," "By and By", "Dry Bones," "My Lord What a Morning," "Ole Ark's a Moving," "Lord What a Morning," and "Joshua Fit De Battle of Jerico" as arranged by the director constituted the balance of the program.

Clarence Hargraves was master of ceremonies and read several excellent poems and short stories between appearances of the singers. After the closing number the choristers were enchored five times. The program was sponsored by the men of Bowen, E. E. Stanchmore, president.

Friendly Thoughts by PEOPLE'S FUNERAL HOME

To be dependent upon another is human. To need sympathy, understanding, to need another's patient consideration and friendliness is natural. To supply such needs is divine.

We urge a consideration of the cost of furnishings that the expenses of the service may be moderated to suit the family's means.

Says Methodist Must Match Anti-Bias Fight By Catholic Prelate

Bishop William Walls, head of the New England-New York District of the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church, this week praised the splendid fight the Catholic Archbishop, Joseph E. Ritter, of St. Louis, is making against segregation in St. Louis, Mo.

The question in St. Louis is a matter of Negro children attending so-called "white" schools. The archbishop made it plain that "all souls are equal before God," and threatened with ex-communication some parents who were objecting strenuously to Negro children in the parochial schools.

Bishop Walls said that this action of the Roman Catholic archbishop presented a strong challenge to Protestants, and particularly to the Methodist group.

"I want the Methodist to to know that the eyes of the Negroes are upon them as never before as the largest Protestant group," he said. "We are faced with a real challenge to do more effective work than ever for better racial understanding."

Bishop Walls was one of 14 clergymen who recently made a trip to the former war theatres under the auspices of the War Department. He said that the plight of displaced persons in the various occupation zones "is one of the most pathetic in the history of the world."

The bishop said he was greatly heartened by reports of help given refugee children by Negro soldiers. He feels it was a mistake, however, to withdraw skilled Negro groups from the occupied zones and to leave only trucking groups.

Chaplains are needed badly in all areas. At present in some areas there are only about 4 Negro chaplains to 8000 soldiers. White chaplains, too, have a terrific burden to bear, and cannot help out the overburdened Negro chaplains.

As a whole, however, Bishop Walls believes the American army is doing a good job in the occupied areas.

Church Film Will Premiere, Nov. 10th

KEEPING PRICES DOWN

Not every funeral director, in the face of higher operating costs, is able to control the trend in his price structure. However, growing public patronage has enabled us to distribute increased overhead costs over a large number of services, enabling us to keep the price of an Angelus service at a sensible level. The family selecting a service at Angelus Funeral Home is assured of a complete and comforting service at a price in keeping with their circumstances.

A PROVED PLAN TO ELIMINATE FUNERAL EXPENSE

A new funeral service policy, recommended by Angelus Funeral Home, pays all expenses regardless of how little has been paid in, costs only a few cents a day. Phone or stop in for free information today—no obligation.

3-Day Parley On Civil Rights To Open Nov. 21

A 3-day national conference on civil rights will be held in Hull House, Chicago, beginning November 21, under the auspices of the Civil Rights Congress.

Lynching, racial discrimination, and the witch-hunts now being conducted among federal employes, with their smaller counterparts in counties and cities, will be among the principal questions to be discussed in the panels arranged for this purpose.

"The lives of Negro-Americans are at the mercy of lynchers," declared the Congress. "Their liberty is violated by a pattern of disfranchisement, discrimination, and segregation. By smear and fear, minority political opposition is made to appear treason, and some of its leaders are jailed on technicalities. A purge is wiping out freedom of thought among 2,000,000 federal workers."

Delegates have been invited from labor, religious, interracial and professional organizations, in addition to the local chapters of the Congress. More than 500 are expected to attend.

Among the 500 sponsors of the conference are: Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor and publisher of the California EAGLE, and Judge Stanley Moffatt, of Los Angeles; Robert Morse Lovett, former governor of the Virgin Islands; Lion Feuchtwanger and Howard Fast, authors; Rev. Witch-Hunt Stars On Hollywood GOP Committee

What the current witch hunt on the Potomac is about may be deduced from the fact that many of the figures now busily engaged in accusing Hollywood unions of various degress of redness or pinkness only recently were named as members of the newly-formed Hollywood Republican Committee.

According to the Los Angeles Times, they are "spear-heading a drive to put the entire entertainment business solidly behind the Republican ticket in the 1948 elections."

President of the new group is George Murphy; other members are Walt Disney, Robert Montgomery, Leo McCarey, director; Adolphe Menjou, who characterized as a "Communist" any one who attends a Paul Robeson concert; Morrie Ryskind, writer, and Ginger Rogers—all Un-American Committee witnesses but Ginger, whose mother has appeared.

PAC Maps Drive In Preparation For '48 Battle

Preparations for the 1948 elections through political battles now against restrictive covenants, high prices, evictions, and for more jobs and more housing were announced yesterday by the Los Angeles CIO Council's Political Action Committee for the 62nd assembly district.

Clarence Carter, CIO-PAC chairman for the 62nd, announced the opening of the campaign. Carter was recently appointed chairman of the political action work for the CIO in the 62nd. Carter has served on the executive board of the United Public Workers, Local 246, and as a delegate to the Los Angeles CIO Council.

"The objective of the CIO Political Action Committee in this district," Carter stated, "is to organize for regular block and precinct work at least 300 of the 3000 CIO members who live here. The wives and other members of CIO families will be invited to join in the work."

The plans announced by Carter call first for the enrolling of 21 area organizers. These organizers, according to CIO plans, will be responsible for six precincts. They will call upon all of the CIO members in their area signing up volunteer precinct chairmen, and volunteers to do telephoning and clerical work.

"This community organization won't wait until the 1948 elections to g oto work," Carter stated. "The issues of high prices, jobs for all, restrictive covenants and other forms of discrimination, as well as housing and rent controls must be fought out as we go along. The CIO stands ready to cooperate with all progressive groups in fighting for a people's program."

Carter's organizing headquarters will be in his home at 624½ East 48th street. Phone ADams 1-4521.

Bavaria Okehs War Objectors

MUNICH—Bavaria now has what is believed to be the first statute in modern history permitting citizens to refuse to take part in war.

The law — passed unanimously by the Bavarian legislature—states: "No citizen of the state or any person with the same rights is obliged to participate actively or passively in war activities against his will. No damage of any kind may result for him."

Union Wins, So One Dixie Mayor Quits

DALTON, Georgia—When the mayor and two city councilmen of this city in the heart of Georgia are forced to resign as an alternative to recognizing the rights of five street cleaners, there is no doubt the days of the Old South are numbered.

The street sweepers belong to the CIO United Public Workers, Local 731. They are part of the 9000 workers now organized in Dalton, a town of 15,000.

When the five were fired for joining the union, the United Public Workers immediately organized a delegation, including municipal and textile workers to the city council.

A stormy session followed. At first, the councilmen refused to reinstate the discharged workers. So one of the workers said, "We ought to stay here until the council changes its mind."

They did—and it did.

The five street sweepers were reinstated. Mayor Gordon Kettles and Councilmen W. H. Bartefeld and T. L. Shackleford resigned.

U. S. Money, Threats Influence Swing to De Gaulle in France

PARIS, France—Gen. Charles de Gaulle, French Resistance leader who recently came out with a full fledged fascist program, scored his political comeback on a background of American financial manouvers and open threats to withhold American relief from France unless the leftward trend in that country was halted.

Returns in Sunday's municipal elections showed De Gaulle's new political party, the Rally of the French People, had obtained 41.5 percent of more than 4,000,000 votes counted. His gains were at the expense of other conservative groups and of the Socialist party.

The Communists, who won 25 percent of the total vote in last November's national assembly elections, showed a gain of 4.7 percent, thus more than holding their own.

On the eve of the elections, the Truman Administration made available to the French government more than $100,000,000 admittedly in an effort to swing the elections in favor of French reaction.

During the same period, Sen. H. Styles Bridges (R., N. H.) chairman of the powerful Senate Appropriations Committee, served notice on French Premier Paul Ramadier during a three-hour conference in Paris, that American aid to France would depend on whether France crushes Communism and stops strikes.

Later, in a press conference, Bridges said he and other U.S. senators had expressed the idea to Premier Ramadier that "we would not tolerate Communism" in France. He also said that the price of American aid might be a guarantee "that the money goes where we want, for the purpose we want."

He generously denied, however, that the U. S. would expect to exercise as much control over France as it now exercises in Greece.

N. Y. Book Firm Rejects Expose Of U. S. Fascists

NTW YORK—New York publishers have yielded to fear engendered by current witch hunts in rejecting two important books, one exposing the pattern of U. S. fascism, the other an expose of the American Legion hierarchy, In Fact, weekly news letter, charged this week.

The book on native American fascism was written by O. John Rogge, former special assistant to the U. S. attorney general. It has been turned down by Viking Press, a publishing firm which originally outbid numerous others in its desire to publish the book.

The second book, written by the former assistant dirtctor of the Legion's Americanism Committee, was rejected by Reynal & Hitchcook who originally ordered and paid a substantial advance for the manuscript.

"Both cases," says In Fact, "illustrate the alarming extent of the present hysteria and fear which has resulted in a self-imposed 'thought control and which is throttling the freedom of expression and exchange of ideas so vital to a healthy democracy. Both books were contracted for before the current terror and war fever gripped the nation and touched off what is apparently going to be the greatest case of mass hysteria in American history."

Chest Volunteers Go into Action on Eastside Today

Eastside Community Chest volunteers go into the field here today to seek public support for the 159 Red Feather agencies following a plea from local chairman urging all Eastsiders to support the welfare campaign.

Key note of the beginning of the door-to-door part of the campaign was sounded last evening when Edward R. Valentine, general Community Chest campaign chairman addressed volunteers.

"The Chest agencies need every cent we can give them," he said. "Due to the rising costs they face with all of us and because of the vastly expanded need for welfare services here in Los Angeles we have got to deliver sufficient funds for all of them."

Valentine addressed campaign leaders and solicitors from Adams-Central and South Park, the two campaign districts that make up the Eastside.

Following the speech by Valentine, solicitors discussed with campaign chairmen, Mrs. J. S. Peach, South Park, and Attorney Bernard Jefferson, Adams-Central, the immediate solicitation plans. Results of those plans are apparent today when hundreds of solicitors begin to ring doorbells.

Among those attending the kick-off rally were the following recently appointed volunteers from Adams-Central, Mrs. Mattie M. Stafford, 1348 East 15th st.; Mrs. Elmyra Spencer, 627 East 38th st.; Mrs. Evelyn Gordon, 1231 East 54th st.; Mrs. Mildred Moore, 2110 West 30th st.; Mrs. Sara Menefee, 5441 Holmes ave.; Mrs. Addie Derricks, 1420 East 41st st.; Mrs. Freddie Thomas, 1321 East 47th st.; and Mrs. Ida Belle Hibler, 989 East 42nd pl.

The local women will serve as battalion leaders under the direction of Mrs. Augusta Glover, campaign division leader.

Arrest of Former UC Student Bares New Race-Hate Group

MINNEAPOLIS—An arrogant young white supremacist and former student of the University of California and the University of Minnesota who prattled stock Nazi master-race phrases was under arrest here this week.

Maynard Orlando Nelson, 24, was picked up by police dressed in a gray uniform copied from the Nazi Luftwaffe, saber swinging by his side. He had crossed the country from California wearing the outfit, which he called the uniform of "the Democratic National party" in this country.

In a briefcase, police found bold plans for a fascistic organization in the United States. In his pocket were letters signed by Emory Burke, one of the leaders of the Columbians, recently exposed in Atlanta, Ga., as a fascist group seeking to overthrow the government of the United States.

This was Nelson's second arrest in Minneapolis. He admitted last spring that he posted "Kill the Jews" signs which appeared on the University of Minnesota campus during the winter.

He was placed under $1000 peace bond after a court-ordered mental examination found him "brilliant and sane."

"We are Nationalists," he told police. "The nation and the white race must be protected against everything and everyone else."

Nelson told detectives he believes in "eternal warfare."

"War, war, war, and more war," he said, "as in nature, only the strong survive."

Papers in his portfolio located the headquarters of the Democratic National party at Chicago and gave the group's motto as "life is struggle, struggle is war, war is life."

The East Coast states from Maine to Florida consume 30 percent of the nation's motor fuel; 48 percent of light fuel oils and domestic fuel oils; 40 percent of industrial fuel oils and 64 percent of its kerosene.

Truman Hints Bias Back of Opposition to Entry of DPs

WASHINGTON—In renewing his appeal for admission of European displaced persons to this country, President Truman this week hinted that anti-Semitism might be behind the opposition to the Administration's policies on those uprooted from their homes by war.

He spoke at ceremonies dedicating a memorial to Oscar S. Straus, famous Jewish statesman who was secretary of commerce under President Theodore Roosevelt, U. S. ambassador to Turkey and American representative on the permanent court of arbitration at The Hague.

In an extemporaneous speech the President said: "I wish we could have the same tolerance today that we had in 1852 when the Strauss family came to this country.

"We would have lost the services of this great man if we had followed the same program then that we are following today."

After deploring immigration barriers against admission of displaced persons, Truman said "I hope we can overcome this prejudice and do our part toward meeting the situation with which we are now faced."

Newsmen heard the President use the word "prejudice" when he spoke but the official White House transcript of his remarks recorded him as using the word "situation."

Creedon Vetoes Rent Hike in Fla. Negro Units

WASHINGTON — Housing Editer Frank R. Creedon yesterday disapproved a general increase in the rent level on Negro housing units in the St. Petersburg, Fla., defense rental area, on the ground that it is not in accordance with applicable laws and regulations, since an increase dependent upon the race or color of the tenant was found to be discriminatory and contrary to the Housing and Rent Act of 1947.

Creedon said that from a review of the local rent advisory board's recommendations, "it would appear that the adjustment provisions of the rent regulations are adequate to correct the inequities and hardships which have been found by the board."

The St. Petersburg board recommended a general increase in rents on Negro housing in Pinellas county, Florida, in an amount as county, Florida, in an amount of 25 cents where the landlord does not furnish water and the tenant and 35 cents where water is so furnished.

The area, comprised of Pinellas county, except for certain islands lying immediately off the mainland, had a 1940 population of 91,852, and at present contains about 23,600 registered rental housing units.

Okla. Teachers To Hold 1-Day Workshop, Nov. 8

LANGSTON, Oklahoma — Instructors teachers and administrators of the Western Oklahoma District Association of Negro Teachers will attend a one-day workshop conference at Chickasha, Oklahoma, November 8, at which time consultants from Langston university, the University of Oklahoma, the Veterans Administration, the Oklahoma County Health Association and selected public schools of Oklahoma will constitute the resource personnel.

Dr. H. W. Martin, director of the Division of Education at Langston university will act as coordinator of the conference.

Philippines Bans 'Story of William Tell'

MANILA. — The Philippines government this week decreed that Filipino peasants may not see the film, "The Story of William Tell," the theme of which is the overthrow of an oppressive and corrupt government by a peasant patriot.

The picture has been banned throughout the islands, for fear of its effect on dissident Hukbalahap armed peasants who have been demanding agrarian reforms and battling military police.

Major Granger and Wife Return to L.A.

Major Granger is a former British military man who served in South Africa during the Boer War. He is speaking now for peace from pulpit and platform, bringing his knowledge of military subjects in his talks.

The Grangers make their home at 2635 Benedict street.

Lincoln Univ. Vs. Tennessee

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. — One of the most important tilts of the Mid-West conference, and probably one that will attract the nation's Negro collegiate football circles, will be played here on Saturday, Nov. 15, when Tennessee State's mighty Tigers engage the Lincoln (Mo.) Tigers in the latter's annual Homecoming attraction.

Booker T. Birthplace Memorial Opens Offices in New York City

NEW YORK — Booker T. Washington Birthplace Memorial Inc., has established offices at 286 Fifth avenue, it was announced yesterday by S. J. Phillips, president of the memorial.

"The work of the Memorial has expanded so rapidly in the past few months with many of its major functions originating from New York, we decided that the best interest of the organization would be served if we established a branch office here," explained Phillips.

The office will integrate and correlate the services of the various branches already functioning in Chicago, Washington, Detroit, Cleveland, Tuskegee and Kansas City.

Memorial Week

Observance of the 2nd annual Booker T. Washington Memorial Week beginning November 9 through 15, will follow the same schedule as last year with newspapers, radio, churches and schools participating. Programs for the entire week-long celebration will be centered around these basic themes: Religion, education, health, industry and business, interracial, Memorial Day and citizenship. The trustees of the Memorial are hopeful that all races and creeds will join hands during this special celebration to honor and pay tribute to the memory of a great citizen—Booker T. Washington—whose life was devoted to "helping the man farthest down."

Bored? Eat Frogs' Legs, the Man Says

Bored with yourself? Then try something really different, like eating frogs' legs or taking your wife to a boxing match.

That's the advice offered to folks who are down in the dumps by Bena Delson, writing in the November Journal of Living. It can be substantiated, the frogs' legs part, that is, by a certain Los Angeles construction mogul. What the missus thinks of it is a horse of another color.

Anyway, Delson claims that boredom often sets in from doing things you don't really like. This, he asserts—and here's where certain construction mogul lands in the do ghouse—is especially true of marriages because it is so easy for husbands and wives to get into a rut. Oh, boy!

Pageant to Mark Armistice Day Observance

The Los Angeles county Council of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will sponsor a two-day program next month for the relief and aid of needy veterans and their families.

This great commemoration of the First World War will start on Nov. 10, with the crowning of an Armistice Day queen who will be chosen from among the hundreds of contestants now competing for this title. The lucky girl will receive a screen test and a movie contract, besides many other valuable prizes and gifts.

On Armistice Day, Nov. 11, at 7:30 p.m., a brilliant electrical pageant of floats and military units will start from Washington and Figueroa streets and proceed to the Coliseum, where it will be reviewed by many notables and distinguished guests.

Protests Threat To Fire Veteran

KLAMATH FALLS, Oregon—The local NAACP branch is protesting action of the firm of Lambie & Moon, certified public accountants, in threatening to dismiss Lawrence C. Thomas, World War II veteran, from his training program under their direction because of alleged community disapproval of their hiring a Negro.

The Veterans Administration is being asked to investigate, particularly the fact that the firm will be breaking its government contract which promised training to Thomas.

IS GREATEST FIGHT

Joe Louis is what you might call an all around fighter, nd here's hoping that his present fight will end with a K.O. r the "Brown Bomber" like all the rest do. Louis' leadership the movement to keep John Rankin from securing the late enator Theodore Bilbo's seat in the Senate will give a lot of upport and strength to the fight which includes persuading he Senate not to seat Rankin and his unwritten doctrine of White Supremacy."

HEY LOOK GOOD IN PRO

Buddy Young is constantly proving that he is good professional material. His spectacular broken field running during he past part of this season adds up to a 5.4 yard average per lay when carrying the ball. The game last week between the ankees and the Rockets, a Yankee victory, probably largened oung's average, especially after a 65-yard run by Young to core. And "Sugar-Foot" Anderson showed L. A. folks that he holding down his end position on the Don eleven very nicely o, when the Dons tangled with the Colts of Baltimore Sunday, ons winning 56-0.

GE MAKES NO DIFFERENCE

Sachel Paige is no lucky baseball player, but just a good he. The victory of the K. C. Royals at Wrigley Field over the lackwell's All-Stars, 8-2, was just Paige strategy and pitching bility working. The defeat was the second suffered by the lackwell nine by the Royals in two weeks. Some people want know what Paige is made up of to display such ability at is age. The answer is just plain ole inate ability.

Some are beginning to doubt that U.C.L.A. will see the Rose owl from the center of the stadium Jan. 1, 1948. Their defeat y S.M.U. Both of the ellows rate high on the Angel City Racket Club "latter," and oth will be valuable men to the club for this season.

A BAD PREDICTION

My prediction was that "Sugar" Ray would put Jackie Wilson way in the eighth last night at the Olympic. But it all came or Wilson in the seventh when Robinson whon by a T.K.O. Wilson fought close and fairly well guarded most of the fight nd in the seventh round a hook jab made a fairly good predicion come just fairly good.

Bobby Yeager Nods Grupico

Bobby Yeager, 143, coasted to an easy 10-round decision over Vic Grupico, 141, of San Francisco, before a fair crowd at Hollywood Legion Stadium last Friday night. Grupico did little else but hold on throughout the battle, while Yeager managed to get quite a few solid blows to the head and midsection to gain the verdict.

In the sizzling six-round semi-windup, Bolton Ford, 139, Pittsburgh, scored a unanimous decision over Jimmy Shans, 140½.

LINCOLN UNIVERSITY, Pa.—The Morgan College Bears defeated Lincoln, 14-7, last week.

Ace Hurlers To Battle It Out On Wrigley Diamond

Smarting from national news stories that Satchel Paige outpitched him in two games, Bob Feller, American league's top twirler, sent a wire last Sunday from Mexico City challenging the great Satchel Paige to a hurling duel in a 9-inning stint. Since the Royals have played the All-stars twice and Paige did have the edge, fans have been clamoring to see both pitchers go the route.

Paige answered Feller by telling Billy Feistner and Marshall Armstrong, promoters of Winter league baseball, that he would be at Wrigley field on Sunday, November 2, and would be ready to take the mound at 2:15 p.m. sharp. So the biggest game of the year is set for next Sunday and both pitchers will go the route.

Satchel warmed up for his hurling duel by striking out five men and allowing only two hits last Sunday before a large crowd against the National League's leading hurler, Ewell Blackwell, and his all-stars. The Royals won the game 3 to 2 after a homerun by Al Zorilla, star right fielder, with one man on, made the score 2-1 in favor of the all-stars. The Royals tied the score on a hit, stolen base and a walk, and then won the game in the eighth inning on two walks and an infield hit.

Regular coast league prices will prevail and reservations can be made by calling at the Wrigley field office on the second floor of the Wrigley field tower.

In case of a postponement the game will be played on Tuesday or Wednesday night. Watch daily papers for the time.

'Sugar' Robinson Wins Bout by KO

Number 7 turned out to be an extremely unlucky number for California Jackie Wilson, 150½, Tuesday night when Ray (Sugar) Robinson, 150½, the world's welterweight king, tagged Jackie for a technical knockout after 1m. 37s. of that round. The bout was scheduled for 10 rounds and attracted a crowd of 8500.

Up to the seventh the bout was generally dull with little fighting being done by either fighter. However, with the fans clamoring for action, Referee Abe Roth gave "Sugar" a light lecture at the end of the sixth and after dropping Jackie with a terrific left hook in the seventh the fight was practically over. When Jackie arose wobbly on his pins and "Sugar" was working him over thoroughly Referee Roth stopped the battle and awarded the "Sugarman" the technical kayo verdict.

Wilson put up a fine battle but Robinson was just too much when he warmed to his task. As a consequence Jackie succumbed to his foe's punches.

Second Annual Jr. Rose Bowl Game Scheduled December 13

Pasadena's second annual junior Rose Bowl game, the contest that is the shining star for every junior college team, will be played Saturday afternoon, Dec. 13, in the famous Rose Bowl. Teams for the East-West battle will be nominated Nov. 27 so they will have plenty of time in which to prepare for the championship contest.

Interest in the Junior Rose Bowl game has been growing by leaps and bounds throughout the east, and members of the Pasadena Junior Chamber of Commerce, who are in charge of the event, have been bombarded with telegrams extolling the ability of various junior college teams.

Last year 50,000 enthusiastic fans witnessed Compton's 19 to 0 victory over the Kilgore, Texas, squad. A near capacity crowd is expected for the Junior Rose Bowl game Dec. 13.

It is the 26th program of a 30-meet season that winds up Thanksgiving night with the 11th Grand Prix, the 150-lap blue event of midget car racing on the Pacific Coast for 1947.

Poly Tops Belmont Gridders

Poly's fighting Mechanic-fair not good-spasmatic not consistent-rolled to an upset 20-7 victory over Belmont Friday afternoon on the losers field.

Scoring twice in the last half, Grear was easily the outstanding man on the field. With the third quarter nearing an end, Wendell took a short pass from quarterback Anderson, cut sharply to his left and galloped 34 yards to the "Land of Milk and Honey." Then, late in the fourth quarter, with Poly being held on Belmont's one foot line, Grear again proved to be the hero. Taking a flat pass from Anderson, who had faked to his fullback going through the line, Grear raced around the Green and Black's left end and scored standing up. Poly's first score came in the first quarter when Mariayam ran 10 yds. to a touchdown. Bighead made two and missed one of the points after touchdown for the Mechanics.

Belmont's lone score came in the first quarter when "Fleet-Footed" Forrest Davis returned a Mechanic kick 92 yards. It was Davis' fine running, a tough line, and the left-handed passes of Bob Jaffe that kept Belmont in the game.

Poly's array of fine little backs, Grear, Delgardo, Mariayama, Irvine, Webb and Ortiz, kept the Blue and Gold team in front.

This Is Not School Spirit

Jefferson's mighty Democrats looked very impressive Thursday afternoon when they rolled to a 30 to 9 victory over Manual Arts . . . led by Jim Dyer and Oliver Gordon, the Green and Gold Knights looked like the Jeff teams of old . . . but the spirit displayed by the "rooting section" late in the game when Manual was hopelessly out of it was disgraceful, uncalled for, and unsportsmanlike . . . Yes, Jefferson had a right to "cheer" and make "whooppee" . . . it was the first time in many a year that the Hooper avenue boys had beaten Manual, but when will the Green and Gold supporters learn that a "cheer" is not supposed to be insulting to the opposing team . . . I doubt very seriously if any such so-called "cheers" as were originating in the Jefferson "rooting section" could have been heard coming from UCLA's Saturday afternoon in the Coliseum . . . if the Democrat "cheer leaders" can't think up any more appropriate things to have their "rooters" yell than those heard by your old Thursday Morning Quarterback on last Thursday, I think I know a guy by the name of Sherrill Luke who can try and teach these "cheer leaders" something about the "What Does and Does Not Constitute a Good Yell."

Dinah Shore, Columbia Records' first lady in the popular song field, will receive special acclaim from that company during "Dinah Shore Week," October 27-November 3. Columbia has planned a number of particularly attractive promotional displays which will be used in record stores throughout the country and Miss Shore's records will receive special attention on the many Columbia record programs throughout the country. On one day, during the week, each program will play her recordings exclusively.

Among the visual displays to be featured in store windows and on the counters will be large, mounted photographic portraits of Dinah, as well as cut-out figures in color. A variety of flash posters done in color by Columbia's outstanding artists, will call attention to her "Torch Songs" and "Date With Dinah" albums, as well as many of her single records. Heart-shaped cards, proclaiming "Dinah Shore Week" will be worn by clerks in the record stores.

Dinah's rise to prominence as a vocalist and the resultant popularity she has earned through her radio and recording work is by now well-known and this special week, set aside by Columbia Records for special recognition of the position she holds, will be a company tribute to a great recording artist.

CHICAGO.—Billy Eckstine, the "Bronze Balladier with the Golden Voice," played his first solo nitery engagement in the Windy City when he opened a three-week date at the Club Silhouette last Tuesday.

It was at the old Grand Terrace Cafe in this city where Billy originally launched his singing career back in 1939 as vocalist with Earl Hines' band. Since that time, "The Vibrato" has gone on ot achieve stardom in his own right and is presently regarded as one of Young America's favorite singing idols.

Lionel Hampton Returns to Meadowbrook for Long Stay

Lionel "Pops" Hampton, the "Hey! Ba-Ba-Re-Bop" man, returns to Meadowbrook ballroom Tuesday, October 28, following demands of his thousands of fans who jammed the Culver City ballro om during his previous engagement several months ago.

The popular former USC music student began his career as a drummer in Paul Howard's orchestra, and became one of the world's finest vibe-men by accident. "Hamp" was "fooling around" with the vibra-harp during a recording session when he was Louis Armstrong's drummer, and the resultant music sounded so unusual to Armstrong, that he recorded a tune around the vibes.

Lionel began his famous "two-finger" piano playing similarly by accident when he was a member of Benny Goodman's famous Sextette. His hammer technique on the 88's is recognized in the most serious music circles.

Following Hampton at the Washington Blvd. ballroom will be Count Basie and his jumpin' jive band on December 2, with Johnny Otis and his band taking over Meadowbrook December 23.

Hattie Noel at Ringside Club

The management of the Ringside after its remodeling job acclaimed as one of the prettiest night clubs in the city scored a ten strike in theatrical circles last week when they signed the popular and well known radio and motion picture start Hattie Noel to headline their already star-studded show.

Miss Noel who was rediscovered by Eddie Cantor and who remained on his program for 36 weeks has had many night club offers but turned them down. The proposition laid down by the Ringside was too good to let slide and so one of the most popular comediennes of the radio and screen returns to the spotlight.

Since making her home in Los Angeles Miss Noel has appeared in many motion pictures, "Kings Row," "Irene," "Lady for a Night" and many others. For several years she was under the personal management of Joe Glazer and made nationwide theatrical tours. Miss Noel made a guest appearance on the opening night last Wednesday and the customers liked her so well and so many requests were made to Sid Fair, co-owner, that he set out to get her regardless of the cost. Miss Noel will appear every night starting at 9 p.m. supported by the Hollywood Four Blazes and the Bill Austin trio.

Departing from the usual policy of revival attractions, the eight theatres will present this first run attraction at regular prices.

"The Burning Cross" has caused a storm of controvery in the South because of its brutal expose' of the Klu Klux Klan.

Starring Hank Daniels and Virginia Patton, the film was produced in strict secrecy by Somerset Pictures. The Nov. 4 opening will be the first time any picture has opened first run in eight Metropolitan Los Angeles theatres.

The eight theatres are the Picfair, Arlington, Vermont, Cinema, Melvan, Canon, Jewel and American.

Jack McVea in 4 New Waxings

Jack McVea and his orchestra planed down to Hollywood from San Francisco over the weekend to record their first four sides, under their new Exclusive Record label. Then Jack and his popular combo speeded back to the Bay City, where they continue to draw crowds at Blackshear's.

Katharine Hepburn has a doctor's degree in psychology from Bryn Mawr college.

Count Jumping Toward Coast

DETROIT, Mich.—Count Basie, the "Jump King of Swing," will climax a coast-to-coast theatre and one-niter tour by opening a three-week engagement at Meadowbrook Gardens, Culver City, Calif., on December 2. Winding up a week on stage of the Paradise theatre here, the Count and his band moved on for a series of one-night stands in Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Iowa and Missouri.

En route to the west coast, the "Jump King" paused for a week at the popular Rainbow Rendezvous in Salt Lake City, starting Tuesday, October 28. He then takes to the stage of the Million Dollar theatre in Los Angeles the week of November 4, an engagement that will be followed by three weeks of one-night dance dates in California, Oregon and Washington before the Basie band settles down for its stint at Meadowbrook Gardens.

Re-Opening of Ringside Nitery Is Attended by Appreciative Crowd

"RHYTHMS OF SPAIN"—Federico Rey, Lolita Gomez and Tina Ramirez are three of the featured stars in the intimate Spanish dance revue "Rhythms of Spain" to be staged at the Wilshire Ebell theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights.

Entertainment at Spot Continues

By EDDIE BURBRIDGE

A press unveiling of the new Ringside Club at Washington and Western last Wednesday night was fine except for a few minor things. First the music of the 4 Blazes was excellent. In this group is Stanley Morgan playing a solid guitar, Charles Gray, bursting with personality on the drums and some of the vocals, George Crawford also singing and riding the 88's and LaGrand Mason, a good bass man. Morgan also warbles a bit with the four.

Intermission time features Bill Austin on piano and Joe Stone on bass. Austin plays a lot of piano and sings in a pleasing way. Disappointment of the night was the much publicized Tris Paule, who with her pretty face and good figure, would go further if she would cultivate her voice and learn to handle it efficiently. Her first song on the night this scribe sat in on the proceedings found her throwing caution to the winds in assaying a windup to a song in high register and found her voice breaking and the applause practically nil, which she would have probably received if she had allowed the song to run its natural course.

Many, many guest stars were present and gave of their talents. Among them were Leonard Reed, favorite emcee and comedian of this writer, who has just opened a cleaning establishment on Western avenue and 26th street (plug). Lennie gave his usual fast run of wise cracks. Others appearing were: Hattie Noel, screen comedienne, "Smoky" Whitfield, Jimmy Young, a great songster, Lonnie Johnson, blues singer, and others too numerous to mention.

The press was royally treated to dinners of baked ham, fried chicken and turkey with all the trimmings. In addition the group enjoyed mixed drinks. Present were: Harry LeVette of the Associated Negro Press, Louis Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Cumber, Joe Harris, Ted Merriman, Bernice Cook, Edward Grubbs, Paul McGee, this writer and Halley Harding, publicity man for the club, who supervised the party.

With the entertainment offered there and the good food the new Ringside Club should become one of the best places in the city for night-goers.

AT RINGSIDE—Hattie Noel, screen comedienne, is appearing in person at the Ringside Club, Washington and Western, singing red hot songs.

Buddy Johnson To Play Apollo

NEW YORK.—Buddy Johnson, the young pianist-maestro with the "Magic Touch" at the piano keyboard, has been signed for his third engagement of 1947 at the 125th Street Apollo theatre in Harlem the week of Nov. 14, after having racked up highly successful marks in his appearances at that spot in January and July of this year.

'Smart Woman' Gives Story on 'Be-Bop' Street

CHICAGO—The story of "Be Bop" street, America's jazz mecca, located near New York's famous Rockefeller center, gets an airing in the November issue of Circuit's "Smart Woman." The new magazine for colored women, featuring styles and beaut yaids, made its debut this month.

Alan Morrison, only Negro correspondent on the staff of Stars and Stripes during the war, and an authority on the doings in the jazz world, describes the fascination that Be Bop street holds for musicians and their admirers the world over.

"The Street," writes Morrison, "can now be classed with those other famous thoroughfares which have helped make jazz history: Basin Street in New Orleans, Beale Street in Memphis, and Chicago's State Street . . . Now one of the main arteries of the jazz world, it has established itself as one of America's 'Streets of Distinction' with a flavor and personality all its own."

Like other famous centers, cnotinues Morrison, "the Street has been damned, praised, romanticised and sneered at, but it continues to present practically all of the most gifted jazz performers in the country."

Hampton Predicts Greater Interest In Jazz

SAN FRANCISCO—Jazz addicts took inventory of their favorite music and predicted a jazz revival—all because of James C. Petrillo's recording ban.

Jazz is too hearty a thing to flop down and die because it can't be spread through records, they said.

And if they can't hear it on discs, fans will demand it in live shows, they believe.

There are plenty of places for it to find an outlet, Lionel Hampton, the noted orchestra leader and showman, looks for more radio programs featuring good jazzmen.

"You know I'm a showman and 'in person artist', he said, "the livelier the program the better I like it."

"I believe," commented Hampton, "the recording ban will promote a revival of live wire hard working theatre performances. When fans can't hear new jazz on platter programs, there will be an audience for more of the real thing.

"Of course I like to make records—but I love to have people see me in person better.

"I'm really worried about the kids starting out and those who depended on record royalties. Many of them will either keep on playing and starve, or go into other businesses," he predicts.

Concluding, Mr. Hampton stated:

"This means, however, that all of us will have to give the young musicians every possible opportunity for development."

Hampton's records according to latest Decca reports are up in the first five money makers.

Concert by Muriel Rahn at Philharmonic Termed Great

By LEON W. STEWARD

If Muriel Rahn came to Los Angeles seeking a place for herself among its chosen artists, after her first delightful concert at Philharmonic Auditorium Sunday night, she was a complete success. This erstwhile star of the title role in "Carmen Jones" offered a wide repertoire of musical styles in her choices of songs only to show herself quite capable in each. Her extreme versatility took nothing from her perfect competence.

The first group was of early classical style and consisted of "Carressing Mine Idol's Pillow" by Cesti; "Se Flororindo E Fedele" by Scarlatte, and the Handel-Bibb "Gods, All Powerful." Each was sung delightfully and denoted the singer's thorough skill and preparation.

The second was a group of Frantz and "Wie Froh Und German lieder, "Im Herbst" by Fricsh" by Brahms, as well as the French love song "I'Absence" and the charming art song "Carnival" by Fourdrain. These, said J. G. L.A. Times music critic, gave first evidence of Mrs. Rahn's versatile tone production, which was at times soft and smooth, at other times deep and seductive."

The fourth group of songs were composed by Negroes. After singing "Death of a Rose" and "Black Pierrot" Mrs. Rahn took occasion to point out William Grant Still, their composer, in the audience.

"John Henry" (Negro Work Song) by Hall Johnson, "Little Boy, How Old Are You?" by Middleton and "I Am Seeking For a City" by James Miller concluded the group and in the spot often reserved by Negro artists for spirituals this talented young actress-singer stepped, red rose in hair, into cast first as "Porgy" as she sang "My Man's Gone Now" from George Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess' and then as "Carmen Jones" rendering "Dat's Love."

Miss Rahn concluded a brilliant program with "Miranda" by Richard Hagerman. It might be well to close this story of this delightful concert with the words of the critic quoted above—"Miss Rahn proved herself a singer well on her way to a secure musical future"—and with thanks to the chapters of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority who sponsored the concert and to Max Walmer who capably accompanied Miss Rahn.

'Salute' Mag in Story on Granz

"Jazz Impresario" by Pat Flaherty in the current issue of Salute magazine describes Norman Granz' "Jazz at the Philharmonic."

The author points out that Granz has lifted jazz from the cellar and put it in cohcert halls. Intaking his group of artists on the road, Granz has insisted on a contract clause prohibiting segregation of Negroes in the audience.

Granz, a young Californian, has turned down $40,000 worth of bookings by managers who would not agree to the anti-discrimination clause.

Toni Palmer Now At Tucker's Club

CLEVELAND.—Attractive Toni Palmer opened here Friday (Oct. 24) for a two-week booking at Tucker's Club Blue Grass. This is Miss Palmer's first appearance in Cleveland.

Toni attracted nation-wide attention last December when three national magazines featured the charming vocalist at the same time.

Toni Palmer comes direct from an eight-week run at fashionable Courville Inn in Detroit's ultra-smart Grosse Pointe district. This was a return booking which was preceded by a 15-week stint.

Cobb To Tour

NEW YORK. — Arnett Cobb, currently giving Swing Street (52nd St.) its greatest shot in the arm since Swing took over in 1935, will set out on his first tour of one-night engagements at the conclusion of the Downbeat Club run.

Jimmy Lugano, aged 3, played the son of Linda Darnell and Cornell Wilde in "Forever Amber."

Noble Sissle Plans to Help Young Musicians and Singers

NEW YORK, N. Y., (Special) A gigantic plan to encourage young musicians and singers in the development of their talents for the Concert field was announced last week by Noble Sissle, internationally famed orchestra laeder currently appearing in Billy Rose's Diamond Horseshoe, in a Nation-wide appeal to Schools and Colleges, Civic and Religious organizations, Cultural groups and music lovers in general throughout the United States.

Sissle pleaded for support of a plan that will not only provide encouragement to the young generation of artists, but one that will perpetuate a definite program of cultural development.

To begin the functioning of this gigantic undertaking, the Noble Sissle Concert Varieties, which the famous showman and orchestra leader organized last April, has coordinated over thirty of the most potential musical stars of this year into Concert Units consisting of from three to six individual artists.

New Sister Trio

WASHINGTON.—The Hall Sisters, newest vocalizing trio, begin their first Capitol City engagement here Friday when they appear as one of the featured stars in a stellar vaudeville bill at the Howard Theatre.

Wilson Leading Basin St. Boys

DETROIT.—The Basin Street Boys, formerly a co-operative group, is now under the complete leadership of Ormonde Wilson. Wilson's first move as leader of the group was to add two more instruments to the act, to broaden its scope. Heretofore a strict singing group, the act will now offer musical interpretations to augment their performance. This change opens the cocktail field to them in addition to night clubs and theatres.

The Basin Street Boys now comprise guitar, bass and piano plus the singing. There are five men in the group now, causing two of the voices to double on their instruments.

For the first time in years on the 20th Century-Fox lot, Director Otto Preminger filmed a

KAPPA'S FAVORED IN INTER-FRATERNITY SERIES

Although the Inter-Fraternity Basketball Series is all of four months off, the so-called "boys in the know" along Betting boulevard are laying two to one that the Red and White will again come out on top of the heap when the "series" rolls around . . . The Spring street boys say that Lowell Stewart, "Nate" Shaw, Glover Samuels, and Gene Williams will be too much for the other frats . . . Emerson "Big Em" Chapman, a fair to middlin' basketball player in his own right, and who'll probably be the man that coach Wilbur Johns will insert in the pivot spot to replace Don Barksdale, whose graduation will cut a big hole in the UCLA varsity, says; "Bring on the Kappas, Stewart, Samuels and all." . . . "Big Em" wears the Black and Gold of Alpha . . . The men from the walls of Alphadom will be seeking revenge for the upsetting they took at the hands of the fighting Kappa's last season . . . Dave "Mr. UCLA" Minor, Bill Terry, and Joe Oliver are ready to roll again for the "Big A's" . . . Please don't anyone overlook the Omega's . . . Our scouts tell us that this is the year that the Purple and White have been waiting for . . . they haven't been in contention in the last couple of years, but the "Flying O's" say they ar etired of taking it on the chin and are ready, and have the stuff, to dish out a couple of "haymakers" themselves . . . It wouldn't surprise your old Thursday Morning Quarterback if the Omega Phi Psi's won the 1948 Inter-Fraternity Basketball Championship.

ALPHA PLEDGES BOAST TWO FINE FORWARDS

Boasting two of the finest forwards seen around town in a good many years, the Sphinx Club of Alpha Phi Alpha is already making plans to begin basketball practice in hopes of winning the "Pledge Club" championship of the Inter-Frat Basketball series . . . the Alpha "Little Brothers" have in Kenny and Hugh Hill two of the most promising young basketball players to come out of this area . . . the Black and Gold fledglings were rudely upset last year by the Kappa Scrollers, but this year the 100 proof boys (Hill and Hill) have already aimed their sights at the boys who carry the Scrolls . . . Don't sell the Red and White boys short though . . . They also have a promising team led by Poly's ex-star Harold Garrison

LACC Cubs Rack Up 4th Victory

By STANLEY ROBERTSON

Los Angeles City College Cubs racked up their fourth straight Western States Conference victory Saturday night before 14,000 spectators in the Rose Bowl, at the expense of the Pasadena Bulldogs, 32 to 6.

The victory gave the Cubs a total of 101 points as compared with 19 for their opponents in league competition. It also put the CC boys at the top of the conference ladder.

The "Galloping Greyhound" himself, Woodly Lewis was the bearer of the most bad news for the Cubs again. The ex-Manual Arts star scored twice on runs of 46 and 66 yards respectively. On the second play of the game, "the Greyhound" aided by some fine blocking, found a hole over right tackle and raced 46 yards to a touchdown. Late in the fourth quarter when the Cub attack had bogged down, Lewis went 66 yards to a score. The other Cub touchdowns were scored by halfbacks Dyer and Mcqueren, and end Morton.

Harlem Globetrotters Will Start Practice November 1

CHICAGO, Ill.—A new chapter in the sensational history of the world-famed Harlem Globetrotters basketball organization gets under way here on Saturday, Nov. 1. On that date, star Race cagers from all parts of the United States will gather in Chicago for the start of practice for the wonder team's 21st consecutive season of play.

Some will be assigned to the Harlem Globetrotters main or eastern unit, which will travel to all parts of the United States and Canada, as well as Hawaii and perhaps even to the Philippines and other points in the Pacific; the western unit, to be again headed by Lorenzo ("Piper") Davis, also celebrated in baseball circles, and the Kansas City Stars, who are associated with the Globetrotters.

Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 1 and 2, will be taken up with distribution of uniforms to the various players, picture-taking and like details. Actual workouts will get under way at the Broadway Armory on Chicago's north side on Monday, Nov. 5, with two workouts a day slated to start Nov. 4. The schedule calls for ball-handling and play-making mornings at the Armory and scrimmage at night against the Loyola university varsity on the latter's court.

Rams Pointing For Cardinals

CHICAGO.—The Los Angeles Rams, a full game off the Western Division pace, were speeding preparations here today for their crucial National league clash with the Chicago Cardinals at Chisox Park Sunday.

Once again, as was the case in Los Angeles two weekends back, the Rams must defeat the powerful Cardinals to stay in the title chase. On that occasion, the Rams neatly turned the trick with a 27 to 7 victory that threw the race into a three-way deadlock, the Rams, Cards and Green Bay Packers each having won three and lost one.

But while the Packers and Cards were keeping pace last Sunday with triumphs over the Detroit Lions and Boston Yanks, respectively, the Rams were dropping a 14 to 7 decision to the Philadelphia Eagles.

Rickey Denies He'll Co-Star With Jackie In Film

BROOKLYN, N. Y. (CNS)—Branch Rickey denied emphatically last weekend that he would co-star with Jackie Robinson in the film "Brooklyn, USA," a screen biography of the Dodgers' first baseman. According to the Dodgers' secretary, Harold Parrott, the first Rickey heard of the "alleged plans" that he act in a moving picture was when he was shown the Hollywood announcement.

In a statement issued by Producers Releasing Corporation last week from the coast, Rickey was announced as having second lead in the film, which goes into production Dec. 4. But the Bums' prexy says he has no intention of turning actor even with Jackie.

Texas State vs. Prairie View

HOUSTON—A great battle is in prospect when the Texas State university Tigers and the Prairie View Panthers tangle Friday night at Buffalo stadium in Houston, home of the T.S.U. Tigers.

Prairie View, conquerors of Samuel Huston, Bishop and Wiley, are in a fighting mood to score a win over its sister institution, while the Houston boys, winners over Paul Quin, Samuel Huston and Tillotson, are equally anxious to beat the Panthers.

Sam Houston to Play Arkansas

By H. S. HUGHES

PINE BLUFF, Ark.—With apparently some of the best material in the Southwest Conference, the Samuel Huston Dragons have been dogged all season by a jinx that has left them with a record of only one victory for the season.

Starting the season with a very unimpressive 6-0 win over Butler College, the Dragons have dropped hard fought games to Prairie View, Texas College, Southern, Bishop and Texas State. Only in the clash with Southern have they been completely outclassed.

But the Dragons are trying hard to beat somebody in the Southwest conference before the season closes and Arkansas may be the victim when the two teams clash at Pine Bluff Nov. 8.

At least such is the hope of Henry Carroll, the youngest coach in the Southwest Conference, who took over the reins at Samuel Huston in September.

L.A. City College Eleven Takes Rest

Mike Cirino's Los Angeles City college eleven, currently leading the Western States Conference with four wins and no losses, takes a rest this week-end after Saturday's 32-6 victory over Pasadena City college.

On The Sidewalk

By C. A. B.

firmly believe that the duty of a newspaper is to give its readers a news coverage unbiased and uncolored, but so that editors should pass on opinions concerned with olitical, social, and economic conditions and outlooks as ey relate to the people.

I do, however, believe that such opinions should nenate from a sincere interest in the advancement of vilization along a truly democratic way of life, and not om a selfish motive on the part of editors.

Here is this week's story of a Negro artist who sacrificed bright shining dollars to join the front rank in the ruggle for Democracy.

Last January, in Washington, D. C., Paul Robeson ho added color and force to the role of Othello in Shakeeare's famous play, "Othello," announced that he would ake a year off" to fight for a living democracy in our nd.

ince that time Robeson has been traveling from coast to coast preaching the doctrine of peace and advocating free America for all Americans, white and Negro, native id foreign-born.

Recently Mr. Robeson's one-man crusade took him the deep South, and this is his comment:

"The largest and most inspiring of these audiences hich to me represent the New South, was in Norfolk, Va., here I appeared in a concert recital at the City Auditium before 7000 persons, more than half of whom were hite. This was a benefit for the Norfolk Community Hostal and the Liberty Park Nursery. It was as much a gain r democracy locally as it was a financial success for the ponsoring committee.

"Democracy won out when, despite a subtle smear mpaign put on by local conservative Negro forces and e frank disapproval of city authorities, the interracial udience ignored the local Jimcrow seating custom and beame equal participants in a true American cultural eveng.

"Virginia has a state law which forbids the races tting together in public places. Before the concert took lace it was generally known throughout Norfolk that I ad insisted that there be no segregation of Negroes in e audience."

ut as Mr. Robeson tells the story when the Norfolk chief of police told the sponsoring committee, they would ave to separate "these people," the chairman replied, White people can get their money back if they don't want sit with Ngroes."

The chief of police accepted this solution, but was nagrined beyond measure when "not a single one" asked have his money refunded!

"Again," says Paul Robeson, "I appeared at the Mosque Theatre in Richmond under the auspices of Alpha hi Alpha, my own fraternity. There I not only saw Neroes and whites rubbing shoulders in the audiences but n the platform itself.

"The wonderful response of these mixed Southern udiences was an eloquent reminder that the national itch hunt now taking place is meeting real opposition. When Southern whites break local Jimcrow laws to hear Negro artist perform, history has been made."

This week Mississippi for the first time stamped its isapproval on white supremacy and started John E. ankin, its chief advocate, tumbling down toward the olitical dumping-ground.

ust as I was beginning to wonder if any good move could come out of California I noticed that the Political Study lubs repudiated Governor Warren as presidential timber r 1948, because he ignored Negroes in any important tate appointment.

The trend in California politics is somewhat alarm-g. A State un-American Activities Committee, fashioned fter the pattern of the Thomas-Rankin House Committee, eaded by Republican Senator Jack B. Tenney, has ounched a State red-baiting smear campaign.

Victim Intervened in Domestic Quarrel

PHILADELPHIA—A shooting last Friday morning in which many salient facts are still missing involve Rev. Joseph R. Groves, prominent Philadelphia AME minister, who fired the shot, and Isaac Walton, a 24 year old laborer who is in a critical condition at Presbyterian hospital.

Rev. Groves, of 720 N. 43rd st., told police that as a result of a quarrel between his wife Mabel and himself around one o'clock Friday morning, he had angrily walked out of the house. She followed him to the corner of 43rd and Aspen sts., a few feet from the house, where they continued the argument. At this point, according to Rev. Groves, Isaac Walton appeared on the scene and admonished the minister for talking to his wife so harshly.

Walton, a perfect stranger, according to Groves, was told by the minister to mind his own business. When Walton persisted, the couple returned to their home, with Walton following them. They went inside, leaving Walton on their doorstep.

Later, while chatting with a house guest, Rev. Robert Lowe,

Warden, Guards Freed in Prison Massacre Case

BRUNSWICK, Georgia—American lynch law triumphed here yesterday with the acquittal of Warden H. G. Worthy and four prison guards. The five men had been indicted by a federal grand jury for the brutal prison massacre last July of eight Negro prisoners after state agencies, including a special committee of the legislature exonerated them.

A federal court jury, composed of local whites, "deliberated" exactly eight minutes

4500 Volunteers In Petition Drive For Third Party

More than 4500 volunteers are already circulating petitions throughout California to place the Independent Progressive party on the ballot for the presidential election next year.

This announcement was made by Miss Elinor Kahn, state director for the Organizing Committee, at a meeting last Sunday of the Southern Regional Organizing Committee held in the Shoreham Hotel.

More than 50,000 signatures have been obtained in this section of the state, Mrs. Ruth Slade, petition campaign manager for Southern California, announced. But Mrs. Slade also stressed that in spite of these encouraging reports, one out of every five registered voters in Los Angeles county will have to sign these petitions in order that Los Angeles' quota will be met.

"The political implications of this figure," said Mrs. Slade, "are

Satchel Paige Sued Here In Rented Car Row

Satchel Paige, who pitched a marvelous game here last Sunday when he bested Bob Feller, 8-0, and struck out 15 batters, had a lawsuit hurled at him this week when Melton Jones, a local sportsman, sued the famous pitcher for $375 for damages to a Cadillac car he rented Satchel last year to drive to San Diego.

Jones claims that Satchel burned the car up on the road and it cost him quite a bit for repairs. Jones had Paige's check for his hurling job at Wrigley Field last Sunday held up, but Satchel posted a $416 cash bond and the check was released.

Through his attorney, Walter L. Gordon Jr., Satchel Paige filed an answer stating that Jones' car wasn't in good working order. No date has as yet been set for the hearing.

Board Blocks Vote Registration

Representativees of the California Legislative Conference including AFL, CIO, and many civic groups, were given a distinct brush-off by the Los Angeles County board of supervisors last Monday when they appeared before that board and requested more deputy registrars of voters to register the citizens for the 1948 elections.

Reuben Borough, chairman of the Legislative Conference, spoke especially of thee large numbers of people in the Mexican and Negro communities who have not been registered to date.

"We want that group registered," said Borough. "I speak frankly. The rights of citizenship are not confined to mere voting. Everyone knows that expression through the initiative is a right. There are thousands of people now who cannot sign initiative petitions, and that is a serious condition."

Racist Running Fifth in Miss. Race for Senate

Congressman John Rankin, one of the leading members of the House Un-American Committee, suffered a crushing defeat Tuesday in the Mississippi election for the unexpired U. S. senate term of the late Senator Theodore G. Bilbo. Rankin campaigned on the white supremacy issue so successful used by Bilbo in former elections.

Latest reports showed Rankin trailing four other Democratic candidates. Circuit Judge John Cornelius Stennis, 46, who shied away from the race issue, was leading the field with a small but increasing lead.

With 1089 of Mississippi's 1716 voting precincts reporting—more than one-half of the state—Stennis has 38,902 votes. Rep. William Colmer of Pascagoula was close behind with 35,612, and Bilbo's one-time personal attorney, Forest B. Jackson, with 31,462. Jackson who campaigned for all-out "white supremacy" contested Rankin's claim to be Bilbo's political heir.

Ruling Affects Central Avenue, Westside Cases

Restrictive covenants in the Los Angeles area received another shattering blow last Friday as Superior Judge Stanley Mosk reiterated his previous stand that the racist device violates the 14th amendment to the U. S. constitution. He denied covenant complaints against three Negroes and a Filipino.

Judge Mosk's latest decision represents the second victory in ten days for forces battling restrictive covenants.

In a decision the previous week, Judge Mosk threw out complaints against three other Negro families, announcing decisively "there is no more reprehensible un-American activity than to deprive persons of their own homes on a "master race' theory."

Two of the persons affected by Friday's decision are members of AFL Carpenters Local 634.

They are James Allen, 1155 E. 107th st., a World War II veteran, and Silas Reid, who owns a house at 10513 S. Central ave.

Also affected is a Filipino neighbor, Teofilo Llanos, 955 E. 107th st.

The fourth case thrown out was that against James Justice, 1288 W. 37th pl.

Campus Backs Evicted Co-ed

MADISON, Wisconsin—Eviction by her landlord of a white girl student because a Negro law student escorted her home from a campus party was condemned this week by 14 University of Wisconsin campus groups. The 14 groups organized a committee to determine whether court action can be taken against the landlord.

The co-ed, Miss Iris Alexander, a brunette junior from New York City, said she had been asked to vacate her quarters in a private rooming house owned by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rupe.

The Rupes said they also had asked another student, Miss Constance Felton, 19, of Brooklyn, to vacate her quarters for "sympathizing with Miss Alexander."

The committee, composed of about 50 students who pledged their support to Miss Alexander, also decided to make an investigation of racial discrimination in Madison. A collection was taken among committee members to start the committee's work.

Students on the committee represent campus chapters of the American Veterans Committee, Students for Democratic Action, the NAACP, Progressive Students of America, University Socialist Club, YWCA, Unitarian, Baptist and Congregational students, University Student Board, Cooperative Rooming House and Dane county Communist Club.

Back in New York, Miss Alexander's mother, a widow, backed her daughter's action, commented: "She's always been interested in racial equality. People always talk about equality but nobody ever does anything about it. I feel Iris is right and is standing up for her convictions. We are definitely behind her."

Bar Child From Baby Contest

CASPER, Wyoming—A hurricane of protests raged around the Women's Auxiliary of the Order of Moose this week after they barred a three year old Negro child from a baby contest they sponsored.

Mrs. Effie Mae Gray, wife of war veteran Harry Gray, said contest officials told her last week she must withdraw her son Ronald from the contest. She said at the time he was among the leaders in the balloting.

Local white newsmen blasted the jimcrow action of the club, sent the story out over the nation's wire services.

Mrs. Gray said she received an invitation to enter Ronald in the baby contest, took him with her to the contest headquarters to be registered. She received books of tickets to be sold on a victory bond. For each ticket she sold Ronald received one vote.

Mrs. Gray got busy, sold 1500 votes; a friend sold an additional 500 votes to put Ronald among the leaders. Then the objection began. Mrs. Gray was notified that her son was not eligible for the contest because of his color.

Contest officials, evidently recalling the case of a Kiwanis club, refunded the money she had brought in for the tickets. Mrs. Gray in turn refunded it to purchasers of the tickets. In the Negro case of the Kiwanis club, a Negro vet who had sold tickets for a Kiwanis raffle, drew the winning number. When the club disqualified him because of his race, the discrimination was so widely and loudly protested that the club was eventually forced to give him a duplicate first prize—a new Cadillac.

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui is a liquid medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help:

1- Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion,* thus help build resistance for the "time" to come.

2- Started 3 days before "your time", it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes.

L. A. Presbytery Bans Support Of Covenants

Los Angeles Presbyterian ministers yesterday were directed to refrain from joining in any action to enforce restrictive covenants and to withdraw from any such action in which they now may be involved.

The order was contained in a resolution adopted by members of the Los Angeles Presbytery of the Presbyterian church, at a meeting in the First Presbyterian church of Van Nuys.

Wilbur LaRue Jr., of Washington, D. C., moderator of the general assembly, was quoted in the resolution as stating that he was "upset by word from one of our cities that one of our ministers has joined as a property owner in a suit to prevent a fine colored family from occupying a house in a white area."

The moderator suggested that the Presbytery exercise its full jurisdiction in the matter.

(The minister referred to is believed to be Rev. W. Clarence Wright, pastor of the Wilshire Presbyterian church, who is one of the leaders of the Southwestern Wilshire Protective Assn., an outfit pledged to force Negro home owners out of the Adams-Wilshire area.)

To Compile 'Who's Who' In Calif.

First of a series of meetings to select an advisory committee of representative citizens to aid in compiling a representative and factual "Negro Who's Who In California," was held at the home of Lorenzo Bowdoin, Los Angeles business executive, last Sunday afternoon.

The meeting was called by Bowdoin to hear John W. Roy, bibliographer, and Commodore Wynn, public relations director, present an outline of plans to publish a historical and biographical "Who's Who" in photograph and print as a permanent record of Negro achievement, success and recognition in California.

This volume, according to Roy, will become a standard reference book available to all groups of people in schools, libraries and the home.

No Housing Shortage, Realtor Says

Can't find a home? Think there's a housing shortage? Tut, tut, it's just your imagination working overtime.

"The housing shortage is what we call a rise in the standard of living," Herbert C. Nelson, executive vice president of the National Assn. of Real Estate Boards, told a Town Hall luncheon at the Biltmore last Monday.

As for the real estate lobby, subject of his address, Nelson had this to say:

"We have the public housing program beaten and we intend to keep it beaten."

He hinted that the lobby was confident it could block passage by congress of even the mild Wagner-Ellender-Taft housing bill, which has nothing to do with public housing.

the Taft-Hartley bill designed to deprive labor of its democratic rights to speak freely and live decently, will be charged by this Committee with the offense of attempting to overthrow our government. And a like treatment will be applied to every liberal who speaks in the open against discrimination of Negroes and other minorities.

I appeal to the Political Study Clubs and other Negro and minority group clubs to join forces in denouncing un-American Activities Committees that refuse to extend their investigating activities to the real evils that retard our democratic way of life, and destroy the peace our sons who sleep beneath the earth, thought they had won in the last World War.

Job Bias Rules At All GE Plants Here, Union Leader Says

Job discrimination, sharply condemned in the Report of the President's Committee on Civil Rights chaired by General Electric President Charles E. Wilson, dominates the employment policies of Southern California Electric plants.

A check with the union representing the giant corporation's employes in a half-dozen large and small plants this week revealed that only a handful of Negroes are employed among GE's some 1500 workers in this area.

And that handful is jimcrowed into janitorial work exclusively.

At the big plant at nearby Ontario, of 1150 employes there are but ten Negroes, all janitors.

At the GE service plant in Los Angeles, of 80 workers only two are Negroes—both janitors.

In four other plants employing a total of more than 100 workers there are at least two plants, the light appliance shop with 20 employes, and the supply house, with 35 employes, which employ no Negroes whatsoever.

At the heavy appliance shop and the warehouse, if there are any Negroes they are also jimcrowed into janitorial work, the union said.

Carl Brandt, president and business agent of the big CIO United Electrical Workers Local 1421, said that GE's record on discrimination and the rights of workers generally is "one of the very worst."

He emphasized that Wilson's company made excessive use of injunctions during last year's strike by the union nationally against GE and that there is a company policy of sending almost daily bulletins boosting the Taft-Hartley Labor law to employes.

Rhodes Co. Executive Dies

Beloved by many persons from Hollywood to the eastside of Los Angeles, Nathaniel Shyer, 51, of Rhodes Jewelers, passed away last Thursday after a lingering illness. Shyer resided at 255 S. Peck Drive, Beverly Hills, and had been a resident of Los Angeles since 1906.

Shyer was a man never too busy to talk to any person who visited Rhodes and numbered hundreds as his friends, many of whom he called by first name after he knew them awhile. He was constantly favoring persons hard-pressed for money, some he had met just a short time before.

Insofar as the Negro population of the eastside is concerned Shyer was present at many gatherings that meant advancement for the community and ever willing to donate trophies to worthwhile sports competition. A great lover of sports himself, he was a regular patron of Hollywood Legion Stadium on fight nights and frequently at other sports arenas.

Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor-publisher of the California EAGLE, termed Shyer as one of her best friends and was extremely shocked to hear of his passing.

Funeral services were held from the Wee Kirk O' the Heater at 9:30 a.m. last Saturday with the Forest Lawn Mortuary in charge. Survivors of the deceased are Wesley E. and Herbert P. Shyer, sons, and Marie A. Almquist and June Pine, sisters.

Shyer will be missed by all who knew him. His friends were legion. He has created a gap in the staff of Rhodes Jewelers that will be difficult to fill.

Mrs. Ruth Viser and Bessie Rumber recently returned to Pasadena after having spent 10 days in the Bay Area. Many social affairs were given in their honor.

Chicago Murder Trial Puts City's Slums On Spot

CHICAGO—Whenever a big city's crime rate goes above the average, the usual procedure is to slap a few extra patrolmen and detectives on the offending districts, shuffle some inspectors around and announce the force is going to get tough. But something new in crime-prevention is under way here.

More than 2000 citizens have joined a campaign to force the city to better the slum conditions which have bred incessant crime in Chicago's slum tenements. Instead of making a strictly theoretical appeal, the citizens have picked up a red-hot issue to illustrate their point: the case of James Hickman, a Negro steelworker who went on trial this week for murder.

Acting as the Hickman Defense Committee, the citizens are asking for Hickman' srelease on the grounds that his crime was the direct result of the atrocious housing conditions in Chicago's congested Negro slums. The committee's most telling argument lies in the facts of the Hickman case itself.

In January, 1946, Hickman brought his wife and seven children to live in Chicago. Ater being promised a four-room flat by David Coleman, Hickman paid $100, then was jammed with his family into a single attic room which had neither heat, light, gas, a toilet nor washing facilities. For this Hickman was charged $6 a week.

Then the landlord decided to remodel the building. He told Hickman to leave. When Hickman refused, Coleman threatened to burn him out. And on January 16, 1947, the Hickman's room was swept by fire and four of the children were burned to death.

Testimony at the coroner's inquest indicated the fire had been set deliberately, and that the tenement was a condemned firetrap. Hickman brooded for months over the death of his four children until, on July 16, he shot and killed the landlord.

Subsequently the Hickman Defense Committee was formed by CIO and AFL unions, civic groups, the American Veterans' Committee and the city's Baptist church. As the movement grew, it broadened into a campaign for legislative and municipal action to deal with Chicago's rotten tenements.

Because of this committe, the murder trial of a penniless Negro millhand this week became more than just another court case to the people of Chicago. For many of them now realize that the city itself is in the defendant's box with James Hickman.

These three themes will be tied together with a program for community action, and appropriate legislative action to make them a fact in American life will be discussed.

STOMACH
ULCERS, CONSTIPATION, GAS PAINS

Don't be discouraged. Read what this famous doctor says:

"Gallstones are alkaline concretions which form in the gall ducts or gall bladder, from the stagnation of thickened bile. It frequently takes years for their formation, during which time the alkaline accumulations pack harder and harder together, allowing the softer part of the bile to flow out, and leaving behind these hardened, calcareous substances. The blocking of the gall ducts leading to the intestines will produce symptoms often mistaken for other diseases.

"Fully one-half of the patients who come to me believing they have stomach ulcers or gastritis, are really afflicted with some form of gall bladder disorder. I have found a very large number of cases, improperly diagnosed as stomach ulcer by other physicians, which have responded so rapidly to treatment as gall bladder derangements, as to lose all symptoms in a day or two.

"Where there is a stoppage of bile in the gall bladder, either by thickened bile or by gallstone formation, there will always be a tender spot halfway between the navel and the ribs on the right side of the abdomen. The color of the skin usually changes every few days, becoming a yellow, sallow hue at irregular intervals. The tongue will be coated, there will be loss of appetite and there may or may not be sharp, colicky pains felt on the right side.

"I have had many cases where large gallstones have been removed by my treatment, where not typical gallstone colic had been experienced at all. If the sharp pains and contractions of the gallstone colic are present in their worst form, the patient will be unable to stand or even sit up straight, but will be forced to lie down with knees drawn up to the chest. Even this position does not relieve the pain. I am convinced that these colicky symptoms are not present in most cases, and that a serious stoppage of bile or a blocking up of the bile ducts with a gallstone may be present without any of such symptoms being in evidence at all."

Daniel C. Munro, M. D., says: "If I were to write the story of all the cases in which colonic irrigations seem to lift the patient from the very jaws of death, it would fill volumes."

Dr. Chas. A. Tyrell, M.D., eminent physician, says: "If the colon is clogged, the penned-up acid permeations of the stomach and duodenum will have to seek other outlets.

"The most rational and practical manner of dealing with this . . . breeding place of disease is to wash it out.

"With me, it has passed beyond the theoretical stage, for I have in my office fully 15,000 letters from grateful patients who have used this process, under my direction, with the most astounding results; scarcely a disease known to humanity, but has been relieved, and in ninety-five per cent of the cases, cures effected, while tens of thousands of gratifying messages have reached me from time to time; nor is the testimony in its favor confined to the laity, for hundreds of physicians (including some of the most prominent authorities) testify to the wonderful beneficial results achieved by its use."

"Constipation is one of the greatest causes of disease, misery, inefficiency and premature senility, and should be most earnestly combatted," says Dr. Kellogg of Battle Creek Sanitarium fame.

"Every case of constipation is curable, but not by means of any panacea.

"A coated tongue, a sallow complexion, dark circle around the eyes, appearance of brown spots upon the hands or other parts (the so-called liver spots), offensive breath and perspiration . . . a thin, inelastic parchment-like skin, dullness of mind, mental irritability or depression without cause, cold hands and feet, chronic headache, arthritis, neuritis, rheumatism, asthma, pains around the heart—these and a score of other symptoms which might be mentioned are certain indications of chronic poisoning.

"A thorough cleansing of the colon, removing the cause, may prevent more serious conditions."

Residents of Los Angeles are fortunate in having the New Yorker, a haven for those who suffer, where the cause may be removed. New Yorker specializes in thoroughly cleansing and eliminating from the colon all waste matter causing toxic poisons. Rid yourself of toxic poisons. If suffering, come to our office at once. Pray Pinch Us- Cops Suspended For Brutality!

Believe it or not, pal, but two radio policemen were suspended this week by Chief C. B. Horrall on charges they had mistreated a prisoner they were taking to jail.

Lone fruit of many police "investigations" into similar complaints, the action grew out of the charges of Charles S. Watson, white one-armed service station operator, that he had been brutally beaten by Policemen W. B. Goldsberry and Wendell B. Johnson.

Watson charged tnat when he asked them to remove their police car from the entrance to his service station at 3297 Cahuenga blvd., because it was blocking a driveway, they became enraged and arrested him. He said that first, however, they took him to the hills.

Investigation showed marks on Watson's body, Chief Horrall said.

Bare Hugh Profits In Used Car Racket

WASHINGTON — The Treasury's drive against tax-chiseling automobile dealers has turned up cases where second-hand cars traded in for only $200 have been resold for as much as $2000, it was disclosed this week.

In many cases the resales were never entered on the books and no taxes were paid on the profits —which is what the government objects to.

It is believed the drive eventually may turn up as much as $1,000,000,000 in back taxes, interest and penalties.

Hard-Hitting Report on Civil Rights Hailed By Minority Groups, Labor

NEW YORK—The hard-hitting report of the President's Committee on Civil Rights was hailed this week by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People the CIO and the American Jewish Congress as a program of action combining the major portions of the programs of all groups fighting for full citizenship rights for all Americans.

(A detailed story on the Report was published in last week's EAGLE).

Pledging full support of the recommendations in the Report, Thurgood Marshall, chief counsel for the NAACP called on all groups "interested in first-class citizenship for all Americans to redouble their efforts, help realize the Committee's proposals. Dr. Stephen S. Wise, president of the American Jewish Congress, called on President Truman to keep the Committee in existence to obtain adoption of its recommendations.

Philip Murray, president of the CIO, stressed the necessity of making the Report available to all Americans, "cloaked as it is with authority of the President of the United States and our federal government. He called the Report "the most significant" milestone in American history.

Eastside Among Five Leaders In Community Chest Fund Drive

An Eastside Community Chest district was listed yesterday by overall campaign heads as being among the top five in the city in percentage of quota as Attorney Bernard Jefferson's workers turned in 46 contributions totaling $2414, or 31 percent of their quota.

South Park: Mrs. J. S. Peach, chairman, reported 6 donations in her district totaling $72. This is 2 percent of her $2689 goal.

Figures represent the results of the first weeks' house-to-house solicitation and a large percentage of special gifts solicitation which began earlier. As local citiens rally behind the Chest campaign, figures are expected by local leaders to include a much higher percentage of house-to-house funds.

Meanwhile, district leaders here appealed to local residents to "be at home" to the Red Feather workers. They stressed that call-backs complicated the work of the volunteer solictors.

The Community Chest represents 159 separate Red Feather Agencies that no longer solicit funds. When you donate to the Chest you are saying 'this is my share of the support of the 159 separate service organizations. Make your donation large enough to cover them all.

New Wallace Club Organized Here

Formation of another Democrats for Wallace club was announced yesterday by Harvey F. Darby, coordinator of the Wallace Democrats for the 13th congressional district.

At a meeting in the Monte Vista school auditorium, Michael Shulman was elected temporary chairman of the new group, Darby said.

PROMOTED—Ajay D. Johnson, member of the L. A. police dept. since July 20, 1929, was promoted this week from the rank of sergeant to that of police lieutenant. Johnson is the second Negro member of the force to be promoted to a lieutenancy. The other officer is Lieut. Roscoe Washington, an uncle of football star Kenny Washington.

'Love Essential to Happiness,' Says Girls Vice of Jeff High

Mrs. Hazel Wheadon, Girls vice-principal of Thomas Jefferson High school addressing the Parents Council of Woodlawn Branch Y.W.C.A., placed love at the top of the list of all else that goes to make for a happy family.

She emphasized the fact that children reared in an atmosphere of the home free of emotional tensions where they have the support, confidence and love of the adults with whom they are associated are usually happy children. Those children who present problems are children with problems; the result of which usually stem from unmet emotional needs.

The Y.W.C.A. Parent's Council will hear throughout the year eminent educators, psychologists, and psychiatrists a series of topics related to the family and its cross currents of relationships.

Mrs. Alice Lynch is chairman of the Parent's Council, Mrs. Inez Allen, Y-Teen director.

before returning a verdict of Not Guilty. Hearing of the evidence took six days, during which time it was brought out by eye-witness testimony that the massacre was preceded by Southern "master practices," including ordering of prisoners to doff their hats to the guards, and attempts to provoke the men into attempting to escape so they could be shot down.

Government witnesses denied claims of the defendants that the prisoners had attempted to escape, and were shot in the process. They testified that the massacre was set off when Warden Worthy shot one of the men in his leg.

The defendants were accused under the federal civil rights statutes of unnecessarily depriving the murdered men of their lives.

such as to keep old line politicians awake nights."

The quota for the entire state is 500,000, in order to make sure of having the required more than 275,000 valid signatures needed to place the new party on the ballot. These must be collected by Feb. 1.

Hugh Bryson, chairman of the Independent Progressive party organizing committee, said that in a recent trip across the country he had become convinced that there would be a new progressive party on the ballot in 47 states for the 1948 presidential election. Florida will be the state left out. Its constitution does not permit the organization of a third party.

Harper Poulson, Southern regional director for the Committee, said that endorsements from individuals and from groups for a new party have been pouring into the regional office, and that as many as 10 meetings per night are being held where speakers boost the Third party.

A new Southern regional executive committee was set up consisting of 17 individuals representing Southern counties and districts, labor unions, and community groups. Among the members of this committee are: Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor and publisher of The California EAGLE; and Hugh MacBeth, prominent Los Angeles attorney.

The meeting nominated 22 persons for the State Organizing Committee of the IPP. This is a step toward enlarging the State Committee to include some 300 leaders of California. Their appointment will depend upon confirmation by the State Committee itself.

A budget of $50,000 for campaign expenses to place the new party on the ballot was voted at the meeting. It was pointed out that this sum is far less than other parties are spending on their campaigns. This amount will have to come largely from small contributions, and from people living in the greater Los Angeles area.

Bryson was asked who so little publicity has been given to the new political party. His reply was: "The old line political machines do not yet realize the tremendous impact of this movement. When they do, you may be sure that the big newspapers will have plenty to say about our campaign, if only to attack it."

of Salem, N. J., Rev. Groves heard a noise in his backyard. He investigated, pistol in hand. He challenged a man crouched in the hedge. When there was no answer, he fired—and fainted, according to his story.

Walton was found around the corner on 43rd st., 20 minutes later, seriously wounded. He was taken to Presbyterian hospital where his condition was said to be critical. Groves, taken by police to Walton's bedside, identified him as the man who had interfered with him on the corner.

At a preliminary hearing Saturday before Magistrate Nathan A. Beifel, Groves was released on $1500 bail. He was represented by Eugene Clark of the law firm of Clark, Reed & Schmidt.

The Consent of the Governed

"Governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed."

This quotation from the Declaration of Independence, authored by a Southerner, Thomas Jefferson, is the banner headline for a "Declaration of Universal Franchise" issued recently by the Southern Conference for Human Welfare with headquarters in New Orleans.

This "Declaration" calls attention to the heritage left to us by our ancestors many of whom gave their lives for this privilege, the bedrock of American democracy. Never fully honored, however, it is now more than ever under attack.

The Southern Conference for Human Welfare, with a membership of both black and white American citizens, is fighting the poll tax, the unreasonable educational requirements to vote which leave arbitrary authority in the hands of individual registrars, and other undemocratic procedures below the Mason and Dixon line. Not primarily, however, because these laws deprive American citizens of their right to vote, but because of the fact that our American government today is not one which derives its powers from the consent of the governed.

"In the South," says the Declaration of Universal Franchise, "the primary elections actually place public servants in office." There is virtually only one party in the South, you know—the Democratic Party. And if a candidate wins the nomination in the primaries, of course he is elected. Holding a later election in November, with only one candidate for each office, is merely going through the motions of an election.

These laws therefore, says the Declaration, "hand our state governments over to small, private political gangs. 'White supremacy' is only the slogan as was 'Aryan supremacy' in Germany. The strategy is to divide the people so that they may be deprived of their political voice. The objective is to prevent them using the ballot to advance the welfare of the many by restraining the greed of the few."

We are prone to condemn the South. But in doing this we so often forget the little group of patriots who are fighting as courageously as our ancestors of the Revolution for that freedom we won then on paper.

And in our criticism of the South, are we not forgetting that we ourselves live in glass houses? Here in California every man and woman 21 years of age or over, with a few minor qualifications, can vote in every election that is held.

Do we vote? Only about half of us. And of this number there are thousands who have to be almost dragged to the polls. And who have no idea what they are voting for.

We surely need to clean up our own backyards. The best way to begin is to register NOW. Be ready when the great elections come in 1948. You can register in the office of The California EAGLE, 4071 South Central ave. any day of the week. Let's do our duty as citizens of the United States of America. Make it in truth and keep it the land of the free, as it is the home of the brave.

Threat of Fascism Spreading

Not only in California, but all over the country, sparked by the Un-American Activities Committee in the capital of the nation, the threat of Fascism is assuming alarming proportions.

In Michigan a bill that has been passed by the Michigan Legislature, signed by its governor, and so now a law of the land orders "foreign agents and persons and organizations sympathetic to foreign countries" to register with the Attorney General.

This might not be such a bad law if organizations sympathetic to Franco Spain or to pro-Fascist Argentina were meant. Or even if they were included in the list.

But as usual the arrow is meant for liberals, for those who are promoting the welfare of the people of America—or at least trying to—and the Black Shirts, the KKK, the Father Couglins, and others of that ilk are not considered.

The Michigan Civil Rights Congress, however, is not asleep on the job. It is heading a vigorous campaign to repeal the law and has already filed 115,000 signatures on petitions for that repeal. It hopes to succeed in the January session of the Legislature.

The Freedom Train of Tomorrow

The Freedom Train is roaring through our land to visit more than 300 cities. It carries the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution, the Emancipation Proclamation, and other documents which were milestones in the fight for American freedom.

But it has very little, except the Emancipation Proclamation, which deals directly with granting liberty to the American Negro.

Says Henry Wallace, former vice-president of the United States: "We must work for the day when Negroes in the South leaving a Freedom Train won't step forth into the reality of Jim Crowism; when government employees, after glimpsing these documents, won't return to the reality of the Loyalty Order, when workers won't face the Taft-Hartley Act."

"I pledge myself," said Henry Wallace, "to see to it that in our lifetime the Freedom Train of Tomorrow will carry these additional documents:

"A document embodying a permanent FEPC, a bill abolishing the poll tax, an act establishing the inalienable right of every American child to equal educational opportunities, regardless of race, creed, or color; legislation ending Jim Crow in our nation once and for all, a Magna Carta for labor . . "

But Henry Wallace himeslf cannot do any of these things alone. He needs us to help. We can inform ourselves first of what is happening in this country, and what we can do about it by reading liberal magazines like The New Republic, of which Wallace is the editor, and liberal newspapers, like The California EAGLE.

Then when we know, we must act. Right now the liberal forces in California are collecting signatures to place The Independent Progressive Party on the ballot in the primary election next spring. Those who are backing the movement believe they can do much to force the election of liberal candidates to office.

But you cannot sign such a petition unless you are a registered voter. Therefore the first thing in the long trail to real freedom is to register, if you are not already registered. Then work for the establishment of real liberty through the Third Party.

American Responsibility For South West Africa

"The question of South West Africa now before the United Nations General Assembly is an important test case involving the flouting of the authority of the U. N. by one member of that body, the Union of South Africa. It is a test case involving the responsibility of the United Nations toward colonial and oppressed peoples."

So writes Paul Robeson, chairman of the Council on African Affairs. A resolution offered by India would place South West Africa under the trusteeship of the United Nations, and this resolution was approved by an Assembly Committee. It must now go before the General Assembly itself.

But the concern of Paul Robeson and of others in the Council on African Affairs, is that the United States delegate voted against the resolution in committee, and may do so again when it comes up before the General Assembly. A two-thirds vote is necessary to pass it then.

The objection of the United States delegation is merely technical. The real reason probably is that the Big Business interests in the Union of South Africa object to having Southwest Africa an independent nation, under the guardianship of the United Nations. And American Big Business concurs.

General Smuts, of the Union of South Africa, a member of the United Nations, has been trying for a long time, you know, to have Southwest Africa annexed to the Union. That would give the owners and operators of the gold and diamond mines in South Africa a perfect reservoir of cheap labor among the natives of South West Africa. They have already exploited native workers almost beyond endurance. If they get control of their neighboring country, they will consider that a green signal to go the limit in further exploitation.

It is here where our responsibility as American citizens comes in. The American delegation to the United Nations is our delegation. They should heed our requests. Robeson asks for a deluge of letters and telegrams to the U. S. delegation, Lake Success, N. Y. asking each one to vote for the Indian resolution granting U. N. trusteeship to South West Africa. Shall we fail our brothers across the seas?

THINGS I SEE

By Marian Inglewood

We are all awaiting with bated breath the decision of the United States Supreme Court upon the restrictive covenant cases now before it. For we believe that this decision will definitely decide the fate of all restrictive covenants throughout the country.

And we expect, of course, that the highest court in the land will say without any equivocation that restrictive covenants are unconstitutional. And that decision will settle all restrictive covenant cases, that of the Laws family, and the Wilkins family, and all the other families in Los Angeles, and everywhere else in the United States, where people have been working and fighting desperately to outlaw this law that so certainly is opposed to everything really American.

But those nine men who constitute the United States Supreme Court, appointed by the President for life or until they wish to retire on a munificent pension, don't always do what we the people think they should.

They are not elected. They are not responsible to anyone for what they do. They cannot lose their jobs. A justice can be impeached, of course, if he is guilty of some crime, but to date none of the members of the Supreme Court has even been accused of being dishonest, and none has been removed from office. A man can be honest, you know, in the accepted sense of the term, and still be as reactionary as Hitler.

"This high council is above the President, above the Congress, above the ballot box. All there is above our Supreme Court is the Constitution—and that means what the Court says it means. We might amend the Constitution—then the amendment would mean what the justices said it meant."

Chief Justice Harlan Stone, speaking of this supreme power of the United States Supreme Court, once said, "The only check upon our exercise of the Supreme Court's power is our sense of self restraint."

This Court was not so powerful in the beginning, and there is nothing to lead us to believe that the writers of the Constitution ever intended it to be so. There is nothing anywhere in the Constitution which says it may set aside an act of Congress by declaring it to be unconstitutional. But it has done that so many times and then later changed its mind and said it was constitutional that Justice Roberts once said there were so many reversals as to put the Court's decisions in the same class as restricted railroad tickets: "Good for this day and train only."

This power has grown up with the years, and today to make sure where we stand we should be able to read the minds of the nine men who comprise the United States Supreme Court.

Remember the first few years of the Roosevelt Administration? The most beneficial laws in our history favoring the workingman were adopted the very first year. It seemed almost like Paradise and too good tot be true, to have a government so concerned for the welfare of the people.

It was too good to last. For the National Association of Manufacturers, and the employers of the country, turned to the Supreme Court to save them from the New Deal. And it did. In a series of decisions handed down with the greatest solemnity the Supreme Court declared virtually every one of the New Deal laws passed by Congress to be unconstitutional.

Now what could one do? We seemed to be caught in a vise. We simply had to go hungry, and grin and bear it. The United States Supreme Court said it was unconstitutional for the Federal government to do anything about giving relief to those who had no work and no money and no food. The churches and charitable organizations should take care of that.

Then you remember President Roosevelt first thought of the plan of increasing the number of members of the Court, so that the new blood pumped into its veins would counteract that of the outworn ideas of the nine old men? But that didn't work. So he asked Congress to grant the members of the Supreme Court a pension. They may retire now when 70 years of age, and after having served 10 years, upon the salary they are receiving at the time they retire. That is $25,000 a year. That is granting an old age pension with a vengeance.

Well, the Supreme Court didn't declare that law unconstitutional. And so in the course of time one after another of those nine old men retired upon his pension, and new members were appointed. The Court, as it is constituted today, is fairly liberal.

So we have reason to hope that when the restrictive covenant cases come before it, its nine members will decide, as Judge Stanley Mosk decided recently, "This court feels there is no more reprehensible un-American activity than the attempt to deprive persons of their own homes on a 'master race' theory."

If it doesn't do that then the only recourse we have is to keep on fighting until those nine men change their minds and reverse their decision. We can help them change their minds and make them see what the people want by having an overwhelming victory for the liberal forces in 1948. There surely is no other way today.

STORIES FROM THE WORKINGMAN'S BOOK by Marian Inglewood is a must for every liberal thinking person's library.

Get Rid of the Un-American Committee!

One thing the probe of the Motion Picture industry by the Thomas-Rankin un-American Activities Committee has definitely accomplished. It has so aroused the American people that organizations are springing up all over the country to abolish it.

The Civil Rights Congress is starting a public petition campaign to collect half a million signatures to present to the Speaker of the House of Representatives when Congress meets in its regular session next January.

Radio Commentator Henry La Cossitt, of the Mutual Don Lee Broadcasting Co., has asked people to write to him at 1440 Broadway, New York City, expressing their views on the question, for or against.

Other radio commentators, newsmen, and the public in general have been thoroughly aroused by the un-American methods used by this un-American Committee in its inquisition of the thinking of Hollywood.

American people have the reputation of being rather easy-going, tolerant, letting things take their course. But once assured there is real injustice anywhere, once aroused—there just is no stopping them.

Let's hope this unfair and unjust probe has so aroused all America to the danger of Fascism that threatens us, that we won't grant quarter and we won't stop until every vestige of the un-American Committee is completely destroyed.

Third Party in Chicago

Chicago voters for the first time in 22 years had a real voice in the selection of their Superior Court Judges, thanks to a whirlwind three weeks' petition campaign conducted by the newly organized "Progressive Party."

A complete slate of 21 candidates was entered on the ballot, in opposition to the Democratic-Republican coalition slate. More than half of those almost 122,000 signatures to put the candidates on the ballot were collected by the PCA.

This is heartening news to all Progressive forces struggling all over the country for better government. For whether or not the Progressives win in the election, the fact that they are giving the people a choice of candidates as in itself an outstanding achievement.

And the election of judges—as many of us have learned lately—is one of the most important duties of the electorate. Yet how little attention we usually pay to that long list of names on the ballot, few of whom we know!

It may mean, however, the difference between life and death. Of losing your home or keeping it—as witness the decision of Judge Stanley Mosk compared to that of other judges in restrictive covenant cases right here in Los Angeles.

Still Work for Jackie to Do

Newspapers, magazines, periodicals everywhere have lauded Jackie Robinson, famous baseball star of the Brooklyn Dodgers, to the skies. He has become the "Rookie of the Year," and he has attained this great distinction not only because of his great baseball ability, but also because of his great tolerance, his refusal to reply in kind to the insults heaped upon him, his stand as a real American under most trying conditions.

He showed by his cool and gentlemanly manner that he was not only a good ball player but a truly great sportsman. "All the privileges of a white player were grudgingly granted to him and some of them not at all. The right of a player to 'beef' at umpires and at other belligerent players, the chance to rough play with still rougher defence—these ordinary affairs of the diamond were denied to one who realized throughout that the place of his whole Negro brotherhood was at stake."

Yes, he won out. Like the hero of a Horatio B. Alger story he climbed to the top over almost insurmountable difficulties, and the climax came with a Jackie Robinson Day at Ebbetts' Field, New York, when he and his wife were presented with a brand new car. The whole world seemed to be at their feet. It was for a day.

But it was only for a day. When a prominent writer suggested to a director of a boys' camp in one of the southern states that the story of Jackie Robinson be told as part of their Christmas features, this year, his idea was rejected.

"There were traditions that would only crumble slowly," was one of the excuses offered. "We shouldn't rush things, etc. etc." And then this director had the nerve to mention the United Nations as the organization upon which we could slough off our responsibility for bringing men together as brothers!

It never seemed to dawn on that director that we are responsibile for what the United Nations does. We surely are responsible for what goes on in our own back yards. And if anyone is so bigoted that he cannot accept a suggestion that would help bring home the truth that all men are equal, on the day when the Prince of Peace came into the world as a Jew but yet for all races of mankind, then the United Nations can do nothing.

Yes, there is still much work to be done. Jackie Robinson has done his lion's share. He will have to go on working as he did this past year. But we as lesser lights will have to work and fight, too, if we wish this old world to show even a semblance of the tolerance the people of America did on that one day—Jackie Robinson Day.

W. J. Wheaton Says

Ignoring a previous engagement we kept our promise to sup with our new found friend. We tried to divest ourself of the thought that it was not the prospective fine meal, instead of a visit for pleasant conversation. Well, we subordinated the gastronomic idea as selfish, and a pleasant visit won; and we set forth with a clear conscience. After congratulating Mary Ann senior, for so we had determined them in our mind, we settled down for a talk. Well, all this talk about the "high cost of living ain't no bunk," she said. "Why mister, it takes pretty near what I make to keep little Mary Ann and me in vittles. And that brings me to think. As you know we uns are farmers; we know more about raising stuff to eat than we did, or do, about building ships. So when we decided to stay out here I said we would get us a plot of ground where we could raise our own vittles, and maybe sell some. So I says to Josh and Mary Ann—who we place as Mary Ann 2nd—and told 'em what I intended to do. They hummed and hawed at first but I says to 'em 'we uns is going to stay out here and give little Marry Ann a education. She's going to college and everything else. She's goin' to have the chance to be somebody.' Yes, mister, them were my sentiments and I stood by 'em.

"When Josh and Mary Ann wanted to cavort around I just made 'em bring the pay to me and I put 'em in the bank. All the time I kept my eyes and ears open, and one day I hear a man say something 'bout a Jap in same camp or other, who had a parcel of land he wanted to sell. I snooped 'round and heard it was in some valley, and the feller who said it ask me 'Did I want to buy?' He looked kind a funny, guess he thought I was jokin'. Says he, 'It's up in the San, something, valley and if I was really in earnest he'd take me up there. Well I tells Josh 'cause he knows all 'bout farms, and we sought to go. And mister, we've got the prettiest 20 acres you ever seen. I was not going to go back to a place where little Mary Ann could not be learning to be somebody, where you had to do like the white folk tell you to do, No Sir! I done sot my feet down on that. An' I'm going to vote, too. Had little Mary Ann read 'em off to me and she's heard who's the best. Anyhow I'm voting.

(Comment: Mary Ann, we wish there were many more like you, buying property and having your views on the value of education and citizenship. You, really, are a worthy and creditable addition to the citizenship which the people are seeking to, build in the community.)

She told us of the many obstacles "Down There" which we have jotted down for the future.

The Witch Hunt is reaching the "Opera Bouffe" stage. Witnesses called by the congressional committee are held in contempt if they fail to use the monosyllables "yes" or "no" on questions as to their political tendencies. The committee says that there must be a direct yes or no, without any preliminary statement. The committee may be right? We differ, and we have no Communistic tendencies whatever. But we don't believe that political differences of opinion is treasonable. Obvious acts to overthrow or otherwise seek to undermine constituted authority should be the yard stick with which to measure our true Americanism. If that is done, then we have doubts about the Americanism, as based on the principle of democracy, of some of the members of that committee.

Senator Robert Taft has formally announced his candidacy for the GOP nomination for the Presidency. We wonder if the old saying "Like Father Like Son" applies in the case of Senator Taft? Looking through some old files we came on this from the late President Taft. It was spoken on the Negro question: He said "In retrospect, we can see that it was a mistake to give the franchise to a mass of ignorant people, and that its extension ought to have been made to depend on education and property rights."

The poll tax, now in existence in some of the most backward and intolerant parts of this country, is a living example of what the evils of a franchise based on property rights. It perpetuates an economic slavery that keeps millions bound to a political feudalism. They are given no chance whatever to accumulate the property with which to break the chains of political slavery. The fear of losing the political hold they have on their community, should the poll tax be outlawed, is the reason for it being so bitterly fought by representatives from those states. It has been shown that the right of franchise, though all participants "were densely ignorant," has enhanced the progress of that mass 100 percent. Let's get rid of the poll tax. Will Taft help?

A Travelog

By VAUGHN G. PROCTOR

Monday morning, January 19, we arose as we had on previous mornings during our stay in El Paso, hopeful that the weather had warmed sufficiently for us to resume our journey across Texas. We dressed warmly and went into the street. The sun was braver than it had been in three days, but the air was much too cold for hitchhiking. That meant another day of idleness.

During breakfast I scanned the morning newspaper and counted our money for the tenth time. Our circumstances were not good and would grow worse each hour we delayed. I decided that nothing should prevent our departure the next day.

When we finished eating, we visited the library again and later, after a short tour of the downtown area, bought bread, potted meat and oranges to stow away in our zipper bags.

The rest of the day we spent in careful preparation. We stocked up on extra shoe laces and a packet of safety pins, postage stamps, envelopes and, as an added precaution against hunger on the road, a quantity of fig bars.

In the late afternoon I left the kids in the hotel and wandered into the streets.

It was the kind of pilgrimage made by a lonely man who is not exactly sure what he is searching for. That was my frame of mind as I walked north on El Paso street in the late afternoon.

I saw the blue sky and the puffs of cloud above the escarpment—and farther to the north the cold peaks of the Franklin Mountains. I marveled that a city could be so beautiful. The names Sierra Madre, Juarez, Rio Grande, Sierra de Cristo Rey rolled about on my tongue like bits of hard candy, falvorful yet elusive.

Beyond San Jacinto Plaza I turned left into the west. The sun hung for one splendid moment above the distant ridge of mountains and then slipped out of sight. Dusk had come to El Paso.

Walking westward in the quiet light before darkness, I tried to visualize the Spanish missionaries who streamed across the mountains from New Mexico in the 16th Century.

I explored these details of history with a hungry mind, conscious that I was thinking ideas gleaned from books. I wondered how much of what I had read could be accepted as truth. Nevertheless, I paraded down through the centuries. I brought in the Anglo-Saxons and the Indians and the insurgent refugees from Mexico. I saw them merge until El Paso became a city of the Southwest as distinct from the deep South—a fact verified by the present-day population, which is 70 percent Spanish-American.

It was fully dark by then; the rich black sky was stippled with stars. The street lamps made pools of light on the concrete. A few minutes before I had been thrilled by a swift and beautiful sunset. Then I had walked on, filled with the deep rumble of history, until society became an impersonal kind of shrine at which one worshiped occasionally. Suddenly my romantic world was shattered into fragments. Sitting astride the crumbling face of Comanche Peak, which looked down on El Paso, was one of Texas' most prominent citizens. Little did he realize his words would be remembered across the nation.

"You Southerners," he snarled, "may know how to handle the n . . ., but when it comes to these Mexicans, let Texas show you how to handle the Mexicans."

Deflated, I walked back to the hotel. Vaughn and Christie were drawing pictures when I arrived. I bundled them into their clothes and together we went forth for dinner.

The balance of the evening was spent washing clothes, repacking our zipper bags and writing letters. Before we went to bed, we all had sponge baths—our first in eight days. Even though we all had colds, and our room was drafty, we could not go any longer without washing.

Vaughn and Christie were fast asleep and I was putting the finishing touches to my letters when a sudden decision came to me. I decided against going southeast to New Orleans. Dallas and Texarkana it would have to be. It took me four days of uncertainty to make up my mind.

Gathering up the kids the next morning, Tuesday, I sailed out

F MRS. JEAN BENSON E

, we wish you to meet Mrs. We met her when she a girl in a Dallas, Texas, school. No, she was not there. In fact she was born t Springs, Ark. Her moth- d brought her to Dallas after her father died in Hot Springs. We were attracted to her because of her excellent singing voice and her willingness to use it in church and school activities. When she finished high school she was offered a "musical" scholarship which paid part of her expenses at Wiley college.

During her four years at Wiley she was the school's leading soloist and upon graduation Miss Jean Benson was appointed a teacher in the public schools of Dallas. This work opened her eyes to the need of social service among the people of her school district. As this idea grew into a conviction in 1941, Miss Benson went out to Parkland hospital which served both races on a separate basis and volunteered her services. She thus became the first Negro volunteer in the hospital's medical social service department. She spent Saturdays at the hospital and made visits to homes after school each day. When summer came she secured the assistance of the state of Texas in defraying part of her traveling expense and all of her tuition so that she could attend Atlanta School of Social Work at Atlanta, Ga. The state of Texas has a fund which is used to pay the travel and tuition for Negroes who want training which is denied them in the state colleges that teach subjects desired by the applicant.

After two summer sessions at Atlanta, Miss Benson became the first member of her race on the staff of the Parkland, which permitted her returning to Atlanta the next two summers and secured for her supervised field service under the Red Cross in Dallas. Having graduated from the Atlanta college, Miss Benson became a full-time worker with the Parkland. However, she found the "Jim Crow" setup of the hospital just a bit more than her self-respect could tolerate. In seeking about for some "out," Mrs. Jean B. Keele, as she had now become, decided to take her vacation in Los Angeles. As soon as she arrived in the city she went direct to the Bureau of Medical Social Service of Los Angeles County hospital and made application. Three days later she was employed in the medical social service of the hospital. When she wrote the Parkland of her change you can imagine what their reply was like if you, indeed, can understand the nerve of people who are so steeped in "Jim Crow" that they cannot imagine a Negro who doesn't like it.

After a year in Los Angeles General hospital, Mrs. Keele became the only Negro applicant for an opening as supervisor of medical social service in the hospital. She did not know how many other applicants there were but when the choice was made, Mrs. Jean B. Keele was chosen for the position. She declares that she has only praise for the hospital staff and the other workers under her supervision.

May we call your attention to the significance of this achievement? May we remind you that it is significant that this young woman was not even satisfied with the security of the school room through which she saw the challenge of social service? Nor was she satisfied with being the first and only Negro in her state doing medical social service in a big hospital which treated her like an inferior. No doubt the people at Los Angeles County hospital saw in her a person with real interest in people's problems and saw also that she discharged her duties and treated her associates with every competence of a human being, they rewarded her application. Is that not achievement in the field of race relations which should help the international situation by its example?

Having made herself at home in Los Angeles, we find that she and William S. Keele, her husband, reside in their own home at 2657 Cimarron avenue. She is a member of Bowen Memorial Methodist church, Beta Eta Zeta chapter of Zeta Phi Beta sorority and the famous Nash Singers.

BOOKS and AUTHORS

Strike for the Heart, is a first novel by Kay Bellveau, a young 21 year old Vassar college graduate and winner of the Mademoiselle College Fiction award. A high school graduate in this story suddenly finds herself facing a serious dilemma—Shall she marry Peter and remain a small-town housewife, or plunge into the liberal work which Art Stevens, a labor leader and jazzy musician, has made seem so important? During the transition to maturity Francesca learns that change and growth are sometimes as full of pain as of promise. It is a sensitive picture of how she learns to see herself objectively.

How to Worry Successfully, by David Seabury, the well-known psychologist, is a reassuring book in which he shows how to make the natural tendency to worry pay dividends in success and happiness — making it a constructive process instead of harmful as so many contend. He uncovers the common causes of difficulties and troubles faced by all of us and presents tested methods of overcoming oppressive thoughts. It should help one to "work and play and sleep better."

Roberta, Interior Decorator, by Marjorie Freer, is a new career story combined with a delightful romance. As her home town college does not offer her the courses she wants Roberta persuades her parents to let her go to New York, where she works part time and attends a decorating school. After two years she becomes assistant decorator at one of the smartest shops. She meets Jonathan, a student of furniture design, and falls in love, but he leaves to study abroad. She tries in vain to follow him and her whole world seems to crash. The working out of her problem makes fascinating reading.

Candy and Candy-Making, by Mary B. Bookmeyer, is by a successful candy-maker. It is practical and, scientific, telling how and why to make all kinds of candy. There are many rules and recipes and many illustrations showing attractive outlays of confections.

H. I. Brock, ex-school teacher and now a newspaper man, is the author of The Little Book of Limericks. Contrary to the idea held by many that limericks must be bawdy to be funny this collection is not only humorous but "fit to print."

Introduction to Advertising, by Arthur Judson Brewster, Herbert Hall Palmer and Robert G. Ingraham—all authorities along the advertising line, is a fifth edition of this title, a sure indication that it has proved useful. It is a well-illustrated book covering all phases of the subject, giving special emphasis to the retailing field. There is a brief chapter on the development at the beginning of the book and one on "Advertising as a Vocation" at the end.

Visit your neighborhood libraries for these and many other popular and serious books. Helen Hunt Jackson Branch, 2330 Naomi avenue, and Vernon Branch, 4504 S. Central avenue. Hours: Monday through Friday from 1 p.m. to 9 p.m., and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Trail Blazers:

W. E. Tinker

By PHYLLIS SCOTT

Peace, says one writer, is an inward gift, a quality of the soul, and a most profitable possession. W. E. Tinker has found and established it in his life. Some 70 years ago Tinker was living in the home of his employer in Meridian, Miss., working his way through Barber's school. Since that time he has made a fortune, lost it, and still claims he has a rich heritage in spiritual strength and influence.

Tinker was born in Hale county, Alabama, in 1867. After finishing the public schools at 13 he went to Mississippi to work. By waiting on a family of means, he was able to earn his way through Barber's school. When he went back to Alabama to open his practice in Birmingham he probably entered what turned out to be his greatest and most turbulent professional and business career.

Of his 30 years of practice in Birmingham, 25 were spent barbering whites. But there was an interim of 10 years between Birmingham and Pittsburgh that was quite stormy. He opened an undertaking establishment, in which he invested $5000 worth of equipment. That night, upon completion of the remodeling, the funeral parlor was burned down. The next week he opened at another location. This time it thrived and became a flourishing investment, together with his real estate business.

Tinker was doing well and ventured out into other businesses. He bought $3500 worth of stock in a life insurance company which failed after six months; he bought considerable stock in a shoe store of which he was the treasurer; and he lost heavy investments in one of the two early Negro banks in Birmingham.

Despite this Tinker was not discouraged. Some of his happiest years were spent there. In 1910 when he went to Washington, D. C. as a delegate to the World Sunday School Convention, he was refused admittance as a representative because he didn't have the proper credentials. Through a white friend and barber customer, he was given the proper credentials and was granted admittance. After the convention he organized a graded union of 30 interdenominational churches and was elected its president. Thereafter delegates were qualified to attend the convention with proper credentials.

In Birmingham he was fraternally affiliated with Mozac Temple, Knights of Honor, and for 14 years treasurer of Knights of Pythias. Tinker has always given most of his outside time to church work. He served as superintendent of the Sixth Avenue Baptist church Sunday school for 27 years and for 15 years superintendent of the Central Baptist church Sunday school of Pittsburgh.

While at the apex of his professional career in the undertaking business, he suffered his greatest financial setback. His 42-passenger funeral car was so heavy that it broke down a bridge and injured eight people. They sued him for $80,000. This dissolved his business and he left the South to settle in Pittsburgh. He barbered there for 20 years before coming to Los Angeles in 1941.

Tinker, who has had 60 years of barbering experience, is still in the trade at the age of 80. His shop is located at 4151 South Central. His wife, the former Mayme Wilhite of Birmingham, has never had to earn a dollar in their 48 years of marital bliss. They have four children, 14 grandchildren, and four great-grandchildren. He is a deacon at Second Baptist church and is active in Sunday school and BTU work there.

e thousands of other ening white Southerners in wakening South, I rejoice in the recommendations of the President's Committee on Civil Rights.

I can tell you that there were white people who push the plow and push the pencil, all over Dixie, who felt that the announced by the Com- on was long overdue—be- freedom is long overdue y people and your people here where the trees run for sap.

e great struggles of the o people, since Scottsboro ed up a cyclone in the -sleeping South, have not won the respect and fra- ity of many of their white w - Southerners... These ggles have finally forced of the most timid, incom- nt, and downright coward- administrations in our onal history to, at least, go ecord for ending the hate- ful racisms that act like gathering poisons in the body of our nation. And that body is all peoples in all sections of America.

Let's make that son of a Confederate in the White House do something besides talk, with sugary piety, about the report on his own committee. Let's carry on the struggles and do not rest on words as if somebody were handing us a slice of Heaven wrapped up like a slice of apple pie.

I'd personally feel more sure about the recommendations of the committee becoming law if they did not rest for their main support upon the President's own Democratic party and its Southern Confederate storm troopers like Tom Connally of Texas, who never gets a haircut for fear that his bare skull would show what there ain't inside of it.

I'd feel easier in my mind if we had a real people's party led by a fighting man like Harry Wallace instead of a couple of rich men's parties led by fooling men like Harry Truman and the eminent Mr. Taft. I'd feel, if we had such a party, that we'd have something on which we could depend to fight for all that is good in the committee report.

I say this because I know that Henry Wallace fights for a principle when he believes in it. And I know, like a hound dog knows a possum trail, that neither Truman, Taft, nor anybody like them has much principle to fight for.

On the very day that the committee report got the big splash that it deserved on the front pages of all daily papers, there was another little item tucked away which escaped the attention of many of us.

The item was this: that the South was to be given increased votes and increased influence in the next Democratic national convention. Several months ago, another story reported that the influence of the old ruling South was increasing in both of the established parties.

If the civil liberties report is going to mean more than high sounding words sold for a dollar a copy by the Government Printing Office, it will have to be translated into action by a new party breathing the spirit of Wallace and Lincoln and that never to be forgotten friend who offended the high hat South by fighting for the woolhat South—Franklin D. Roosevelt.

That party, must by the votes of the people, take control of the nation and take control of the South if the minorities of this country are to be taken down from their cross.

Huge Potential Negro Vote Seen as Vital Factor in '48 Election

NEW YORK—With the approach of the 1948 Presidential elections, in which a knock-down, drag-out fight is expected between liberal and reactionary forces, it is interesting to note that there are approximately 7,500,000 potential Negro voters in the United States, according to the 1946-1947 Negro Handbook, edited by Florence Murray. More than five million of them are in the South.

The legal abolition of white primaries in the southern states since the last Presidential election indicates that a larger Negro vote may be expected during the coming elections than has ever been registered in this country, Miss Murray said in an interview this week.

"It seems to me that the main problem facing Negroes and progressive forces at this time," she said, "is to educate the Negro masses to the importance of voting, their rights at the polls, and to get out their vote."

According to the 1940 Census, there were 7,427,938 Negroes of voting age in the country, 7,375,609 of whom were citizens. This marks an increase of approximately one million since 1930, the 1946-1947 Negro Handbook statistics reveal.

WHITE PRIMARIES OUT

Of this number, 5,457,239 were in the South, 1,847,162 in the North, and 123,537 in the West. Negro migration from the South during the war years has brought an increase in the northern and western areas since the 1940 Census was taken.

The decision of the U.S. supreme court in the Texas Primary Case, on April 3, 1944, which outlawed the white primary in that state, was followed by the legal wiping out of white primary systems in other Deep South states, Miss Murray points out; namely Louisiana, Florida, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and most recently in South Carolina.

Some handicaps to Negro voters still remain on the statute books in some states, such as the Boswell Amendment in Alabama which requires all prospective voters to read and explain any section of the federal and state constitution. This puts the voter at the mercy of the opinion of the registrar, Miss Murray points out.

Lily-white suffrage adherents in the South have greater reason now to fear the Negro vote, especially in local elections, in the 180 southern counties where Negroes are in the majority. Of these counties where Negroes constitute more than 50 percent of the residents, the Negro Handbook shows there are 46 in Georgia, 35 in Mississippi, 22 in South Carolina, 18 in Alabama and Virginia, 15 in Louisiana, 9 in Arkansas and North Carolina, 3 in Texas and Florida, and 2 in Tennessee.

Truman's Price Control Remark Irks Pepper

WASHINGTON — President Truman's recent characterization of price controls as tools of a police state this week had evoked sharp criticism from Sen. Claude Pepper (D., Fla.).

Pepper said price controls were needed at once to assure lower income groups adequate supplies of food and other essentials in a time of high prices.

"That's democracy, not a police state," he said.

Truman's remark in effect was a rebuff of New York's Democratic mayor, William O'Dwyer. In a telegram to the President's food committee, O'Dwyer said people were going hungry in the midst of plenty and that a return to price control and rationing was necessary.

Cal. Photo School Sponsors First Annual Competition

In an announcement made this week, Charles Williams, president of the California School of Photography, disclosed that the first annual competition for amateur photographers in this area wil lbe held Dec. 20. Because professional photographers come from the ranks of the amateurs, the contest is expected to produce a salon of very fine pictures for the judges' consideration.

The winner is to receive a year's scholarship at the school. Second winner will receive a 16-week $200 scholarship, and the third winner will receive a $25 purchase order for photographic equipment of his or her own choice.

All amateurs who desire to enter this competition, or those who want further information are requested to call Doris Neal, the school registrar.

This contest, which is absolutely free and does not place the contestant under any obligation, is open to men and women over 10 years of age.

Today's poser for the average California family is whether to take a motor trip to Canada or have a steak for dinner.

Many At Airport To Greet Returned 'Hostile' Witnesses

A large number of citizens converged on the Los Angeles Municipal Airport last night in a demonstration of support for the 19 film personalities cited by the House Un-American committee for contempt of congress upon their return from Washington.

Sponsored by the Southern California chapter of the Progressive Citizens of America, the demonstration included all shades of political opinion, as well as the big and little of the film industry.

Holy Name Society Participates In Annual Pilgrimage

Members of 215 parish branches of the Holy Name Society of the Archdiocese of Los Angeles will gather at Calvary cemetery, with their families, on Sunday afternoon, November 9.

Louis J. Euler, president of the Archdiocesan Holy Name union, announces that the occasion will be the 7th Annual Memorial Pilgrimage reverently to remember the deceased members of the clergy and religious orders of the Archdiocese, those who have served in the armed forces, and all departed members of the Holy Name Society in Southern California.

The event is entirely religious in its significance. Right Reverend Monsignor Patrick J. Connon has arranged for a procession of all present in making the Stations of the Cross, the recitation of the Rosary, and concluding with Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament in the chapel of Calvary mausoleum.

Major Thomas Murphy and Captain Ben Stein will act as Marshals. They will also direct the placing of flags on the graves of veterans and other members of the Socitety, firing details, blowing of taps, placing of those in attendance as to Parish and district. A number of troops of Boy Scouts will assist.

Evening Star Fraternal Group Gives Social

Oakland Labor School Playing Vital Role in Training Negro Workers for Alert Leadership

OAKLAND—"What is the 'independent political role' of the Negro people?" . . . "Where should we look for the best leadership?" . . . "Does politics for us mean another isolationist Back-to-Africa movement?"

These are some of the provocative, timely questions being thrashed out in a totally new kind of school being conducted by members of the United Negro Labor Committee.

dry, dusty schoolroom routine. They are led by the members themselves.

A sample session will be filled with sharp arguments for political action by Negro organizations led by trade-unionists which will be countered by countered by waning objections that Negroes should cautiously continue to follow "traditional" party lines, trailing white, Big Business leadership.

"The Negro people have got to recognize the fact that the Republican and Democratic parties are two sides of the same coin," declares Hursel Alexander, CIO Food & Tobacco Workers organizer and one of the school's instructors. "The GOP today is nothing like the emancipation party of Lincoln."

From the floor a rank-and-filer asserts that "too many of our traditional leaders are bought off at election time. Too many of them represent the Negro middle-class and have no understanding of the needs of the needs of the majority of the Negro people who are overwhelmingly of the working class."

The substance of the discussion makes clear that the most loyal and understanding leadership must be found among Negroes active in the labor movement.

Keenly aware of the special problems facing Negro workers as unemployment ranks swell the school is drawing not only on historical background but on the present situation ot answer the crucial need for Negro-white unity in the labor movement as the keystone in the immediate fight for jobs and progressive political action. The class has not forgotten the decisive role played by the United Negro Labor Committee in the recent municipal election victories "And that was when we were just beginning," says Bob Neville, rank and file member of the AFL Electrical Workers and one of the school's organizers.

Seeing a broader-than-pork chops struggle, the students are training themselves to fight for decent housing, schools and an end to the vicious restrictions which bar Negro American from full citizenship.

No 40 people ever had a tougher fight, more understanding of the nature of that fight or more determination to win Knowledge is power, as the saying goes. The UNCL class has plenty of both!

Realty Board Hails Judge Mosk's Rulings

The recent series of anti-covenant decisions by Superior Court Judge Stanley Mosk were greeted enthusiastically by the Golden West Real Estate Board at its last monthly meeting.

Speakers recalled that Judge Mosk, who was a guest speaker at a recent meeting of the board, has consistently shown a friendly attitude toward all citizens, regardless of race, creed or color.

Louis Yelman, formerly administrator of the Honolulu Business college, Hawaii, was guest speaker. Yelman, who is now an instructor at the Real Estate Institute of California, has agreed to give free of charge a series of lectures to the members of the Board.

"We are happy to make contacts with persons of this calibre, and it is a pleasure to present them to our board members," stated H. A. Howard, board president.

The Singing Measure

By DORIS WEARYE

Too long we've had to bear the pangs of war
Too long our men have trudged the battlefield
Or flown the sky or sailed the ocean's depth
The angry sword to wield.

But in the very purpose of the fight
They fought and died to win a lasting peace—
A peace, so perfect, so completely right
That war would ever cease.

War has subsided, yet the peace of man
Still hangs aloft, beyond the finger's touch
It hovers close, bulged to capacity
With joy we want so much.

O tranquil peace, O heavenly soothing balm,
Release thyself upon this troubled earth;
Our minds would be at rest as are our arms
We know thy worth.

Encompass us with all thy blessed' virtues
With love, with trust and faith in all mankind
Make us to know thy birth will only be
When man with man combine.

R. B.—Dear Prof. Herman: I was talking with a friend not long ago and he brought your column to my attention, which is appearing in the paper weekly. Since then, I have been reading your write-ups every week. I'd like some information on the "Sun." What is the size of the sun and the distance from the "Earth?"

Ans.—According to scientists' study and analysis our "sun" is but an average star, medium in size and temperature. The earth could not endure the sun's great heat except for the distance which separates it from us—92,900,000 miles.

E. W.—Will you please give me some advice concerning my life and child?

Ans.—After completely analyzing your problem, I am convinced you are yet undecided. However, I want to remind you first, to think of your child and its future. It may be wise to return to your companion, talk with him about this matter. You and he may be successful in reuniting and find peace and happiness bringing up your child as it should be. Don't hesitate, do it now.

R.A.M.—Will he keep his promise to me?

Ans.—My Psycho-Mentalist Crystal reveals you and your friend are planning marriage . . . but you are wondering if he will give you the rings. At the present time, he may not be able to purchase the rings for you, but as marriage means more to you than rings . . . I trust you may let them wait until he is able to afford them . . . stick with him and make a go of your marriage.

L.A.—Should I give him another chance?

Ans.—Probing into the matter, I find you want your husband to return just as much as he wants to . . . and if it is possible for you to contact him, I suggest you do so and try to find out his future intentions.

M.Z.—I am attending a college in my home town, but find I will not be able to continue because of my financial status. Would you advise me to attend a night school in order to not lose the credits I have already obtained?

Ans.—Going to night school is what many people are doing to continue their course of study, when they find that circumstances prevent their attending a day school or college. I therefore recommend your doing so.

either farmer or buyer. The CIO has made that crystal clear.

A similar Farmers Market was established two or three weeks ago in Inglewood by the Centinela Valley Committee. The first Saturday everything was sold out within a few hours. The amazing success of this market prompted the CIO Committee to establish markets in other sections of the city.

May this market on 66th and Central prove a howling success likewise!

ing an extensive campaign on behalf of the petition of the Independent Progressive party of California to participate in the primary election June 1, 1948," Helen Samuels, NNC's executive secretary, reported.

Assemblyman Augustus Hawkins will chair the panel discussion on the Taft-Hartley bill; Sidney Moore, international representative, UPWA, CIO, heads the panel on Fair Employment Practice Committee and the fight for jobs; and Attorney Leo Gallagher will lead the discussion on federal anti-lynching legislation and police brutality. The fourth panel will deal with housing and restrictive covenants.

The local chapter of the National Negro Congress was organized a year ago to meet the demands of citizens for a militant people's organization.

During the year of its existence, the NNC campaigned actively against lynch terror and police brutality; fought discrimination in housing, employment, education; campaigned for those in public office concerned with the welfare of the people; and fought for the retention of OPA.

The NNC also waged a militant fight for FEPC; and played a leading role in the Oust Bilbo Campaign.

Legislative Conference, began telling how there would be 400,000 unregistered for the primary elections, but she was interrupted, and although she refused to keep quiet she was ignored by Chairman Supervisor Darby.

Supervisor John Anson Ford moved that registration begin December 1 instead of after January 1. His motion was voted down by 4-1.

Then the citizens' delegation filed out of the supervisors room in righteous indignation in refusing the plea that would insure the political rights of signing a petition as well as of voting to thousands of citizens who will otherwise be depriveed of them.

The additional cost of $20,000 needed to begin registering voters so early evidently stood in the way.

"But," said Reuben Borough, "more important than the expense is the fact that you would be enabling people to become active citizens, eligible to vote."

His reasoning went unheeded, however.

ROGGE, KENNY TO SPEAK

Speaking on the rising threat to minority rights will be O. John Rogge, former assistant United States attorney general, whose anti-fascist activities resulted in his resignation from the Justice Department.

An eye-witness report on the current Washington film hearing will be given by Robert W. Kenny, former state attorney general, counsel for the 19 "hostile" witnesses subpoenaed by the House Committee.

The local "loyalty checks," one of the rally's targets, have been condemned by such organizations as the National Negro Congress, Improved Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks of the World, Progressive Citizens of America, Americans for Democratic Action, United AFL, State and County CIO Councils and others.

Tickets for the rally, at $1.80, $1.20 and 60 cents, including tax, are on sale at the CIO Bldg., Rm. 307, 5851 Avalon, CE. 21293; Rm. 315, 206 S. Spring, VA. 3465; California EAGLE, 4073 S. Central, AD. 9770, and other ticket stations.

The rally is being held under joint labor auspices of the CIO United Public Workers and AFL State, County and Municipal Workers, Local 558, in cooperation with the Mobilization for Democracy. Purpose of the meeting is to focus public attention upon the campaign to abolish the Los Angeles county and federal "loyalty checks" and the House Un-American Committee.

ended four years of Republican rule and returned to the Democratic fold by electing Democratic Congressman Earl C. Clements to succeed Republican incumbent, Gov. Simeon Willis.

Clements ran on an anti-Taft-Hartley law platform with the support of the CIO Political Action committee.

In San Francisco, Superior Judge Elmer E. Robinson, handshaking Republican politician, won a plurality of 15,000 votes over liberal Congressman Frank Hauchner in that city's "nonpartisan" mayoralty election.

Supervisor Chester McPhee, covenant exponent, ran a poor third. San Francisco's rickety but picturesque cable car system was assured an indefinite life tenure after citizens voted four-to-one to retain it.

In Los Angeles, Glenard P. Lipscomb, Republican, defeated Leo M. Strobel, Democrat, in the special election in the 56th Assembly district. In the 63rd A.D., Delbert Morris, Republican, defeated two Democrats, Joseph T. De Silva, and James E. Armstrong.

Vote To Abolish Rankin Committee!

"Shall the House un-American Activities Committee be continued, or shall it be abolished and its work placed under the FBI?"

That is a question on which Henry La Cossitt, radio news commentator, wishes the American people to express their views by writing their local Mutual Don Lee Broadcasting Station (KHJ, 5515 Melrose ave., in Los Angeles) or by writing directly to the station in New York City, 1440 Broadway.

The California EAGLE urges its readers to vote for the abolition of the pernicious Thomas-Rankin un-American Committee. All votes should be in by Nov. 17, when the special seession of congress convenes. Write a letter or postcard urging abolition of the committee.

Robert Nunnery, secretary of the Carpenters local, said he was "overjoyed" at the news.

"Our union," he said, "believes that every citizen's rght to own and live in his own and live in his own nome just as fundamental as the right to a job, regardless of race or color. We'll always fight discrimination everywhere."

James Justice also is backed by a board committee against restrictive covenants in the West Adams and Southwest Wilshire area.

Marberg Yerkes, of the law firm of Gallagher, Margolis, McTernan & Ytre, counsel for the four defendants, told the court that covenants not only violated the U. S. constitution, but also California state laws and the United Nations charter.

WHAT'S DOING IN THE SOCIAL SET

By JESSIE MAE BROWN

SOCIETY'S HOLIDAY FROLICKERS may look forward to a ll calendar, and one of varied interest. The two highlight affairs the season, Kappa's Black and White (still pending), and the KA's Formal (cancelled until spring) add disappointments, but elieve me, there are still many others slated, beginning this onth. A slight change has taken place in the Doll League Charity ub's December event. Instead of the elaborate "Story Book Ball" is year the Leaguers have planned a smaller affair, as a fore-runner to their party for underprivileged children. Phi-Delphians, leaders in the younger set club life, have scratched their annual Xmas eve semi formal in preference to a Xmas eve cocktail party. The Crop 'N' Tails invitational "late evening" Xmas party is chalked up for December 25. To date no word has come through on the Cos-Nog, Cosmos looked forward to annual, nor the Deltas' White Xmas formal, but I gather both affairs will hold sway, in a definite regal manner. Les Charmantes, who for the past four years have played hostess to an informal New Year's Eve dancing party, have changed their date to January 1, and the affair will be semi formal.

Jessie Mae Brown

Most of the outstanding November events are scheduled for Meadowbrook Gardens. Following a brief chat with Juanita Jones, hard worker of Beta Pi gma sorority, learned that the Fashion Premier, of which most you have been reading, will be the very last word in milady's stumes. Sammy Franklyn will be on the bandstand and a series entertaining numbers by name artists has been programmed. abel Scott, local singer, will fete the sorority members with an ter party at her smart rumpus room . . . The men of Sigma and eir wives are up in the air over the pre-Thanksgiving supper nce that the gents are sponsoring a day or two before Thanksving. According to prexy, C. W. Hill, the reservations are pouring . . . With the Petrillo deadline almost at hand for recording mpanies, War Perkins, of Day Distributing and several other mpanies are all set to give the unknown artist a chance by king part in the first annual Talent Show Case on Nov. 27, at e Meadowbrook Gardens. This will be a Friday night, and the st week end of Lionel Hampton's engagement at the spot that growing more popular by the minute in the community. Hope ls will serve as a good plug for the Show Case offers an opperhity for most of the younger set to try for honors and maybe big recording contract. Bringing the social commercials to an rupt climax, don't forget Nov. 27, or any of the other menoned dates . . .

AZEL DOES HER PART

At this writing I can emphatically say, Hazel Scott has won r place in the hearts of Angelenos with her initial appearance re. First of all, because her piano artistry is tops; this was arned when a capacity audience attended the Saturday night rformance at Philharmonic Auditorium, and was responsive to r entire program. The aftermath chats that held sway at therings immediately following the performance, and at the any Sunday events where ladies gathered, her exquisite white ce gown that ofttimes would have been the topic of discusn, was secondary to the comment made on Miss Scott's piano istry. Space will not permit a listing of outstanding perhalities noted at the performance, for the community was ere enmasse, and many were the elaborately befurred women d handsome gentlemen ye scribe noted in the crowd. Secondly, cause Hazel Scott took time out from her few leisure hours the southland to give a benefit performance in Beverly Hills r West View Hospital last Tuesday night, and from it several ndred dollars were added to the coffers of the hospital. Then, dding to her philanthropic gestures, she presented a check for 00 to St. Paul Baptist church and a check amounting to the me to Independent church. I'm sure you will agree, Miss Scott s done her part.

Have you made plans for Saturday night? If not, your tendance will be more than appreciated at the United Negro d Allied Veterans cocktail party that is scheduled from 8 until p.m. at 2460 South St. Andrews place. Learned from Frances illiams of the Actor's Lab, that the entertainment will be the ry last word. Joe Lutcher and his orchestra will be featured om the musical platform; Chuck Bowsell and Phillip Pine will e featured in the Lab's skit "Talk in Darkness," and Herb Jefies will lend his vocal talent. In passing, congratulations are order for the popular crooner. He and wife Betty are proud rents of a baby daughter, born Monday afternoon, Nov. 3. uek to the UNAVA party, Katherine Dunham, here making a cture at MGM, plans to be on hand Saturday night, along ith her protege, Janet Collins, who critics say is one of the ation's best interpretative dancers. Missed out on her Monday ght performance at Las Palmas, but learned from Marcela onroe, Leonard Grims and others who attended, that Janet is e best yet . . .

ERE AND THERE

The Saturday football classic between UCLA and UC brought leodell Johnson, George Sturdivant, Chester Hill and oodles more om the Berkeley campus to enjoy the southland hospitality, efore and after the game. Cleodell was Tommy Ayres' house uest, while George and Chester, both L. A.-ites, were welcomed ith open arms by their families. Among the events enjoyed y the visitors was the Omega masquerade ball, Saturday night CIO hall, and the closed dancing party that Billy Benfield ave. On Sunday afternoon the local Panhellenic group which

After business, the meeting was terminated into a continuation of book reviews. Two books, "Color Blind," by Margaret Halsey, and "Foxes of Harrow," by Frank Yerby, were given by Jewell Lockett and Frankie Osborne, respectively.

Civil Air Club To Hold Diego Breakfast Flight

Mr. W. E. Cooper introduced Miss Mabel Fairbanks, world famous sepia Ice Skater, who rendered a very delightful verson of the Harlem hula. Miss Fairbanks will also appear in exclusive dance creations at the premier breakfast dance Nov. 4, at Elks auditorium.

includes all the Greeks, danced until the wee hours at Dr. and Mrs. Frank Zetars' home. Eddie Mae Armstrong was much in eevidence, as were Charles Thrash, Olston Forrest, Haroldine Browning, Shirley Rakestraw, to name a few . . .

The food couldn't have been any tastier or the mood any gayer, at the luncheon Ramona Robinson gave on Sunday afternoon, in the form of a Lingerie Shower, honoring Odessa James, who will become the bride of Vance Jones (Ramona's cousin) on Nov. 23. Of course, Mrs. Alice Harvey's Seventh avenue home was the scene of the gathering, and assisting were four of Ramona's charming aunts. Among the guests who showered Odessa with dainty trousseau additions were: Puffy Hill, Marilyn Hudson, Barbara Lambert, Doloris Bell, Gloria Baily Wood, Cookie Cook, Jessie Mae Rombley, Shirley Rakestraw, Haroldine Browning, Eddie Mae Armstrong, Nancy Balch, Sis Russell, Paulette Coleman, Jeanne (Peaches) Johnson, Jessie King, and yours truly . . .

In mentioning betrothals and the like, Ernie Spearman has taken the lovely Geridine Barnette, formerly of Michigan, for his bride. Luckily, the couple has a new apartment. . . . Other gents to flee the bachelor realm are Raoul Reynolds, Kappa Gent, who kept his marriage a secret; George Yielders, who, along with his bride, will be felicitated at a scheduled reception; and Frank Matthews, who eloped with Annie Laurie Hordge. Ione Pierce is now Mrs. Broadway and is busily engaged, along with her family, making plans for the reception. From up north comes tidings that Walt Loving Jr., will depart the single realm in December.

WELL! WELL! WELL!

The Iota Phi Lambda public Education program will be Sunday morning at Second Baptist church. Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, national honorary member, will give the key address. . . . Also on Sunday, but late afternoon, the Crop 'n' Tail club is holding its installation of officers. Several club representatives have been invited along with other guests. Dancing will be enjoyed following the serious part of the program. . . . Last Sunday, Norma and Eddy Green had their daughter christened. Atty. Walt Garden and Kay Seeley stood as godparents. Rev. Adam Powell and Clayton Russell performed the christening. A reception followed at the Green's home. Mrs. Fannie Casmon is all smiles over the rapid convalescing her husband Frank is enjoying following an operation. . . . Did you know that Edward will soon spend part of his time at the L. A. house of charm and the other party at his very smart Salon in San Francisco that opens this month? And that LaTanya and Earl are giving up their L. A. apt. to take up residence in 'Frisco, where LaTanya is going into wholesale dress designing in the new Apparel City. . . . Other local deserters include Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew, who has hied off to Oakland to train another chorus. Bill Smallwood, Fourth Estater, has just about severed all relations with Sunny Cal, for the East. I hear that Elizabeth Garrott and Gloria Roberts have fallen in love with N. Y. while studying at Julliard. Wonder if Yvonne Cummings will do the same. Still holding out for good old L. A., we make deadline . . .

'Til Next Week.

The Junior Republic's Annual mmage Sale was presented t week and as usual everyone a there. Some go to buy, some look around and others just to their friends. Some of the ms were beautiful, collector's ms. I was certainly glad to see ri Coe with her son Rippy just ck from Chicago where she ent two months with Earl's rents. She said that she had a nderful time, but just had to urn to California. Ray Kindk, Bobby Johnson, Bebe King, ne Miles, and oodles of others re on hand. . . Now today, ursday and Friday the Trus- Helpers of the Friendship ptist church will be having a mmage Sale at the Masonic ll here in Pasadena and they nt you to come out and supt them in the fashion that I ow that you will. They will ve items from clothes to furture. Don't forget now. . . . Oh s, Jerrie said that Dot Mims is ing quite well.

At the Ebony Earl's club meetg Monday they were closeted th their Queen, Clarise Turner, aking last minute preparations their campaign to win the ung Men's Progressive ague's Popularity Contest. The een will be crowned at their pular Ball, Thanskgiving Eve, plan to go out that night and ve a real good time. The Earl's e also making plans for big ings in December. One never ows what they will pull out of e bag.

That new long look was prevant at the Club Echo's party st week at the home of Kathine Terr. Ellen Storm wore a ipson Girl blouse and a plaid ool skirt with a ruffle at the ttom. Emma Biggs was there, earing a charming ladies-in-aiting suit. To stop questions s to what the stork would bring e wore a darling rinestone uestion mark brooch. Ruth Waples had the new look, as did Molly Sears. The husbands had a good time playing, well. . . . Gertrude Possum, who reminds me so of Ruth Valentine, looked charming as ever. Kitty Terris' glasses matched her suit.

The Les Matronettes met at the home of Justine Bartlette and spent an evening of playing bridge. A new member was present, Bebe King. Frances Moody brought a coat that she is knitting and is indeed beautiful. One of our members, Alyce Harris, presented her family, Bernard, and Michel, with another son and brother. Congratulations, Alyce and Bernie. Rudy Gordon was guest for the evening, and we were certainly glad to have her there. It seems that she will be a permanent guest until Mary Edson, who was voted in the club, and Alyce Harris are able to return.

Sunday at the Friendship Baptist church the W. D. Carter Chorus presented Mrs. Sarah Amos in recital. Didn't make it, but they tell me it was indeed a wonderful success.

Laughter filled the air at 1010 Glen at the home of Sonny Bartlett, son of Justine and Teddy Bartlett, who was celebrating his third birthday. Several weeks ago Sonny had informed his mother what he wanted for his birthday party. He wanted ice cream, cookies, cake and candy, so his mother tried to have everything just as he wanted. Some of those who joined in to help Sonny have a happy birthday were Sid Heard Jr. and his sister June, Kenneth and Jimmie Stewart, Delores Edwards, Freddy and Margaret Mack, Joyce Jean and Gerald Sue Jackson and Jeffey Carr.

Well, that's all for now except that friends of Jean and LeRoy Solders will be glad to know that they are expecting the stork in January.

Hasta Luego.

KINLOCH'S ☆ KORNER

Dedicated to the memory of John Kinloch, who died in the struggle to destroy Fascism

What's Happenin'

By JOHNNY DELGARDO

Rising up to combat the poor living standards in Los Angeles, e Pan-Hellenic Council is making plans for a better environment young people in the future. The membership of this organiza- n is made up of young men and women from various fraternal, ority, civic and other groups about the city. Many prominent izens feel that there is a great need for such a progressive or- nization.

Over on South Hobart, last Sunday afternoon, the Pan-Hellenic uncil entertained its members and friends with a tea dansante the home of Dr. and Mrs. Frank Zetar. Plans were discussed the improving of social and civic relations among the young d old people of Los Angeles.

Friday night, the traditional spirit of Halloween got under way th such a terrific bang that it would have shaken the Rock of braltar from top to bottom. Everything from "trick or treat" to "street fiesta" was included by the merrymakers on this eve of ooks and goblins."

Highlighting this night of all nights was the "street fiesta" en by the Gamma Xi chapter of the Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity, ich turned out to be a howling success. Assisting the Alpha t men with the concessions were Grace Davis, Leona Goodson, lande Stovall, Pauline Jones, Leola Beavers, Jean Arnold, Ar- ne Thomas, Tanis Fortier, Regina Mingleton and the Derrick ns. The numerous concession booths consisted of hot dogs and t drinks, pokeno and bingo games, and many other forms of usement. Musical entertainment was supplied by T-Bone lker and Nelson Alexander's combo.

Through the length of the fiesta one could hear the hoarse ce of Shelby Robinson, yelling, "step right up, folks, the party's yours," Clayton Moore and Artis Grant awarding prizes to the ky winners, Morris Hampton yelling "anybody can win," and a t of other Alpha men gleaming with joy over the success of this e affair.

Brousing through the Halloween-spirited crowd were Silvia llaberg, David Crompton, Rosalie Kelly, Scott Gilbert, Mr. and s. Bill Golden, Faye and Jack Thompson, Murney Hardon, and vola's ace football star, Bob Boyd, Murtle White, Howard More- d, Teddy Williams, Mary Pollard, Joyce Maynard, Hal Faulk- , Mr. and Mrs. William Jordan, Robert Thompson, Marion eeney, Joel Ammos and Raymond Bowens.

Over at the C.I.O. Hall, the Lambda chapter of the Omega Psi was stepping out with a "masquerade dance" that presented fun-loving crowd with the time of their lives. The fine music George Brown's band kept the "joint jumpin'." Seen having a d time were Olive Benz, Le Mont Edwards, Seaybee Staley, arles Brown, Lillian Spikes, Edward Shields, Marcelyn Coleman, l Jones, Hayward Taylor, Cleo Hutchinson, Andrew Wallace and a Moore.

After the parties, many fun-craving couples were seen creep- away to the many "after parties," some of which were given Dorothy and Richard Williams, "Rip" Gridley, Johnny Williams, ce Finney, and Kenneth and Hugo Hill. Now of course there e those who preferred to attend the "drag ball" at the Club bam. Incidentally, fellas, what happened to some of your girl nds during the course of these parties???

Saturday afternoon was indeed a sad one for the UCLA Bruins, o bowed to defeat at the onslaught of the victorious California rs. Raisin' Cain

By CARL L. CAIN

I have pondered long and extensively over the subject of the so-called "school strikes" that have been jabbing alarming blows at the hearts of the cities and people throughout the United States. Our city of L.A. has been one of the hardest and most frequently stung by this thoughtless outward expression of racial and religious prejudices. We have had to fight the school strikes and fight the people behind them. And yet, every so often, the vicious, and scandalous menace appears in some practically "lily-white" section of town. And then the fight is on again, to be stamped out and conquered.

One of the most vicious manifestations here in the city has been in the neighborhood and at Fremont High school. Some months ago there was sufficient tension between the six Negro students and the white pupils there to arouse the attention of many of the neighboring institutes. Not so long ago, there was a similar disturbance in the neighborhood of Manual Arts High school. I was particularly impressed, or depressed, by the fact that one of the daily papers thought it necessary to picture several of the Caucasion youth wielding lead pipes and other weapons, standing as though in preparation. No, they were not snapshots, they had, apparently, been posed for. Whether or not the editor of that daily paper knew that within those pictures were the elements to arouse the tempers of other students of other races, there was. Now there had to be some one to quell the flare of tempers, or allow the disturbance to lead to something more serious.

If compliments are henceforth in order, I would be delighted to place a warm hand on the shoulder of Dr. Paul Fisher, of Thomas Jefferson High school. Our own Dr. Fisher did so much during those trying days to keep the name of Jefferson High out of the papers, and out of the entire messy affair. I was a member of a group of 2300 who listened to him pleading with the students to hold the name of their school; to let their reputation remain untarnished. And the students, every last one, complied with this heartfelt wish. They were able to stick out their chests and say in a calm, sincere manner, "I am a true American."

Recently, Gary, Indiana was plagued with one of the so-called "school strikes" and some degree of trouble between the Negro and the white students. It seems that the cause of the trouble went home to roost to a Gary adult, who had incited the students to act in the manner which they did. And the same is true in the local schools here in L.A., and other cities. Being a high school student myself, I know too well the moods and the thoughts of high school students. In my belief, only outside propaganda or jealousy could have been the cause of the actions of the white students toward the colored pupils. Jealous, I say, because of the fact that Negroes were actually enjoying the rights that all American students are entitled to enjoy, contrary to the subversive doctrines of the white supremists. Realization that there un-American doctrines no longer have the old pull rankled in the minds of the students fresh from the South. So they spoke to the Jakes and the Charlies, their not too serious minded pals, and together they cut one more old caper.

Someone asked me during one of the "school strikes" who was being educated, the students or the Board of Education. I asked and received an answer to the question of who, in his opinion, needed most the education, the students or the Board of Education. Perhaps the answer would startle you. But all in all, I should say that the situations have been dealt with in a non-discriminating manner by our loyal Board of Education officials. Well, it just goes to show that the saying "better late than never" still holds good.

I could not answer the question, when asked, if the words "we don't want punks around here" were complimentary of a high school principal. It seems that every time you open your mouth concerning that situation, your lips are going to get stepped upon, one way or the other. But a city high school principal referring to Negro students of his school in any such manner is certainly not a thing of gallant and loyal Americanism. I wonder if anyone ever told him that there were people such as Thomas Jefferson, Abe Lincoln, and Franklin D. Roosevelt. Good people, who believed that the soil of America was just as free to a Negro as to a Caucasian. I wonder if he knew that there is just as much Negro blood on the pages of our history books as that of any other people; that the hope of the people who have done so much for the cause of his freedom and mine, was to have a free America . . . "with freedom and justice for all."

By the way, there are people who seem to think that freedom of belief does not come under the constitutional rights of American citizens. But we know that in freedom of belief, we have freedom of speech; in freedom of speech, we have freedom of the press, and religion, and about any other rights that can be mentioned. Stop a man from thinking, and you have a stopped man, period. I am wondering, is a government OF THE PEOPLE, BY THE PEOPLE, AND FOR THE PEOPLE, COMMUNISTIC?

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. IKE EVANS, D.D.

Subject: A Call to Right Living. Lesson Text and Outline, 1 Peter 1:13-16; 3:8-12; 4:1-5; Metto Text 1 Cor. 10:31.

Introduction

About the middle '60s of the first century the first epistle of Peter was written from Babylon to the churches in Asia Minor who were suffering on account of their faith. The privileges of Christians eclipse their trials, and the path of duty is clear even though clouded by persecution.

Comments

1. The main work of a Christian lies in the right management of his heart and mind; the apostle's first direction is to gird up the loins of the mind. The best Christians have need to be exhorted to sobriety. These excellent Christians are put in mind of it; it is required of a bishop, of aged men, the young women are to be taught it, and the young men are directed to be sober-minded. A Christian's work is not over as soon as he has got into a state of grace; he must still hope and strive for more grace. We must be holy, and be so in all manner of conversation, in all civil and religious affairs, in every condition, prosperous or reverse; toward all people, friends and enemies, in all our intercourse and business.

2. We must pity, pray for, and love those who rail at us. A Christian's calling, as it invests him with glorious privileges, obliges him to difficult duties.

3. Some of the strongest and best arguments against all sorts of sin are taken from the sufferings of Christ. All sympathy, and tenderness for Christ as a sufferer are lost if you do not put away sin. He died to destroy it; and, though he could cheerfully submit to the worst sufferings, yet he could never submit to the least sin.

Comment on the Motto Text

The apostle takes occasion from this discourse to lay down a general rule for Christian conduct, namely, that in eating and drinking, and in all we do, we should aim at the glory of God, at pleasing and honoring him. This is the fundamental principle of practical godliness. The great end of all practical religion must direct us where particular and express rules are wanting. Nothing must be done against the glory of God, and the good of our neighbors, connected with it. The tendency of our behaviour to the common good, and the credit of our holy religion, should give direction to it.

Hubert, to ascertain his fitness for ordination to the work of the Christian Ministry. Monday, November 3, was chosen as the date, and promptly at 2:30 p.m. Dr. J. Raymond Henderson, the pastor, stated the object of the meeting.

The Council was formed with the Rev. L. D. Stevens, president of the Baptist Ministers Union, and pastor of the Abyssinia Baptist church as chairman. Rev. Chalmers Gaithers was elected secretary, and Dr. A. C. Capers, pastor of the Faithful Baptist church was elected catechizer. The other members of the Council besides Dr. Henderson were Rev. M. Hartley Duvall, pastor of the Macedonia Baptist church; Rev. L. M. Curtis, pastor of the Village Baptist church, and Rev. H. B. Charles, pastor of the Second Baptist church, Long Beach, California.

The candidate was properly examined, and then ordained. Rev. H. B. Charles offered the prayer and Rev. L. M. Curtis gave the charge and presented the Bible. Rev. G. W. Hubert pronounced the benediction, after which every one present retired to the dining room, where Mrs. L. M. Ervin, cateress, and her co-workers, had spared no pains in preparing a delicious turkey dinner. The dinner was an expression of appreciation by Rev. Hubert.

Rev. Hubert will preach next Sunday evening at 7:30 at the Second Baptist church, using as his subject "God cares." Dr. Henderson, who has guided and encouraged him, is granting him the privilege of baptizing at the Thanksgiving service, and administering the Lord's Supper on the first Sunday night in December.

City Mourns Death Of Archbishop Cantwell

Archbishop John J. Cantwell, first Catholic archbishop of Los Angeles, was buried yesterday in the mausoleum in Calvary Cemetery with the ancient colorful ceremonies of the Roman Catholic Church, closing a religious career that started with his ordination to the priesthood in 1899.

The Eastside community of Catholics was stunned last Thursday when the Most Rev. Timothy Manning, auxiliary bishop of Los Angeles, at a confirmation ceremony in Saint Patrick's church, East 34th and Central, officially announced the passing of the archbishop. Bishop Manning was at the bedside of prelate when he passed.

Archbishop Cantwell lay in state in the sanctuary of St. Vibiana's Cathedral from Tuesdaymorning utnil the conclusion of the funeral Mass Wednesday. Guards of honor, drawn from most of the Catholic societies of the archdiocese kept constant vigil at his bier.

Tuesday evening, the guards included members of the Knights of Peter Claver, a fraternal order composed largely of Negro Catholics.

Wednesday morning between thehours of three and four, members of St. Patrick's Holy Name Society, headed by its president, Louis S. Tentte, stood guard.

Archbishop Cantwell was widely known throughout the Catholic world for his great executive ability. He was revered by the Negro Catholics of the archdiocese for his opposition to intolerance of any kind because of racial differences. In the secular world, he was honored by all races and creeds.

More than 20 years ago the archbishop foresaw the growth of Catholicism among Negroes in Los Angeles. He directed the organization of the St. Augustine Society, designed to bring Catholics into closer contact. It was out of this society that Catholic action on the Eastside grew.

First, the St. Victor's Social Center, at East 16th and Essex sts. was established. This was the rendevous for social activity among the young people. Father Charles Logan, the only Negro to be ordained to the priesthood in Los Angeles, spent his youth at the Center.

Later, the same leaders who had established the Center under direction of the archbishop was called upon to assist in the founding and building of St. Odelia's Catholic church which stands at East 53rd and Hooper ave.

Another parish, St. Leo's on East 113th st. was built, with a few of the old members of the St. Augustine Society assisting.

Following the death of Archbishop Cantwell, the Mos Rev. Joseph T. McGucken, auxiliary bishop of the archdiocese, was appointed arministrator of the Metropolitan See. Bishop McGucken graduated from St. Patrick's Parochial school.

Baha'i News

A VITAL FAITH FOR TODAY is the subject to be discussed by Winston Evans on Sunday, November 9, at 3 p.m. at Los Angeles headquarters of the Baha'i World Faith located at 331 South New Hampshire avenue.

The Baha'i Faith recognizes the unity of God and of his prophets, upholds the principle of an unfettered search after truth, condemns all forms of superstition and prejudice, teaches that the fundamental purpose of religion is to promote concord and harmony, that it must go hand in hand with science and that it constitutes the sole and ultimate basis of a peaceful, an ordered and progressive society.

Books are the true levellers. They give to all, who will faithfully use them, the society, the spiritual presence, of the best and greatest of our race.—W. E. Channing.

Phenomenal Advancement of Victory Baptist Church Marked in Dedication Services With Church Leaders Nov. 9-16

The Dedication Services for Victory Baptist church, 48th and McKinley, will be held November 9 through 16, with daily meetings which promise to be of great interest.

Victory Baptist church, in its phenomenal advancement during the four years since its founding, presents to the community a practical example of Christianity at work—a real success story in Christian progress. Four years ago Victory Baptist church was founded, and its beginnings were laid in a tiny store front on 42nd Street and Wadsworth, where Rev. A. A. Peters gathered around him a small group of followers. In these four years, the loyalty of the members has remained unwavering, and the resourcefulness and energy of the pastor has been unabated. Now, Rev. A. A. Peters delivers his message from the altar of a $50,000 edifice. The new building was begun on December 16, 1946, and as it grew toward completion, it became the realization of the architectural imagination of Noble Houston, who designed its clean and dignified lines. It now stands completed on the corner of 48th and McKinley, with its costly art glass windows looking over the quiet community and bespeaking the tribute of members and friends who have given $3,500 toward dedicating those same windows to the memories of their departed loved ones.

The external beauty of Victory Baptist church is but a harbinger of the gracious interior, replete with new seating arrangements in the auditorium, with a dainty ladies parlor, officers room, pastor's study, spacious dining room, well equipped kitchen, a prayer room which is the perfect setting for worshipful musings, an usher room, and Sunday School rooms regularly filled with the youngest of the flock.

On Sunday morning, the Dorie Miller club will be the special guests of the church. In the evening, a musical program will be presented by the talented choir of Victory Baptist Church under the direction of Luther Carpenter.

On Monday, the church will have as its guests Rev. John Branham, pastor, with the officers and members of St. Paul Baptist church. The Echoes of Eden choir will render the music for the services, and one need not be reminded of the radio fame of this choir which broadcasts weekly on Sunday nights from the St. Paul Baptist church.

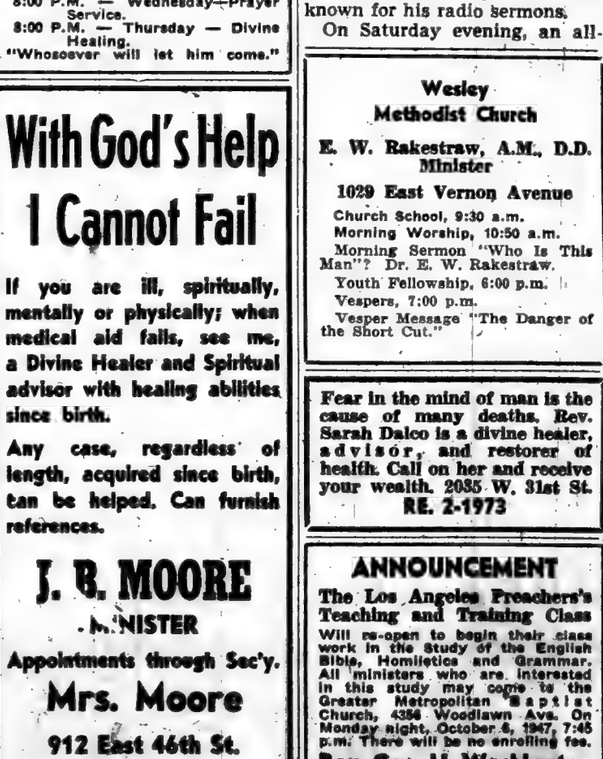
Rev. H. B. Charles, pastor of Second Baptist church, Long Beach, California, will be the guest speaker on Tuesday night, and he will bring his member ship with him to this service.

Wednesday evening will bring Rev. T. P. Moss, pastor of New Zion Baptist church to the pulpit, with his officers and members.

Rev. M. H. Duval, pastor of Macedonia Baptist church, his officers and members, will be in charge of the services on Thursday evening.

On Friday evening, Rev. W. J. Taylor of Grace Memorial church of God in Christ will conduct the services. Rev. Taylor is well known for his radio sermons.

On Saturday evening, an all-star musical program will be presented, featuring, among many others, the voices of Eugene Smallwood, Earl Pleasant, Rev. Arthur A. Peters, the Peters Radio club, the Victory Trio. This musical program will be of great interest to all who love music, and will furnish to all who attend, a rare treat.



On Sunday, November 16, will come the climax of the Dedication Services. At 11 a.m., Rev. L. D. Stevens, President of the Baptist Ministers Alliance, will be the guest speaker, and S. P. Johnson of Connor-Johnson Co. will be on the roster of platform guests. In the afternoon, at 3:30 p.m., Rev. W. P. Carter, Calvary Baptist church, Santa Monica, California, will speak. Rev. Carter is the president of the Western States Convention, and his experience makes him both an eloquent and profound speaker. This afternoon service will be enlivened as well, by the 100 voice chorus of Victory Baptist church, and the Victory orchestra will give renditions along with the voices of the congregation, the Victory Radio club, the Smith Jubilee Singers and the Victory Trio.

On Sunday evening, at eight, the unveiling of the Baldwin electric organ will climax the services, with a tangible display of the advancement of the Victory Baptist church from a storefront to a well-equipped, thoroughly organized and smoothly functioning Christian organization. The ceremony of the unveiling will be appropriate to the occasion, nd further detailed announcement will be made of the program to be presented. It will present a roster of names well known and respected in the City of Los Angeles.

Neighborhood Senior Choir Elects Officers

An evening of fellowship and good will was felt among the members of the Neighborhood Senior Choir, when they held their regular business meeting at the home of Mrs. Johnnie Marsh Williams recently. Tentative plans regarding the Christmas musical were discussed and many good ideas were given.

This marked the end of the church year and the annual election of officers was held as follows:

Johnnie Williams, president; Zelda Cleavers, vice president; Essie M. Rodgers, secretary; Aulene Slaughter, assistant secretary; Zephyr Mansur, financial secretary; Marie King, treasurer, and Estella Smith was retained as chaplain.

These officers expressed their deep appreciation for the trust and confidence that wes bestowed upon them and ask that the members cooperate with them wholeheartedly for a successful year. Rev. H. M. Collins, Sr., minister, and Rev. H. M. Collins, Jr., choir director.

EVANGELIST—Dr. J. G. Collins is successfully conducting a great revival at the Lewis Metropolitan CME church, 121 East 29th street. The public is invited to hear the man who won 22 members to the church the first Sunday. He will continue every night through November 16. Dr. Collins is the evangelist of the 8th Episcopal district and resides in Kansas City, Mo.

Zion Temple To Feature Jewish Vets Men's Day

Zion Temple Community church, 1315 East Vernon avenue, will observe Men's Day Sunday, November 9. An Armistice Day programme will be presented and the visiting guests will be a Jewish Veteran Post.

The sermon will be delivered by Rabbi N. Winokura, featured guest speaker. At the evening service Rev. Shaw will speak. A ham and turkey dinner will be served after dinner.

Card of Thanks

The last rites of the late Rosa Bell Williams was held Tuesday at Mt. Zion Baptist church. The service was officiated by Rev. Prentice. She passed away suddenly.

The family wishes to extend their thanks to their many friends for being so thoughtful and helpful in their hour of sorrow.

Friendly Thoughts by PEOPLE'S FUNERAL HOME

To be dependent upon another is human. To need sympathy, understanding, to need another's patient consideration and friendliness is natural. To supply such needs is divine.

We urge a consideration of the cost of furnishings that the expenses of the service may be moderated to suit the family's means.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., (Special to the Eagle)—According to an announcement made here yesterday by Rev. John W. Williams, D.D., pastor of St. Stephen Baptist church, the 1948 session of the Sunday School Congress will be held in Kansas City. Dr. Williams made it authentic, saying:

"As a member of the National Baptist Publishing Board, as chairman of the Benevolent Department of the National Baptist Convention of America, and as the newly elected President of the General Baptist Convention of Missouri and Kansas, I take the authority to announce and to confirm the Board's selection of Kansas City, Missouri as the entertaining city and the St. Stephen Baptist church as the entertaining church for this nationally-known Summer School of Methods for its 44th annual session. I received the official communication from Rev. Henry A. Boyd, who has served as secretary of this movement from its very beginning when it was launched b yhis father, the late R. H. Boyd.

"Secretary Boyd further stated that Kansas City was selected from among 12 convention centers in the United States that had bid for the next year's meeting. The coming of this religious gathering to Kansas City had the whole-hearted endorsement of the religious forces, irrespective of denomination and convention.

"Secretary Boyd announced the dates in his official communication as from Wednesday, June 9th up to and including Sunday June 13th, 1948. It will bring to our city approximately five thousand religious workers who will spend these five days in a Summer School of Methods."

Bill of Rights Week Slated for Dec. 9 to 15

The Un-American Committee currently engaged in an attempt to censor American films won't like this—but the American people intend to observe Dec. 9 to 15 Bill of Rights week in honor of the famous old American document which says you can think, speak and write what you please.

Chairman Joe Creel of the executive committee in charge of the local observance of Bill of Rights Week yesterday announced a day-by-day breakdown of plans.

Thursday, Dec. 9, will be Bill of Rights Day, featuring wide distribution of copies of the document; Wednesday will take Freedom of Thought Features into schools and universities.

Thursday will spotlight veterans and Friday will be Freedom of Speech and Press Day.

Monday, the closing day of the observance, will stress the rights of free assembly and trial by jury, wit hgovernmental officials participating.

P. S.—Luckily for them, the authors of the Bill of Rights are beyond the reach of the Un-American Committee.

World Community Day Observed on Friday, Nov. 7

All church women of this community are cordially invited to join with other church women of the city in observing World Community Day, Friday, November, by attending an all-day meeting at Wilshire Presbyterian church, 3rd and Western ave., Los Angeles, it has been announced by Mrs. Charles D. Hill, president of the Los Angeles Council of United Church Women, the women's department of the Los Angeles Church Federation. The meeting is scheduled to begin at 11 a.m. Women will bring their own lunches but coffee and tea will be served.

According to Mrs. Hill, the theme for the day will be: "Our Community begins with each individual, just as the world begins at our door." As part of the observance women are asked to bring "Inasmuch" gifts—clothing, shoes or school box—to be sent through Church World Service to the needy children of the world.

Mrs. Hill stated further that this local observance of World Community Day is part of a nation-wide observance sponsored by the National Council of United Church Women.

Christian Science Text 'Adam and Fallen Man'

"Ye were sometimes darkness but now are ye light in the Lord: walk as children of light." This declaration of Paul to the Ephesians will be the Golden Text of the Sunday Lesson-Sermon on "Adam and Fallen Man" in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

A Scriptural selection from Luke's Gospel reports that when Jesus visited the city of Nain, "there was a dead man carried out, the only son of his mother, and she was a widow: and much people of the city was with her. And when the Lord saw her, he had compassion on her, and said unto her, Weep not. And he came and touched the bier: and they that bare him stood still. And he said, Young man, I say unto thee, Arise. And he that was dead sat up, and began to speak. And he delivered him to his mother."

Mary Baker Eddy writes in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures:" "The divine origin of Jesus gave him more than human power to expound the facts of creation, and demonstrate the one Mind which makes and governs man and the universe. The Science of creation, so conspicuous in the birth of Jesus, inspired his wisest and least-understood sayings, and was the basis of his marvellous demonstrations."

Prices Wiped Out Wage Hike Gov't. Reports

WASHINGTON—Labor Department figures released this week show that spiraling prices more than wiped out wage increases gained by the nation's average worker between 1942 and last Sept. 1.

The average factory worker with three dependents had a "take-home" pay of $36.28 a week in 1942, the department said. However, it would buy only what $30.96 would have bought in 1939.

The same worker had a weekly "take-home" pay of $47.61 last August. While this was a dollar increase of $11.33 over the 1942 average, the department said it would buy only what $29.58 would have bought in 1939, which government economists consider the last peacetime year.

Religious Books On Sale In Area

The Religious Book Concern is now making it possible for purchasers of religious books, periodicals and literature to get what they need without having to go downtown. Literature can be found at the following stores: Chapel of Liberty, 2825 S. Central avenue, Miss E. Stokes, saleslady; and the Avalon Gift Shop and Rental library, 4357 Avalon boulevard, Mrs. Alice Davis, manager.

These stores now have on hand a number of Henry T. Sell's publications that have been out of publication for some time: BIBLE STUDY by Books; LIFE OF CHRIST; LIFE OF PAUL; Falkner's B.T.U. MANUAL; and books of sermons. What you do not find in stock we will get them for you. Both of the stores are at the car or bus line.

Few are sufficiently sensible of the importance of that economy in reading which selects, almost exclusively, the very first order of books.—John Foster.

There is a choice in books as in friends, and the mind sinks or rises to the level of its habitual society.—Lowell.

New Yorkers Picket 'Birth of a Nation'

NEW YORK—Duplicating its action of 1915, the NAACP threw a picket line around the Negro-hating film, "The Birth of a Nation" when it was revived at Brandt's Republic theater on Broadway at 51st street, Oct. 11. The theatre discontinued showing of the film after three weeks of effective picketing which drastically cut down box office receipts.

The pickets, under the active direction of Gloster B. Current and Leroy Carter of the national office staff, have done daily duty and the patronage of the house dwindled at one time to 8 admissions in a two-hour period. The line on October 11 was headed by Walter White, NAACP secretary.

In a telegram of protest to Mayor William O'Dwyer, White said the film "glorifies the Ku Klux Klan, preaches hatred against Negro Americans, and openly advocates mob violence against them."

A protest to Harry Brandt, owner of a chain of theatres including the Republic brought a statement from him that he "never heard" of this film being offensive to Negroes, nor had he heard that it had been banned in many cities and states 30 years ago as an incitement to riot.

Singer Donates $500 Damages In Bias Case To Sydenham Hospital

NEW YORK—Sydenham Hospital, America's only interracial voluntary hospital, located in Harlem, at 123rd street and Manhattan avenue, was the recipient this week of three new-type plastic oxygen canopies and an aspirator, representing the gift of Ellabelle Davis, distinguished American Negro concert soprano.

The oxygen canopies, of a type providing free vision for the patient and alleviating the fear of being closed in under a tent in cardiac, pneumonia and accident cases where oxygen must be administered; and the aspirator, which will be the first permanent suction instrument of its kind installed in the Sydenham nursery, were purchased for the hospital by Miss Davis with the sum of $500 which she received as settlement in a recent civil liberties case against a West Side Manhattan restaurant which had denied admission to a party composed of the singer and three white friends. The verdict in Miss Davis' favor represented the maximum award in a civil liberties case.

In turning over to Sydenham Hospital the money for the purchase of the badly-needed new equipment, Miss Davis expressed confidence that her donation would aid patients of all races and creeds, thus helping to perpetuate the democratic ideals which Sydenham has put into practice.

The singer visited the hospital personally to present her gift to Theodora Lynch, director of Sydenham nurses, before leaving on an extensive cross-country concert tour.

White, Negro Parents Block School Jimcro

LONG BRANCH, N. J. (CNS)—By threatening to call a school strike, more than 400 irate parents, half white and half Negro, forced the Board of Education to withdraw its order to segregate Negro kids in the firetrap Liberty street school.

In what turned out to be a stormy meeting, the parents begged the Board peacefully for two hours to change its decision and the Board stood firm, voting to deny the parents' request and preparing to leave. Finally, the angered parents, desiring to see their point through, held a meeting of their own and took a strike vote.

Board members, sensing the determination of the parents, filed back to the meeting, reopened the question and voted the two week old mixed student situation, which the parents had voluntary tried, to remain.

The victory climaxed a series of campaigns against Long Branch school segregation which the Board of Education upheld as recently as August 2 with the statement that only "years of preparation" could induce Negro and white kids to attend the same schools. Parents, taking matters into their own hands three weeks ago, entered their children en masse in the Garfield school where the mixed races have been getting along fine ever since.

Akai Social Barons Buy Stock in the Loyal Auto Inc. Co.

The Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority, one of the leading national women's organizations and the Social Barons, popular men's club, made group purchases for their respective organizations recently from the only Negro automobile insurance company in California, a Fllace Bryant, F. S. Patterson and B. G. Hayes are the representatives of the Loyal Automobile Ins. Co.'s sales-force who sold the above organizations.

The two organizations joined with other Southern California groups who are helping to make history in helping our group toward economic security and jobs.

Midget Racing Thursday Nite

Night speedway midget car racing moves into the seventh month of the 1947 season Thursday night, Nov. 6, at Gilmore Stadium, home base of the sport on the Pacific Coast, with the 40-lap Trojan Sweepstakes headlining a card of sprint thrillers.

British Like 'Anna Lucasta'

LONDON (CNS)—The British took "Anna Lucasta" to their hearts this week when the Broadway success opened here at His Majesty's theatre.

Perhaps Londoners were so excited because the play as acted by Negroes, was a novelty to theatre-goers. Too, the expert acting particularly of leading lady Hilda Simms, who responded to the numerous curtain calls with a little speech, caused critics to become exhuberant.

"'Anna Lucasta' had the feel of a big hit," wrote W. A. Farlington of the Daily Telegraph. He gave credit to the acting of the cast rather than to the play.

LACC Cubs To Play In Frisco

Los Angeles City college Cubs, with four straight Western States Conference victories behind them, draw non-conference San Francisco Junior college for an intersectional battle Friday afternoon, at Kezar Stadium, San Francisco. Game time is 2 p.m. According to latest junior college ratings, the L. A. team is rated third nationally.

Bowie Post to Hold Armistice Dance, Parade

The biggest dance and Armistice celebration ever held in the community will take place the evening of Nov. 11 at the Elks' Hall. Cooperating with the Benjamin J. Bowie Post of the American Legion, who is sponsoring the Victory Ball, are the merchants of the community.

The celebration is being held as a community get-together in which all American Legion posts are asked to cooperate and all other organizations are urged to assist in inviting public participation.

As a part of this gigantic Victory Ball a contest to select Miss Victory is in progress. All young ladies are invited to enter and may do so by registering at the Benjamin J. Bowie Post headquarters, 5115 S. Central avenue. Any club, sorority, association or merchant may sponsor a contestant. Entrants already received are Ardath Cannon, Henrietta Cannon, Cullie Hubert and Clarise Turner.

An Armistic Night Parade on Central avenue is being organized prior to the dance.

Commander McClanahan has appointed George Burleson and Jerome Hubert as committee chairmen and the auxiliary is giving its full support to work with the entire post membership.

...But Is This What Our Schools Are For?

Educational institutions of the Pacific Coast will soon be furnished with folders containing information on the shipping industry—from the viewpoint of ship owners.

The information, according to Ralph C. Chandler, vice-president of the Pacific American Steamship Assn., will "be of particular interest to classes in political science, economics, education, transportation, industrial relations and business administration."

"The elements of modern business, particularly the relationship between management and labor are becoming increasingly complicated," said Chandler in announcing the association's plan to push its point of view among West Coast students.

A petroleum authority predicts a 20 percent saving in gasoline consumption per car within the next two years as engines are designed to take advantage of improved fuels.

Held For Shooting White Man Trying To Burn Out 3 Families

BALTIMORE—When three Negro families moved into the 700 block of West Fayette street several weeks ago, they were promptly subjected to a siege of terror, during which their apartments were bombarded by metal discs thrown from the street, their windows broken.

Late into the night, the fragments kept coming, like shrapnel in a mortar barrage. The three families huddled together in the darkness for protection. At 3 a.m., the occupants saw two white men enter the building. A few minutes later they heard paper rustle in the vestibule. Then came the smell of smoke and the crackle of flames outside the room in which the three families had gathered.

They had the option of dying like rats trapped in a hole or fighting back. One of the besieged inmates fired a shot at the arsonists and one of the white men was killed by the bullet.

After the fire was put out, the police arrested Carnell Simmons, one of the Negro tenants, charged him with murder and jailed him without bail. Several days later, Simmons' pregnant wife and the Williams family on the first floor picked up their things and moved away—nobody seems to know where. Only Mr. and Mrs. Willie Graham and their three children remained.

Meantime, Simmons is still in jail, facing a murder charge for defending his home, protecting the three families from the murder plot of two white arsonists.

...ndant Wins $1000 Damages For Fraudulent Eviction

...Local landlords were warned this week that they ...ust pay damages to evicted tenants if after evicting ...enant on the grounds that propery is desired for the per...onal use of the landlord, said roperty is re-rented or ...llowed to be used by a member of the owner's family.

The warning was issued by Municipal Judge Robert Clifton in a case brought by Lorenzo Spencer, local realty broker, against Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Marshall, his landlords. Spencer claimed through his attorney, David W. Williams, that he and his wife were evicted from their four-room apartment by the Marshalls on the ground that the Marshalls wanted to occupy the apartment themselves.

Spencer testified that after being evicted he discovered that the Marshalls did not move into the apartment but allowed their daughter and her husband to move in. Spencer told the court that after their eviction, he and his wife were forced to store the furniture and share a two-room apartment with another couple and thereafter were forced to live in a home at an unusually high price.

Atty. Williams argued that the Marshalls did not intend to move when they evicted the Spencers and that they should be forced to pay the damages truly suffered by the evicted couple, as well as punitive damages.

Judge Clifton agreed and assessed a total of $1000 damages against the landlords and pointed out that landlords who evict tenants with the fraudulent intention not to occupy the property themselves are liable to damages.

Forestal Urged to Abolish Army Bias

NEW YORK—In a letter of congratulation to James V. Forstal, secretary of defense, upon the assumption of his new duties, the NAACP recalled that while secretary of the navy he abolished discrimination in that service and called upon him to make this policy for the entire armed services.

The NAACP letter, signed by Walter Whitet, pointed out that War Department circular No. 124, which was based on the Gillem Rreport, (on the use of Negro manpower in the army) was effective only until October 27.

"This directive," said the NAACP letter, "called for an implementation of the report only to the extent of establishing separate battalions, companies, etc., for Negro troops. As a result, the Negro American citizen desiring to serve his country, either in the U. S. army or the National Guard, is segregated and can serve only in certain limited categories solely because of his race. This policy not only denies to the Negro equal status with white servicemen and national guardsmen, but also interferes with the success of the army's and National Guard's recruiting campaigns.

"We urge you, therefore, to issue a directive establishing a uniform policy for the three arms of America's defense consistent with the policy presently effective in the U. S. navy."

Picks Career in U. S. Air Force

Dissatisfied with civilian job prospects, Lewis Monzier, 24 year old army veteran of 4445 So. San Pedro st., enlisted yesterday in the air force at T/Sgt. Frank J. Huhin's U. S. army and U. S. air force recruiting station, 610 So. Main st. Monzier's choice of a career in the air force was fully approved by his wife, Trilla Mae.

During the war Lewis served in the Southwest Pacific Area, including Leyte and the Philippines, receiving the Good Conduct Medal, American Theatre Ribbon, Asiatic-Pacific Theatre Ribbon with one star, Philippine Liberation Ribbon, and Victory Medal.

According to the New Yo Times, Oct. 17, "some criticis of this 'undemocratic' segreg tion has been expressed, b Negro leaders declared the Fis r avenue branch was what th nd their constituents wanted.

Refuting this assertion, prominent Negro citizen c White Plains, in a letter to th AACP, pointed out "we wer ossly misrepresented by th ss when it was stated tho Negro leaders approve plan of segregation. Ne by approved the plan but cple of preachers and a sub scient YMCA 'secretary.'"

In letter to President Richa Levi of the YMCA, the Whi Plain branch NAACP lashed o again the proposed segregat plan, saying "it would establi a pa n of civic relationshi hostil to the cause of bett understanding among the pe ple."

The lan was denounced in scathin sermon to his congr gation r Rev. Clifford H. Vess of the hite Plains Communi church, who declared: "A ji crow YMCA in White Plains not Chrianity in action. It a pathe and costly way avoiding utting Christianity action."

Gallup Poll Shows Public Shift to Demos

In his report, Gallup indica widespread public disillusi ment with the Republican pa based partly on the spirall of prices which followed scuttling of OPA as a result the demands of the National sociation of Manufacturers a their Republican stooges in 80th congress.

SHOULD BE U.S.C. AND MICHIGAN

An almost sure prediction is that the Rose Bowl game this season will find U.S.C. and Michigan (having defeated Illinois 14-7) fighting it out. U.C.L.A.'s defeat by Cal 6-0 Saturday, the third defeat that the Bruins have suffered this season, almost puts last season's representative from the West Coast out of the running, unless the LaBruchieremen down the Trojans by a large score, and then it will be a big debate not very favorable toward the Bruins. The trouble with the Westvillagers is undoubtedly the lack of a good passing defense and offense plus teamwork, because the material is there. The Trojans on the other hand have strengthened since the beginning of the season and their victory over the Bears of California gives evidence to an easy victory over the Bruins in about four weeks.

WASHINGTON AGAIN

Kenny Washington was again the star in the pro ball set-up over the weekend although the Rams lost to the Cards 17-10. In the initial period, Washington galloped 92 yards for a tally. Out of ten plays of handling the ball, Washington gained 146 yards and completed a pass. "Sugar Foot" Anderson and John Brown, Donmen, sparkled Sunday too, while seeing their team go down to defeat 26-16, under the '49ers. Anderson seemed to be all over the field during the game, making good tackles, and looking good when throwing passes as far as 60 yards. John Brown is given credit for a beautiful intercepted '49er pass which set the Dons up for a tally.

IN THE FOOTSTEPS OF JESSE OWENS

Negro hurdler Harrison Dillard, who will represent the U.S. in the '48 Olympics, seems to be improving all of the time and following right in the footsteps of Jesse Owens. The likeness between the two speedsters is already amazing; both come from Chicago; both lived on the East Side; both attended the same high school; and both have followed a pattern of improvement alike. Eddie Finnigan, Dillard's coach at Baldwin-Wallace College, is confident that his star will crack all existing records in both the low and high hurdles.

JACOBS AND THE GARDEN SEE 10th YEAR TOGETHER

"Uncle" Mike Jacobs can stick out his chest and brag over the fact that he has been one of Madison Square Garden's moguls for a decade now. While reminiscing over the past 10 years, Jacobs doesn't forget that it was the "Big Boy" that put him on top.

WAS HIS FACE RED

The other day Yours Truly was discussing the pro-football set-up at present with a friend while enjoying a nice lunch when a bystander overhearing our conversation asked why Woody Strode had quit playing for the L. A. Rams. My friend told him that Strode had been released because of age. After my friend left, the bystander asked me who this fellow was that seemed to be so much up to date on everything. I explained that he was Woody Strode.

QUIZ KIDS AND COMETS

Slated to renew their "civil war series" that they carried on last year, the Comets and the Quiz Kids knock the lid off the local basketball barrel Saturday night when they tangle at the Jefferson High school stadium. Led by their fancy shooting twin brothers, the Quiz Kids won last year's series handily, but this year, even though the 100 percent team is back, the Comets are hoping to win and revenge last year's defeat. The boys to watch on the Comet team will be Gabriel Randolph, Clayton Moore and John Waller.

Sports of All Sorts

By STANLEY ROBERTSON

FILE FOR THE FUTURE:
Name: WILLIS K. DUFFY JR.
Weight: 170
Height: 5'9"
School: UCLA
Present: Halfback, UCLA "Frosh"
Prediction: All-American, 1948

The only thing that UCLA rooters could point with pride to after Saturday's little "Tea Party" in the Coliseum with their Big Brother" from up Strawberry canyon way, was the fine freshman football team.

Led by Willis Duffy, the "Brubabes" ran wild over a supposedly strong Bear yearling team. Duffy, the ex-All C.I.F. age from Santa Ana High school scored twice on long runs of 80 and 46 yards respectively. His defensive ability especially on passes, was something to watch in itself.

"Duff," as he prefers to be called, came to Westwood after 15 months service in the AAF, before which he was an outstanding prep star in football, basketball, track, and baseball at Santa Ana High school.

Coach Bert LaBrucherie can be seen sitting in his KerFoff Hall offices on the Bruin campus, already planning plays that will show off the triple threat abilities of Duffy, when he is eligible for varsity competition come next fall.

With a year of varsity seasoning and experience, Your Old Thursday Morning Quarterback predicts that when in the fall of 1949, the sports writers of the country begin choosing All-American players, the name of Willis K. Duffy Jr. will appear on most of their selections.

BONGO, BONGO, BONGO, WHERE IS AL TABOR?

Speaking of Coach Bert LaBrucherie, some weird moanings are already being heard around Westwood to the effect that "LaBuBu" won't be around Westwood when present frosh stars like "Duff," Lampkin, and company will be eligible for the varsity . . . The difficulty seems to have arisen after the "Westwood Wonders" lost two games in a row to SMU and UC at Berkeley . . . Now the fact that "Bert's Boys" have lost three games this year doesn't seem to be the real motive behind the rumblings around Bruinville . . . The trouble seems to be in the manner IN WHICH THEY LOST THE GAMES . . . The numerous young scholars who wear those blue and gold rooting caps every Saturday afternoon, seem to think that Bert has been "playing favorites" . . . Well, that could be true, but LaBrucherie must know who is and who isn't his best men . . . Then on the other hand, whatever became of a guy named Al Tabor? . . . You say he's about the hottest thing on Nevada's "crackerjack" ball club! . . . I thought that he was on the Bruin varsity this year? . . . Oh; He quit because he said "they won't give me a chance at the QB spot out at Westwood" . . . Oh, that's too bad! . . . Well Bert doesn't need him anyway . . . He's got two "world beating" "T" quarterbacks" in Bennie Riegis and Carl Benton anyway.

BOBBY'S RAMBLINGS

Note to Dick Hyland, Sports staff, L. A. Examiner . . . Dear Dick: Of course there is nothing better than CONSTRUCTIVE CRITICISM, but when the so-called CRITICISM becomes downright insulting and unsportsmanlike, don't you think that's carrying it a little to far? . . . Your printed column on the merits or demerits of UCLA tackle Bob Mike was carrying criticisms a little too far . . . I am not arguing on the ability or greatness of Mike, displayed in the SMU game, I wasn't paying particular attention to the tackle position . . . but I was watching the play of some of the Bruin backs and ends . . . I won't mention any names, but it looked to me as if SEVERAL supposedly GREAT Bruins were a "little off" in that game . . . I'm not climbing on Bob Mike's bandwagon just because he is a Negro . . . Mike may or may not be a good tackle, that remains to be seen. It should be up to the Bruin coaching staff to pass the final judgment ? ? ?

If Mike wasn't a good player, knowing the UCLA coaching staff, he'd probably be sitting somewhere among the "Junior Varsity" boys . . . If you wanted to insult someone, why don't you take it out on that Alma Mater of yours, Stanford university . . . How many guys have they got that you would "contribute to their fare back to Ohio"? . . . The whole team prabably.

AUDREY'S 14TH FILM

When Audrey Totter completes her role opposite Robert Taylor in M-G-M's "High Wall," she will have completed fourteen pictures in less than three years in Hollywood—a high mark, experts say, of "fan acceptance" for the young actress.

Fresno State Will Hit Road

The Fresno State college Bulldogs will take to the road this week for their first football game of the season away from home, an intersectional clash with the University of New Mexico Lobos in Albuquerque, Saturday afternoon. The team will leave Fresno this Thursday noon and arrive in Albuquerque Friday noon.

Guiana Boxer, Victim Of British Bias, To Seek Title in U. S.

Cliff Anderson, British Guiana-born featherweight champ, has knocked out nine English, Empire, and world champions and yet he can't win a British national title because he is a Negro.

The English people are his champions, however, and twice when unfair decisions were made against him they raised such a howl that police had to be called to prevent a riot.

The Labor government's colonial secretary, Arthur Creech-Jones, took the floor of the house of commons to denounce Britain's color bias, and protests poured in from everywhere.

Anderson, strangely enough, hopes to win his championship in the United States, where at least there is no color discrimination in boxing.

L.A. Rams Play Boston Sunday

The Los Angeles Rams open a four-game home stand in Memorial Coliseum Sunday, hosting a red-hot Boston Yanks' eleven that last week came within four points of upsetting the resurgent Chicago Bears in a 28-24 thriller. The Rams, smarting after two straight defeats on the road, must win Sunday to stay in the Western Division title picture.

Johnson Coach at All-White Ohio Hi

CHICAGO—Nick Johnson, Negro coach at all-white Ursuline High school in Youngstown, Ohio, is called a "Knute Rockne" in the November Negro Digest article "Builder of Grid Champions" because of the many star football players he has produced."

Ursuline high is a Catholic school and students are all white, but color has never entered into Nick's coaching activities. He is not even a member of the Catholic faith. But with consistently undefeated teams whose players later star in college and professional sports, the Negro coach who began as mentor of women basketball players has gained a reputation for Ursuline as the "Miniature Notre Dame."

Ohio state sports writers rank Nick's team as the mythical state champions because of its tremendous scoring power through scintillating, precision-toned plays.

Satchel Paige Bests Feller; Pitches Finale Here Sunday

Satchel Paige bested Bob Feller in their nine-inning stint last Sunday at Wrigley Field before 10,000 fans, beating Feller and his major league All Stars, 8-0. Satchel gave up but three hits, walked four, allowed no runs and struck out 15 batters.

Feller was easy to hit, the Royals gathering 12 bingles, including home runs by Piper Davis and Joe Greene, and eight runs while the American league star struck out five. The All-Stars didn't get a man to third base.

Sunday, November 9, Paige makes his farewell Winter League appearance at Wrigley Field when he leads his Royals against a picked team of Minor League All-Stars at 2:15 p.m. The minor leaguers issued a challenge to Paige and his team and they accepted. Paige is remaining in Los Angeles especially for this game as he had planned to leave for his home in Kansas City yesterday (Wednesday).

Satchel Paige, who stepped into the breach when Dan Bankhead failed to honor his contract, has pitched phenomenal baseball in his four-game stretch, striking out more than 40 batters, allowing only one earned run and walking just six men, while issuing a meager 12 hits. All this against major league ball players makes Satchel, age and all, one of the nation's top twirlers. A large crowd is expected to bid him bon voyage next Sunday at Wrigley Field.

Dons Off For 3-Weeks Jaunt

The Los Angeles Dons left today (Thursday) for their longest road trip of the season—a three-weeks eastern swing through New York, where they will meet the Buffalo Bills, New York Yankees and the Brooklyn Dodgers.

They hope to capture all three games, and on Thanksgiving Day meet the champion Cleveland Browns at home in the Coliseum.

On The Turf

As I See It . . .
— Geo. A. Ramsey

CALIENTE, Old Mexico—General Manager Marty presented one of the best programs of the sport of kings seen in many months last Sunday. In the feature event, "The Halloween" at 1 1/16th miles, Steploch made a show of his field to win going away by four lengths. As my readers remember that the great Chilean was unbeaten at this course and has since departed for Mexico City. The winner paid $5.40.

In the secondary event, "The Roamer," Perfect Lady, trained by that former Negro Jockey M. Julian, scored a handy victory over some of the best sprinters on the grounds. Although winning her last race at Del Mar, the daughter of Bel Aethel-Panicle was overlooked in the betting and she paid the good price of $18.40, $7.40, $7.20 across the board, and ran the six furlongs in 1:12 flat. Another goodie was sprung in the fifth race when Army Song came from fifth place to score by one length. Made favorite by the public, he paid $4.40 in the mutuels.

Four favored horses won for the form players while three longshots brought joy to the $2 bettors. The daily double combination of Hard Life, winner of the second race, and Ebony Latch, victor of the third, paid $33.20, while the quiniela rewarded its backers of Amy's First and Secor with $10.

This Sunday the main attraction will be "The Congo" at six furlongs and will bring together the best sprinters on the grounds for a purse of $1,500, while the secondary attraction will be "The Madrid," also at the same distance. "The Bagdad" will be the tenth race, Seven other races will complete a fine program for the lovers of the sport of kings.

Paradise Cocktail Lounge Popular Rendezvous Of Theatre, Fite Crowd

Dynamite Jackson Parleys Business And Personality To Attain Success

A rendezvous for all particular people, for the well-to-do, the middle class, for prominent theatrical figures, for top names in the boxing world and last but not least for members of the press, is Dynamite Jackson's Paradise Lounge, 5505 So. Central avenue. Presiding over all proceedings at the popular, moderately equipped and beautifully decorated spot is personality-plus Ernest Bendy (Dynamite Jackson to you). At times his socially prominent wife, Mrs. Lula Bendy, can be seen briefly in the background.

Patrons at Dynamite's receive the utmost in service because the entire staff is just like one big happy family. Many working there now were there when the spot opened and very few changes have been made. For example there's Rosemary Goode and Inez Coleman, two waitresses without par, who are friendly to all customers but strictly in a business-like way, and the personable day waitress, Eloise B. Carlisle.

DYNAMITE

Bartenders that really are bartenders make up the gleesome three-some at the Paradise. They are: Theodore (Chubby) Johnson, Odell James (Slim) Harbert and Louis (Curly) Brown. Occasionally Dynamite goes behind the bar to show the boys how it is done.

The excellent food is fast winning notice at the Paradise and the kitchen is under the management of Chef Ray Mills, who has forgotten more about about cooking than most chefs will ever learn. His capable assistant is James Numan. Mills specializes in French-dipped sandwiches at a moderate price and fried chicken with all the trimmings at the lowest price in town.

Dynamite Jackson's Liquor Store is located just next door at 5501 So. Central avenue. Here fine bargains in liquor, beer and wine are to be had. Free and speedy delivery service makes it a good deal to be a patron of Dynamite's. Serving you over the counter is Eddie Lambert, Jimmie Jackson and Dynamite himself.

Thus you have a lineup on one of the finest cocktail bars in the city and an excellent adjoining liquor store which is well-stocked in quality goods. A good bet is to start ordering your Xmas liquors now from Dynamite so that he can take care of your holiday needs.

Popularity of the cocktail lounge can be entirely attributed to the personality of Dynamite Jackson, who has a legion of friends from the tip of Southern California to the utmost tip of the bay area. They prove this friendship by crowding the spot nightly and each one is welcomed individually by Dynamite and made to feel at home. Make Dynamite's a "must" on your next night out or come in during the day and take advantage of the lowest prices on quality drinks in the entire city.

'Burning Cross', Film Expose Of Klan, At Eight Theatres

Walter Colmes, the young progressive producer-director of Screen Guild's "The Burning Cross," now showing at 8 Los Angeles theatres, deserves great praise for his daring expose of the Ku Klux Klan.

Other Hollywood producers felt that the Ku Klux Klan was too hot to handle, but screenland's fastest-rising young producer-director knew the story of the hooded persecutors had to be told. Colmes brings to the screen the actual facts concerning the activities of the Ku Klux Klan during the post-war period. Here is an action-packed film, as exciting as today and as new as tomorrow.

The theatres showing "The Burning Cross" in Los Angeles for the first time are the Picfair, Vermont, Arlington, Cinema, Melvan, Canon, American and Jewel.

Body and Soul' With Canada Lee to Open Here Soon

The director whispered to the assistant director and the assistant director cried, "Quiet Please." About 300 actors and actresses on the set of "Body and Soul" were so quiet you could have heard a fly tramp across the sound boom.

John Garfield was in the ring with Canada Lee and he was supposed to knock the former contender out so that he could become world's champion. That's the way the script was written and that's the way director Robert Rossen wanted it.

Garfield gave Canada Lee a terrific beating. In fact, Lee took such a beating that 300 people were wiping their brows and breathing raspingly by the time Lee had been floored for the fourth and final time.

Rossen seemed very impressed as the lights went up and Lee climbed laboriously to his feet.

"That was fine," he said, "now we'll do it again."

Canada, who actually gave up a promising prize-fighting career when he suffered an eye injury, has an important featured role in "Body and Soul" which co-stars John Garfield with Lilli Palmer.

After Canada loses the world's championship to Garfield, in the screenplay, he becomes his trainer and pal.

"Body and Soul" opens soon at the 5 Music Hall theatres.

A ROCKIN' BOOGIE DANCE will be given at the CIO Hall on December 6, featuring Joe Lutcher and his orchestra. Lutcher, who is now appearing at Jack's Basket Room, will play for the UNAVA cocktail party, Saturday night at West Adams blvd.

IN NEW ROLE as hostess at the Last Word Cafe, Maxine Herriford, popular figure in nite club circles, is greeting scores of friends there nightly. In her association with notables of the screen, stage and radio over a long period of time, Miss Herriford brings a wealth of popularity as well as experience to her new post.

JESSIE PRICE, Capitol recording artist, and his band, open at the Rose Room in the Hotel Morris, 509 E. 5th st., Friday night with a gala celebration featuring the band playing selections which brought them national fame. The Rose Room is a popular spot where particular patrons come to relax.

NEW YORK—Ella Fitzgerald's sensational riff ideas, which she recently incorporated into her swingy version of "Oh, Lady Be Good" and "Flying Home" have won her a distinction never before enjoyed by any record. This record, although less than six months old, has been designated by the Record Collectors' Exchange of New York as a "collector's item!" This honor is usually reserved for at least two years following the release date of any recording. In the entire history of the Exchange there has been only one other record accorded the "collector's item" distinction in less than 18 months. The Harmonicats' recording of "Peg o' My Heart" was accorded the unusual recognition after five months on the market.

5,000,000 Have Heard Hawkins

SHREVEPORT, La.—A momentous milestone was reached in the career of Erskine Hawkins, the Twentieth Century Gabriel, at the Park Palace Ballroom here last week when the 5,000,000th customer was drawn to the ticket window to hear his band in action on a one night stand. Since the then newly formed band took to the road for their first tour back in 1932.

Tyrone Power Fed Goats' Eyes As Guest Of Haile Selassie

Emperor Haile Selassie, the Lion of Judah, entertained Tyrone Power and his party at a sumptuous banquet in the palace at which goats' eyes were served, a delicacy reserved usually for royalty and top diplomats.

Power, who is on a 35,000-mile air trip through Africa and Europe, cabled 20th Century-Fox that he managed to uphold Hollywood's dignity by eating the strange and exotic foods. He reported that the emperor had given him and his companions a reception in the ancient capital of Addis Ababa that they never would forget.

Earlier in the day, the emperor arranged for Power and his party to hunt lions, but though they beat the bush for miles through lion country, they failed to sight any. A heavy rain caught them on the veldt.

Power flew to Addis Ababa from Johannesburg, South Africa, where more than a half million people lined the route from the airport to the hotel. The crowd once broke through the police cordon and started to lift the car Ty was riding in, to carry it, when police reserves rescued them.

Jose Iturbi spent four years as head of the piano faculty at the Conservatory of Geneva—a post once held by Franz Liszt.

Calvary Baptist Church Holds Colorful Dedication Ceremonies

SANTA MONICA—The pastor and congregation of Calvary Baptist church held impressive dedication services in their new and beautiful church building at 20th and Broadway last Sunday.

The occasion was an eventful one, preceded by a mammoth parade with a ten-man police escort, a siren car and more than 250 automobiles taking part. Various organizations were represented in the huge parade, with motion picture machines grinding away, taking pictures of the large turnout.

The morning services were carried over the air by Santa Monica's municipal radio station. The famous Echoes of Eden choir was on hand to give the jubilant crowd the benefit of its melodious music and songs.

The present week will be a busy one at the church, with a fine program every night.

The California EAGLE joined the many Santa Monica business places in wishing for the pastor and congregation the greatest success and hapiness in their new home.

Berkeley Mayor Hits Covenants

BERKELEY—Mayor Laurence L. Cross this week condemned restrictive covenants as violating the principles for which "our sons fought and died" in a statement to the Clairemont Improvement Association and the press.

The mayor's statement was issued in response to an appeal by Dr. DeWitt A. Buckingham, who has been enjoined from residing in his $25,000 Claremont home because he is a Negro. Dr. Buckingham has declared he will take the case to the U. S. supreme court, if necessary.

Jeff Defeats L.A. Romans

Aided by Jim Dyer, Maurice Hill, Charles Lewis, Wamack Stephens, and "Lady Luck," Jefferson's up and coming Democrats rolled to their second straight Southern League victory Friday afternoon on Fulton Field, when they turned back a hard fighting band of Los Angeles Romans, 13-8.

The Romans, who outplayed the Green and Gold all day, jumped into an early lead midway in the first quarter when quarterback Jim Pendleton climaxed a 44 yard drive with a one yard "sneak" to score. The attempted conversion was missed.

Jefferson's "Jet Pet" Jim Dyer came roaring right back to tie things up. Dyer took a hand-off from his quarterback, raced around his own left end, tripped out of the hands of four or five tacklers, and galloped 44 yards to a TD. Maurice Hill crossed up the Blue and White defense by running the extra point across instead of attempting a conversion from placement.

The Olympic Boulevard boys weren't behind long however. Putting up a defense that completely baffled the Democrats, the Romans guards and tackles repeatedly crashed through the outplayed Green forward wall to throw their halfbacks for long losses. In the second quarter, a Roman broke through the Democrat line and tossed Dyer to the turf in his own end zone for two points.

The third quarter was completely dominated by the Romans, who missed several possible touchdowns threw spasmatic moments of "fumbleitis."

Midway in the final stanza, "chuckin' Charles" Lewis connected with Wamack Stephens for an eleven yard touchdown pass that put the game "on ice" for the local lads.

Shortly before the game ended, Jefferson's All-City candidate Dyer brought the Green and Gold supporters to their feet once again when he entercepted a desperation Roman pass and returned it 52 yards before he was dragged down from behind.

Washington Is Favored Friday

Setting their traps in hopes of pulling the "prep upset of the year" when they meet the three touchdown favorite Washington Generals on Fulton Field Friday afternoon at 3:00 p.m., Coach Henry Aldis and his "fired up" Jefferson Democrats have been working behind "locked" doors long after the last shadows have fallen on Fulton Field.

Both teams being undefeated and untied in Southern League and practice games, the Friday afternoon "get together" should go a long way in proving who is "top dog" in not only the Dixie loop, but the City as well.

Pre-game dopesters have labeled the Generals three touchdown favorites as a result of their more impressive victories, and on the merits of their "touchdown twins" Hugh McElhenny and Bob Cameron. The Washington boys also boast a line that will probably outweigh the Democrats in the neighborhood of twenty pounds per man.

Harlem Globetrotters Gird For Coming Basketball Year

CHICAGO, Ill.—The finest looking squad of players in the spectacular history of the Harlem Globetrotters basketball organization is hard at work here preparing for the start of the 1947-48 season. The players retained will be divided among the three crack quintets now a part of the organization—the Harlem Globetrotters Eastern unit, led by Louis (Babe) Pressley; Harlem Globetrotters Western unit, captained by Lorenzo (Piper) Davis, and the Kansas City Stars.

The Pressley group will be the one carrying on the 20-year record that now totals 2,886 victories against 225 defeats.

The pre-season schedule of practice and exhibition games gets under way Nov. 10 for the Globetrotters' Eastern team and the Kansas City Stars, while the Trotters' Western club is slated to start Nov. 12.

Acquits Cab Driver in Local 'Scottsboro Case'

Court Throws Out Woman's Assault' Charge

esse Raphael, 28-year-old cab er and honorably discharged ld War II veteran, was ac- tted last Friday in Judge nd's court of a charge of at- pted rape.

Because of the trumped-up ture of the charge and its cist implications the case d become known as the lo- Scottsboro case. It was ed not only to effect the fir- of Raphael, who was for- rly employed by a large lo- cab company, but as a ringboard for a general at- pt to eliminate Negro cab vers from the city's streets.

aphael was arrested last ember 18 on a charge by Ruth Tatum, a white native thoman, of attempting to as- sault her while she was a pas- senger in his cab. Bail was set at $5000.

In court last Friday, Mrs. Tatum's story of the alleged at- tempted assault was virtually picked to pieces by Atty. Earl C. Broady, defense counsel.

he Thomas Un-American Activities Committee on the way out?

It should be.

As I see it, the wolf in sheep's clothing, which is the description of the Thomas Committee that I can think got a great walloping from those Hollywood citizens poenaed to appear before it.

We, on this end, watched with bated breath the de- tment of Alvah Bessie, Herbert Biberman, Albert tz, Dalton Trumbo, and that master historian, John vard Lawson, as well as the other 14 as they appeared ore what seemed to have dwindled into a two-men's in- ition.

And now, as I see it, what was intended to be the 1947 gest smear of the movieland industry, has brought into limelight instead, a group of citizens who stood out inst nothing short of assassination when they defended right of freedom of thought and speech.

It makes me think of that obsolete expression: "Oh, at a tangled web we weave, when first we practice to eive."

In all Hollywood, in fact in all the land, a more rageous group has not been found.

When they battled Thomas and his un-American wit- ses in their fear-breeding campaign, aimed at the de- uction of the Constitution and the Bill of Rights—the s of our ancestors to us—they were speaking not for mselves, but for us, the people.

Now it is our time to speak.

In San Francisco, 25 ministers and rabbis issued a pro- at the tactics of the Tenney and Thomas un-American mmittees as endangering "Fundamental Freedoms.".

The signatures appearing on the document were:

The Reverends J. W. Byrd, Epworth Methodist; R. V. lrotti, Westminster Presbyterian Center; R. W. Moon, k-Presidio United; A. G. Fisk, S. F. State College; R. H. ason, Geneva Avenue Methodist; E. L. Abbot, Grace ted;

R. H. Richardson, Hamilton Methodist; E. J. Troutner, rkside Methodist; C. S. S. Dutton, First Unitarian; J. C. fler, St. Luke's Episcopal; H. Boswell, Jones Memorial thodist; K. W. Adams, Calvary Methodist; W. T. Gil- ie, St. Paul's Presbyterian; Barnes Anderson, Lebanon sbyterian; E. J. Campbell, Lincoln Park Presbyterian; C. Cox, Trinity Center; W. C. Subke, Seventh Avenue sbyterian; J. H. Woodruff, First Congregational;

Rabbis Saul White, Beth Sholam; Elliot Burstein, Beth el; Franklin Cohen, Histadruth; Morris Fischel, evra Thilim; Morris Goldstein, Sherith Israel; Rudolph ffee, Committee for Personal Service; Irving Reichert, anu-El.

While speaking to a capacity house at the greater Sec- Baptist Church last Sunday morning, Dr. J. Raymond nderson, while condemning not only the tactics but the rit of these un-American Activities Committees, said y attacked the citadel of man's freedom.

Said he: "The time is rapidly approaching when the wer usurped by the State will be attacked by the peo- since the people are the State. I am a preacher and a der, but I do not preach a doctrine of fear. I believe in edom of worship, freedom of speech, and freedom of ught. I hold that such was and is the doctrine of Jesus. on't doubt but that Jesus would be attacked by the omas or Tenney Committee if He were on earth today."

Los Angeles' ministry and churches must arouse mselves to a sense of the great demands that are upon m. Chief among these demands is the gigantic struggle inst the Thomas committee that took its first shot at the eral writers and producers of moving pictures which ouse the cause of liberty and freedom for all people, ck and white. Who oppose restrictive covenants that aim fence certain minorities, Negroes and Mexicans, in

Yellow Cab Fires Driver Who Hit Bias Practices

Within one week of a speech he made in his union meeting criticizing alleged discriminatory practices by the Yellow Cab Company, Samuel B. Wilcox, 38, of 238 East 31st St., was fired by the company.

Reason for his discharge, as given by the company, was the claim that Wilcox had passed through a red light and made a U-turn on 23rd and Naomi last Thursday morning. That's the story of company road man Ferguson and Yellow Cab Company officials thought it was good enough despite the testimony of eye-witnesses that Wilcox neither passed through the red light nor made a U-turn at the time and place designated by Ferguson.

Wilcox told the EAGLE that Ferguson was at Central avenue when he is supposed to have seen Wilcox pass the red light on Naomi. He explained that the cab he was driving was a Packard and that it was impossible for him to have made a U-turn on 23rd street, as claimed by Ferguson.

Wilcox spoke at a meeting of the Teamsters Joint Council No. 2 on Oct. 31, at which he protested the company's treatment of its Negro drivers, charged that Negro drivers are segregated at Union Station, permitted to accept passengers, and then only Negro passengers, only if no white drivers were available. He said this practice serves to impress

Hits Builders' Sabotage of Low Cost Housing

Private builders were sharply criticized for not providing low-rent housing units yesterday as a two-day congressional probe into the local housing shortage got under way in the Federal Building. Rep. Charles R. Fletcher, San Diego Republican, is conducting the one-man investigation.

The first day of the hearing was given over almost exclusively to builders and contractors, who called for control of exports to foreign countries, greater productivity of labor and relaxation of building and zoning code requirements.

Harold Dunton, president of the First Federal Loan and Savings Assn. of Altadena, denounced as "a badge of shame to the nation" the failure to pro-

Scrap Rankin Committee Cry Of Shrine Rally

The thousands who crowded into the Shrine auditorium last Sunday evening to hear the story of the Thomas-Rankin Un-American Activities Committee witch hunt, conducted against the motion-picture industry, gave ample evidence that the people of America do not intend to take this usurpation of their liberties lying down.

"This," said Robert W. Kenny, former California attorney general, as he suveyed the packed masses, "may well be a turning-point in the trend toward Fascism which we see in America today. Conditions will surely either grow better, or they will grow worse, from now on."

Kenny, who acted as chairman for the meeting, was one of the attorneys who went to Washington with the 19 subpoenaed writers, actors, and directors of Hollywood and acted as their advisor.

In his story of what happened in Washington, Kenny warned that the fight being made by the screen workers is but part of the fight that must be made by all America.

"A free screen means a free America," said Kenny. "When I appeal to you to undertake a campaign for a free screen. I am asking you to undertake a campaign for a free America. If the battle is not won on this level, you will have to fight it when it

NAACP Reports On Sears Thurs. At Mass Rally

SANTA MONICA—A committee of the Santa Monica branch of the NAACP finally met with the management of the Sears Roebuck and company store at Third and Colorado Monday, and will report results to a mass meeting Thursday night, according to Frank Barnes, NAACP president.

The NAACP has been attempting to discuss the question of discriminatory hiring by the Sears store since it opened in August, but was unable to secure such a conference with the management until this week.

Plans were announced by the NAACP a few weeks ago to picket and boycott the Sears

NNC Conference Told Need of Third Party

The need for a Third party was again stressed by Harper W. Poulson, principal speaker at the regular annual meeting of the National Negro Congress held in the Masonic Temple, 50th and Central, last Sunday.

Poulson went into the history of Third party movements, especially that of 1854, which produced the present Republican party. He pointed out that although that party did not win in the first elections that were held, it won with the election of Lincoln in 1860.

All Third party movements, he said, have resulted in greater strides toward liberalism, even if they are not successful at the polls. And in 1948, with the two major parties virtually advocating the same platform, a Third party is desperately needed to give the people of America a choice for whom to vote in the November elections.

Three panels were held with discussions on legislative work led by Hon. Augustus Hawkins, member of the state assembly; police brutality, by Leo Gallagher; and housing, by Sidney Moore.

More active work on the part of every member of the National Negro Congress was urged in each discussion.

Miss Helen Samuels, executive secretary, gave a detailed report of the splendid work done by the

The court order overriding the censor board was issued after a hearing sought on an appeal by Screen Gild Productions, Inc., distributors of the picture.

Atty. Gen. Files Plea With High Court in 3 Cases

WASHINGTON—U. S. Atty. Gen. Tom Clark yesterday filed a plea with the U. S. Supreme Court in three cases involving restrictive covenants in Washington, Detroit, and St. Louis.

The government's plea asked the court to forbid enforcement of private real estate agreements barring the sale or rent of property to Negroes, Jews and other minority groups. It condemned such agreements as violative of the constitution and the Civil Rights Act, and contrary to the public policy of the United States.

The first instance of government intervention in a court case involving racial discrimination, the action followed on the heels of the publication of the report of the President's Committee on Civil Rights.

Several weeks ago Clark stated he was "embarrassed" by the action of the NAACP in filing an appeal with the United Nations to act on Jimcrow oppression in this country.

Gov't. Backs Complaint of 21 RR Workers

NEW YORK—The federal government yesterday asked the federal court of the District of Columbia for permission to intervene in the suit of 21 Negro locomotive firemen seeking reinstatement and damages on the ground that the Southwestern railroads and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen have not obeyed the 1944 decision of the U.S. supreme court prohibiting discrimination.

This action was the second affirmative step in a discrimination proceeding taken by the government since the release of the Report of the President's Committee on Civil Rights. First action was the move by Atty. Gen. Tom Clark to intervene in several restrictive covenants cases now before the high court.

In the move to obtain compliance with the Railway Labor Act, Robert L. Stern, special assistant to the attorney general, and George Morris Fay, U.S. attorney, said, "The question in this case is whether the defendants should be allowed to continually flout the supreme court's decision."

They pointed out that the Southern Railway, one of the defendants, had urged, in opposing a motion for a temporary injunc-

County Assailed For Closing of Farmers Market

The Los Angeles CIO Council yesterday charged that the Los Angeles county government "has been placed at the disposal of the food trusts to break the back of labor-operated farmers' markets in Los Angeles."

The charge grew out of the arrest last Saturday of William Belton, manager of the CIO farmers' market which opened Friday afternoon in the 6600 block on South Central ave.

Fruits, vegetables and eggs, trucked in by farmers, were sold to consumers at wholesale prices in an effort, CIO Council leaders said, 'to bring food prices down to the size of workers' pay checks."

Belton was arrested on a warrant obtained by the district attorney's office on a complaint issued by county health officers. The charge was "operating a market without a permit."

Connelly Assails Vote Sabotage By Supervisors

The Los Angeles CIO Council yesterday called on the county board of supervisors to reconsider its decision of last week against immediate registration of 1,200,000 unregistered potential voters and demanded that special steps be taken to increase registration of the Negro and Mexican people.

A statement issued by Philip M. Connelly, CIO Council secretary, declared "we know that the same registration facilities are not granted in areas where Negro and Mexican Americans predominate. We want a real door to door registration campaign."

Supervisor John Anson Ford first moved to start the registration drive immediately. After this motion was defeated by a four to one vote, Ford then moved to commence registration December 1. The same combination of Supervisors Roger Jessup, William A. Smith, Leonard J. Roach and Raymond V. Darby voted down the December date.

"The men who voted against this measure were not even willing to hear the full argument for it," said Connelly. "They gave it less time on their agenda than they would give a zoning case or the letting of a minor sewer contract. It is not a coincidence that these men are all Republicans. They are as aware as is the CIO that when the people are not registered and when they do not vote in overwhelming numbers, the candidates of greedy special interest groups win.

"These supervisors who argue that $15,000 is too much to spend to register possibly 150,000 voters would gladly spend $25,000 to $50,000 to invade the civil rights of county employes by carrying out a phoney loyalty check. We believe that every resource of government should be used to bolster our democratic processes by making it just as easy as posible to register, by carrying on the most energetic campaign which can be organized."

High Court to Hear Plea for Miss. Youth

NEW YORK—Mississippi's attempted legal lynching of Eddie (Buster) Patton will be challenged by NAACP attorneys before the United States supreme court during the week of Nov. 20. The appeal for Patton will be based on the systematic exclusion of Negroes from the grand and petit juries in Lauderdale county, Mississippi, and the use of force and duress to obtain an alleged confession from the youth.

Patton was sentenced to death by the circuit court of Lauderdale for the alleged murder of a Jim Meadows, a white man. The sentence was upheld by the Mississippi supreme court, which rejected defense contention that Negroes were systematically excluded from juries in the county.

MOSCOW—Price cuts as high as 32 percent on some items were announced in consumers' cooperative stores in Moscow and Leningrad this week.

NEW YORK—Industry profits for the first half of 1947 soared 127 percent above the corresponding six months of 1946, an independent survey by the conservative New York Times reveals.

blighted areas. Who are against discrimination in employment in industries, and in public places of amusement, in colleges, and in universities.

Why should our State and Federal government spend taxpayers' money to dig up information that means nothing except satisfying the ego of Messrs. Thomas and Tenney?

In California, according to the Chamber of Commerce, the Legislature has no less than 54 interim committees with a total appropriation of $1,043,000. This sum should be used to house GIs and other American families living in river beds, gutters, and garages.

Our ministers, our churches, and the people must join in one loud protest against the un-American Activities Committees, more un-American than those they accuse.

AFL Painters Hit Job Bias

A resolution condemning discrimination in employment today was before the joint board of AFL Painters and employer contractors, industry-union grievance body.

The resolution was passed by Local 116 of the Painters and sent to the Painters District Council 36 along with a request that the council refuse to send men to contractors who will not hire Negroes.

Local 116 also appointed five delegates to the Committee Against Restrictive Covenants formed by AFL Carpenters Local 634.

The anti-bias resolution, along with a similar one from Painters Local 1348, was forwarded to the joint board by the district council.

Young Matron Wins Divorce

Lois Youngblood, 12253 Slater ave., beautiful mother of two children, won a decree of divorce from her husband, Willie Youngblood Jr., same address, popular Transit Lines employe, last week, in the local superior court after Judge Alfred L. Bartlett heard testimony that Youngblood had been cruel to the young woman and her children.

Corroborating the testimony of Mrs. Youngblood was Mrs. Edna Richie, 3698 Fifth ave., wife of Floyd Richie, well known postal employe, who has herself filed suit of divorce.

Mrs. Youngblood, who was represented by Attorney Walter L. Gordon Jr., was awarded the residence and home the couple were buying, and custody of the children.

Nickerson Scion In Court Friday

Melvin Nickerson, youngest son of the late William Nickerson Jr., founder and first president of the Golden State Life Insurance Company, will appear in Division No. 4 of the municipal court tomorrow to answer charges of "suspicion" of assault upon his estranged wife, the former Frances Carrol of the famed Carol sisters of Pasadena, his attorney, Curtis C. Taylor, told the EAGLE yesterday.

Young Nickerson was taken into custody on Halloween night by a squad of officers from the 77th street police station while having a peaceful and happy visit with his two young sons over whom he has legal custody pending the result of a divorce action now on the court calendar.

The police action followed an anonymous telephone call to police headquarters directing them to the South Los Angeles home where Nickerson's two sons are residing.

Nickerson was released the following day on a writ of habeas corpus filed by Attorney Taylor.

LIVER
Auto-Toxemia—Biliousness

Don't be discouraged: Read what this famous doctor says: "This condition is very common, and is present in nearly every disease. Often when a complete physical examination will not disclose any organic disease, and where the diagnosing physician is baffled as to the cause of the patient's depression, it will be found that he is simply suffering from a form of self-poisoning from the products of perverted metabolism, the poisons thus engendered not being sufficiently eliminated through the usual channels for the purpose.

"In my office experience I have had many patients present themselves to me for examination, who have been put through most exhaustive examinations by other physicians who have told them to go home and forget about their troubles; that there was really nothing wrong with them; that they only imagined they were sick; or that they must be nervous. If these patients do not suffer from pain, and I cannot discover any organic disease, I always assume that they are suffering from some form of toxemia, which is, in almost every case, produced by poisons manufactured within their own bodies, but which have not been eliminate. The toxins produced in the organism alter the chemistry of the blood and other fluids in which the tissues of the body live..

"Perfect health depends upon the proper chemistry of the fluids of the body.

"This self-poisoning is produced mainly by the following factors:

"When the body is enervated by a waste of mental or physical energy there will often not be enough nerve force to operate the eliminative functions properly, and the normal wastes of the body will not be thrown out rapidly enough, but will remain in the tissues and interfere with the normal functioning of the organs and glands. Constipation exists in nearly every case of auto-toxemia, and is responsible for providing much toxic material which over-burdens the blood with waste products. If more food is used and digested than the tissues can assimilate there will be an excess of unabsorbed food material in the blood stream with a consequent state of self-poisoning. If food material in the blood cannot be used by the body for repairing tissues, it will in every case act as a poison until it is eliminated.

"Another cause wirth mentioning is too free a use of those foods which make an excess of bile. The bile is used ts a digestive fluid, and also as a method of excreting poisons. Certain foods must pass through the liver in the changes necessary before they can be used by the cells of the body.

"If the liver is over-worked with these food materials, it will not have sufficient time or energy to perform its regular function of excreting the normal wastes of the body.

"Anyone siffering from auto-toxemia will feel very depressed, will be tired at all times, and sleep will not refresh him. He will have a coated tongue, a poor circulation, bad color of the skin, and will have "the blues" without any good and sufficient reason."

Daniel C. Munro, M.D., says: "If I were to write the story of all the cases in which colonic irrigations seem to lift the patient from the very jaws of death, it would fill columes."

Dr. Chas. A. Tyrell, M.D., eminent physicians, says: "If the colon is clogged, the penned-up acid permeations of the stomach and duodenum will have to seek other outlets.

"The most rational and practical manner of dealing with this breeding place of disease, is to wash it out.

"With me, it has passed beyond the theoretical stage, for I have in my office fully 15,000 letters from grateful patients who have used this process, under my direction, with the most astounding results; scarcely a disease known to humanity, but has been relieved, and in ninety-five per cent of the cases, cures effected, while tens of thousands of gratifying messages have reached me from time to time; nor is the testimony in its favor confined to the laity, for hundreds of physicians (including some of the most prominent authorities) testify to the wonderful beneficial results achieved by its use."

"Constipation is one of the greatest causes of disease, misery, inefficiency and premature senility, and should be most earnestly combatted," says Dr. Kellogg of Battle Creek Sanitarium fame.

"Every case of constipation is curable, but not by means of any panacea.

"A coated tongue, a sollow complexion, dark circles around the eyes, appearance of brown spots upon the hands or other parts (the so called liver spots), offensive breath and perspiration . . a thin inelastic, parchment-like skin, dullness of mind, mental irritability or depression without cause, cold hands and feet, chronic headache, arthritis, neuritis, rheumatism, asthma, pains around the heart—these and a score of other symptoms which might be mentioned are certain indications of chronic poisoning.

"A thorough cleansing of the colon, removing the cause, may prevent more serious conditions."

Residents of Los Angeles are fortunate in having the New Yorker, a haven for those who suffer, where the cause may be removed. New Yorker specializes in thoroughly cleansing and eliminating from the colon all waste matter causing toxic poisons. Rid yourself of toxic poisons. If suffering, come to our office at once. Lauds Presbytery's Stand on Covenants

Action of the Los Angeles Presbytery in instructing all Presbyterian ministers not to participate in enforcing restrictive covenants was hailed here this week as "significant and important" in the intensifying war on discrimination.

Edgar Johnson, first Negro to be appointed a member of the Presbytery Extension board, said "it is a characteristic action of the Presbyterian Church, which is historically unprejudiced. It is in keeping with the democratic institutions of the church to treat all men fairly and equally."

Johnson, who is secretary-treasurer of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Co., is a member of the Westminster Presbyterian church.

The Presbytery's stand against restrivtice covenants was taken after Johnson had written a letter to the body protesting actions of Rev. W. Clarence Wright, minister of the Wilshire Presbyterian church, who was chief complainant in restrictive covenant court action aaginst three Negro families in his neighborhood.

Johnson predicted that the Presbytery would bring "sufficient pressure" to bear on Reverend Wright to force him either to withdraw his name from the complaint or invite disciplinary action.

Reverend Wright's attorney, Bernard Brennan, president of the Republican Assembly of the 43rd district, said his client had not spoken to him about withdrawing his name from the complaint.

The complaint was one of five recently turned down by Judge Stanley Mosk who termed restrictive covenant enforcement by the courts "reprehensible" and "un-American."

Brennen, however, said Judge Mosk's ruling was being appealed to the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Meantime, a new "Wilshire Defense Committee" composed of 28 non-Caucasian families in the Southwest Wilshire area, has been set up to press the fight against covenants in that area.

Leaders of the new group are Dr. H. Claude Hudon, prominent Eastside dentist and civic leader, and Dr. Yin Kim, Korean dentist, who served overseas as a captain in the army in World War II.

Publication Seeks Unknown Author of 'I Passed for White'

NEW YORK (CNS)—The editors of True Confessions magazine sent out an SOS in their current November issue appealing to the Negro girl who wrote "I Passed For White" to please identify herself. They commented that her story is "one of the most fascinating and amazing we have ever read." The story tells how the girl, passing for white, obtained a nurse's training in a metropolitan hospital.

However, True Confessions assert they cannot publish it until they know who she is and have "an opportunity to verify the story in a manner that will not embarrass her." They ask that she wire or write at once, and promise that her identity will be kept in "strictist confidence."

The fictitious name given by the girl in submitting the manuscript was Julia Brace.

Allen Seeks Armory For 6th Combat Gr'p

Councilman Don A. Allen petitioned the City Park Department yesterday to obtain space for a National Guard Armory to house the activities of the 6th. Combat Engineers Group.

The whole Group, less two companies, has been activated in Los Angeles and has reached a strength of over 400 officers and enlisted men, all Negroes.

In a communication to Councilman Allen by Major General C. D. O'Sullivan, adjutant general of the State of California, the general appealed to Councilman Allen to assist him in obtaining such space.

The general further pointed out to Councilman Allen the desperate plight of this crack outfit and other outfits in a recent letter . . . "the great obstacle to continued progress is the lack of adequate Armory facilities. At present this splendid group and other groups are located in the Armory at 700 Exposition boulevard, but this Armory is seriously overcrowded and the federal inspectors will not approve of any further increase in strength."

Children's Court Saved Many Homes

In a report from Judge Georgia P. Bullock, presiding judge in Department 8A of the Superior Court of Los Angeles, the Children's Court of Conciliation, 13th floor, City Hall, is given high praise for its work under the direction of Commissioner Margaret C. Harpstrite.

When judges of other courts feel there is any possibility of a reconciliation in the many divorce cases that come before them, the cases are referred to the Conciliation Court.

During the six months' period from March to August, out of 363 such cases filed there were 146 reconciliations. During the previous year, from March, 1946 to March, 1947, there were 699 cases filed, with 842 children involved. Out of this number there were 257 homes saved, with a percentage of reconciliations of 36.76.

Handy was named as an official representative of ASCAP at the ceremonies, in response to an invitation of the Fisk trustees and faculty extended to the society through its president, Deems Taylor.

Handy will observe his 74th birthday on Nov. 16 at his home in Tuckahoe, N. Y.

Georgia Masonic Grand Master Hails Progress of L.A. Masons

"When God made the West, He made the Best." This was the declaration of John Wesley Dobbs, grand master of Masons for the State of Georgia. The grand master making his first visit to California arrived here last week from Dallas, Texas; where he went as one of the nation's active 33rd - degree Masons to confer the honorary degree upon a group of Masons who had assembled in the Texas city to receive the coveted Masonic honors.

"Actually California is all that I've heard favorably about it. The hospitality and friendliness of its people, the extraordinary climate and the amazing growth and leadership of Prince Hall Masons that is so rapidly becoming the chief topic where men and Masons meet."

Grand Master Dobbs arrived here with his wife to visit the imperial assistant rabaan, Joseph L. Oliver of the Shriners, after having spent a fortnight in the northern part of the State as the house guest of Attorney George R. Vaughns, grand master of California and jurisdiction.

The Georgia grand master is an executive director of the Citizen Trust Company, Negro-owned federal Bank at Atlanta, Georgia. He was one of the founders of the Postal Alliance at Atlanta, Georgia.

While speaking as an honored guest of the Liberty Building Loan Association it was noted he is an authority on the nation's Negro statistics.

While he declined to forecast the possibility of the Imperial Shriners holding their annual conclave here in the near future, it is hoped his impression of California will lend much weight in bringing that national organization here in 1949.

He is the father of six very attractive daughters, all students and graduates of Spellman's college.

While here in Los Angeles last week, he and Mrs. Dobbs, were roundly entertained by the Olivers, the Los Angeles and San Diego Shrine Temples, Pacific Town Club, Liberty Building Loan company and many others.

Dobbs is a ranking officer of the Grand Order of Elks, Postal Alliance, Imperial Council Nobles of the Mystic Shriners and a recognized political leader in the State of Georgia.

High Court to Give Decision on School Jimcrow

WASHINGTON—The U. S. supreme court yesterday agreed to decide whether Oklahoma must admit a qualified Negro applicant to its state university's law school.

Oklahoma courts have upheld the jimcrow educational system in that state, ruling it is illegal to admit Negroes to "white" schools or whites to "Negro" schools.

The test case was brought by Ada Lois Sipuel, a graduate of Oklahoma's Langston university for Negroes. She sought, and was denied, admission to the University of Oklahoma Law school.

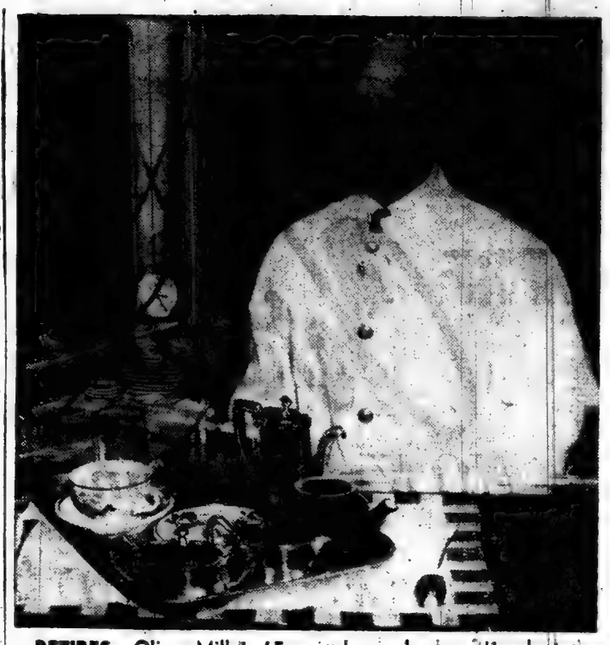
Wallace Lashes Army Jimcrow, Drive for War



ST. LOUIS—The United States will not work for peace "as long as the present combination of Wall Street men and military men is in charge of the Democratic party and the foreign policy of this nation," former Vice-President Henry A. Wallace told a Progressive Citizens of America rally here.

Wallace lashed out at those now conducting United States foreign policy and said that while the late President Roosevelt also had Wall Street men and military officials working for him, "Under Roosevelt, he ran the Wall Street men — they didn't run him."

Wallace, who recently returned from a trip to Palestine and Europe, said the Truman administration is leading the nation toward economic depression, peace-time conscription, unnecessary military appropriations and the rebuilding of German industry at the expense of Germany's former enemies.

"No American with a sense of justice or freedom or democracy can look at the policy of racial segregation in our armed forces and believe that the program of universal military training is, as it is so often advertised, a plan to give our 18-year-olds education in democracy," he said.

Wallace also criticized the House un-American Committee, which he charged with setting up its own "higher laws" just as the Nazis established their own "higher law."

RETIRES—Oliver Millet, 65, popular parlor car attendant on Southern Pacific's "Del Monte Limited," who has just retired after more than 45 years of railroad service.

Southern Pacific Car Attendant Retires After 45 Years on Road; To Make Home in S. California

Rounding out a railroad career of more than 45 years, Oliver Millet, 65, known to three generations of railroad travelers as the friendly and capable parlor car attendant on Southern Pacifics' "Del Monte Limited," operating between San Francisco and Pacific Grove in California, retired from active service November1.

Attesting to Millet's popularity, a group of prominent citizens honored him at Monterey on his last run and presented him with a handsom gold wrist watch as a token of their esteem. He was hailed at other stations along the route and when his train came to a stop in San Francisco a delegation of railroad officers and employes, headed by H. A. Butler, manager of dining car service, and Division Superintendent J. J. Jordan, was on hand to greet him.

The late Samuel G. Blythe, internationally known writer, once acclaimed Oliver as "one of the great institutions of Southern Pacific and the Monterey Peninsula." During his long career as parlor car attendant Oliver was a trusted friend, an attentive host, watchful guardian, dispenser of comforts and doer of favors. He chaperoned children, helped mothers in distress, and rendered untold personal favors.

Not once during his long years of serving the traveling public has a complaint ever been filed against Millet. He was born in Charendon, La., October 16, 1881. He served as a waiter in the famous Chess & Checkers Club of New Orleans. He started with Southern Pacific in 1902 as a waiter on the "Sunset Limited", operating between New Orleans and San Francisco. Since 1915 he had been in charge of the railroad's parlor-buffet car on the "Del Monte Limited", which train serves the famous Monterey Peninsula, home of many noted artists, writers and poets.

Millet is married and has three grown children. He plans to make his home in southern California.

Brotherhood Week Should Be Vehicle for Practical Fight on Bias Rabbi Says

NEW YORK—Aproposal to take the exhortations out of Brotherhood Week and concentrate its observance, on implementing the practical recommendations of the Report of the President's Committee on Civil Rights, is made by Rabbi Irving Miller, chairman of the executive committee of the American Jewish Congress.

In a letter to Robert P. Patterson, national chairman of Brotherhood Week 1948, Rabbi Miller declared that many organizations and groups were "overwhelmingly convinced that if Brotherhood Week each year were devoted to the elimination of specific barriers to brotherhood, far more progress could be achieved than in the past."

Increasing doubt is being expressed, declared Miller, about the effectiveness of the traditional Brotherhood Week appeals for tolerance, because "verbal exhortations frequently serve as an escape from responsibility for practical action to remove the barriers to brotherhood."

We do not believe, Miller wrote, that "prejudice can be conquered by a campaign whose objective is as vague as 'brotherhood' any more than wars can be waged with no strategy other than that of 'victory.' Wars are won by a conquest of specific objectives. The fight to eliminate prejudice and discrimination, in our view, must similarly be based on a strategy which seeks to conquer and eliminate all of the practical and specific barriers between individuals and groups which exist in this country."

Among the specific areas which take priority in such a campaign, Miller listed discrimination in housing, employment, education, public accommodations and the denial of the right to vote.

NAM Finds Prices All Out of Line

PORTLAND, Maine—The NAM (National Association of Manufacturers) was on record today as inadvertently admitting it was wrong when, during its high-powered campaign for the destruction of OPA, it assured the American people that removal of price controls would stabilize prices.

Addressing the 27th annual meeting of the Associated Industries of Maine, Earl Bunting, NAM president, told the nation's industry that unless the present "vicious spiral of inflation" is checked, "it will send our economy and every one of you with it into a tailspin."

New Retirement Pay Contract Hailed by Paper Co., CIO Union

NEW YORK—In contrast to the legal tug of war which the National Labor Relations Board now faces under the Taft-Hartley Act, a Union contract for retirement pay which the workers themselves create, with no ceiling to limit it, was signed here yesterday, culminating a month of amicable negotiation between the United Paper Workers of America, Local 299, CIO, and the Continental Paper Company of Ridgefield Park, N. J.

It supplements a contract which made labor-management history recently because it contained the first share-of-production plan ever endorsed in this country by union labor.

Purpose of the new agreement, underwritten by the Connecticut General Life Insurance Company of Hartford, Conn., and John C. Conklin, Inc., of Hackensack, N. J., is to establish retirement pay for hourly employes of the Continental Paper Company, one of the nation's largest manufacturers of paper board.

Current performance under the plan provides an average of $475 a year toward retirement pay for each employe. Thus, a worker now 35 years of age would receive approximately $250 a month for life, at age 65, including Social Security. This pay is provided through the combined efforts of all hourly employes under the share-of-production plan. Other features include a $3000 benefit payment for the family of any employee who dies; also full retirement pay based on accumulated service for those who leave the company, collectable after age 65.

"This new agreement is outstanding from labor's viewpoint," said George Cannie, union president. "It proves that constructive negotiation instead of restrictive legislation is the best answer when both factions sit down together and wisely discuss their problems."

The share of production feature of the basic contract is not a profit-sharing plan, W. J. Alford, III, vice president of the Continental Paper Company, pointed out. It differs from profit-sharing in that hourly employes are guaranteed 30½ cents out of every dollar of production value they help to create, whether or not there is a profit. Production values are defined as the difference between sales receipts and cost of raw materials and supplies—in other words, those values created inside the plant through the joint effort of men, management, and machinery.

Employes continue, even with the two added contract features, Alford explained, to receive their legal and contractual rates of pay, including overtime, on the established weekly payday. "Supplemental earnings under the share-of-production plan," he said, "are divided among workers, half in immediate cash payments, and half paid toward their retirement fund, impounded with the Connecticut General Life Insurance Company."

Prior to negotiating the basic union contract to which the retirement feature was added today, hourly workers demanded a wage increase of 11 percent, Alford stated. As an alternative, the share-of-production plan was offered, and the union accepted it. During the first month of this plan's operation, according to Alford, employes received 20 percent more than their regular pay. This was nine percent more than they had originally demanded. Second month of the plan's operation netted 30 percent above regular pay. Reports for the third month are not yet in.

It no longer is necessary to stop for a school bus provided it is in the opposite roadway on a divided highway. However, if you overtake or meet one on an undivided highway, discharging or loading passengers outside of a business or residence district, you still must stop before proceeding cautiously at a speed of not more than 10 miles per hour.

Entering the offices of Dr. Arthur Mitchell, 4070 S. Central, late Sunday night, by breaking a window in the rear of the building, burglars made away with invaluable medical supplies, personal belongings and a large sum of money.

Dr. Mitchell told the EAGLE that the thieves took $320 in cash, morphine and penicillin that would be difficult to replace, as well as personal belongings, including a brand new overcoat.

Jefferson Grad Sends Hello to Family, Friends From Germany

A letter has been received by Mr. and Mrs. Abie I. Porter, of 1192 East 55th st., Los Angeles, from their son Cpl. Francis E. Porter, who is with the United States occupation forces, in Germany.

Cpl. Porter, who is stationed in Zeppelheim near Frankfurt, Germany, sends a hearty hello to his family and his friends.

Cpl. Francis E. Porter

After finishing at Thomas Jefferson High school he decided to join Uncle Sam's Army of occupation troops in Europe.

At Jefferson, Cpl. Porter was well known and liked by his fellow class members and teachers.

Making a name for himself at Jefferson, completing two years of track, earning two varsity letters, brought him fame and popularity by being a two-year Southern League track winner.

Cpl. Porter was always ready to lend a helping hand, which made him well liked by his fellow students. He was sports editor of the Jeffersonian, and vice-president of the Jefferson 28th st. Hi-Y.

Finishing his three and a half months of Basic Training at Sheppard Field, Texas, he was given a 15-day furlough after which he was sent to Greensborough, N. C., and then to Camp Kilmer, N.J., where he awaited shipment for everseas duty.

Landing in La Havre, France, with his fellow trainees he then went to Furstenfeldbruck, Germany, where he awaited assignment to his overseas station.

At Illesheim, Cpl. Porter was put into the company mail room as assistant mail clerk, handling the mail of between 295 and 300 men.

In June of 1946 the 196th Eng. Avn. Depot Co., was de-activated to the United States. He was then put into the 837th Engineering Aviation Battalion, which was the biggest colored outfit in the European Theatre of Occupation.

Joining the 837th, he was sent to Landsberg, where he was put in charge of Co. "B" mail room.

In April, 1947, the H. & S. Co., C Co., A Co., of the 837th E.A.B. were de-activated leaving Company "B" which was later shipped to Zeppelheim, Germany, via Frankfurt, with 136 well-picked men, for engineering and construction work.

Cpl. Porter, says since being in the occupation army he has just about seen all of the world.

Also stationed with Cpl. Porter, are Cpl. Brisco A. Bagnerise, Cpl. Eldrige Corsy, and Pfc. Alvin LaForest Clark, all graduates of Thomas Jefferson High school.

Francis would like to hear from his many friends wishing to correspond with him. His present address is:

Berkeley Doctor Will Appeal Covenant Ruling

OAKLAND—"As a captain in the medical corps of the U. S. Army, I fought for democracy, and I shall continue to fight."

That was the reaction this week of Dr. DeWitt A. Buckingham, Permanente staff doctor and former army captain, to a decision by Superior Judge Leon A. Gray ordering him to vacate his home at 22 Bridge Road, Berkeley. Dr. Buckingham declared he would carry his fight against restrictive covenants to the U. S. supreme court, if need be.

The court decision upheld a suit brought by the so-called Claremont Improvement club which sought a court order to uphold terms of a restrictive covenant.

Dr. Buckingham immediately instructed his attorneys to file an appeal to a higher court against Judge Gray's ruling.

"The decision is very undemocratic and unconstitutional," the prominent doctor said. "Not only is it a blow to me and my family but to all minority groups in the state and nation."

Dr. Buckingham thanked his "many democratic neighbors and friends" for their support.

Work For An Un-American Activities Committee

One of the things the un-American Activities Committee should investigate—either the State Tenney Committee or the national Thomas-Rankin Committee—is the practice of newspapers, big department stores, and other business concerns which offer prizes for contests—and then refuse to give them.

Here is a case in point. It happened in our own city, in Los Angeles.

Ronnie H. Jordan, 8 year old son of Mrs. Alice Jordan, 410 Crocker street, was an entry in the Evening Herald-Express "Better Babies and Juvenile Talent Contest last week."

The child who shows an outstanding acting and singing talent, won over 10,000 children. But—when he and his mother went to collect the first prize, as was his due, he was met with: "Oh, we didn't know you were a Negro!"

His prize was simply a $3.00 money order for merchandise at Eastern Columbia, and a membership in a child motion picture club.

But here again he was confronted with the fact that he was a Negro, and his mother was told that he could not become a member of the Club since the Club was open only to white children.

The case is now in the hands of the National Negro Congress.

We predict that under the direction of the NNC it will be sifted thoroughly.

But what is more un-American than such conduct? If it is not directly illegal—and it should be—it is at least most unethical, most undemocratic, and most un-American.

How can a child learn to love America, how can he be made to salute a flag which supposedly stands for "liberty and justice for all", when the bitterness of such an injustice is eating into his little heart?

All the "Constitution-preserving" Jack Tenneys and Rankins and Thomases in the country can rant and rave about the "American way of life", and decry the spread of Communism—when those little children of darker skins learn that their real friends are those who are being accused of being "Communistic", they'll accept "Communism" with such a wholehearted fervor that nothing can ever root it out of them again.

We're sending tons of food to Europe. Congress is battling with the problem of how much, or how little, we can send to Western Europe, and still keep those people duped with the feeling that capitalistic America is their friend and Communism is anathema.

When Congress Meets

When Congress convenes next Monday there will be two "hot potatoes" which President Truman will dump into its lap, first thing. They are aid to Europe and control of high prices.

Aid to Europe is based upon the quaint assumption that if the people of Europe, especially western Europe, are given enough to eat at least to tide them over until they can help themselves, they will not adopt a communistic form of economy. Something like the theory you can keep ants out of your cupboard if you give them enough to eat outside.

But anyway, aid to Europe will doubtless be given first priority. And although we haven't the faintest belief that sending food to Europe will keep its starving people from becoming Communists, if they want to, we surely applaud the efforts of our government in sending such aid, for whatever cause.

Such aid should be given to all Europe, of course. For the people of Eastern Europe are just as hungry, their little children need food and clothing and homes, just as much as those of France or Italy or Belgium.

Those on the Eastside, howeevr, are not expecting aid from the United States. They are therefore digging in, and working out their own salvation. And doing quite well, too, taking all things into consideration.

The high prices here in America affect every one of us individually. Something could be done, no doubt, if Congress were not too afraid of stepping on the toes of their wealthy friends in the Big Business world.

But now is the time to register any protest you may wish to offer. Don't complain about high prices, about some of the laws under which we live, only to your next door neighbor. Let your representatives in Congress hear from you. They are the persons who make our laws, who levy our taxes. And if you want to "beef" about them, do it now.

As One People To Another

The people of China, through their leader, Li Chi-Sen also known as Li Chai-Sum, have appealed to the people of America not to send any more aid to Chiang Kai-shek. The cable was prompted by William C. Bullitt's "Report to the American People on China" published in Life last October, and was sent to Henry Wallace and the Committee for a Democratic Far Eastern Policy.

Li Chi-shen was for 20 years a member of the Central Executive Committee of the Kuomintang, China's ruling party. He now lives in Hongkong where he leads the "Democratic Group Within the Kuomintang," which is violently oposed to Chiang's civil war policy.

It is significant that Marshal Li sent his cable to Henry Wallace, instead of Presidetn Truman. Who, according to this, is the real head of the American people in the opinion of the leader of the Chinese people?

And speaking as one people to another, Marshal Li in appealing to the people of America through Henry Wallace, says of the recommendation for aid to Chiang, "Such clamor for open direct intervention though heartily welcomed by Kuomintang reactionaries, is an open insult to the Chinese people.

"The gist of Bullitt's report, as we understand it, is an endeavor to reduce China to the status of an American colony and anti-Soviet base where a supply of 450,000,000 coolies and mercenaries may be used for fighting Russians.

All this gives us the impression that American reactionaries are campaigning to aply the Truman Doctrine to China, thus inferring that America will become directly involved in our civil war. We must call the attention of the United States government to the fact that such an intervention campaign cannot but meet with the strongest opposition of all true Chinese patriots.

"Any further America aid to Chiang Kai-shek, which can by no means turn the tide of war in his favor, not to say destroying the Communist armies and subjugating the Chinese patriots, would merely prolong the sufferings of the Chinese people and estrange friendly relations between China and America."

Then Marshal Li warns that we need not expect to get our money back if we lend it to Chiang to fight the Chinese people—something which should give pause to our American capitalists so anxious to send millions to China to save that country from communism.

"It must be appreciated by American citizens," says Li, "that neither the Chinese people nor a future coalition government succeeding Chiang will recognize or honor any loans, political or non-political, made to the Nanking regime. 'Realists' that the Chinese people are, taught by the bitter experiences of the last 20 years, they would not, contrary to the reasoning of Lieut. Gen. Wedemeyer, 'accept passively any form of government that will provide food and shelter' when 'government' is but a puppet one controlled by foreign imperialists and when meagre food and humble shelter is obtained at the expense of sovereignty, independence, and their own freedom.

Then comes the direct appeal to the people of America through the Committee for a Democratic Far Eastern Policy and Henry Wallace: "In consideration of all this, we on behalf of the democratic Chinese are appealing to you, trusting that you will intensify your nationwide campaign to stop further aid to Chiang and halt intervention in China."

Some of the leaders of both parties plan to take up the question of aid to China—meaning aid to Chiang, of course—at the special session of Congress scheduled to open next Monday. Write to your Congressman and Senator, asking him to vote "No" on every bill of that kind proposed.

FACING FACTS

If you fail to register and vote, that is an indication that you approve lynching, the poll-tax, restrictive covenants, Jimcro accomodations in hotels and public places of amusements, in railway travel, employment, and everywhere where the ugly monster discrimination lifts its head.

Some interested citizens have prevailed upon the registrar of voters to install a deputy registrar in The California EAGLE office, 4071 South Central avenue, for your convenience.

Mrs. Virginia Alexander will be in the office every day from 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. So come in, register, and do your duty to your country, your neighbors, and yourself.

In order to eradicate the evils of restrictive covenants, Jim Crowism, and discrimination in every form we must vote for representatives who will make the Constitution real.

Labor In The USSR

By PAUL FRENCH

While a lot of attention has been given the one provision of the Taft-Hartley Law, which says that unions with Communists as officials, cannot get the National Labor Relations Board to consider their complaints against employers, that is not all of it, nor the worst of it. Certainly it is bad enough, to deprive union workers the right to elect officials they choose. But there are many other things, such as making unions liable to be sued for damages, claimed by employers on account of strikes, which are simply intolerable union-busting, utterly anti-labor.

In short, under this "100 percent American" law, American trade unions come under control of the government, and it must never be forgotten that it is a government ruled by the capitalist class, a class hostile to labor because its profits go down if labor's wages go up, and vice versa. That's why the Taft-Hartley Law is recognized by all as anti-labor.

Nevertheless, the top officials of the A. F. of L., and a good part of the same top leaders of the C.I.O., are submitting to the Taft-Hartley Law, its "anti-Communist" provisions included, to obtain the doubtful advantages of arbitration under the NLRB, of their complaints against employers, instead of relying on their organized union strength to win their demands.

This is of peculiar interest, since the AFL has often refused to have anything to do with the trade unions of the Soviet Union, on the excuse that they are "controlled by the government." Now, the AFL is certainly "controlled by the government," itself. And what kind of a government? A capitalist government.

And what kind of a government is there in the Soviet Union? By no means is it a capitalist government. On the contrary, there are no capitalists in the Soviet Union; so there cannot possibly be any control of the government by capitalists. Who, then, controls the Soviet government? The working class. Government power is held by the workers, and the farmers who really work. It is a workers' and farmers' government.

Obviously, then, when the AFL officials say that the Soviet government "controls the trade unions" there; they lie. For, on the contrary, it is rather the trade unions which control the Soviet government. That would be nearer the truth, but it is not exact; because it is the whole working class, as workers, not as members of unions, which control the Soviet government. And, as all industry belongs to the government, all industry belongs to the toiling masses, the workers of hand or brain, in city or on the farms.

That is why, in the Soviet Union, the interests of the workers, whether union members or not, are not in conflict with the interests of industry and the government which owns industry. (And, incidentally, it is not compulsory, that a worker join the union in the Soviet Union, although most workers do, because the union gives its members many benefits.)

This explains why Soviet workers rarely go on strike, although there is no law against it; but it is false to say there never has been any strike, because once in a while, but rarely, some stoppages have occurred, usually because some factory management got inexcusably negligent of working conditions. Such bureaucrats get short shrift, for higher government authority usually joins with the workers in firing such managers and giving the workers what they require.

It is interesting to know that, before the revolution which established the Soviet government, collective agreements between labor and industry, then privately owned, of course, were not recognized by law. It is also interesting to know that the very first labor-employer agreement in old Czarist Russia was won by the oil workers of Baku, 43 years ago, in 1904, after a strike by workers organized by none other than Josef Stalin, then a Bolshevik organizer, hunted by the Czar's police. The man who now heads the Soviet government used to have to dodge arrest by leaping over the back fences of the oil workers' shabby shacks, visiting them by the back door.

Today, the Soviet government, headed by Josef Stalin, has labor laws quite contrary to the kind of laws like the Taft-Hartley Act in America. Labor-management agreements provide for the betterment of working conditions and educational and cultural needs of the workers, as well as providing for wage rates and production quotas.

Every agreement must conform to the general labor laws. Each agreement must be registered with the appropriate industrial government bureau, and also with the central committee of the trade union. If any factory makes an agreement not conforming to the labor laws, these authorities won't pass it.

Before any agreement is signed, or even drawn up, meetings of all workers to come under the agreement are held, and all terms are discussed and voted on by all workers, whether union members or not.

Violation of agreement by managers, is punishable by law, as well as being subject to disciplinary measures by higher administrative bodies. Factory trade union committees who violate the agreement are accountable to the membership of the trade union local and higher trade union bodies.

And, just the opposite from the Taft-Hartley Law in America, trade unions cannot be sued for damages under labor-management agreements.

Union members, the unions themselves, and all workers regardless of union membership, are interested in increasing production, because—under socialism, just the opposite than under capitalism—more production means higher wages and better living for not only the workers producing more, but the whole working class.

Best of all, there can never be unemployment through "overproduction," for both by lower prices and higher wages and shorter hours, and more social benefits, such as free medical treatment, free work clothes, and all such things, the consuming power, or purchasing power, of the people, is always equal to the productive power. There is security for all who work. That's socialism.

Letters To The Editor

November 7, 1947

Dear Mrs. Bass:

Your help in giving extensive publicity to Hallowe'en carnivals held at Los Angeles municipal playgrounds was highly effective in attracting to these events a tremendous attendance on the night of Friday, October 31.

By taking several hundred thousand children and youth as well as older persons off the streets on this one night and by keeping them happily occupied in constructive recreation, the city's playgrounds and recreation centers again proved their high value in preventing delinquency and keeping down destructive vandalism. A special citation award presented to the Recreation and Park Department by the Police Department acknowledged the effectiveness of the playground carnivals in helping to avert a vast amount of delinquency and juvenile misdemeanors.

THINGS I SEE

By Marian Inglewood

Yugoslavia, that little country in the trouble-spot of Europe, the Balkan states, has been in the headlines far oftener of late than you'd think a country its size would deserve. It is only 330 miles long from north to south, and 370 from east to west. That's measuring it from its widest points, as we Californians would do. But it isn't so large as California, you can easily tell that. It has an area of about 96,000 square miles. Yet it is a real, independent country, the same as the United States of America is.

The name Yugoslav means "The Land of the South Slavs." It has a population of about 15,000,000, the majority of whom are Slavs. But there are thousands of other origins, too, and some one has described Yugoslavia as a "patch work of various peoples," ranging from the semi-Oriental to those of western Europe. Four-fifths of these people are farmers and shepherds, living in the fertile plains of the Danube basin, or shepherding their flocks on the stretches of pasture land of the Dinaric Alps which form a maze of highlands almost enclosing the Land of the South Slavs.

These people are a sturdy, strong, independent people. Although most of them are related by blood, of Slavic origin, they had lived until recently under different masters and so have different ideals and ways of living. But they have buried these differences as being immaterial, and during the War they united in driving the Nazis from their land, and today they are united in rebuilding their country from the chaos in which it was left by the war.

They are doing this unaided by the United States, too. Unlike the countries of Western Europe, they aren't placing much faith in any promises of the Marshall Plan, nor of any other plan outside of their own government. They are working out their own salvation.

Young and old alike are working zealously at this job. The spirit of youth dominates all, however, the spirit of singing happy youth. The young folks of Yugoslavia marched to battle, singing, with their rifles slung at their backs. They are marching to work now, with their pick-axes and shovels on their shoulders, singing as they work.

And what do you suppose these young folks of Yugoslavia are doing? They are building a railway called the Youth Railway, 158 kilometers or almost 100 miles long, and they are doing it almost entirely by hand! They have so little machinery. But they are working their hands and feet into blisters, each group vying with the other to see who can build the most and the best in a day, trying their utmost to complete that long line of railroad within seven months!

No, the people of Yugoslavia don't need any help from outsiders. All they ask of "outsiders" is to let them alone. And that's just what we of the United States don't seem to be able to do. Because the people of Yugoslavia and their great leader, Marshal Tito, believe in an economic system which benefits all, we of the United States of America, led by our great industrialists, the self-appointed custodians of the private-profit "free enterprise" system, act as if we had been called of the Lord to defend that outworn system by blocking all the efforts of those who believe otherwise to establish a government of their own. This includes Yugoslavia, small as it is.

"If a small state like ours does what we have done," Marshal Tito told Ella Winter, the well-known liberal speaker and writer, "it sets an example for other states that are not yet independent, as for example, some colonial countries. We are only a small state and we have already achieved great success. Our land was terribly destroyed. We have made such great steps forward in these few years. It is really a marvel. We did it through national unity and the unity of our people.

"We are not afraid of the atom bomb," he laughed when asked that question. "Factories aren't everything. You can destroy factories with the atom bomb, but you cannot destroy a people."

If only our government in its asinine attempts to block the spread of Communism in western Europe, could realize this. The people of Eastern Europe are not afraid of the atom bomb, and the people of western Europe once they find out there isn't any Santa Claus but the one we create ourselves, will quit depending upon Uncle Sam to feed and clothe them, and will start doing things for themselves, unitedly, as Yugoslavia is doing. And that, of course, will spell Communism.

STORIES FROM THE WORKINGMAN'S BOOK by Marian Inglewood, is a book you can't afford to be without. The stories are taken from the Bible, the Workingman's Book, and interpreted from the point of view of the worker. It is refreshingly different. For sale at the office of The California Eagle, 4071 South Central avenue. Proceeds from its sale are used to fight restrictive covenants, especially the case of the Laws family, ordered out of their home because they are Negroes. This family went to jail because they refused to give up their home. Their case is now in court.

THE ROAD TO HEALTH

By JOHN T. GUNN, M.D.

Beware of diptheria

"Doctor, little Tim has another sore throat, but this time it seems to be a bad attack and he's burning up with fever. Would you please stop in and look at him?", Mrs. Wilson asked me over the phone.

"Does he complain about anything else?" I asked.

"Well, yes, he says his bones ache," she answered. That's all I needed to know. I told Mrs. Wilson to isolate Tim and keep his little sister away from him.

Within the hour I was at Tim's bedside. After an examination, my worst fears were realized. It looked very much like diphtheria, but laboratory tests were necessary before I could make a definite diagnosis.

"But it seemed like just another sore throat," said Mrs. Wilson.

"Yes, that is the way diphtheria starts," I answered.

The lab tests showed that Tim did have diphtheria. I gave him an injection of diphtheria toxin anti-toxin immediately and, since his sister never had been immunized against diphtheria, I gave her diphtheria toxoid, late as it was.

Inasmuch as the Wilson home was very small, Mrs. Wilson and I decided to transfer Tim to the hospital rather than upset the entire household routine and run the chance of transmitting the disease to others.

If a child with diphtheria is cared for at home, he should be isolated in a clean, well-ventilated room. The public health nurse will instruct the mother on taking care of the child. The mother should always wear a smock, or coverall apron, over her clothes when going into the sickroom. The smock should be removed immediately upon leaving the room. The patient should have nourishing foods—semi-solids and liquids. Everything the patient uses—cups, dishes and eating utensils—should be sterilized.

Tim got along very well in the hospital and in a little less than four weeks went home, completely recovered from the disease and with no after effects.

Tim's illness, which caused his parents so much worry and endangered his life, could have been avoided if Mrs. Wilson had had her children immunized against the disease. We usually want all babies between six and nine months to have the diphtheria "shot." Then later, before entering school, a simple skin test, known as the Schick test, is done to determine whether the child is still immune to diphtheria. If not, the child should be immunized immediately.

Diphtheria is a rapidly fatal disease and parents should take every precaution to protect their children from it.

Parents should not deny the right of their children to good health. And that is exactly what they do when they refuse to have their children immunized against a disease as serious as diphtheria. Of course, immunization is best done in infancy, but if your children have not already been immunized, be sure they are as soon as you can get an appointment with your doctor or at the baby clinic.

PREVENT ACCIDENTS

According to Roger C. Plaisted, director of accident prevention for Los Angeles Red Cross chapter, approximately 12,000 boys and girls from 1 to 14 years of age die because of accidents annually. More than twice this number are crippled because of injuries resulting from accidents. Parents are urged to take free Red Cross courses in accident prevention and first aid to help safeguard their homes.

W. J. Wheaton Says

Supper finished, and a feeling that comes from a well prepared meal, we settled down and relaxed, anxious to hear Mary Ann's experience in registering her first vote. "Well honey," she said, "'twas the most exciting time in my whole lifetime. Little Mary Ann and me stayed way in the night, she telling me what to do and how to do it. I thought that you marked a piece of paper like they do back home, but she showed me a machine with a whole heap of keys you pulled down, and a switch thing you pulled when you voted. I certainly was glad that I went to the night school 'cause I could read right perk. So with the help of Mary Ann we marked what we thought best—but don't forget I had a mind of my own, and there somethings I didn't like and I told Mary Ann so. Now don't you laugh, but honey I got all flabergasted about pulling that lever things and wasn't a mess of a whathamacallet. I confessed that I did not know.

"Well," she continued, Mary said something to the man and he come in and showed me. Then I pulled the keys down as Mary Ann had showed me and when I was through pulled the switch think like the man showed me, 'n I had voted. Honey I was that proud I almost cried. I had Mary Ann set right down that night and write a letter to Josh and tell them I had voted and as soon as they come back must fix it so they can vote. I'll see to that. Josh says that he thought of starting early and drive the mules, the'y come handy planting time. I intends to go right on the farm and start, 'cause little Mary Ann is going to have her education. Don't you know, Honey, she's real smart right now."

After a pause, and a wrinkled brow, she asked: "Say, Honey, what is this thing they call cominist? And are you one?" Mary Ann sought to 'splain to me but I couldn't get heads or tails. "You mean Communist," we corrected, "It's a political ideology of some persons whose ideas are different from others and even the supreme court of the nation has not really defined it. You ask me if I was, or am, a communist. According to the interpretation made by some, I might be classed as a Communist, though I am registered and vote with another political party, but if being antagonistic to racial discrimination and fighting for the abolition of the poll-tax and efforts for the passing by congress of an anti-Lynching bill, with teeth in it. If by voice or pen we can bring to justice the warden and his aides who wantonly massacred the helpless Negro prisoners or the savages who lynched a Negro who had been cleared by the court as innocent of the crime for which he was accused. Then, according to the ideas of Mississippi Rankin and others like him, we are called Communist. Although there is nothing of a subversive or treasonable thought, only a clarion call to awake this nation from the lethargy and apathy which has allowed the heinous blot on its escutcheon. That, Mary Ann, is why so many are dubbed as Communist. They are fighting, not to overthrow the government, but to preserve it. To strengthen it and prove to the world that the word Democracy is not a meaningless phrase, but a living virile thing by which a free people are governed with fairness and equality. That as long as you are a lawful abiding citizen you are entitled to the protection and the enjoyment of every right which the constitution assures you.

The fight for and the insistance that those rights be given are the things that men like Rankin call Communism. Do you believe, Mary Ann, that those things are wrong? That they should not be decried? "No, No," she said: "I know from experience what they down home and us weuns dasn't say one word. I wish I could talk, I'd tell some of these folk from down home the blessings they enjoy n that they should be God-fearing, law-abiding people and vote."

"Amen!" says we and bidding a good night, and a shake of the hand of Mary Ann III, we promised to be in time for supper next week. Mary Ann said, "We're going to have sumthing good. I won't tell you what it is, so be on time."

We got to thinking about Mary Ann's appreciation of her new found citizenship, and her pride in what she has gained. Her thrift and business accumen is without saying. She and her family are farmers, and aside from the education of Mary Ann III, which is Mary Ann's fetish, the life of the city has no attractions. She is the type that will be successful anywhere.

There has come to my desk recently a Seattle journal, newly launched on the tempestuous sea of journalism. It has shown vast improvement in the last few issues and bids fair to out last the storm. We congratulate the editors and publishers, Mr. and Mrs. Tanner, and wish them the best of luck and hope that the citizenry of Seattle will note the successful newspaper is a guarantee of a progressive people. Good luck and fair sailing.

The municipal election of San Francisco has passed into history and the ballyhoo is over. Mayor-elect Judge Elmer Robinson is the choice of the electorate. Two new faces will adorn the supervisorial chambers, comes January 8, 1948. There are rumors of many changes and should they all mature City Hall will indeed present a new face. F. D. Haynes, a candidate for supervisor, made a splendid showing over 68,000 votes. He ran in 8th place in a field of 27. The promise of better transportation and other civic betterments remain to be seen.

It read mmon Employment Agency" was offering such services entals, book keeping, public ng, accounting, income tax, ry public and artist manage- t. While in the building last we dropped in on this of- where we found both the g ladies in and as busy as d be.

e next day we had the op- portunity to interview Mrs. Guntharp about the office and found that she and Miss Estha Hampton had conceived the plan of going into such a business while they were both employed in the OPA (rent control) office. When the OPA closed down, they looked about and found this very nice office space and went through the many processes necessary to offer the services which they are now selling. Four years with OPA had revealed the need of most of these services and other training and experience had prepared them for others.

So, if you need a rental manager, public stenographer, job or help with tax reports, a room or an apartment to rent or any of the many services offered by these enterprising young ladies, you will find pleasant counselors at the Mammon.

HAZEL'S FLOWER MART

We had observed workmen as they constructed a small building on a service station lot near the corner of Walton and W. Jefferson ave., as we drove by en route to work each morning. The building finally took the form of a neat little shop which soon bore on its front door the words "Nellie's Flower Mart." But we never saw who "Nellie" was until just a day ago. It was then that we learned that Nellie is a young woman who has always loved flowers—so much so that she always managed to work where she could learn about them and about their care. Being a native of this city, Miss Hazel Clay began cultivating an interest in flowers in her own yard as a little girl. After her school days she found employment at Evergreen Nursery, 1372 W. 36th pl. for three years, Rose Flower Shop for two years and she studied flowers and their care and arrangement under a Mrs. Mellie Reland, Sixth Street Flower Shop.

Four years ago she dreamed, she said, of having a flower shop on the very spot where she is now located. Last spring she succeeded in securing a lease on the land and began the erection of the neat and attractive little shop.

Miss Clay is a pleasant person and reflects great interest in her chosen work. She displayed quite a number of photographs of pieces for weddings, funerals and special occasions and was enthusiastic over her desire to be called upon for even more challenging floral displays. The Mart opened its doors May 29, 1947. People are already beating paths to its doors and well may they do so for years to come for Hazel is there to stay and ready to give the best of service if flowers are what you want.

This column wishes these young women and many more like them abundant success. They deserve it.

BOOKS and AUTHORS

An Introduction to Drafting by Stanley J. Pawelek, supervisor of industrial education in Baltimore, teaches some of the fundamentals of drafting and is written to lead the beginner to an understanding of the principles by means of freehand sketching rather than the use of drafting instruments. It is simple enough for a seventh grade boy to understand and it proceeds carefully from the known to the unknown. Simple diagrams and picture drawings clarify the text and there are exercises and problems and a good chapter on lettering.

Colorado by Louis Bromfield is a sketchy account of the downfall of P. J. Meany, roaring king of Silver City, Colorado, in its frontier days. According to his wife he is "the orneriest man between the Mississippi and the Pacific." The El Dorado, a high-toned gambling house under his patronage, and his own "Oprey House" are the lively centers for the town's rowdy social life. P. J.'s youngest son comes home from Oxford bringing his British tutor and a lovely opera singer chaperoned by a piano-playing gambler. It is a story full of adventure and brawling action with rich humorous character studies by the well-known author of many books, among them Pleasant Valley and The Farm.

Alfred Hayes is the author of Shadow of Heaven, a novel of a man who, at the age of 40, realizes he has become an automaton. Though he longs to be an integral part of good society he cannot accept the money ideals and sex standards of his community. He tires of the girl whith whom he has had an affair for nearly two years, is restless and out of place in the labor movement to which he has devoted 15 years. When he stops to take stock of himself swift tragedy results and he finds he cannot cancel out the past.

Arthur Foff of San Francisco is a Phi Beta Kappa man from University of California who worked for the Office of War Information during the war. In his novel, Glorious in Another Day young Tom Houseman's father, an ex-prizefighter who keeps a kennel of fighting dogs, spends too much time in saloons and too little with his son. He finally kicks Tom out in a blind rage because the boy refuses to give up the woman he loves. The sophisticated girl and her husband make for complications. It is a sympathetic portrayal of three people strangely divided by love and hate and a realistic story of their confusion. There are elements of humor and surprise to relieve the sordidness as the bewildered boy gropes his way toward manhood.

Working with Aluminum by Douglas B. Hobbs contains 25 useful projects involving basic metal working processes such as sawing, scroll forming, hand hammering, casting, machining and spinning, arranged with the simpler projects first. Some details of methods of working and casting are included. The easier projects are belt-buckles, buttons, bracelets, etc. and later come waste baskets, hammered trays, flower pot wall brackets, etc., and on to smoking stands and floor lamps. It is well-illustrtated with pictures and diagrams.

How to Use the Calculator and the Comptometer by James R. Meehan, assistant professor of education, Hunter college, of the City of New York, stresses the four fundamental operating techniques, addition which receives the greatest emphasis, multiplication, subtraction and division. In each unit of the text the work has been divided into three groups—minimum standard, and maximum requirements, based upon three different levels of ability and achievement. The supplement gives a review and introduces some of the latest applications of the key-driven calculator — peg-board addition, the extending of invoices and inventories and the computing of modern pay-rolls. A timed test covering applications of the key driven calculator is also included.

Dale Eunson, author ofThe Day They Gave Babies Away, is a descendent of a Scottish family which settled in Wisconsin in the 1850's. After he finished at the University of Southern California he went into publicity work. This short novel was written for his daughter and has been dramatized for radio and the movies. It is simple, heart-warming story to rank with The Bird's Christmas Carol. This account of what happened to the six little Eunsons on Christmas, 1868, catches the Christmas spirit on the wing and brings it down to earth and is told with pathos and genuine sentiment. The mother of six children died the day before Christmas and charged the oldest, a 12 year old boy, to take care of his three sisters and two brothers. Lest the town take them away he spent Christmas Day finding good homes for them, choosing the families where he felt each would be happiest and best cared for, thus fulfilling his mother's dying request.

Trail Blazers: Titus Alexander

By PHYLLIS SCOTT

At a time when the human mind is still enslaved by adherence to old ideas, traditions, and myths, it is refreshing to find someone who early discarded the ancient myth that the Republican party was the stalwart friend of the Negro people long after it had abandoned its early progressivism.

Titus Alexander showed an

early progressive break with traditionalism. Symbolic of his progressive outlook is his alliance with the Democratic party for more than 50 years. It was the early writings of Thomas Jefferson that inspired his affiliation with that party. Alexander declares that it was the passage written by Jefferson in the original draft of the Declaration of Independence denouncing the practice of human slavery thrust upon this country by the king of England that finally won him over.

Recognized as an outstanding authority on Negro history and Negro growth of the West, he came to Los Angeles in 1897. Alexander has probably been one of the most consistent defenders of human rights during the past half century in this section of the country. He has engaged in vigorous battles against the Ku Klux Klan, He was a leader in the fight to end discrimination in public institutions and has been a constant crusader for human liberty that the hopes and ambitions of all minority groups might be realized.

Long before it was popularly recognized that monopolies crushed the rights of the little people, Alexander declared himself a staunch public-ownership-of-utilities-man. He held a responsible post with the business division of the largest municipally owned and operated utility plant in the country, the Los Angeles Bureau of Power and Light, retiring in 1940. He was among the first Negrees to participate in the fight for the building of Boulder Dam.

For many years he held important offices on the Democratic state and national executive committees. And he used his office to the best advancement of the Negro. He is essentially a people's champion, courageous and sincere. He knows but one race, the human race. To further the integration of Negro and white Democrats he was one of the main organizers of the Democratic Luncheon club, largest Democratic organization in the state. Several times he ran for office on the Democratic ticket and lost but he had the endorsement of such men as William McAdoo, the University of Michigan dean, and other colorful figures.

Alexander, who was born in Arkansas, calls himself "a literary tramp." He received his early schooling in Arkansas, attended Oberlin, and was graduated from the University of Michigan. He did some additional work at Western university in Pennsylvania. When he left the South in the early '80s he declared that Negroes had begun to spread out like the spokes of a wheel. He knows the early history of Negro Detroit better than most Detroiters and quotes many of the early happenings of New York and Pennsylvania.

He served in World War I as a welfare worker with the 92nd division and his brother was the second Negro to graduate from West Point Military academy. Titus Alexander can be credited with many of the victories won for Negro rights in this state. Although not as active in his 70th year as he was in the past, he probably gets more accomplished through the mail than most leaders get in person. He is a member of Holy Name parish and is married to the former Agnes Taylor, which union has been well knit for 40 years.

HE LIVING OUTH

y fellow Texan, Mrs. Josie , has spent a long life of ding for the rich white folks, ising children and when the an struggle demanded it, ng hell. And after all these s, she tells me, like so many d-down Southern women of both colors, that she's always wanted to be something else besides being a housewife.

Well, Mrs. Reed, now living in Boston, is a housewife and something else besides even if she n't realize it. She's also a r even if you've never seen name tacked on a magazine ewspaper story.

d the proof of it is a letter she wrote old rattlesnake Rankin just before the new s of the new living South ed him to run worse than a legged dog in a three-legged . That was when Mississiplected a new senator to suc- Bilbo on November 4. Here's t she said in that letter h told off John Rankin:

Dear Mr. Rankin:

a few nights ago I heard you speak over the radio. It was indeed the poorest, supposed-to-be speech I ever heard. I listened while you swallowed and stammered. That, coming from you, was no surprise.

"I wonder if I am glad or sorry you spoke. The record in congress shows that you have voted against every piece of legislation that was in favor of the minority races, especially Negroes. Coming from you, I wonder if the Communists you stuttered and wrangled about aren't something fine and decent.

"Your influence with millions of Americans is equal in weight of one feather of a one-day-old duckling. You spoke of God all the while you favor lynching, Jim Crow, and surpassing deprivation where Negroes are concerned.

"In your sight, the Bill of Rights, the 13th, 14th and 15th amendments mean nothing when it comes to Negroes.

"Since you are against communism, I wonder if it isn't far cleaner and better than what you advocate. If the Communists were not organized in this country before you tried to speak, I am afraid you did much to organize them, being what you are.

"There will be hundreds that will be very curious to see what communism is."

Now, Mrs. Josie Reed isn't a Communist although she's been called one by loose-tongued, loose-headed whites and uninformed Negroes who need to tighten up their heads so they won't be taken in by loose talk about brave fighters of their own color.

But she feels as I do, that whatever the faults of Communists, that they don't go around throwing out feed for Jim Crow and his chickens. She feels as I do that Negroes and poor whites have to give credit wherever credit is due, that the Communists have stood up and fought for us when many a Southern "liberal" — white and black — was hiding out in the compatch for fear that John Rankin's bloodhounds of the "un-American committee" would smell him out.

I'm glad Mrs. Reed wrote that letter to John Rankin. For it was not just one Negro telling him off. It was 13 million American Negroes telling him where to get off.

And now that he's been told off, it's also time to throw him out—time to throw him out of our national capitol where he still holds a seat in the house of representatives.

It's time to throw out Rankin as we threw out Bilbo and sent him scoring to hell.

U.S. Again Blocks Efforts In UN On Behalf Of Colonials

NEW YORK — The United States this week again joined with other colonial powers in hampering action in the United Nations General Assembly aimed at protecting the interests of colonial peoples.

The American delegation opposed passage in the General Assembly of a Trusteeship Committee resolution calling on the Union of South Africa to obey a previous UN order to place the former League on Nations mandate territory of Southwest Africa under UN trusteeship.

The U. S. had previously opposed the resolution in the Trusteeship Committee, contending that it was an "affront" to General Smuts, South African premier. The resolution, proposed by India, had been passed by the Committee, however, 27-20 over the opposition of the U. S., Britain and all other colony-holding powers.

Through the efforts of the American delegation, the resolution was watered down in the General Assembly to a mild hope that Smuts would comply with a previous appeal from the 1946 Assembly. The vote was 41 to 10, with only Britain among the big powers opposing the weakened resolution.

A debate in the UN Security Council on the Indonesian question also found the U. S. lined up with other colonial powers. A Russian resolution ordering both the Dutch and the Indonesians to withdraw to the lines they occupied before the outbreak of the present war in Indonesia was opposed by the Americans, who offered an amendment to the Soviet resolution.

The amendment, merely calling on the two opposing forces to consult with each other in an effort to negotiate a settlement of the conflict, was adopted by a vote of 7 to 1, with nations in the Eastern bloc abstaining from voting on the wishy-washy amendment.

Earlier in the week, leaders of the Council on African Affairs had conferred with Francis B. Sayre, U. S. representative on the UN Trusteeship Committee, criticized the role of the U. S. delegation in voting against the Indian resolution on South West Africa and urged support of a strong resolution in the General Assembly, as well as a more liberal stand on other colonial and racial discrimination questions before the UN.

British Fined Minister for Helping Natives

Rev. Michael Scott, at present testifying against British African policy before the United Nations, tells in November Ebony how he was finded in a British court because of his work with natives who live in "the world's worst slums" outside the gold city of Johannesburg, South Africa.

Barred by the white invaders' law from living in the cities and from settling on 97 percent of the land, natives crowd together in this shanty-town called "Tobruk" because of its similarity to that infamous Nazi prison.

"In this settlement natives live in the stench of enormous piles of rubbish composed of oxen entrails, human excreta, and decaying garbage that infests Tobruk," Rev. Scott writes. "Their shelters are so poor that rain pours through roofs and streams of water run through the middle of the shacks. Children often sleep on grass mattresses surrounded entirely by running water. Disease and infection are rampant."

Rev. Scott defied long-standing racial taboos to go into the squalid shacks and share the suffering of the Africans in this unbelievably filthy shanty-town.

And for this manifestation of the spirit of universal brotherhood, the young minister was haled before a British court and given a heavy fine.

An example of "the white man's burden" the British are continually prating about?

Big Response To 'Who's Who' Project Seen

The editorial staff of Negro Who's Who in California, the widely-discussed reference publication due off the press near the first of the year, informed the EAGLE yesterday that responses from letters sent out to persons and businesses approved by the various selection committees has been noteworthy.

Encouraged by the ready response of California's outstanding Negro citizens, J. W. Roy, director of 1947-48 Negro Who's Who issued the following statement:

"Negroes can and do attain great heights in business and other fields of social activity, only to be forgotten after a few short years, because no permanent record of their successes is in photograph and print."

"It is indeed something to give serious thought, when students and others seeking data on Negro progress go to public and school libraries and find only reference books on the members and businesse sof other groups."

The methods being used by the various committees and the editorial staff of this California edition makes possible a dignified, informative and interesting reference book on the progress of the Negro in California. Careful selection of all persons and businesses is made before letters of approval are sent out seeking biographies, photographs and other data to be recorded.

Shortage of paper limits the volume to 200 pages, and when all space is allotted no additional material can be accepted.

Under the Big Tent

By STANLEY ROBERTSON

COLOSSAL! STUPENDOUS!

You cheered at "It's a Wonderful Life." You laughed at "It Is?." Now we bring you "Forever Humbug." It'll make you sick.

Filmed in natural red, white and blue technicality with the aid of 483 skilled technicians, the cost of millions and the waste of years—See the Horrors of the Red Plague, the Duel in the Limelight for the favor of Humbug, see the undercover activity of the Shocking Miss Pilgrim.

Two complete cities especially destructed for this show, one destroyed by fear before your eyes. See the mad charges of the Heedless Housemen!

The most elaborate costumes! See skirted Issues, Vested Interests, Cloaked Purposes. And the fight for life of the Redrobed Atheists.

With such stars as Garroulous Cooper and Stomach Turner, from the best smeller by Rankin, adapted from a public law 601, from a novel idea by Brewster.

Live with Thomas as King Charletan II—Stripling as Lord Sinisaven. Now playing Capitol Playhouse and soon the European and Pacific theaters. See the premiere. Watch stars Thomas and Stripling pour out concrete and then put their foot in it.

Commie Attractions. Next week: Intolerance.

On your Marx, set go! The time has come for all Grable bodied women and Gable bodied men to come to the aid of their country. The Congressional Red Herring is on and no farce so bad, as screen writer battles doriter.

It's LA vs. DV—Lousy Actor vs. Damned Communist with an all-out Republican unbiased referee. Of course movies had no defense. Nothing so offensive can have a defense.

They moved, they talked. Then they smelled and congress got wind. But it seems Hollywood is doing its best to wipe out the RED Plague. They've gone from Red Stallion to Pink Horse.

But as congress turns its 'scope on the heavenly bodies of Hollywood in search of a galaxy of Red stars we rise in defense:

Congress says "Hollywood is revolting."

Revolting? It's nauseating. But let's look behind the Chrome Curtain.

"A plot behind the Pics?" Who ever heard of a picture with a plot. "Pictures reflecting the conflict between the Rich and Poor." Who ever heard of a picture being anything but Poor. Picture ideas direct from Russia. Forget it. They're from Hungary.

Take it from me there hasn't been undercover activity in the films since the double bed was banned. And as far as disguised points in the pics: Have you seen a Hollywood Sweater lately?

For sure America needs more real American films like Dillinger, American, and Al Capone, instead of such "moody and gloomy, in the Russ manner" films as Romeo-Juliet, and Macbeth.

More pictures are needed showing how Americans live. American dogs, babies, horses. We want entertainment not art. Of course care has to be taken to entertain us and not a new idea.

We should watch out for pics showing foreign governmental forms like Henry V, and VIII.

But of course we should have fewer pics like the "Song of Russia" and "Mission to Moscow." Such misrepresentation. Everyone knows all Russians have beards and wear long samovars, and ride up and down in their Vod-kas.

Give us the American way as demonstrated by Betty Grable. No more Guy Named Joe (you know who). Tzarsan pictures. We should even stop Disney from making Red Riding Hood.

Our pictures may be communistic here but they reflect the highest traditions of Capitalism in Europe. We must protect our indestructable Truth from destruction on all sides, and "preserve our Bill of Rights for those for whom intended" . . . We fear no Communist and Stalin is his name.

NAACP Assails Attack On FEPC by Lawyer For Big Industry

NEW YORK—The attack of Donald Richberg, law- for many big industrial concerns, upon legislation to ablish a permanent federal FEPC, released Oct. 13, s termed one of "uncontrolled violence" by the NAACP ard of directors this week. The board asserted that berg's statement is "evi- ce of the strength which fair loyment sentiment has gain- in and out of congress."

n Washington, Clarence tchell, labor secretary of the AACP, revealed that the nate Committee on Labor blic Welfare, headed by nator Robert A. Taft (R., io), had requested Richberg file a brief on pending PC legislation.

The Richberg statement," the rd said, "in the press of tober 13 denouncing FEPC slation as 'detestable' is so emperate in language and so dently special pleading for Richberg's well-known nts in the industrial and fi- cial world that the statent is its own refutation.

"His reference to Communm is the old red herring. Is confessing that only Communism is able to ofer nondiscriminatory employment to ople of different races and ligions? we disagree. Our nerican system can abolish scrimination if it chooses to so.

His reference to 'choosing 's own associates' would m to mean that working in actory is like going to a ner party, which is absurb on face.

Mr. Richberg uses his attack FEPC to criticize the pracs of some labor unions. The pporters of FEPC do not claim legislation will cure all the in industrial relations, but y resent their bill being used Richberg or anyone else in an direct attack on organized or."

South Cool to Marshall Plan

ATLANTA, Georgia (CNS) — Southern Negroes, more so than whites, are balking on further help to devastated Europe, reasoning that folks in the "back yard" need aid too.

From Virginia to Mississippi, in conversations with the much publicised "average man," it has been reported that he is just plain weary of pulling in his own belt for the Europeans. The House Committee on Agriculture which seeks to enlist support of farmers for Europe and which arrived in Alabama last week, is receiving scant attention. The same is true of other government projects working along similar lines.

Meanwhile, local Democratic politicians fear that the Truman Administration will be gravely embarrassed by the South's coolness to the Marshall Plan. Southern congressional leaders have been waging a seemingly casual but really well-planned campaign to whip the Southern voter in line. Arguing that the main crops of the South, cotton and tobacco, can stay at peak level only if there are more than enough markets available, the solons are pleading for continued aid to help restore European markets.

The average Southerner, however, is remaining skeptical, despite the high pressure campaign, and the Negro Southerner in particular is asking himself, "What do I get out of it all?"

Carlton Moss Backs Drive on Un-Americans

NEW YORK — Carlton Moss, writer and producer of the film "The Negro Soldier" and member of the exeecutive board of the Progressive Citizens of America, at a lunch in New York yesterday urged all Negro organizations in America to fearlessly demand the immediate abolition of the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Moss, who is in New York preparing a play for Broadway production, pointed out the danger of the continued existence of this committee to the Negro people. He cited the Committee's record against civil liberties and its defiance of the Bill of Rights. He told how in the recent attack on the film industry in Washington the Committee brushed aside all legal procedure and prevented the accused from cross-examining the accusers.

He pointed out that this practice is not new to the Negro people; that for many years this is the type of "justice" which deprived them of their rights and attempted to rob them of their dignity. He said that the 19 motion picture personalities accused of being subversive for the leadership of the Hollywood progressives are fighting for equality of rights for Negroes on the screen and on the payroll.

Moss urged that all organizations and individuals send letters and telegrams to President Harry Truman, to their congressional representatives and to House Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr., protesting the continuance of this committee and asking for the approval of house bill HR-46, which would abolish it.

The number of unfilled orders on the books of the oil-burner manufacturing industry now stands at more than half a million units.

AMA Denounced At Medics' Meet

The American Medical Association this week was attacked as "a self-perpetuating monopoly" by Dr. Hans Zimmerman who also charged that "organized medicine is actually perpetuating illness, spreading it instead of lessening it."

In an address before the National Medical Society of which he is executive secretary, Dr. Zimmerman declared that American public health is in a deplorable state, pointed out that nearly half of the 17,000,000 men examined for military service in the war were rejected for medical reasons.

'Colored' Minister Finds Fighting Bias Can Be Tough Job

MADISON, Wis.—Rev. Kenneth L. Patton, white minister who a little more than a month ago decided he was ashamed of the white supremacy, wished to be regarded as a Negro, yesterday admitted that fighting race discrimination in "democratic" America was no easy job.

Patton said that since he announced to his white congregation here Sept. 14 that he intended to adopt a "colored" status, he had been asked to make public addresses on six different occasions. Only one, however, from Sauk City, Wis., did not come from a Negro group.

"I'm discouraged about that," Patton said, "because the Negroes don't need the message as much as white people."

He is now convinced, he said, that it will take a "moral revolution" to wipe out racial discrimination in the United States. He is drafting an anti-discrimination platform which he wants presented to churches, labor unions, civic and service clubs and community neighborhoods.

"Action, not words, are needed to fight racial discrimination," the 36 year old pastor said. "My program will be a sort of platform for an equalitarian revolution."

Court Ruling Makes N. Y. State Toughie For Jack Tennys

ALBANY, N.Y.—Pointing out that the charge that a person is a Communist or a Communist sympathiser is intended to injure the individual economically, the New York State court of appeals this week ruled that such charge is basis for libel action in New York State.

The case before the court involved Max Mencher, former head of the Information Division of the regional office of OPA. Mencher began the action in 1944 against Adolph Chesley, then chairman of the War Price and Rationing Board in the Bronx.

Mencher said Chesley told New York City newspapers Mencher was a Communist.

Evidence on Klan Stolen

ATLANTA, Ga.—Georgia Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook reported yesterday that confidential files on a long investigation of the Ku Klux Klan and Columbians, Inc., have been stolen from his office.

Cook said the papers contained the names of a number of persons connected with the two terrorist organizations and that various peersons would have reason to want to destroy the files.

Cook intimated that he had copies of the looted documents.

Convenant Boomerangs On Signer

A local white woman, native of the backward South, this week was the victim of a restrictive covenant she signed to keep Negroes out of her neighborhood.

The woman is now married to a Filipino and, because of this, is receiving threats and demanding that she and her family leave her home. She is Mrs. Frances Garcia, 906 E. 105th st.

When Mrs. Garcia signed the covenant several years ago she had no idea, she said, that the covenant would do other than "keep out the colored."

Now it has boomeranged to threaten her with the loss of her home and subsequent financial setbacks "that may mean my children's education."

She now realizes that this very thing has happened to thousands of Negro home owners including some in her own neighborhood. "I feel so badly about the Negro people I signed against," she said.

Mrs. Garcia has now allied herself with a Committee Against Restrictive Covenants formed by AFL Carpenters Local 634 to defend two Negro property owners and a Filipino in her neighborhood who also face restrictive covenant action.

"I want to do all I can to stop this," she said. "It's terrible."

tion, that such action would refrain further application of the discriminatory agreement to different colored firemen in the future and "would alter the existing status of the parties fundamentally."

"This, in effect, confesses that the agreement (to limit the number of colored firemen) is still being carried out," the government attorneys argued.

The motion further stated that the Seaboard Air Line's affidavit asserted that the agreement it had with the Firemen's Union, dated Feb. 18, 1941, was replaced by a contract dated May 15, 1942. Excerpts from the latter document, it was declared, reveal that it effected a cut of 10 per cent in the number of Negro firemen to be hired, allowing Negro firemen 40 per cent of jobs as contrasted with 50 per cent in the previous agreements.

The government argued that there was a public as well as a private interest in the litigation, that the Brotherhood was acting in violation of the law and that the discrimination based on race was "invidious" as well as "illegal."

The court was asked to grant an immediate temporary injunction "against the continuance of any unlawful discrimination."

contended that the board's ban was "discriminatory" and that the picture "should not be kept from the screen of Virginia just because it exposes the post World War machinations of the un-American Ku Klux Klan.

More than 40 witnesses, all of them Virginians representing various organizations and walks of life, testified in behalf of Screen Guild's stand. The testimony followed a special screening of the picture held in a local theatre for the court and the witnesses.

STOP RANKIN COMMITTEE, CRY OF SHRINE MEETING

hits the very heart and core of American democratic life, the trade-union movement."

In spite of the fact the un-American Committee ended the hearings very abruptly, this is no sign, Kenny pointed out, that it has quit. That will not happen until it is completely abolished, he said, and urged all present to see to it that members of congress realize "they haven't a dog's chance of re-election if they will not stand up on the floor of congress and oppose citations."

President Truman was blamed by O. John Rogge, former special assistant to the U. S. attorney general, for the "mass onslaught on civil liberties" so prevalent today.

He said the "loyalty order" of the President violated the constitutional rights of more than 2,000,000 employes. This witch-hunt now extends into every branch of American thought, declared Rogge, and remarked, "If the President thinks that by out red-baiting the Republicans, he will be returned to office, he is mistaken."

Rogge mentioned some of the Wall street men who now hold top positions in the Truman administration.

"Fascism has gone respectable," he said. 'Responsible public officials holding high government office are now translating into action a large part of the program formerly advocated by the lunatic fringe of native fascism.

"What we have, in effect, is a $30,000,000 Gestapo designed to ferret out not only Communists, but anyone who harbors a thought the Committee considers dangerous."

Howard Fast, author of the best-seller Freedom Road, spoke from his own experience before the Committee and also from his observation of its proceedings. He, too, condemned the Committee as being unconstitutional, and urged its abolition.

As an example of how the Committee works, Fast told how Rankin once questioned former ambassador to Russia Bullitt, about the Russians eating their children! Bullitt said he had seen a picture of the skeletons of three children, supposedly eaten by the Russians, and from this he drew the conclusion that they did eat their children.

A resolution to abolish the un-American Activities Committee was adopted with a rousing "Yea."

William Bidner, Mobilization for Democracy director, spoke of "Abolitionists of the 20th Century," and asked not only for the abolition of the un-American inquisition committee, but also of all "loyalty" tests.

The meeting in the Shrine auditorium last Sunday was sponsored by the Mobilization for Democracy, and the AFL and the CIO.

A meeting will be held this coming Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Gilmore stadium, when represenatives of "The Nineteen" will appear in person to tell their stories.

YELLOW CAB FIRES DRIVER WHO HIT BIASED PRACTICES

a jimcrow pattern in the minds of visitors to Los Angeles.

He pointed out further that while white drivers are free to roam all areas, pick up passengers in any section, Negro drivers are confined to the Eastside. He exonerated the white drivers from any responsibility for this system, said white drivers have no objection to working on the Eastside.

Negro drivers are not permitted to use the taxi stands in most sections of the city. They are never sent to Beverly Hills, Hollywood, Wilshire or any of the swanky sections.

On the other hand, when a call comes in from a Negro district and no Negro driver is available, the passenger is told to wait.

Negro drivers at the union meeting were unanimous in their opposition to a proposed new tariff agreement between the company and the union. They charged that because of the company's discriminatory practices, the new tariff would affect them adversely, benefit only the white drivers.

Union officials informed this week by Wilcox of the company's action in firing him, said there was nothing they could do about it.

Discrimination against Negro cab drivers was first exposed by the EAGLE three weeks ago. At that time two EAGLE representatives were barred from a meeting of the Teamsters Union, supposedly called to take up the question.

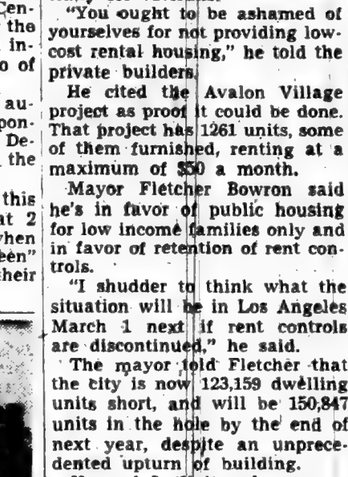
Asked whether the boycott will go into effect Friday, Barnes said that the results of the negotiations with the Sears management will be reported to the mass meeting, scheduled for 8 p.m. Thursday, at the Calvary Baptist church, 20th and Delaware, in Santa Monica.



All of the organizations which have expressed their support for the NAACP drive to secure the employment of Negroes at Sears in positions other than janitors, maids and maintenance workers are being requested to send representatives to the meeting with concrete commitments. Woodard was dragged from the bus, beaten into semi-consciousness and both his eyes gouged out by the sadistic police chief.

vide low-cost rental units, especially for veterans.

"You ought to be ashamed of yourselves for not providing low-cost rental housing," he told the private builders.

He cited the Avalon Village project as proof it could be done. That project has 1261 units, some of them furnished, renting at a maximum of $50 a month.

Mayor Fletcher Bowron said he's in favor of public housing for low income families only and in favor of retention of rent controls.

"I shudder to think what the situation will be in Los Angeles March 1 next if rent controls are discontinued," he said.

The mayor told Fletcher that the city is now 123,159 dwelling units short, and will be 150,847 units in the hole by the end of next year, despite an unprecedented upturn of building.

Howard L. Holtzendor, executive director of the City Housing Committee, was called to testify, but walked off the stand and merely filed his report after being told by Fletcher that "I am afraid I'll have to cut you short if you start talking about the need."

Public housing, which most experts consider to be the only answer to the problem of providing low-cost housing, was denounced by Fred W. Marlowe of the L. A. Realty Board as making "for hot-beds of Communism and pressure groups."

Msgr. Thomas J. O'Dwyer, chairman of the Citizens Housing Committee, and representatives of minority, church and veterans groups will testify today.

Robert Clark, council vice president, James Burford, council political action director, and Belton, yesterday made an official protest to supervisor John Anson Ford. The delegation also contemplates a visit to Leonard J. Roach, supervisor from the district in which the market was set up.

The CIO representatives told Ford that the CIO will fight to keep the farmers' markets operating in Los Angeles, "despite the trusts and the county opposition."

Belton said county health officers had admitted to him that they had been "pressured" by representatives of big produce merchants who demanded that all technicalities of the law be observed.

Under Brandy's vigorous cross-examination, she admitted that she had had many opportunities to get out of Raphael's cab after he allegedly asked her for a date, but did not do so until she reached her destination.

Raphael, she said, had picked her up as a fare at 6th and San Pedro streets and had almost immediately asked her for a "date." Although the cab thereafter made many boulevard stops, she made no effort to leave the cab until within the vicinity of 134th and Budlong, where she claimed she lives.

It was only when Raphael, stopping the cab at her request, gave her the meter reading, that she got out of the cab. She immediately started running away. Raphael pursued her in an attempt to collect his fare. A white motorist came along, and the woman told him that the cab driver had "tried to rape" her.

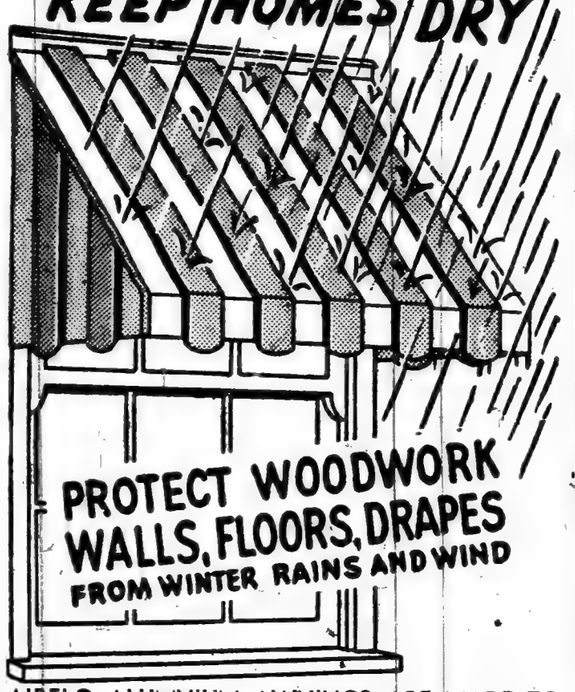
At the conclusion of the testimony, Judge Brand declared that he did not believe the woman's story, and found the defendant not guilty.

The defense of Raphael, a clean-cut young man with no previous police record, was supported by civic and veteran groups throughout the city. His young wife scouted the assault charge and was in court throughout the trial.

'48 Strategy to be Discussed Monday

City Terrace residents will have a chance to learn, "Which Way for Progressives?" Monday night, November 17, when speakers on behalf of "California Democrats for Wallace" and the Independent Progressive party state their case in the Louis Upright Folk Shule, 4018 City Terrace drive, near Hazard ave.

Kay Kelleher, Democratic state committee member, will point out the advantages of working for the election of Henry A. Wallace for president within the framework of the Democratic party, while Mrs. Charlotta Bass, publisher of the California EAGLE, will speak for the IPP, now gathering signatures to put a third party on the ballot.



Jack Berman, eastside civic leader, will be moderator of the symposium, being sponsored by the 51st A.D. chapter of the Progressive Citizens of America. Admission is free and the public is welcome, it was announced by Mrs. Anne Snipper, chairman.

WEDDING SCENE—The Victor Rideaus, nee Frances Jones go through the age old tradition of cutting the cake at their wedding reception Sunday afternoon. The couple eloped to Tijuana, Mexico, last June. The bride, a former UCLA coed, was presented by the March club last year and is a former member of the Ivy Leaf Pledge club of AKA sorority.

Many Attend Reception Honoring the Rideaus

The West 35th place residence of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Jones, godparents of Mrs. Frances Jones Rideau, was the scene of an elaborate wedding reception honoring Frances and her husband, Victor Rideau, who eloped to Tijuana, Mexico on June 14, 1947.

Between the hours of 3 to 6 p.m. more than 200 guests gathered to felicitate the popular young couple, showering them with many useful gifts. The bride, who is the former Frances Jones, was exquisitely dressed in a wedding gown of white slipper satin, featuring a scalloped off-shoulder line with matching gauntlets, the hipline of the gown was accentuated by the new padded mode. She wore a gardenia wreath in her hair. Serving as maids in waiting to the bride were Thelma Harmon, and Rose Rideau, both wore blue gowns. The bride's mother, Mrs. Rosa C. Jones, stood at the head of the line, and was very charming in a turquoise blue satin back crepe gown that featured a sunburst pleated skirt. In her hair she wore pink carnations. The groom's mother, Mrs. Wiggins Rideau chose a gown of powder blue, she complimented it with white gloves. Mr. Ivan Jones and Mr. Wiggins Rideau completed the receiving line.

Taking part in the affair as senior hostesses were Mmes. Ivan Matthews, Mamie Portier, Arthur Strickland and Nellie Jones. School friends of the bride serving were: Rebecca Jean Brown, Weldina Hefflin, Gloria Crouch, Phyllis Williams, Phyllis Golden, Shirley Spencer, Tanis Fortier, Evelyn Strickland, and Jackie Dickerson.

The bride is a graduate of Manual Arts high school, and she attended UCLA. She is a former member of the Ivy Leaf club of AKA sorority and holds active membership in the neophytes. The lovely Mrs. Rideau was presented last year by the March club. Her husband, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wiggins Rideau is a graduate of St. Mary's Academy in Phoenix, Arizona. He spent two years in the U.S. Army and is now studying at National schools.

The wedding reception was followed with a dinner party for both families, at the home of Mrs. Frances Sides, grandmother to the bride.

The young couple will be at home to friends at 1575 W. 35th street.

Carver P.T.A.

The Executive Board of the Carver PTA held its regular meeting at the home of the Program Chairman, Mrs. M. Rakestraw, at 1028 E. 43rd pl.

Official business was transacted in preparation for the next regular meeting, which will be held Tuesday, Nov. 18, at 2:30 p.m., in the school auditorium, at which time Rev. J. C. Baine will speak on "Religion and Its Importance in Child Guidance." All members were present, and after the meeting, Mrs. Rakestraw served a very lovely luncheon.

Reception Honors Newlywed Rev. Mrs. H. H. Collins

On Thursday night October 30, Calvary C. M. E. church honored its pastor, the Rev. H. H. Collins and bride, the former Thelma Gladys Shaffas, of Tucson, Arizona, with a wedding reception to which 250 guests were invited.

Rev. and Mrs. Collins were married in Phoenix, Arizona October 10, at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Thompson, by Dr. J. G. Collins, uncle of the groom.

The social hall of the church was changed into a beautiful living room with its red drapes and sheer lace curtains, exquisite assortment of colorful flowers including rose buds and greenery enhanced by soft lights of lamps and tall white candles.

Near the center was an appointed table covered with a beautiful Italian lace table cloth. In the center of the table was a large silver bowl filled with a glorious mass of white "muma," with four tall white candles in silver holders shedding a soft tinted glow over them.

At the head, with the huge wedding cake, which after being cut by the bride and groom was served to guests in tiny white napkins, on which were engraved in gold, 'Thelma & Henry,' by Mrs. Myrtle Bircher, wife of the presiding Elder of the Los Angeles district, assisted by Misses Lonnita Morgan and Harriet Lewis. Mrs. Bircher wore black Chiffon, the little ladies, Pink.

At the Piano was Mrs. Margret Berry-McAfee and her charming sister Mrs. Martha Berry-Burgess who, with her singing violin furnished soft music, assisted by Mrs. Sarah Amos, who played for Mrs. Gladys Wilson to sing.

At the door to the right was a table with a basket of red chyramuths where Mrs. Viola Haynes of Santa Monica registered the guests. Mrs. Haynes wore rose, trimmed in gold sequins.

Facing the door with the little stage exquisitely decorated with a glorious mass of delicately colored "mums" and candles, as a background, stood the receiving line: Mrs. Blanche Hays, dressed in Pink with an orchid, the bride, Mrs. H. H. Collins, beautifully garbed in white chiffon, with an egg-shell Italian lace jacket. Her corsage was of pink carnations. Rev. Collins, the groom and Dr. G. L. Hays, ex-presiding Elder.

Standing at the dor were Mmes. Jennie Hill, Ruby Byrd. The young married women assited by their husbands, acted as hostesses - and escorted the guests to the receiving line, where Mrs. Aline Clark Henderson presented them to the honoree. Mrs. Henderson wore powdered blue, while the hostesses wore black afternoon dresses with white corsages.

Presiding over the presents were Mrs. Leila Keys, Katie Hines and Mrs. Fannie C. Proctor.

Ice Cream and Cake was served by the stewards assisted by the stewardesses and Hostesses.

Over two hundred guests were present.

Compass Group

The Compass Group, formerly known before the war as the George Washington Carver Fellowship Club, met Saturday night in the home of its chairman James Kelly at 2655 Kenwood ave. The Compass Group has about 35 active members with the following officers: Vice Chairman, Marian Hawkins; Recording Secretary, Olga Harris; Corresponding Secretary, Estelle Fleet; Treasurer, Abraham Harston; Host, Vincent Williams and Deaderick F. Jenkins, publicity chairman.

The purpose of this recently reactivated organization is to help with the cultural and social pursuits of its members. Saturday's gathering featured a short ad-Culture and its Meaning, stressing the fact that because of our dress by Deaderick F. Jenkins on materialistic philosophy our own American culture is very low.

Allen C. Woodard, Westside realtor, has been asked to speak at the next meeting on Racial Covenants, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Williams, 3515-5th ave. The group meets twice monthly.

Every year an average of 200,000 forest fires destroy three billion feet of lumber, enough to build 215,000 five-room homes. Red Cross Safety Service warns that 9 out of 10 of these fires could be prevented.

BUY A BRICK TO HELP SAVE A LIFE is the slogan of door Life and Health Association. This week your chronicler otes the first part of her jottings to an open letter from the cials of the Duarte sanatorium with hopes that it will be wered by a vast majority of local philanthropists. The Out- Life and Health Association is undertaking a gigantic building and renovating program. Primary purpose is to house veterans afflicted with tuberculosis.

Dear Citizens:

We, the executive committee of Outdoor Life and Health Association, owners and operators of a free and inter-racial, charitable tuberculosis sanatorium, would like to acquaint you with the following facts concerning our organization and to make a singular request of you.

Our 36-bed sanatorium, nearing its eighth birthday, has been operated for the benefit and welfare of tubercular women. In the course of seven years, hundreds have benefitted from the trained, untiring care and service given them by a competent staff.

A large number of pioneer citizens of Southern California have devoted through the years, their time, energy and private funds to blish and maintain this philanthropic service.

As an outcome of World War II the United States Governt has asked that our sanatorium accept male veteran patients. s request comes because of the crowded conditions and long ting lists in hospitals throughout the country which make it ossible for our veterans, victims of tuberculosis, to receive proper medical care immediately needed. We are eager to ply with this request and in so doing show our gratitude those men who have given of themselves that we be safe. do as we have planned requires that our facilities must be arged. Naturally, then, we are in need of a sudden increase ssociation funds. It is to you that we turn in our time of need.

May we request that all contributions be sent to the Build- Committee, Outdoor Life and Health Association, 4233 S. tral ave., Los Angeles, Calif. Make payable to Outdoor Life Health Association.

Sincerely,
George Burleson, chairman;
Bernard C. Herndon and John Jackson, secretaries.

Styles for all occasions in California have simmered down to the tailored suit. Opera, afternoon receptions, the theater, shopping, church, dinners and almost any other occasion will welcome the tailored suit of numerous designs and variations.

There are several reasons for this trend and reality in the Southland. First, climatic conditions make it necessary for one to be clad in comfortable clothing for various temperatures during the day. A range of ten to even 30 or 35 degrees during a period of 24 hours is not unusual. A garment or ensemble must lend itself for these gradations throughout a day.

Secondly, occupations and activities make it necessary for one to go from one sphere of performance to another without the relaxation of change in clothing during 24 hour periods.

Thirdly, transportation over numerous miles of territory prevents frequent commutements with the home. So distant are destinations from each other that clothing must suit all occasions.

Fourth, the social functions of Los Angeles in particular are so varied in scope that one must be prepared to attend more than one type of gathering during perhaps one afternoon.

Because of the foregoing reasons it is necessary for one well dressed woman to be groomed in suits of various designs. The basic material is gaberdine. The flat texture and tightly woven fabric resists soil and wrinkledness. It adapts itself well to any figure or size. The material requires a minimum of pressing and cleaning.

Other materials utilized in the tailored suit are also twisted and usually smooth.

Colored Grad Nurses Gain Full Recognition in ANA

The Oklahoma Nurses association at its annual convention in Lawton, Oklahoma, October 30, voted to admit qualified Negro nurses to full membership for the first time. Negro nurses representing branches of the National Association of Colored Graduate Nurses (NACGN) were present when the action was taken.

The NACGN, together with the American Nurses Association (ANA), has been campaigning for some time to remove discrimination in state nursing associations, since membership in the ANA can come only through membership in the state nursing association.

Oklahoma is the second southern state this month to act to ban discrimination in the nursing ranks. The Kentucky State Association of Registered Nurses, at its October 9 to 11 Annual Meeting, admitted Negro nurses to full membership. The Oklahoma Nurses Association makes the fourth such organization to take this step within a year. Since the end of the war, seven of the 16 state nursing associations that barred Negro nurses from membership have removed their barriers. The other state organizations are Florida, Delaware, Maryland, Tennessee, and Kentucky.

SHOPPING WITH DORIS

By DORIS AUSTIN

Hello There:

From the holiday spirit filling the shopping centers, the harassed frowns already lining the faces of shoppers, one would think we were well past the Thanksgiving season, rather than just coming toward it. Whether you are ready to shop now or not, it would be wise to do some serious thinking and planning. Stocks will not remain complete and as the demand rises for a particular bit of merchandise, who knows what the price will do—regardless of what it already has done (and don't we know it). Many stores are offering sales that are combining outstanding value and quality at reasonable prices. I need not say that this merchandise is limited in quantity and it takes quick action to get it—which brings your shopper into the picture.

Make your list now, then call your personal shopper and let me give you an estimate on what your purchases will cost plus the small addition of my fee. Turn your list over to me and you need have no other worry; go to your work or whatever you choose, knowing that your shopping worries are over; crowded stores, transportation nor shopping fatigue are no longer a part of your life.

For those who are not planning to give gifts this season, there are always those family needs that must be cared for, a necessity makes just as gay a wrapped package as the most frivolous of gifts and it serves a two-fold purpose. Remember, I do all kinds of shopping, for all members of the family, for business, household gifts, or what have you. All exchanges are made at my expense and you are under no obligation unless completely satisfied. FURS AND SATINS plus the new full skirt are much in evidence in the above photo. Arkin and Freeman donated the furs modeled by Sally Wilson (left) and Selina Rudd. Prof. Herman

It is just as easy to think along constructive lines as it is to figure out excuses—and it will take you a lot farther.

Thought, is stronger than reason, judgment, fear, or discipline. And is ofttimes the incentive and reason for our actions.

Whatever progress we, as human beings have made on our long upward march we, have made through our mental processes. Whatever victories we shall gain will be won first in the mind.

M.O.—Dear Prof. Herman, I have never written to you before, but I read your column each week and find it very helpful. Now, will you help me? Will I ever marry this man?

Ans.:—Probing into the matter, I find that you have only met this person once. You are letting your emotions over-rule your thoughts. Since he didn't give you a reason to feel this way, I suggest that you try to interest yourself in someone else.

L.M.P.—Dear Prof. Herman: Will I have good luck?

Ans.:—After giving your question much thought and consideration, I am of the opinion that you anticipate leaving your husband. In view of all facts, I feel that you should give him another chance. His past experience has taught him a lesson and the future with him looks promising.

S.B.—Dear Prof. Herman: Please tell me why I am so unhappy?

Ans.—My Physco-Mentalist Crystal reveals that you are having disturbance in your home. I vision that your friends and relatives have been gossiping to you. One of your weaknesses is believeing these untruths. Once you have put a definite stop to these interferences, you may be able to enjoy contentment and peace of mind with your family.

S.S.—Dear Prof. Herman: Will I obtain the job for which I have applied?

Ans.—It is revealed to me, that the examination you have taken recently proved successful to you. You have no reason to worry. Just be patient and within the near future you will be given a chance to fill this capacity.

B.B.—Dear Prof. Herman: Is this friend of long standing angry with me?

Ans.—Concentrating upon your question, it seems to me you inflicted injustice upon this person. Being of an obstinate nature, you hesitate in admitting you are wrong. In the future be more careful as your attitude may eventually cause you to destroy what so many people value, true friendship.

P.A.—Dear Prof. Herman: I was born June 20, 1895. Please tell me what day of the week was it?

Ans.—Your Lucky Stars and Guiding Planet reveal that you were born on a Thursday.

People's Court To Weigh Film Witch Hunt Sun.

The story of Hollywood and the Thomas-Rankin un-American Activities Committee will be brought to the people in the form of court proceedings to be held in Gilmore Stadium, 100 North Fairfax, Sunday afternoon, November 16, at 2 o'clock.

The PEOPLE OF AMERICA will be the plaintiffs. The un-American committee will be the defendants. The indictment against the committee reads that it is "illegally violating Article I of the Bill of Rights in stifling freedom of conscience and organization."

It "is seeking to impose political censorship upon the movies, to prevent any real portrayal of working people, Negroes, Jews, and other minorities. It is trying to institute a blacklist of workers—if their private ideas do not conform to the Committee's.

"The foregoing is admitted to be only a prelude to further control over our newspapers, books, radio, schools, unions, civic organizations."

The witnesses for the people will be representatives of the 19 "unfriendly" witnesses who were called by the Committee to appear in Washington for an investigation of their thinking. They are: Larry Parks, ("The Jolson Story"), Edward Dmytryk ("Crossfire"), John Howard Lawson ("Sahara"), Lewis Milestone ("A Walk in the Sun"), and Ivring Pichel, ("A Medal for Benny").

These representatives will complete the testimony the Committee refused to hear.

Lincoln Students Reject Biased Game Conditions

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. — The athletic committee of Lincoln university this week rejected as "unnecessarily inconvenient and humiliating" the conditions attached by the Jefferson City Board of Education to Lincoln's use of the Jefferson City public school stadium for its forthcoming annual homecoming football game.

While permitting use of the stadium, the board had denied use of the stadium's field house to Lincoln and its guests. A poll of campus opinion led the Lincoln athletic committee to reverse a previous decision to accept the board's condition.

In a letter to A. L. Crowe, superintendent of schools, Jefferson City, the athletic committee denounced the denial of the use of the field house as "unwarranted, undemocratic, unsportsmanlike, and a breach of good public relations between the Board of Education and a state institution of higher learning."

Despite the inadequacy of Lincoln field, which has no bleachers and other needed facilities, the homecoming game will be held on the Lincoln campus, the athletic committee announced.

LATL Gets Special Traffic Safety Award

In recognition of its outstanding work in the field of safety, the Los Angeles Transit Lines was presented a Special Citation this week at a meeting of the Advertising Club of Los Angeles which, together with other business and civic groups, operates a year-long "Operation Safety" campaign.

C. A. Tengblad, Los Angeles Transit Lines Safety engineer, who received the award on behalf of his company stated that the Transit Lines is happy to have been of help to all of the groups, each of which individually sponsored one of the 12 monthly campaigns.

Principal speaker of the meeting was Stanley M. Lanham, general consultant and traffic manager of the Transit Lines, who also expressed great satisfaction at his company's part in helping to decrease accidents within the metropolitan area. Due to the Operations Safety Campaign, the year 1947 showed a decrease in traffic deaths of 14.7%. Lanham also brought out the fact that the Master Traffic Plan, which includes the construction of freeways and parkways, one-way streets and the streamlining of transit facilities is basically a long range safety program. As an example he pointed to the recent Transit Lines conversions where the elimination of turns and blind corners decreased accident hazards.

259 Youngsters Celebrate Re-Opening of 'Y' Canteen

Two hundred and fifty high school and junior high school boys and girls were on hand last Saturday evening to celebrate the reopening of the 28th Street "Y" Teen-Canteen.

This is the fourth year of operation for the activity and it continues to grow in popularity. The canteen will be sponsored again this year by the Hi-Y Clubs and the Co-ed Club, with a different club operating it each week.

The Canteen Committee which is composed of girls from Carver, Lafayette and Jefferson, and representatives of the various Hi-Y Clubs, has been meeting for several weeks preparatory to the opening. Program plans for the season include basketball games, swimming, games and dancing. No membership is required for attendance; the only requirement is, boys and girls must not be younger than 14 nor older than 18 years of age—and must show proof of school attendance.

Mrs. J. D. Collins is advisor to the Co-ed committee and is working closely with the canteen. Mrs. Collins states that the canteen will operate from 7 to 11 p.m. this year in order that most everyone can be home by midnight.

Mrs. Mamie E. McKinney, after an extended trip across the country visiting Washington, D. C.; Richmond, Va.; Chicago, Ill.; and Benton, Mich.; has returned to her home in this city.

Richard Hart had not been in Hollywood 24 hours when he was cast opposite Greer Garson in "Desire Me." The day he completed that role he was chosen to portray the hero in "Green Dolphin Street," opposite Lana Turner.

Raisin' Cain

By CARL L. CAIN

"God helps him who helps himself." How well that proverb uld apply to the situation today. Especially the part that would ad ". . . them that help themselves." Every day there are new sks for the people of the Negro population to encounter and to ork out to the best advantage. Often the necessity of courage d daring leadership that will win or lose the battle for equality the Negro people, or in whose lack all shall be lost, arises. There e, and we are familiar with them, problems such as restrictive venants and the general work of equal rights in almost every eld of life.

God helps him who helps himself—but what happens to he who doesn't help himself? What happens when laziness nd lack of wholesome interest alters achievement and accomplishment? And at last, to a people, as well as an individual, if he forgets to do for himself what he would have done by God?

In the Southern states the voters, especially Negro voters, are miliar with the term "poll tax." And so far as they are conrned, the poll tax might as well be a stone wall between themlves and the ballot box. Too often they are unable to keep up e expense of tax and of voting. Therefore they pray and plead, ork and cry, for the right to vote and to have a hand in the poli-s by which they are to be governed.

Now in the Northern and Western states, the polls are open nd free to all. As a matter of fact, the people are being begged o go to the polls and cast their ballots on election day. But do they? And do any of the Negro people shower congress with letters of disapproval to the poll tax? Perhaps you are better prepared to say no to the question than I am.

God helps him that helps himself. Once a ball starts rolling wn a hill, it rolls on its own power. But to get that ball back to level track and rolling in some special direction again, re-ires synthetic power. The ball of affairs concerning the Negro ople must be forced along by leadership and cooperation.

How many times have you, and I, heard that dirty, filthy exession used to designate a member of the colored race? How any times have we heard a member of the Negro race use the me word to refer to one of his brothers? Quite often, saying the ist.

We hate the methods of the South, and so do a great majority the American people. We have hated Bilbo, Rankin, and other cists who have risen from the land of corn bread and cotton ns to antagonize the Negroes with their dreams of White Sumacy, first, last, and until the next cotton crop is gathered. And t, are we doing, and have we done anything to change things? to stop the southern political machine, which chugs along on e fuel of hate and race supremacy? Who ever demanded a check the poll tax, except a relatively few social-minded people, white d black?

The Negro people are very religious, and of that we can be proud. But does it not appear that we should help God by helping ourselves? In any race there are two types of people—the leaders and the led, or followers. But all too often with the Negro leaders they find that they must be leaders and the followers, too. Some of us are neither leaders or followers, but masses of dead weight. We simply enjoy the work of others, and sleep on our own rights as well as our duties. In every ase the leader speaks to everyone but "me." We see the point ut the point is not directed at "me." Leave it to Ed R. or to aul J. . . .

The Negro people are well represented in every field of life n politics to sports, including medicine and science. We have ne a long way since the beginning of the American government, d I have a theory of my ow nthat some day the Negro race shall minate intellectually. But today, equality and justice for all, d I do mean FOR ALL need not be a maze of idle dreams and pes. They can just as soon be realities and just as soon that ll be, as we wake up to the fact that we help God my helping rselves.

Let us put God in the co-pilot's seat and steer our race to the its of equality and happiness. At the beginning of, and dur-g World War II, we in America were singing "Praise the Lord d Pass the Ammunition." And we were victorious. Fight fire th fire, I say, on every hand. Help God by helping ourselves.

The expression "I can't" is more widely used than "I can." We ow the story of the man who buried the only talent that God ve him. And then there was the man who cultivated the one ent, and produced 20 more talents. Upon returning, God took e man's one talent and gave it to the man who turned that one ent into 20. So we see that the man whoturned one talent into pleased God and helped himself. And in turn, God helped him.

In the days that we are now living, cleverness prevails over rd work and sacrifice. Our very best is demanded in almost ery little instance, and all too often the reward seems small. ough the toil is great, and endless, it must continue, until we ve proven to ourselves, and to the world, that we are worthy of y success that might present itself. In other words, we must lp ourselves, and in doing so, receive God's help. No task is great, and no reward is too priceless.

Climaxing their 27th annual Achievement Week Program, the mbda chapter of Obega Psi Phi fraternity gave a highly-inspir-onal church program at Holman Methodist church last Sunday.

The principal speaker was Glanville A. Lockett, former Engh professor of Prairie View college, and now a Minority Specialfor the California State Employment Service. His topic was: acial Democracy at Home as a Means of Fostering International derstanding." He also talked on community planning for in-group understanding. Quoting from Lockett's address, "unless in the United States prove that democracy can achieve unity d equal opportunity, our leadership in international affairs is akened."

He also expressed the fraternity's concern on these important pics that will dominate our lives in the future.

Last Saturday night, many local collegiates were entertained th a dinner at the home of Lady Mark Williams, by the Alpha raternities of Los Angeles City college. Beize, Jackie Rigard, Wally Miles, Audrey Cloyd, Chase Edonds, Bernice Rigard, Bob Logan, Joyce Finney, Herbie Howard, yllis and Bill Golden, and many other couples who enjoyed emselves until the wee wee hours rolled around.

YMCA Crafts Shop Opens

Last week the big event in the lives of hundreds of happy boys took place; the long awaited "Y" crafts shop opened its doors.

Weeks have been spent in preparing the shop for opening day; benches were built, tools and supplies were gathered from everywhere, shelves and cabinets were built and painted. Many of the boys pitched in and helped with the work because history was being made.

"Dick" Davenport, who for several years has been crafts instructor in "Y" summer camps, is in charge of the shop, with Lowell Brinson as assistant. Davenport says: "No boys program can be complete without opportunity being given for creative expression through work with the hands."

Offered in the crafts program are the following: Art metal work, jewelry making, weaving, wood craft, wood carving, sculpture, ceramics, fine art and leather craft. Dick's slogan is: "If we haven't got what a boy wants we will get it."

THE REALM OF RELIGION

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. IKE EVANS, D.D.

Subject: Building Christian Character, Lesson Text and Outline. 2 Peter 1:5-11; Jude 17-21, 24-24. Motto Text Jude 21 Introduction.

Perhaps at Babylon about A.D. 68, sohrtly before his martyrdom, Peter wrote his second epistle in which he described the building of Christian character with capacity for Christian service and urged utmost diligence in the symmetrical development of the Christian life. Shortly before, or soon after, the destruction of Jerusalem by Titus in A. D. 70 the epistle of Jude was written to Jewish Christians who were troubled by false teachers and needed help in their defense of the faith.

Comments

1. Those who will make any progress in religion must be very diligent and industrious in their endeavors. Without giving all diligence, there is no gaining any ground in the work of holiness; those who are slothful in the business of religion will make nothing of it; we must strive if we will enter in at the straight gate. We must get virtue, by which some understand justice; and then the knowledge, temperance, and patience that follow, being joined with it.

The righteous must be bold as a lion; a cowardly Christian who is afraid to profess the doctrines or practice the duties of the gospel, must expect that Christ will be ashamed of him another day.

2. Those who would persuade must make it evident that they sincerely love those whom they would persuade. Bitter words and hard usage never did nor ever will convince, much less persuade anybody. The words which inspired persons have spoken (or written), duly remembered and reflected on, are the best preservative against dangerous errors; this will always be so, 'til men have learned to speak better than God Himself.

3. Whatever is the subject or argument we have been treating of, ascribing glory to God is fittest for us to conclude with. God is able, and he is willing as able, to keep us from falling, and to present us faultless before the presence of his glory; not as those who never have been at fault for what has once been done can never be rendered undone, even by Omnipetence itself, for that implies a contradiction), but as those whose faults shall not be imputed, to their ruin, which, but for God's mercy and a Saviour's merit, they might most justly have been.

Comment on the Motto Text

First, here is the upward look to the love of God. Think of the love of God in him for us and the love of God in us for Him. To do that we must (as the context shows) build on our holy faith and pray in the Holy Spirit. Again, here is the onward look to the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ culminating in His second coming and continuing forever as we dwell in the "house not made with hands, eternal, in the heavens."

Granville A. Lockett Closes 27th Annual Achievement Week With Timly Message at Holman

THE RELATIONSHIP of Democracy at home and International Understanding was discussed by Granville A. Lockett, minority specialist, at the close of the 27th Achievement Week program of Lambda chapter of Omega Psi Phi fraternity at Holman Methodist church. Principles on the program were Charles W. Thrash, basileus of Lambda chapter; Rev. L. L. White, minister of Holman Methodist; Granville A. Lockett, speaker, and James P. Perry Jr., district representative. (See story).

Omega Psi Phi fraternity, Lambda Chapter, climaxed its 27th annual Achievement Week Program, Sunday November 9, with a highly inspirational church program at Holman Methodist church.

Glanville A. Lockett, former English professor of Prairie View college, now minority specialist, California State Employment Service, was the principal speaker. His topic, "Racial Democracy at home as a means of fostering International Understanding," followed closely the theme of this year's fraternal activity, Community Planning for Intergroup Understanding. Quoting in part from Lockett's address, "Unless we in the United States prove that democracy can achieve unity and equal opportunity, our leadership in international affairs is weakened.

In every community in America there are resources for inter-group understanding. These we must appraise and plan to channel into positive action.

The matter of intergroup justice and equality of opportunity is no longer one of concern to disadvantaged minorities alone.

Our fraternity's concern with it is expressive of our concern for equality, justice, national strength and international understanding. It is our current activity designed to make a real contribution to world peace and domestic tranquility. It reflects our dedication to a functioning democracy."

Other pertinent remarks were offered by L. L. White, minister of Holman Methodist church, who is a member of the Fraternity and Charles W. Thrash, Basileus of Lambda chapter.

Pride, the most dangerous of all faults, proceeds from want of sense, or want of thought.—Dillon.

Local Churches Plan West View, Sunday, Nov. 30

More than 50 of the local churches are participating in a six weeks' fund-raising drive for West View Hospital, Los Angeles' first interracial, non-sectarian, non-profit, class A hospital to be erected on Main street, between 53rd and 54th sts.

The drive was launched with "West View Tag Day" on October 19, and will culminate in "West View Sunday" on November 30.

A cross-section of the representative ministers of the community organized the "West View Ministers' Committee" last July, and elected Rev. H. Mansfield Collins, chairman, and Rev. Jonathan L. Caston, secretary. This committee has worked out a plan for fund raising, which includes the setting up of a "West View Committee" in each cooperating church to raise funds by sale of "health bonds" and tags to church members and friends, sponsoring of special events in the churches, etc. These committees will be permanent "participating groups" in the maintenance of West View Hospital.

Reverends Collins and Caston have announced that the plan is receiving wide support from local ministers, and they expect a sizable sum of money to be raised by November 30.

The plan has been endorsed by the local ministerial alliances, and all churches are being urged to join in support of this urgently-needed community hospital.

Baha'i News

World Faith: Master Key to World Order will be the subject of the lecture given by Mrs. Virginia Foster at Los Angeles headquarters of Baha'i World Faith, 331 South New Hampshire avenue, on Sunday, November 16, at 3 p.m.

Leaders of religion, exponents of political theories, governors of human institutions, who at present are witnessing with perplexity and dismay the bankruptcy of their ideas and the disintegration of their handiwork, would do well to turn their gaze to the Revelation of Baha'u'llah, and to meditate upon the World Order which, lying enshrined in His teachings, is slowly and imperceptibly rising amid the welter and chaos of present-day civilization.

Men are sometimes accused of pride merely because their accusers would be proud themselves if they were in their places.—Shenstone.

VIOLA McGILL CURRENCE

I love the beauty of the scene
Would roam over fields so green.
For those who trod on rocks and stones
And bore their burdens all alone.
Who loaf not in leafy bowers
Nor heard the birds nor pluck the flowers;
A larger kindness given to me
A deeper love and sympathy.
Then, Oh, one day may some one say,
"Remember a lessoned pain",
If she could pass this way again.
In Memory,
CHARLES CURRENCE, devoted husband.

In Memoriam

To our husband, son, and brother, Leroy M. Hays, who lost his life in the battle of the South Pacific November 12, 1943.

There is no death for such as you
The memory of your smile and heart
Still lights dark days and brightens nights
As in the days before War's start.
Each footstep falling on the walk
Brings back the memory of your tread
You walk and laugh with us each day
We know you are not dead but just away.

Sacred to the memory of Mrs. Mary Taylor, who fell asleep November 14, 1945.

Your heart was the truest in all this wide world
Your love the best to recall
There is no one on earth could take your place
You are still the dearest of all
Though I shed a tear in silence.
Still I seem to hear you say
Don't cry I'm only sleeping
I'll come for you some day.

In Memoriam

In memory of my beloved husband, father and son, Oswald Frank King, who was born in Los Angeles, California, and on May 12, 1947, six months ago, departed this life, while working on his job as senior tree surgeon, for the Park Department of the City of Los Angeles.

We cannot say that he is dead. He is just away, gone on to that land of rest. We loved you dear, but God loved you best.

We miss you everywhere. The places dear to thee. Familiar shadows wear. Henceforth for memory. For you have done your work and done it well, and gone on to a better land in which to dwell. So sleep on dear and rest, we love you, but God loved you best.

Distinguished 100-Voice Choir, Famed Quartets are Slated At Victory Baptist on Sunday

The week-long dedication services at Victory Baptist church, 48th and McKinley, will culminate on Sunday in a stirring climax with an all-day program. At the morning service, the speaker will be Rev. L. D. Stevens, president of the Baptist Ministers Alliance, and appearing with him on the rostrum will be Mr. S. P. Johnson of Conner-Johnson Co. At this service, the ceremony of the unveiling of the new Baldwin organ, just installed by the church, will take place. This unveiling ceremony was previously announced for the evening service, but popular demand that the organ be used throughout the day's program, has caused this change in schedule.

This Baldwin Electric Organ has just been installed in the church, and it is the first of its kind to be placed in any church on the Eastside. Its tone quality was highly praised by Dr. Roberts, instructor of music at the University of Southern California. With her, at the time she tried out the instrument, was Dr. Tibbett of First Methodist church. Both were unstinting in their praise of the beautiful tone of this particular instrument, and recommend highly the Baldwin name and the instruments which this company produced.

The afternoon services, scheduled at 3:30, will bring Dr. Carter, pastor of Calvary Baptist church, Santa Monica, to the pulpit, and he will be assisted by the music of his well-trained choir. Dr. Carter's message promises to be an interesting one, as he is the president of the Western States Convention, and is an experienced and well-equipped in public address. Music will further be furnished by the 100-Voice Victory Choir, the Smith Jubilee Singers and others. Representatives of the leading business concerns of the city will be present at this service. Motion pictures will be made of the vast processional and the audience. The processional will include the members of the many church auxilaries, and it is hoped that the audience will bring a representative and numerically large group of friends as well as members.

In the evening, a musical program will be presented, featuring noth only the lovely tones of the new organ, but some of the most popular voices in the city. Albert McNeill will play, and his artistry at the organ needs but be mentioned to be fully appreciated in the city where his art is known and loved by all. Don Lee White, rising musician of exceptional talent, will also appear. Special music will be rendered by Luther Carpenter's A Capella Choir, with which group no time nor pains has been spared to make its renditions musically perfect. The Victory Choir will also sing, the Peters Radio Club, the Smith Jubilee Singers and others. Nothing has been overlooked, it is hoped, in making this musical fest one of variety, beauty and charm. Presented will be numbers to appeal to every taste, and it is a promise to the music loving public, that the evening spent at Victory with the members of the church will be mutualy enjoyable.

Auto Club Asks Enforcement of Anti-Noise Laws

Charging that long-prevailing nuisances as unwarranted horn blowing and amplified exhaust and muffler noises have become "highly detrimental to the welfare of our people," the Automobile Club of Southern California has called upon the Southland's chiefs of police for continued and consistent cooperation in the enforcement of the State's anti-noise laws.

"Unreasonably loud horns and the blowing of them for purposes other than 'to insure safe operation' of motor vehicles is prohibited by the California Vehicle Code," the club pointed out.

Jewish Group In National Drive On Covenants

The three point program of action against racial and religious discrimination in housing, being undertaken on a nationwide front by the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, will be given special attention in Southern California and Arizona, Milton A. Senn, director of the League's Southern California Regional Office, announced yesterday.

Senn stated that the campaign is intended to stimulate public opinion against the segregation and ghettoization of minority groups and to erase racial and religious restrictive covenants in real estate deals and leases.

As outlined in New York by Justice Meier Steinbrink of the New York State supreme court, national chairman of the Anti-Defamation League, the campaign will include:

● Use of legal action, wherever possible, to test in court the League's contention that restrictive covenants and other discriminatory techniques in housing violate constitutional guarantees.

Arnold Forster, head of the League's Legal Division, announced he would take advantage of the supreme court's recent decision to review litigation questioning the validity of restrictive covenants by filing, for the League, briefs as amicus Curiae in these cases.

● Support of legislation—federal, state and municipal—designed to outlaw discriminatory agreements and practices. The League is presently preparing a model bill to be suggested to the next session of the New York legislature. Similar legislation will be recommended in other states.

In addition, the League will seek to have incorporated in state and municipal "Bills of Rights" now being considered in connection with state constitution and municipal charter revisions, provision guaranteeing the right of every citizen to own and occupy property without discrimination on account of race, creed, color or national origin.

● Introduction of an adult educational program on the community, or "grass roots" level to acquaint the public with the evils of discrimination in housing and to mobilize the inherent fair play of the American people.

Specific areas within the jurisdiction of the League's Southern California regional office which will receive attention and study are Beverly Hills, Burbank, Pasadena, La Jolla, and some sections of Arizona.

Pride is ignorance; those assume most who have the least wisdom or experience; and they steal from their neighbor, because they have so little of their own.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Exonerated by Police, Shot, Beaten by Mob

ABERDEEN, Miss. (CNS)—No sooner had 43 year old John Lloyd been exonerated of raping a 54 year old white woman, and released by police, than he was seized last Sunday by a mob of white men, beaten, shot twice and left to die.

Lloyd, a farm worker, is now in a hospital and has an even chance to live although he probably will be a cripple for life.

Last Saturday night a white woman told police a Negro had tried to rape her. According to her story, her assailant grabbed her from behind and held his hand over her mouth. She wrenched away, screamed and the assailant fled, she said.

Bloodhounds, brought from the state penitentiary at Parchmen, led a posse to Lloyd's home but did not point to Lloyd specifically. Lloyd, however, was brought to the police station, questioned by Police Chief John Barrett. In a second test with bloodhounds, the chase led again to Lloyd's home, but not to Lloyd.

Sunday at 5 p.m. Lloyd was released after questioning because of "lack of evidence." Chief Barrett said his "investigation showed the Negro was not at the scene at the time of the attempted attack."

That same night a mob of 30 men seized Lloyd from his home, shot him in the arm and spine.

Barrett claims that Lloyd cannot identify any of the men. Anyway, everything is hunkydory, according to Barrett. "It has all blown over. There was a lot of hard feelings Sunday. But everything is under control."

STANDS IN FOR DAD

The most famous of 'Lassie' numerous sons, Laddie, who made his debut at a tender age as an actor in "Courage of Lassie," now is the stand-in to his popular daddy. Grown almost to full size, the offspring of the star is taking over his new duties on M-G-M's "The Hills of Home."

Van Johnson once toured the so-called "Borscht Circuit" in the Catskills, singing and dancing for $9 a week, plus room and board.

Cost of Rearing A Family Way Up

NEW YORK — (Global) — The cost of rearing a child in an American family of moderate means rase more than 50 percent in the last decade, according to a statistical report made by the Metropolitan Insurance Company.

They found that the greatest increases have been in food and clothing.

Ten years ago, the statisticians reported, the cost of bringing up a child to the age of 18 was almost $10,000 in a family with an income of about $2500 a year. At today's prices, the comparable cost would be more than $15,000.

ROBERT C. HOLIFIELD

The remains of Robert C. Holifield, 24, of 1224 Glen ave. who died at a local hospital Oct. 6, were shipped to Dallas, Tex., for funeral and interment by Conner-Johnson. He was a native of Waco, Tex.

Pride is to the character, like the attic to the house—the highest part, and generally the most empty.—John Gay.

Brown-Skinned Cow

You can get good milk from a brown skinned cow;
The color of the skin doesn't matter nohow.
Ho, ho, ho—haw, haw, haw,
You can learn common sense at the groc'ry store.

Heard a choo-choo say to a railroad track
Don't care if passengers are white or black.
Ho, ho, ho—use your brain,
You can learn common sense from a railroad train.

As the peach pit said to the apple core,
"The color of our skins doesn't matter any more."
Ho, ho, ho—can't you see,
The color of your skin doesn't matter to me.

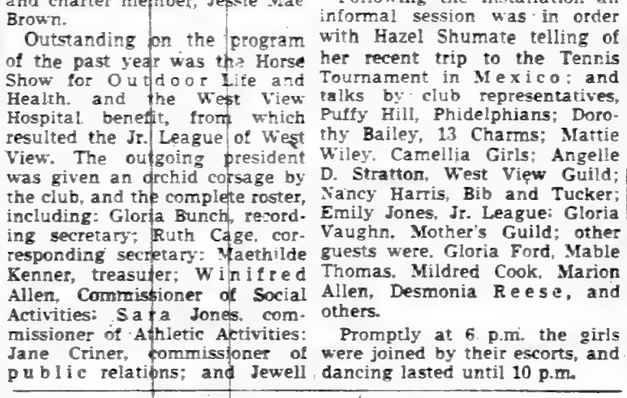
Crop 'N' Tail Officers Given Oath by Atty. James Reese

With befitting solemness, Atty. James E. Reese installed the officers of the Crop 'N' Tail Riding Club on Sunday afternoon at the West 29th place home of Miss Winifred Allen. A group of club representatives and special guests witnessed the ceremonial that included a brief resume of the fashionable riding club's activities since its organization in 1945. Special emphasis was placed on the activities of the past year, when the group combined civic and philanthropic work in its carefree program, under presiding officer and charter member, Jessie Mae Brown.

Outstanding on the program of the past year was the Horse Show for Outdoor Life and Health, and the West View Hospital benefit, from which resulted the Jr. League of West View. The outgoing president was given an orchid corsage by the club, and the complete roster, including: Gloria Bunch, recording secretary; Ruth Cage, corresponding secretary; Maethilde Kenner, treasurer; Winifred Allen, Commissioner of Social Activities; Sara Jones, commissioner of Athletic Activities; Jane Criner, commissioner of public relations; and Jewell Lockett, historian, were highly commended by Atty. Reese.

At the peak of the ceremonial, the Crop, symbol of the club, was given incoming president, Dorothea Fearonce by the retiring officer. The oath was then repeated by all new officers including: vice-president, Jane Criner, (by proxy), recording secretary, Sara Jones; corresponding secretary, Jewell Lockett; treasurer, Gloria Bunch, commissioners of athletic and public relations, Dorothy Bass and Maethilde Kenner and historian, Winifred Allen.



Following the installation an informal session was in order with Hazel Shumate telling of her recent trip to the Tennis Tournament in Mexico; and talks by club representatives, Puffy Hill, Phidelphians; Dorothy Bailey, 13 Charms; Mattie Wiley, Camellia Girls; Angelle D. Stratton, West View Guild; Nancy Harris, Bib and Tucker; Emily Jones, Jr. League; Gloria Vaughn, Mother's Guild; other guests were, Gloria Ford, Mable Thomas, Mildred Cook, Marion Allen, Desmonia Reese, and others.

Promptly at 6 p.m. the girls were joined by their escorts, and dancing lasted until 10 p.m.

Civil Rights Report 'Gives NAACP Mandate'

CAMDEN, N. J.—The NAACP has been given a government-backed mandate by the report of the President's Committee on Civil Rights to continue with renewed vigor the fight for full equality in the United States," Gloster B. Current, NAACP director of branches, declared here Sunday at a mass meeting sponsored by the local branch.

Lashing out at Southern criticism to the effect that the Civil Rights Report is "impracticable and harmful" and the South is determined to preserve "sufficient segregation" to discourage miscegenation, Current declared, "the issue is not miscegenation. The issue is full and complete equality within the framework of the United States constitution and the charter of the United Nations."

C. A. TENGBLAD, Los Angeles Transit Lines Safety engineer, looks pleased (as who wouldn't) as he receives a special citation for his conmpany's part in the "Operation Safety" campaign from comely Warner Bros. star, Dorothy Malone. Miss Malone, was mistress of ceremonies at an Advertising Club meeting where outstanding participation in the drive which decreased traffic deaths by 14 percent was recognized.

British Aid U.S. Plot to Keep Out West Indians

Trying to get into the United States of America is a difficult job for anyone from a foreign country, but that difficulty is multiplied a thousand fold if that person happens to be a Negro from the British West Indies.

The combined annual quotas for all countries, according to a law adopted in 1924, is 153,879. Great Britain, including all her possessions, has the lion's share of 65,721. But of this rather large number, only 60 per year are allowed to immigrate from the British Caribbean possessions, which include Jamaica, Bermuda, Barbados, Trinidad, Bahamas, other smaller islands and British Honduras.

This policy is pursued by the British and American governments to keep Negroes as cheap labor on the islands, and to keep foreign-born Negroes and other colored peoples out of the United States, in the opinion of the National Conference for the Protection of Foreign Born.

Should a Negro manage to run the quota gauntlet, there are other hurdles he must overcome before he is given a visa. The American consul, for example, will usually require that the applicant for a visa show in hand that he has at least $1500, in order that there be no danger that he might become a public charge in the United States. But the British government will not permit anyone to take more than $100 out of the country!

Says Negroes Barred From New Housing

CHICAGO—Homeless and overcrowded, slum-dwelling Negroes are being forced back into unlivable ghettoes despite the boost in new housing facilities.

This is the charge New York City Housing Authority counsel Charles Abrams makes in November Negro Digest in a documented expose citing housing developments across the nation where interracial housing now works successfully. Yet false premises are being used to further segregation patters and unequal facilities in a manner that has already gained social sanction, political respectability, judicial benediction, and journalistic approval, the writer shows.

In New York, Chicago and Los Angeles, Abrams who is the author of The Future of Housing says, interracial housing worked successfully. And in Pennsylvania where segregated housing is barred, exceptional success is reported.

"When segregation of one race receives social aproval," Abrams insists, "eht practice is extended to other races. When it receives judicial blessing, it ripens into a political institution. This is precisely what is happening in America today.

"Segregation in housing is no longer exclusively a Negro problem, though Negroes are still the most affected race.

"Segregation of all minorities is bound to follow."

Monalisa Girls Talk Over Yultide Plans

The Monalisa Girls Bridge club was entertained on Monday night, Nov. 3, at the regular meeting hostessed by Mrs. Ellen Brinson. Plans were discussed for the club's annual Xmas party and formal dance to be given in the very near future.

The usual four changes of bridge were played, with honors going to Mrs. Bernice Smeet, Mrs. Eva Wyatt, Mrs. Dorothy Mims, and Mrs. Celeste Chappel, the honored guest of the evening.

Mrs. Altha McCowan was absent from the meeting due to illness. The next meeting is set for Nov. 17, with Mrs. Catherine Thomas as hostess.

Rentals Hiked on 11-2 Million Homes

WASHINGTON—Rent Expediter Tighe E. Woods said yesterday that during the four-month period ending Oct. 31 a total of 1,508,369 leases increasing rents up to 15 percent had been filed with local rent offices.

The raises were effected under the phoney rent control bill passed by the 80th congress which permits landlords and tenants to enter into "voluntary" agreements to up rents. Such leases must be signed on or before Dec. 31, and must provide for a stipulated rent until at least Dec. 31, 1948.

3 Brothers Lead Ontario, Canada, in Turkey Breeding

CHICAGO—How a trio of brothers borrowed land and three turkeys which they have built into Ontario's most prosperous and thriving turkey farm is told in a December Ebony photo-story stating that their gobblers have won 55 prizes in Toronto Royal Winter Fairs since 1939.

"George, Donald and Elwood Land started the first turkey farm in Western Ontario," Ebony says, "and have been growing a record flock of gobblers since 1935, when they borrowed land and three turkeys to begin the farm."

The oldest brother is president of the Essex and Kent Turkey Breeders' Association, which has 70 members of whom only six are Negroes, and the Lands themselves are loved and respected by all their neighbors in an all-white area.

The Lands sell mainly to Detroit markets in the United States and their turkeys, 26 of which have won grand prize ribbons, retail at an average of $10 each. Their net profit on an average Christmas or Thanksgiving is about $3000.

The musical score for "Forever Amber", the Kathleen Winsor story, runs 450 pages, weighs 17 pounds and will last for 118 minutes on the screen.

Blast Insurance Co.'s Defense of Housing Jimcro

NEW YORK—Calling attention to the specific condemnation by the President's Committee on Civil Rights of the racial discrimination practised by Metropolitan Life Insurance Company in its Stuyvesant Town housing project, Dr. Stephen S. Wise, President of the American Jewish Congress; Roger Baldwin, director of the American Civil Liberties Union; and Walter White, secretary of the NAACP yesterday derided the statement of Frederick H. Ecker, chairman of the board of the insurance company, that the purpose of criticism of Metropolitan's Jim Crow policy is "to make trouble along the lines of an ideology that would destroy our form of government." Ecker's statements were made October 30, at the Waldorf-Astoria, while receiving an award from the Hundred Year Association.

The three civic leaders stated that the court case instituted to enjoin Stuyvesant Town from discrimination was brought by their three organizations acting jointly and denounced Ecker's effort to equate segregation and Americanism.

Challenging Ecker's statement that discrimination in Stuyvesant Town was only "a matter of business and economics," the statement issued by the civic leaders cited the Report of the President's Committee on the staggering cost of discrimination and segregation in housing. They emphasized that Metropolitan Life is the recipient of benefits contributed by the people of the City of New York, including its Negro citizens, and that then housing made possible by these benefits should be made available.

"The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company," they said, "has the unparalleled opportunity to put into immediate effect this principle. We are confident that such a policy is not only sound social engineering but good business practice as well."

State Study Bares Rising Employer Bias

OAKLAND—For the first time, in its "Monthly Labor Market Summary" for the month of September, the Alameda county office of the California state employment service put the finger on job discrimination practiced by local employers.

"Although 25 percent of the applicants contacting the local offices seeking employment are non-white, these workers received 13.9 percent of the total placements," the report declared.

As to the type of jobs into which non-white workers were placed during September, the report had this to say: "Approximately 20 percent of the non-white placements were made in short-time jobs of three days duration or less, which returns the worker to the labor market about every other day."

"Discriminatory specifications on job orders make placements of these workers difficult. Some possess the demanded skills in which no other workers are available, and in many instances, employers, because of restrictions, are overlooking an existing supply of qualified workers.

"As a result of restrictions, many non-white workers are accepting jobs in occupational classifications below their skill and experience while others must continue to draw unemployment insurance or servicemen's readjustment allowances until their benefits are exhausted."

Tables in the report tell the story graphically:

Job Classification	Placements	Non-whites
Prof., and managerial	37	2
Clerical-sales	559	64
Service	590	207
Skilled	143	13
Semi-skilled	293	14
Unskilled	1,185	170

Seeks Aid for 1000 Striking Farm Workers

BAKERSFIELD—An appeal to aid 1000 striking farm workers in their fight against the giant Di Giorgio Farms Corporation, the world's largest fruit concern, was issued by Hank Hasiwar, national representative of the National Farm Labor Union—AFL which is leading the fight against the 22,000 acre ranch of Di Giorgio near this city. With few exceptions, more than 1500 permanent workers on the farm have been manning the picket lines since October 1 to win union recognition for their union, one of the newest of the International unions in the AFL's ranks.

Wide support in their struggle was cited by Hasiwar in urging that financial aid be sent the NFLU strike fund, c/o the Kern county Central Labor Council in Bakersfield. The strike is joined by Teamsters Union local 87, which claims some 128 tractor drivers and loaders at the farm. The Kern county CLC has approved the strike action, while the State Federation of Labor, in its October 15 newsletter to all AFL locals in California, urged "unlimited support" in addition to citing the State Federation's own financial aid.

A blunt refusal to meet with the Farm Labor and Teamsters local unions precipitated the strike, and management has since refused to attend a Conciliation Service meeting at which both federal and state conciliators were ready to enter the dispute. Backed by the Associated Farmers, whose president denounced the "outside agitators" in familiar terms, the Di Giorgio management is relying on starving out and intimidating the newly organized farm workers, Hasiwar declared.

Negro Has Lost Self Esteem, Says Noted Scientist

CHICAGO—"By wholesale adoption of the standards of beauty set by Hollywood," says famous white anthropologist M. F. Ashley Montagu in November Negro Digest "the Negro indicates just how far has fallen his own self-esteem."

In an article entitled "What Will The Negro Look Like 1000 Years From Today?" Montagu, who is an author and teaches at Halnemann Medical college, claims that too many Negroes have lost their pride in their membership in the human race. Caste, the scientist predicts, will prevent Negroes from migrating socially and biologically into the white caste.

Consequently, he argues, in the year 2947—1000 years from today—the Negro will look basically the same. In conclusion he states:

"This is good! As a physical type I feel, both as a scientist and an appreciator of beauty, that the Negro is as harmonic and handsome a type as any race of man. Among the most genuinely beautiful persons I have ever seen, a large proportion of them have been American Negroes.

Seeks Volunteers for Key Red Cross Posts

Los Angeles Red Cross' home service department this week issued an "SOS" appeal for eight women "to be trained for the highest, specialized volunteer work" carried on by the organization.

The plea for women who can qualify for the training class starting early next month was made by Mrs. Deborah Longuell, chairman of the home service corps.

Handling of emergency wire communications, telephone requests for home service help, and contacting families of active servicemen to verify need of furloughs highlight the chief task of the home service volunteer, Mrs. Longuell explained.

Women interested in the November class should call Red Cross headquarters, phone Fitzroy 5261, extension 121.

Arthur Lake, star of the "Blondie" series, made his debut as independent producer last week with the formation of Arthur Lake Productions, Inc., to film "16 Fathoms Deep" in Anscolor in Florida for Monogram release.

T AS BAD AS PAINTED

Eddie Anderson, head coach at Iowa U., stated recently that len Tunnell was through with football at Iowa after Tunnell lked off of the field the other day because he had been ordered practice after showing some sloppy tackling. But who's kidding ? Football players all have their moods at times and Ander- knows that Tunnell is Iowa's most consistent and valuable k, and he also knows that without Tunnell his squad will suffer ater defeat than what they have thus far.

OUT TIME

They say that Loyola college is a democratic school and now m beginning to believe it, although I had begun to have my ubts. Why Bob Boyd, of Compton J.C. fame last season, had not n chosen the player of the week before just recently has been question which has been bothering me and evidently quite a Loyola students, too, for Boyd has definitely shown that he is e of the most valuable men of the Loyola eleven if not the most uable man, and his popularity with the judges, the student y, has rated 100 percent since the beginning of the season. wever, Boyd did receive the gold watch recently, and a demand- student body can be thanked.

YBE SO

Los Angeles Rams suffered from two injuries this week: one upset by the Boston Yanks Sunday which doesn't set the Rams too well for a championship chance; and two, more trouble h a bad Kenny Washington leg, which will keep Kenny out of game for a couple of weeks or more. And speaking of Kenny, e is a quotation that some people are inclined to agree with. rsonality, in Washington's case, I would for once rather see a quit while the quitting is good . . . his leg won't get any better soon everyone will forget the Kenny Washington of UCLA and ak of him as just another good football player." Maybe so, in my opinion, a champ doesn't quit until he thinks his time s come.

OPERATION, PLEASE!

The Angel City Racquet Club just needs a little more coopera- n in order to carry out some of the fine plans for the near fu- e. Meetings are only held once every two weeks for no more n two or three hours, so let a hint to the wise be sufficient for ne of you delinquent members.

ERE IS SUGARFOOT?

unday afternoon in Buffalo, w York, George "the kid" Rat- man and his team mates who r the colors of the Buffalo s, took the Los Angeles Dons o camp to the tune of 25-0. The o teams were playing in some the worst weather in Buffalo quite some time, and the Don's s could possibly be explained their lack of being able to ust their vaunted "T" offense hese conditions. Every kid in high school can tell you that "T" is a dry-land offense LY, and cannot become am- bious like the "single wing" ich can be geared to dry land well as wet without much ficulty. Yes, Coach DeGroot his assistants may be able to ain their loss, but how will y explain the absence of their T END, Ezzerett "Sugarfoot" derson?

ow, I could be wrong, for I s not in Buffalo Sunday after- n, but sat by my radio and rd the Don's official Radio nouncer, Dick Fischell, do, as ays, an excellent job of "call- " the game. From the mo- nt the game opened until the al gun was fired, the name of derson was noticeably absent. Sugarfoot" may have been in- ed or ill. If this was the case, IY wasn't it made public?

his is not the First time one the local pro or college clubs been guilty of keeping their yers of "color" on the side- es. The Don's are trying hard build up their drawing power ally, and so far, they have en very successful, but it is ST SUCH THINGS as what ppened in Buffalo, that will r down all the hard work that ir popularity.

The Rams tried the same thing last year when they repeatedly they have put into building up kept Washington and Strode on the bench. The people haven't forgotten either! Owner Dan Reeves will probably have many sleepless nights because of the small crowd of a little over 19,000 that witnessed Sunday's Ram-Yank game in the Coliseum. Sunday was just the handwriting on the wall for the Rams—the handwriting that may someday write "fini" to the story of the Rams marked OUR STAY IN LOS ANGELES.

To Harry Thayer, Dan Ameche, and Dud DeGroot, I'm still asking the question: "Where was 'Sugarfoot Sunday?". Do you think they can answer the question without doing a lot of "heming and hawing"? I don't.

ORCHIDS AND ONIONS

ORCHIDS to the Jefferson High school "Rooting section" for the fine brand ofsportsmanship and loyalty they displayed Friday afternoon . . . it was quite a lot different than the spirit they have been displaying . . . it's still not perfect, but it shows gigantic steps in the right direction . . .

Mr. Hyland basks in the dubious sunlight and glory of the L. A. Times . . . apologies to the Examiner . . . Orchids to Coach Henry Akdis oft he 1947 Jefferson Varsity . . He has brought the Green and Gold up from a team that in '46 couldn't beat Carver Junior High school, toone oft he major powers in the city this year . . . Coach Aldis seems also not only interested in building fine teams, but in building finer young men, which is really the main purpose of playing football. . . . ONIONS to a local Sports Editor for saying in his column last week, that Bob Mike was the only Negro on the 1947 UCLA FOOTBALL TEAM. . . . If you look closer, old man, you'll find three other Negro gridders on the Bruin Team . . . they are Harry Thompson, a promising 235-pound tackle from LACC, Clarence "Emerson" Cabbell, 220 pounds of all-man from Columbus, Ohio, who formerly played on the Florida A. and M. team, and Sam "Fleetfoot" Miller, 175-pound halfback from Berkeley, who formerly played at San Jose State when Dud De Groot was coach, before the war. . . .

CALIENTE, Old Mexico—Altho the day was on the chilly side Caliente enjoyed one of the best crowds in many weeks last Sunday. It was a good day for the longshot players. They started out in the first when "Teddy Martin" scored to pay $12. In the second race "Crusabelle" was the victor, paying $14.40. The third race was won by "Balko Boy," rewarding its backers $8. The daily-double with "Crusabelle" and "Balko Boy" paid its backers $98.20. "Irish May" won the fourth to pay $28.

The surprise of the day was in the ninth race, one of the feature events, when "He Kuene," a former sprinter, took the lead at the break from the mile and seventy yard to score handily by two lengths, while the favorite "Soup and Fish" finished fourth. The winner paid the biggest price of the day $38.40.

In the main attraction "Jolly Gremlin" came off the pace to score easily to pay $18.40.

The quiniela with "Little Montana" winning and "El Tejon" finishing second paid $81.40 for two.

General Manager Walter C. Vivian Blaine has a complete 16mm record of her nine week tour of England and the Continent.

Thanks to Bill Spiller for his cooperation in helping the club out in the tournament and to all who played. Marty announced that eleven races would again be run this Sunday, with the feature attraction "Dauber" handicap at one mile and seventy yards for a purse of $1500. Jockey M. Hernandez was set down for thirty days for rough riding, while Jockey F. Fumbles Mar Tilt

By Stanley Robertson

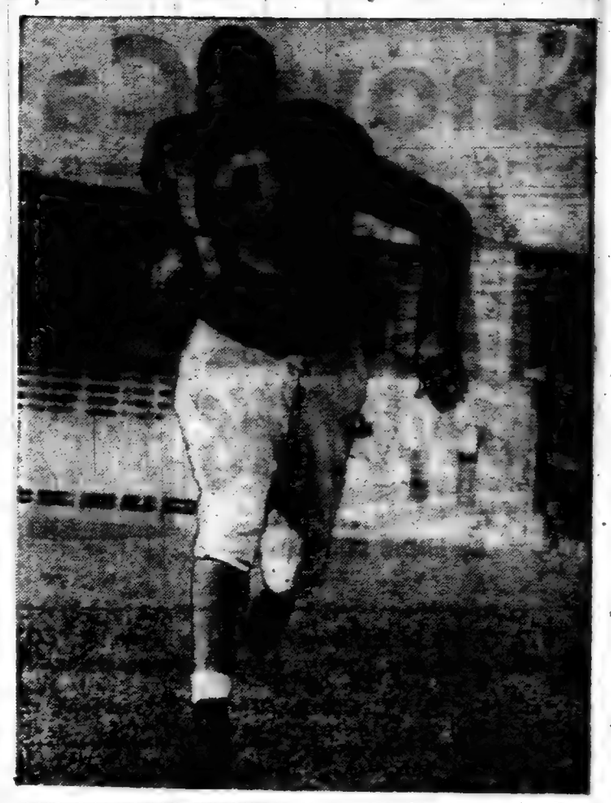
A psychological factor, fumbleitis, and the Washington Generals joined forces Friday afternoon on Fulton Field to hand the Jefferson Democrats their first loss of the season, 34-7, before 7500 spectators.

The story of the Green and Gold defeat can be summed up in a few short sentences. The first; there is an old football rule that says, you must have the football with you when you cross the goal line for the score to count: and secondly, a fundamental law of psychology that says mind has mastery over body: this is the story of the Democrat loss.

The Democrats lost their own game by numerous costly fumbles that Washington converted into scoring opportunities, and by being so impressed by the build-up the local papers had given to Hugh McElhenny, that the were (with the exception of Jim Dyer) just plain afraid of him.

After a sew-saw battle up and down the field, the Generals drew first blood midway in the first quarter. McElhenny recovered Hill's fumble on the Jefferson 29 yard line. On the next play, aided by some fine blocking, "Hurryin' Hugh" went around the Green and Gold right end to score standing up. Cameron converted the extra point.

The Crimson and White scored again in the first few minutes of the second quarter, when, after recovering another Green and Gold fumble, halfback Burt Kibbs went three yards off-tackle to score. Cameron missed the extra point.



Shortly before the first half ended, the Jefferson fans were brought to their feet, when Dyer faded back to his right, turned sharply to his left, and threw a perfect strike to Maurice Hill who caught the ball on the "dead run," and then "just plain faded away" from the General secondary to go for 78 yards and a TD. Dyer made the extra point.

Jefferson's hope of "getting back in it" was short lived. McElhenny took the kick-off after the Green and Gold touchdown, and aided by several Democrats who refused to tackle him, "Big Hugh" went 90 yards to score. Cameron missed the extra point.

Racket Club Behind In L.A. Municipal Loop

Hitting the road for what they hope to be a successful tennis season for themselves, the Angel City Racket Club, popular local organization, started the season off with three losses for the "A" team thus far. With four more Los Angeles Municipal League matches scheduled for the near future, members of the "A" team have been practicing hard over the past week to make a better showing. Leading the squad of determined racket swingers are Jimmy McDaniels, former Negro Singles Champion, and Oscar Johnson, upcoming tennis star who already holds the title of Jr. Negro Tennis Champ of the West Coast. Other outstanding players on the "A" team are Gwen McDaniels, Eoline Thornston and Eleese Thorneton.

THE RAMBLING KINGFISH Kenny Washington, a leading ground gainer in pro football, one of the backfield mainstays on the Los Angeles Rams football squad, is temporarily on the shelf with an injured leg.

NO FOOLING

By EDDIE BURBRIDGE

STARTING OFF this week we're going to let FLOYD SNELSON give you some gossip from Chicago. He ought to know . . . he's there. Here it is:

"CHAMP JOE LOUIS spent a few days in town visiting Marva and she said she was very busy preparing Joe's favorite dish, porterhouse steak and french fried potatoes . . . and the Champ was having a grand time tickling the toes of his little son, Joe Jr. . . . I asked Jackie how she liked her little brother, she said "Alright, but he won't talk to me."

BILL BOTTOMS, WHO OWNS A COSY bar and grill at 35th and State Street, bearing his name hopped a streamliner for New York, to proceed on to Pompton Lakes to open up for Champion Joe Louis, next week, when he puts over the final touches for his fight with Joe Walcott.

LARRY STEELE'S brilliant musical extravaganza "Smart Affairs of 1947" closed a successfull week at the Regal theatre . . . The popular lithsome piano playing songstress, HADDA BROOKS WAS HIGHLY RECEIVED AND was given a warm reception, and likewise the noted blues chirper JUNE RICHMOND, who needs no introduction to theatre audiences . . . Other in the clever musical arrangement included the Shagrue Balinese Dancers; the hilarious comedy of John ("Open The Door Richard") Mason and Johnny Vigal brought on the belly laughs; the eyeful Hortense (beautiful lady) Allen, Tops & Wilda, sizzling terpsters; Jimmy Smith and his twinkling musical feet and a dozen sunkist luscious swing gals.

THE ROYALITE CLUB held its meet at the home of Marva Neal's Wednesday eve, and following the business affairs they were entertained by their hostess at dinner at Hotel La Salle in the loop . . . Just in case you know the Royalites are Betty Bowen, Harriett Jackson, Audrey Hinton, Marva Louis, Rose King, Mattie Anderson, Okabeana Lawson, Billie Maxwell, Mary Coger, Jean Jones, Helen Kery — a gay array of smart sophistocates, who "wear" clothes and thrive on champagne cocktails.

Duke Ellington and his crew in town from the Pacific coast left for Detroit for an engagement . . . The Four Step Brothers Al Williams, Prince Spencer, Flash Mc Donald and Macea Anderson are playing the variety show for International Harvesters 100th Anniversary at Soldier's Field . . . Mrs. Prince Spencer, the former Shirley of the Johnson Family of NYC is infant-icpating . . . Joyce Robinson, former actress of NYC now a fasnion stylist and modiste returned to Los Angeles to resume her duties.

Detective Tom Brown, dapper officer from the Atlantic City seashore spending his Indian Summer vacation here . . . Freddie Jenkins, ex-musician of Harlem in the Windy City . . . The Pershing Hotel on the auction block and will change hands soon . . . Earl Graves the popular manager and his staff will remain and are intact with the sale . . . Paul Robeson registered at Hotel Sherman in the loop spoke at the Du Saible Auditorium in interest of the three Negro magistrates in pre-election address . . . Fashion stylist Ruth Toles back from Gotham, having made arrangements for her spring fashion showing to be held at Downtown Cafe Society in New York's Greenwich Village . . . Regards to all my pals and gals, this writing coming from your cruising reporter Snelson, 5930 S. Michigan ave., Chicago."

IT'S TRUE that INGRID BERGMAN is still queen of America's film favorites and BING CROSBY is still king. Boxoffice magazine conducted the poll . . . Everyone is talking about winning one of WALLY HUNTER'S turkeys or chickens at the Thanksgiving breakfast dance . . . All you kids who swear that you can outsing Sinatra, outbing Bing Crosby and put across a song better than Ella Fitzgerald and Peggy Lee should send in your entry blank contained elsewhere in this section for that brilliant Talent Show Case being sponsored by the Day Distributing company, Friday night, Nov. 28, at beautiful Meadowbrook Gardens. Yes, you're right . . . LIONEL (POPS) HAMPTON will be on the bandstand and the affair starts promptly at 8 p.m. Get in that entry TODAY! . . . CLARENCE MUSE, the movie actor, will hold a turkey shoot at his "Muse-A-While Ranch" in Perris, California, Nov. 22 and 23. Eleven turkeys go to the high scorers . . . The winner of the "Miss Sepia Queen contest at Meadowbrok on November 24 may get a screen test if efforts of the officials are successful. Whether she gets the movie test or not she'll still win a diamond ring and that ain't hay. . . . AMOS MILBURN has been added to the show at the LAST WORD. LITTLE MISS CORNSHUCKS is still wowing patrons there and EMILY FOSTER, GINGER SMOCK. EMILE WILLIAMS and VERA KEYS round out the show with GENE PHILLIPS combo on the bandstand. Plans are afoot to enlarge the club. . . . EDDIE HEYWOOD and band now at the Cafe Tia Juana in Cleveland. NELLIE LUTCHER follows him into that spot. . . . WYNONIE HARRIS doing his singing chores at Smalls' Paradise in N. Y. and PATTERSON and JACKSON are there too. . . . SAVANNAH CHURCHILL, the Brooklyn thrush, is a juke-box favorite. . . . BOSS GARNETT put on a great press party here Monday evening and the members of the Fourth Estate were out in full force at his cocktail bar located at 36th place and S. Western. . . . ROSEMARY JOHNSON, pretty waitress at DYNAMITE JACKSON'S Paradise cocktail bar, will say "I do" Sunday, Nov. 16, with SAMUEL COLES on the other end of her matrimonial venture. The reception will take place at 4021 Woodlawn avenue. Coles is a lucky man. . . . BRENDA SMITH set for an early trip to the altar. . . . PATRICIA CONTE, a 15-year-old boogie woogie artist on the piano. . . . YVONNE SHEPHERD and brother CYRIL, two of the westside's nicest residents. . . . JUNE HILYARD had roasted duck for dinner last Sunday and was kept busy shooing away uninvited guests. . . . That cocktail party at 2460 S. St. Andrews place last Saturday night a definite success. . . . A friend of mine in the mail service, JIMMY PERRY, out late the other night, missed his bus but was picked up in a sleek yellow convertible driven by GEORGE RAFT and set down at home. That Raft guy is a right one and make no mistake about it. He's quite unaffected by success.

College Kids To Hear 'Hamp'

A tour of Southern California's colleges is scheduled for Lionel "Pops" Hampton, who is currently drawing enthusiastic crowds to Culver City's Meadowbrook Ballroom.

"Pops" and his re-bop music began the swing around the nation's leading colleges when he was making an eastern tour. A recent college poll named Hamp the number one band of the year.

Lionel Hampton's Orchestra Will Swing Out At Affair; Leonard Reed Selected as Emcee

WILL EMCEE TALENT SHOW CASE—There'll be plenty laughs for all when the talented master of ceremonies, Leonard Reed, emcees the Talent Show Case at Meadowbrook Gardens on the night of Friday, Nov. 28. (See story).

Entries are pouring in for the mammoth Talent Show Case being sponsored by the Day Distributing company at beauiful Meadowbrook Gardens on Friday night, Nov. 28. This will undoubtedly be one of the finest affairs of its kind ever staged in this city, according to War Perkins, one of the officials of Day Distributing. Lionel Hampton's great orchestra will play, thereby assuring top music.

Trophies and record contracts are in the offing for winners in the talent display. The Day Distributing company, organized two years ago by William O. Reed and War Perkins, is the largest race distributor of records, covering some 12 different labels. Included in the array of talent are: Madeline Green, Jimmie Grissom, Little Miss Cornshucks, Jerry Kessner, Prof. E. J. Hines, Sandy Silvers, Al Hibbler, Johnny Hodges, Effie Smith, John Criner, "Memphis" Eddie, Thomas Howell, the Golden Harmonizers, the Stars of Harmony, Royal Milton, Earl Bostic, Gene Morris and many others. Arrangers are Maxwell Davis and Calvin Jackson.

Leonard Reed, that hilarious master of ceremonies, who gets a laugh a minute every time he appears before the footlights, will emcee the affair, and such well known theatrical personalities as Herb Jeffries, Lillian Randolph Chase, Katherine Dunham, Louise Beavers, Hattie McDaniel, Eddie Green, Mantan Moreland, "Rochester" and Peg Leg Bates will be asked to assist in making the talent show a brilliant success. Disc jockeys Bill Anson, Frank Bull and Gene Norman have also been invited to be present and may serve as judges or present trophies.

With entries already reaching the Day Distributing company at rapid rate there is ample reason to believe that on the night of the affair there will be more amateur and professional talent assembled at Meadowbrook than ever has been concentrated in one spot before, insofar as Los Angeles is concerned. A rehearsal will be given all contestants on the afternoon of the Talent Show Case to avoid slipups in the presentation.

If you have talent of any kind, if you sing, dance, play the piano or any other instrument, by all means fill out the entry blank below and bring your talent out of hiding on the night of the gigantic Talent Show Case at Meadowbrook Gardens, 8781 W. Washington blvd., Culver City, Calif., Friday night, Nov. 28, at 8 p.m. Tickets are now on sale at all Mutual ticket agencies.

TALENT SHOW CASE ENTRY—One of the first entries received for the Talent Show Case to be staged at Meadowbrook Gardens, Nov. 28, was that of Patricia Conte, 15-year-old daughter of Lorenzo Conte. Pat is an expert at boogie woogie on the piano and she hopes to lug away a trophy on the night of the affair. —Photo by Vera Jackson.

NEW YORK—The Four Vagabonds, recording stars currently giving "Heart of My Heart" a comeback on the hit parade, have gone California bound from their Chicago radio headquarters and Eastern nightclubs, to open at the Somerset House in Riverside, California.

Simultaneously with their arrival on the West Coast, the quartette, famed for many years as Don McNeill's Breakfast Club singers and such recordings as their late "Lazy Countryside" (Apollo 1075) and "That Old Gang of Mine" (Apollo 1076), have been voted in the juke box operators' national poll as a top male vocal combination of the year.

The Four Vagabonds are Apollo recording artists and have commenced the extensive West Coast tour, following New York appearances, and nightclub engagements in Detroit, Chicago and Las Vegas. They were one of the first groups to introduce voice imitations of instruments, and although they use only a guitar, it is an industry-wide joke that they have been innocently asked to appear at numerous college dances with their "orchestra."

Count Basie in Popularity Win

COLUMBUS, Ind.—Count Basie, the "Jump King Of Swing," notched another impressive triumph by winning top honors in the band popularity contest conducted by Graeme Zimmer, emcee of the "Music Makers Club" record show on Radio Station WCSI here.

Basie piled up a grand total of 21,387 votes to score an upset win over runners-up Ted Weems and Tommy Dorsey, who copped second and third spots, respectively, with 20,156 and 18,540 tallies.

Quint Garnett Fetes Press At Elaborate Turkey Dinner

A press dinner which was elaborate in every detail was staged by Quint (Boss) Garnett at his swanky cocktail lounge, West 36th place and So. Western, Monday night and the attendance was almost 100 per cent.

A seafood cocktail started off the affair, followed by a clear soup, roast turkey with dressing, creamed potatoes, asparagus with butter, a fruit salad, hot biscuits and butter. Apple pie topped with cheese and coffee and cream, rounded out a splendid spread which was thoroughly enjoyed by the members of the Fourth Estate.

The genial host, Mr. Garnett, worked as hard as the several waiters serving the party to assure everyone of complete service. He earned hearty congratulations upon the manner in which he feasted the press gathering.

Present were: Mesdames LaVerne Wright, Corinne Adams, Wini Brown, Messrs. and Mesdames Jerry Cumber, Claude Durham and Clinton M. Arnold, Misses Leona Labat and Mildred Hoit and Messrs. Herman Hill, Eddie Burbridge, Frederick A. McLain, Ted Merriman, Leo Brustie, Halley Harding, Joe Harris, Harry LeVette, John R. Williams and Earl Wright.

Mrs. Lillian Cumber served as hostess and assisted Mr. Garnett in inviting the guests.

Ringside Signs Singing Stars

Ringside club, Washington at Western, landed a doubleheader in the entertainment world last week when a contract was signed by Madeline Green, well known singing star, formerly with Lionel Hampton's band and straight from the Strand theatre in New York, to appear at the club for an engagement. Birdie Harris singing sensation with the late Jimmie Lunceford aggregation completed the double play by sending in her signature on a contract for an indefinite stay at the popular nitery. Both stars have large followings.

The Hollywood Four Blazes continue to provide the musical background and Bill Austin remains at the baby grand. The new show opened last Friday night.

THEY WERE FORMER AMATEURS—The above persons recently won their way to fame through discovery by talent scouts which should prove an incentive for amateur and professional singers, dancers and instrumentalists to enter the mammoth Talent Show Case being sponsored by the Day Distributing company at Meadowbrook Gardens, Friday night, Nov. 28. Records made by the artists above are distributed by Day Distributing. At top is Little Miss Cornshucks, currently appearing at the Last Word, and Jerry Kessner. Artists Rush Records As Petrillo Ban Approaches

NEW YORK—With musicians' union, James C. Petrillo having announced his intention to ban the making of recordings by members of the AFM after December 31, many leading recording artists are wasting no time in waxing as many platters as they possibly can before the deadline.

A great many name bands, such as Count Basie, Sam Donahue, Illinois Jacquet and Buddy Johnson, who already have quite a backlog of unreleased masters in the hands of their respective recording affiliations, will nevertheless continue to cut wax at a furious clip between now and the end of the year. Some bands have even gone so far as to cancel lucrative bookings in order to devote more time to the making of records. Ted Weems, for instance, has ordered his bookers to cancel a week of one-night dance dates in the east, following his current Strand theatre engagement, so that he can do at least five record dates for Mercury.

Count Basie, who has been making records since 1936, is one name band leader whose status will hardly be affected by the Petrillo ban. Basie has made more than 300 records for the Decca, Columbia and RCA Victor labels, the majority of which have been standards and his own compositions, which can be put on the market at any time. As a matter of fact, Decca is preparing to release two Basie albums this fall, while one is in the works at Columbia and another at RCA Victor. Since Petrillo's announcement of the forthcoming recording strike, Basie and his band have done two record dates and will wax at least 12 more sides for RCA Victor on the west coast this week.

Johnny Moore's Three Blazers were one of the first units to foresee the Petrillo ban and spent three weeks in Hollywood doing nothing but recording for the Exclusive label, during which time they waxed no less than 36 numbers and additional material for two albums. The Blazers have now made enough records to last the Exclusive waxery for at least two years, and in all probability will cut even more sides before the ban goes into effect.

The "foreign premiere" of Tyrone Power's new picture, "Nightmare Alley" will be held in Ethiopia.

Billy Eckstine At Silhouette

CHICAGO, Ill.—Billy Eckstine, the "Bronze Balladier with the Golden Voice," is currently holding forth at the smart Club Silhouette here in his first nitery appearance in the Windy City since the days when he was singing with Earl Hines' band at the old Grand Terrace Cafe.

The Billy Daniels recording of "Diane," which sold as a collector's item as high as $7 a platter, has been recorded again, this time by Apollo and at "pre-war" prices.

Carol Brice In Western Debut

The audience attending the concert of the young Negro contralto, Carol Brice, at the Philharmonic Auditorium, on Sunday afternoon, December 7, when she appears under the sponsorship of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, will hear what Fritz Reiner, noted conductor of the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra predicts will be "one of the outstanding singers of our generation."

Mr. Reiner first heard Miss Brice in 1944. Singing in a small private recital, he was so impressed with the beauty of her voice that he engaged her immediately to sing with the Pittsburgh Symphony. In the summer of 1945, he recalled her for another engagement, this time broadcasting over a major network and after her third performance with him in 1946, he made the forementioned prediction.

Besides her repeated and triumphant appearances with Mr. Reiner, the extraordinary record of Carol Brice's recent achievement includes a special concert with the renowned conductor of the Boston Symphony, Serge Koussevitzky at Boston, New York and Tangelwood; as soloist with the Kansas City Symphony under Efren Kurtz; in recital at Carnegie Hall, Town Hall and at Chicago's Orchestra Hall; as solist with the Yale University Glee Club and star of her own radio show, "Carol Brice, Contralto."

After the recital under his auspices in March 1946, Serge Koussevitzky, famed conductor of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, exclaimed, "Her voice is like a cello!" referring to Miss Brice.

Immediately following her Philharmonic recital, Miss Brice will tour north where she will appear as soloist with the San Francisco Symphony under the baton of Pierre Monteux.

Venice Group Pushes Plans for Chain of Children's Theatres

VENICE.—Carol Joan Farol, founder and director of the Venice Song Writers' Club, this week announced that the club has endorsed a plan to provide free motion pictures for children on Saturday evenings in the Open Air Theater in the Bay district, in an effort to curb juvenile delinquency.

"I have been working on this plan for many years and feel this is the first step toward a chain of children's theatres that will reach across the entire country, operated solely for children during the summer months," Miss Farol said. She added that she personally believed that children should not be permitted to enter "adult theatres" until they are of legal age," the same as with a saloon, night club, etc.

Miss Farol is also the founder of Stock Clubs Associated, children's fingerprint clubs founded in 1945. The two clubs recently joined in the production of the operetta "Mr. Stork," which will be filmed in color.

Children already selected for the operetta include: Donald Feehrer, Santa Monica; Judy Norton, San Pedro; Barbara Ann Kirby, Venice; Nancy Kay Elliott, Mar Vista; John and Dennis Fowler, Sandra Knight, Salle Anne Spitz, all of Venice; Lloyd Holden, Jerry Bazaar and Charles Schwind of Los Angeles; Edith and Joyce Moore and Joseph Barry Centz, Elaine, Wilma and Gordon Siechret, Kathy Everett and Beatrice Nash, all of El Monte; Dolores Bruno, Clear Lake Highland; Martha (Tiny) Francone, Alhambra; Dolores Huff, Rosemead; Nancy Lee Gordon and Barbara Jones of San Fernando and four year old little Bill MacDonald who was the first child cast for the play.

Sunday School Aids Friendship Train

VENICE—The Sunday school of the First Baptist church contributed clothing and the sum of seven dollars to the Friendship Train which is picking up supplies across the nation for the needy people of Western Europe.

George Payce wrote a very interesting letter to the children of Europe to accompany the Sunday school's contribution.

The Camp Fire Girls read the dedicatory exercises, after which the pastor, Rev. L. D. Revoal asked God's blessing upon the bundle of clothing before it was delivered to the Friendship Train.

S. F. Food Bill Up 118%, Probe Told

SAN FRANCISCO — A San Francisco housewife currently pays $21.86 for a basket of food which cost her only $10 before the war.

Retail food prices here are 118.6 per cent higher than in August, 1939—and almost 32 per cent of that increase has been slapped on since June, 1946, when OPA price controls were choked to death by Congress.

It's the 24-20 dance with Johnny Otis.
So grab your duds, and your cute little lamb,
And truck on down to the Alabam.

At 4215 South Central avenue,
The show is solid and the music neat,

Charming president of the 24-20,
There's Agnes Williams, Virgie Austin and still,
Gloria Mayfield and Edwina Hill.
So please come early, and don't be late
You may miss a dance with Gladyce Tate,
Lula Mae Bridges, as happy as larks,
Pernicia Tucker, and Consuelo Starks.

Just think of all the friends you'll meet,
So grab your hat and just a little dough,

Santa Monica Notes

By LOWELL EVANS

By LOWELL EVANS

In Santa Monica we have an estimated Negro population of 6500, the vast majority of whom are decent citizens. They desire decent homes, equal opportunities and economic security.

The average monthly income of these families is $165. They spend a large percentage of this for food, shelter, clothing and other necessities. Most of this should be, and could be, spent in Santa Monica instead of Los Angeles. Whether they do, is up to the merchants of Santa Monica.

If local merchants make it known that they appreciate their business, the trade o fthese people can be won to the advantage of all Santa Monica. One way to make known this appreciation is to advertise in the California EAGLE.

This column invites your attention to the fine wearing apparel on display at Lawrence's.

SAG Meeting to Get Resolution On Film Bias

An all-out fight against racial discrimination in the motion picture industry is called for in one of 21 resolutions submitted for the AFL Screen Actors Guild's annual general membership meeting scheduled for Sunday, Nov. 16, 8 p.m. in the Hollywood Legion Stadium, 1628 El Centro. The resolution was submitted by Joel Fluellen.

Another resolution calls for a stepped-up fight on the Taft-Hartley Act. "The Taft-Hartley Law has already crippled the effectiveness of the SAG by forcing us to accept an incomplete and inadequate contract," the resolution states.

As the half ended, Washington led 20-7.

The final half was all Washington. If it had not been for a few flashes of brilliance displayed by Virgil Channey, Johnny Locke, and Bob Oliver in the forward wall, and Dyer (who was the only consistent man on the Democrat team) Hill, and Gordon in the secondary, the score would have been twice as bad.

The last two Crimson and White scores were scored on runs of 36 and 4 yards by McElhenny. Two points were added to the visitors score when Hill stepped out of his own end zone.

Starting line-ups:

Jefferson		Washington
Daniels	RE	Fife
Clemmons	RT	Beech
Joe	RG	Peterson
Locke	C	Struve
Channey (C)	RG	Parham
Williams	RT	Johnson
Gaines	RE	Hooks
Lewis	QB	Cameron (C)
Dyer	LH	Tibbs
Gordon	RH	Miller
Hill	F	McElhenny

Scoring touchdowns:

Jeff., Hill. Washington, McElhenny 4, Tibbs, 1.

Point after touchdown:

Jeff. Dyer, 1. Washington. Cameron 2.

Washington scored 2 points on safety.

Final score: Washington 34—Jefferson 7.

Mrs. Annie Rhone Is Winner Of Lincoln Theatre Contest

Mrs. Rhone, mother of 13 children, grandmother of 12 and great-grandmother of five, won over a field of contestants including 60 younger women from 16 years of age up to 30.

She was selected by Eddie "Rochester' Anderson of radio and stage fame when the slipper was found to fit her foot exactly as the Prince Charming of the fable found his Cinderella with a foot that perfectly matched the slipper she had left behind when she fled the ball at the stroke of midnight.

Mrs. Rhone's triumph was hilariously acclaimed by a packed house and it was 30 minutes before the spectators could be quieted and the premiere of the picture take place.

Among the gifts she received as prize awards was a wrist watch and the elderly woman said, "This is the first watch I've ever worn."

HER ROLE EASY

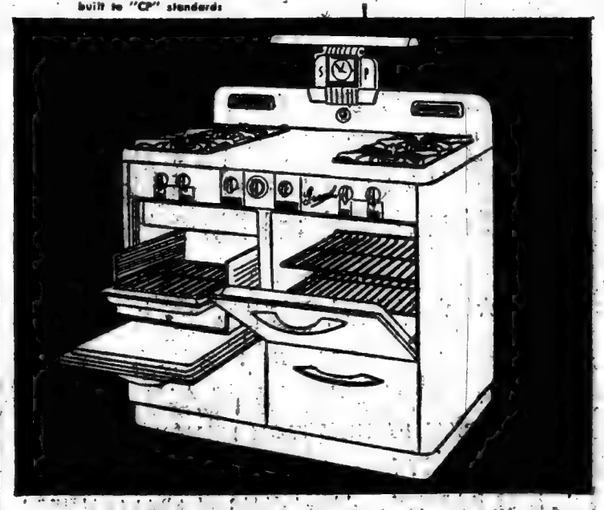
Anne Baxter has returned to work in MGM's "Homecoming" after a four-day bout with the flu. Her first day back on the set the actress was required to pass the entire day in bed for a comedy sequence. "Well, at least I'm following doctor's orders and taking it easy," she commented.

The song Blanche Ring introduced in the 1916 Broadway production, "Broadway and Buttermilk," has become one of the most played numbers on New York City radio stations: "Girls, If You Ever Get Married." The Murphy Sisters revived it on the Apollo label.

Urges Children Be Immunized Against Diphtheria Scourge

Parents whose children are under school age may have their youngsters immunized together with the pupils at their neighborhood grammar school, Dr. George M. Uhl, city health officer, said yesterday.

"A telephone call to the Board of Education or to MIchigan 5211, ext. 416, will give the date and hour at which health department teams will visit local schools to give the protective treatment," he declared.



The health officer said that all children between the ages of 6 months and 10 years should be immunized against the disease, which has taken 19 lives and stricken more than 180 since January 1.

Most of the fatalities have been youngsters who had just passed their seventh birthdays. About one in ten of the survivors is left with a permanently damaged heart, he said.

Woman Held For 1926 Murder

PHILADELPHIA — The saying "Murder Will Out" ok a strange turn Tuesday when Eva Coleman, 38, was wn back from Chicago to face a murder she committed years ago. She was living happily in Chicago until meone last March dropped a card to Philadelphia po- e. It said:

"You are looking for Eva Coleman, who murdered a woman med Mary near 4th and Carter st. in Philadelphia in 6. She is living at 218 E. 49th Chicago in an apartment on fourth floor. She is going der the name of Lucile rner." The card was not ned.

The murder victim, "Mary," card mentioned, turned out be Irene Wilson, 31, of 1031 13th st., who was stabbed to th by Eva Coleman on July 1926.

The anonymous letter started wheels of the law moving. April, Eva Coleman was ar- ted. Seven months passed be- her extradition was agreed approved.

ack in Philadelphia Tuesday, fugutive admitted the mur- readily to police. She claim- self-defense. She said that fought with Irene Wilson a dispute which grew out the noise some children made AW "The Burning Cross" this week.

The picture, in my opinion, is an accurate portrayal what has gone on in a secret organization, the Ku Klux n, over a long stretch of years in the United States.

The Klan was organized May, 1865. Its first purpose s to intimidate the newly emancipated Negroes, abolish Lincoln government, and wage a war against John wn and all in the country who spoke against slavery. The initiative organization of the Klan had its headrters in Nashville, Tenn., where it appears it remained il 1915, when the white-robed tyrants with burning s demonstrations organized a reign of terror in Atta, Ga.

During this period, Negroes were lynched, burned, tured in devious ways, and driven from their homes their state.

T that time there were no un-American Activities Committees, either in the states or in the nation.

While the Klan was not organized until 1865, it is ieved that it was born in the hearts of some white utherners, determined to keep the Negroes down or in eir places", who resented Abraham Lincoln's attack the Kansas-Nebraska Bill and any measure which uld allow slavery to expand into the territories. (Lin- n at that time was just a lawyer.)

Before it became a nation-wide organization, the re- ionary hate element that later came to be known as K.K.K. vehemently opposed the election of Lincoln, arding his election as a threat to slavery.

Out of the organization known as the Ku Klux Klan e Jim-crowism, segregation, discrimination, prejudice, poll tax, lynching, and restrictive covenants.

O honest effort to destroy the Ku Klux Klan has ever been made in the nation. The Klan is definitely erican. It is generally known that its memberships ex- d into the Congress of the United States, and the state, nty, and municipal departments of government in y states, including California.

Having been attacked by the Klan on two different asions, I know how it works and what small effort has n made to destroy the roots of this poisonous tree that spread its branches from Tennessee to California.

In 1946 there was a revival of Klan activities in Calia. It started with a cross-burning in Big Bear Valley, en two Negroes tried to rent an over-night cabin. The ck was lead by a Rev. Wesley Swift.

HORTLY after this Los Angeles was visited by Gerald L. K. Smith, and a restrictive covenant movement ead over the city like wild fire. "Gerald L. K. Smith is leader, because he believes in America First," de- ed the Klan.

From this time on, the Klan in California moved with ed in attacking Negroes, Jews, Catholics, Mexicans, nese, and all yellow or dark skinned Americans. It ned a cross in front of H. G. Nickerson, a Negro's e.

A flaming cross appeared at Palm Springs, aimed at a ish family. Eagle Rock was visited with a flaming s. A visit was paid the Zeta Beta Tau house on the versity of Southern California campus, leaving a burn- cross and K.K.K. signs. Perhaps the meanest among e Klan atrocities was the destruction of a rare religi- scroll in the Temple Israel of Hollywood. There were y others of the same nature perpetrated against Jews, roes, and Catholics.

The only person vested with authority who made an and-out attack on the Klan was Robert W. Kenny, at time Attorney General of the State of California.

OW the "Burning Cross' which has been shown at the American theatre, 47th and Avalon, for the past k, is the most outspoken attack on the Ku Klux Klan presented to the American theatre-going public. It is accurate portrayal of Klan terroristic activities for than 80 years.

It just sickens the soul of Americans who see tched across the pages of our newspapers daily stories Communists threats to overthrow our government, and a word about this picture that tells who and what titutes the real threat to American democracy.

Freedom Train Cuts Memphis On Jimcrow Issue

NEW YORK—Memphis, Tenn. city officials will have to at least make a one-day show of allegiance to Americas democratic ideals if the citizenship of that city are to see the Freedom Train.

That, in essence was the edict laid down yesterday by the American Heritage Foundation, sponsors of the Freedom Train, which cancelled the schedule exhibition of the train in Memphis next January because the mayor of that city has ruled that whites and Negroes will be segregated in visiting the train.

Louis A. Novins, executive vice president of the American Heritage Foundation, declared that Mayor James J. Pleasants' announcement that the train would be on exhibit six hours for whites and six houts for Negroes was contrary to the already established policy of the foundation, Novins adds:

"We regret very much the necessity of taking this step. We trust that the mayor will reconsider and that the people of Memphis will still make it possible to exhibit this traveling shrine of freedom in their city."

NAACP Leads Action Against Sears Store

SANTA MONICA—Leaders of a picket line protesting Sears-Roebuck policy of hiring Negroes only in janitorial positions, encouraged by four days of successful demonstrations, yesterday promised they would keep the line going.

The picket line, sponsored by the Santa Monica NAACP, has the support of the Santa Monica Committee on Human Relations, headed by Superior Judge H. Rhodes, and the local chapter of the American Jewish Congress.

Picketing started at 7 p.m. last Friday, after Frank Barnes, local NAACP president, told a mass meeting the previous night that a delegation to Sears had turned up "negligible" results. Barnes made his report after three Wilkins Family Covenant Case In Court Mon.

The covenant case of Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Wilkins, 2425 Sixth avenue, will be heard Monday, November 24, at 9:30 a.m. in Judge Swain's court, City Hall.

The home of Dr. Wilkins is the subject of a restrictive covenant dispute. It is part of the Southwest Wilshire district in which some of the white residents have banded together to prevent any non-Caucasians from purchasing property or living there.

The Committee Against Restrictive Covenants, of which John Rogers is chairman, and other liberal organizations have taken up the fight against this un-American procedure. They urge all interested to attend the hearing.

Defendants Caught in Ruse to Void Action

The Pasadena Conference on Human Right yesterday revealed Pasadena restrictive covenant manipulators in a costly ruse to slide out of a $50,000 damage suit.

The Conference said it has evidence that an associate of T. E. Denny, white real estate man and one of the de- fendants in a damage suit charging conspiracy to prevent sale of property to Negroes, had bought the house in question.

RECOGNITION — Miss Lois G. Dozier of Washington, D.C., has been appointed Gift and Exchange librarian at the university of Notre Dame. Announcement of the appointment was made yesterday by Rev. Howard Kenna, C.S.C., director of studies at Notre Dame.

The home is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Waggoner, white, 686 N. Raymond st.

The Waggoners have been trying to sell their house for more than a year. A Negro buyer was frightened into dropping the sale after she received a letter from Walter McEachern, attorney for a "property owners association," run by Denny and Lawrence ter Maat, another real estate man.

McEachern threatened that the surrounding white property owners would take "legal action" if the prospective buyer moved into the house.

Less than a month after the Waggoners had filed a damage suit against McEachern, Denny and ter Maat, Mrs. Waggoner reported that a Miss Alice Rieterman, white, had bought the property for $7500, the Wag-

NCNW Parley Adopts Fighting 10-Point Program

A program of grassroots action geared to tackle head-on the tragic housing, health, and economic needs which now plague minority groups was adopted unanimously by the National Council of Negro Women in its 12th annual convention held in Washington, D. C. this week.

These problems, pointed up recently by the report of the President's Committee on Civil Rights were re-emphasized to the more than 600 delegates from 31 states, and from Liberia, South Africa, and India, in a series of "workships" during the five day sessions of the convention, over which President Mary McLeod Bethune presided.

The convention endorsed the following 10-point program for specific action:

- Removal of all voting restrictions in all elections, including primaries.
- Enactment of legislation outlawing restrictive covenants and other devices which conspire to perpetuate discrimination and segregation in housing.

Isaac Woodard Loses Action For Compensation

CHARLESTON, S. C.—Isaac Woodard's suit to recover $50,000 in damage against the Atlantic Greyhound Bus Corporation for the loss of his eyes was turned down by a jury in the Kanawha county court here.

The South Carolina jury brought in a verdict favorable to the defendants despite eyewitness testimony which indicated that the uniformed Woodard was subjected to humiliating and profane attack by the bus driver, who, outraged over the Negro veteran's resentment to his profanity, stopped his bus to call the police. One of the two policemen, Police Chief Lynwood Shull, then beat Woodard to the ground before gouging out both his eyes with the butt end of his blackjack.

NAACP attorneys Franklin H. Williams and T. G. Nutter announced that they are studying an appeal in behalf of Woodard, who fought through three years of South Pacific warfare before losing his eyes in South Carolina.

Gilmore Meet Cheers 'Hostile' Witnesses

"Impressive" is the word to describe the meeting of the Progressive Citizens of America held in the Gilmore stadium last Sunday to protest the tactics of the Thomas-Rankin un-American Activities Committee.

Seventeen of the 19 writers, actors and directors of the motion picture industry who had been subpoened to appear in Washington to have their thinking investigated by the un-American Committee, attended the meeting.

At a given signal from Bert Witte, who acted as chairman, the 17 appeared from behind the scenes and filed slowly to the stage in the center of the stadium, while the thousands in the bleachers applauded and cheered to the echo.

The picture was one of gladiators marching into the arena at Rome. And like those fighting gladiators of old, these modern warriors pledged themselves by what they did, by what they said, that there would be no mercy shown in the contest they are waging against tryany in America.

Each speaker made it plain that the reason he had answered the Committee as he did, was part of the fight all are waging against the unconstitutional methods of the Committee in prying into the private lives of those accused.

"If we had answered a plain 'No'," he said, "the hearing would have fizzled out, and there wouldn't have been much to it. But our names would have been placed on a blacklist, and directors would have been warned not to employ us. Teachers, even ministers of the gospel would have been next. But because we fought, because we opposed them, the Committee has cited us for contempt, and now we shall have an opportunity to have our cases tried in a court, where we shall be permitted to face our accusers, and question them."

John Howard Lawson, famous historian and writer, called the hearing a "nine days' wonder," and feared the American people might not understand the fundamental principles involved in that pseudo court trial.

"Will we understand what is happening?" asked Albert Maltz, who told of his trip with Henry Wallace on a speaking tour and how a student meeting was banned. The warmest kind of greeting was extended wherever they did meet, however, he said, and when he was introduced as "one of the 19" the audience stood and applauded long and hard.

James Burford, of the CIO-PAC, declared the fight was against monopoly control, the domination of Wall street, and that in 1948 we should "work to get a one-way ticket out of Washington for every member of congress who approves the un-American Committee or who has voted for the Taft-Hartley law."

Robert W. Kenny, former attorney general for California, and attorney for the 19, warned the Republican party that "red baiting" would get them exactly nowhere in the 1948 elections.

"I warn the Republican party," he said, "that their shameful reliance upon the strategy of Red-baiting will bring only disgrace and defeat.

"The mask has been ripped off the most ambitious conspiracy against American freedom that has been attempted in our time. I call upon every American citizen to enlist in a nation-wide rally to safeguard our constitutional liberties."

Among others who spoke at the rally were Howard Koch, screenwriter; Daniel Marshall, Catholic attorney and leader in liberal thought; Ben Margolis, attorney; Herbert Biberman, director; Larry Parks, actor in "The Jolson Story," listed as subversive, and representatives of civic and social service organizations.

County Backs Down On CIO Farm Market

The CIO this week had won its fight for legal sanction to keep its low-cost farmers-consumers market on Central avenue open.

The county health department granted a temporary permit to allow opening of the market on Fridays and Saturdays from 9 a.m. until sold out. The market is located in the 8600 block on S. Central ave.

Granting of the permit was withheld two weeks ago when the market held its opening, on the grounds that certain health regulations had not been complied with. The CIO charged that some of the requirements were technicalities brought into play because of pressure on various county departments by big produce houses.

Fresh fruits, vegetables and eggs are trucked to the open air market by farmers and sold directly to consumers.

GOP Sidetracks Truman's Price Control Plan

WASHINGTON—President Truman's request for price control and rationing power was sidetracked yesterday by the joint congressional economic committee. It decided to give first consideration to other proposals in Truman's message to congress.

The committee's action was a new indication that the President's request for emergency power to impose selective price control and rationing of scarce goods faced certain defeat in the hostile Republican-controlled congress.

Committee Chairman Robert A. Taft declared the price control proposal would have to go over to the regular session. Taft and other Republican leaders also voiced opposition to what they termed "a return of OPA."

Some GOP leaders accused the president of attempting to put the Republicans on the spot by his advocacy of price controls to combat inflationary prices which this week reached new record highs.

Gov't Bans FDR Mural

SAN FRANCISCO—This city was shocked today over a federal edict eliminating the image of the late President Roosevelt from a government-sponsored mural.

Anton Fefregier, noted muralist, announced yesterday that the National Public Building Administration had turned down his proposal to make FDR the key figure in his final mural at the Rincon Annex postoffice on the grounds that it was against policy to portray any "prominent personality."

Fefregier pointed out that the Building Administration already had approved portraits of such "preminent personalities" as Mark Twain, Phillip Bancroft, the historian, and James Marshall, the man who discovered gold in California.

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui is a liquid medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help:

1- Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion, thus help build resistance for the "time" to come.

2- Started 2 days before "your time", it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes.

Try Cardui. If it helps, you'll be glad you did.

Finally with Price standing with his back to a building confronted by the officers at ten feet or so, they fired a fusilade of some 25 bullets at him, seven striking the victim. He "made a move as if to draw a gun," the officers testified at a hearing at police headquarters, immediately following the incident.

Price died at 12:10 a.m. Nov 7. A search revealed that he was unarmed. The police investigation exonerated the officers, as did subsequent statements by District Attorney Daniel J. O'Mara and Commissioner of Public Safety Thomas C. Woods.

In his appeal to Gov. Dewey, Wolgast pointed out that the inquiry took place between the hours of 12 midnight and 2 a.m., following the shooting. Of the 12 witnesses who testified, six were the patrolmen involved. The district attorney extended an invitation to the public to come forward with evidence only after the inquiry had terminated.

"Evidences of brutality in Rochester threaten as fully as any lynching below the Maxon-Dixon line, our very basic rights," Paul Trilling, New York State executive secretary of PCA, declared in commenting on the case. "It is a matter that concerns not only Rochester by the entire state and nation.

"The indignation of the people of Rochester is commendable," he added. "It is my hope that sufficient pressure will be exerted upon city officials to insure thorough investigation and to fix responsibility. The state organization will join the Rochester Chapter in its apeal to Governor Dewey and will call upon all citizens throughout the state to join in protest."

Son of 'Dena Couple To Contribute to Howard U. Yearbook

LANGSTON, Oklahoma — Two Langston university professors have been invited to write chapters to appear in the 1948 yearbook of the Journal of Negro Education, published by Howard university, Washington, D. C.

Dr. Eugene S. Richards, head of the social science department, has been asked to prepare a chapter dealing with "Negro Higher and Professional Education in Oklahoma." Dr. William H. The section of the yearbook to which these Langston faculty members have been asked to contribute is designed, according to Dr. Charles H. Thompson, editor, "to indicate state by state the present provisions made for the higher and professional education of Negroes ;to indicate what need there is for education in this area; and to make suggestions which might improve the situation."

Paul Williams to Design $3,000,000 Hospital for County

Paul R. Williams, foremost architect, was appointed this week by the Board of Supervisors to design the new three-million dollar Psychopathic Hospital unit for Los Angeles county.

Insisting that merit be the deciding factor, Supervisor Roach was successful in his efforts to secure unanimous agreement by the board members to employ Architect Williams for this important county project, which in itself is a distinct tribute to Williams.

"Regardless of race, color or creed, I was motivated entirely by the desire to obtain for the people of Los Angeles the best available talent for this building which is to be erected as the result of a grand jury recommendation, and I am confident that Mr. Williams' outstanding ability will prove to be of inestimable value to us," Roach declared.

Other scheduled recitals are at Virginia Union university and one in Maryland.

Citizens Urged to Back up Report On Civil Rights

NEW YORK—Walter White, NAACP executive secretary, this week urged a nationwide expression of approval and support to the President's Committee on Civil Rights for "its uncompromising report." (This historic report is being published in the EAGLE, beginning this week.)

White warned that the Committee's unprecedented and hard-hitting report, because of its tremendous scope and basic recommendations for federal implementing of democratic theory, will be denounced by "enemies of the Negro" and other elements who are reluctant to allow actual realization of these theories.

The NAACP executive said it had been reliably reported that President Truman was considering the Committee's report for inclusion in his state of the union address to congress at the beginning of the second session in January and that popular support of the civil rights report "will give him greater courage."

"Every American who approves the recommendations in the uncompromising report of the President's Committee on Civil Rights should express to President Truman and to the 15 members of the Committee his appreciation of the great job it has done," White urged. "We can all be certain that the enemies of the Negro and other minorities will be on the job not only in writing letters denouncing the report but in using every stratagem to block action on its recommendations or to cause the report to be forgotten," he said.

In addition to writing the President, letters should be sent to members of the Committee who for 11 months worked hard and faithfully in considering a tremendous volume of material and in preparing their conclusions and recommendations. The members of the Committee and their addresses are: Charles E. Wilson, president, General Electric Corporation, 570 Lexington ave., New York City; Mrs. Sadie T. Alexander, assistant city solicitor, 40 S. 19th st., Philadelphia, Pa.; James B. Carey, secretary-treasurer, Congress of Industrial Organizations, 718 Jackson place, NW, Washington, D. C.; President John S. Dickey, Dartmouth college, Hanover, N. H.; Morris L. Ernst, 285 Madison ave., New York City; Rabbi Roland G. Gittlesohn, Central synagogue, Rockville, L. I.; Dr. Frank P. Graham, president, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, N. C.; the Most Rev. Francis J. Haas, St. Andrews Cathedral, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Charles Luckman, president, Lever Brothers, Cambridge, Mass.; Francis P. Matthews, Insurance Building, Omaha 2, Neb.; Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., 598 Madison ave., New York City; the Right Rev. Henry Knox Sherrill, presiding bishop Episcopal Church, Boston, Mass.; Boris Shishkin, American Federation of Labor, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. M. E. Tilley, secretary, Department of Social Relations, Women's Society of Christian Service, Methodist Church, Atlanta, Ga.; Dr. Channing T. Tobias, director Phelps-Stokes Fund, 101 Park ave., New York City.

N. Y. Group Named To Probe Cop Brutality

NEW YORK—Police Commissioner Arthur W. Wallender yesterday appointed Madison S. Jones, NAACP administrative assistant, to a committee which will cooperate with high police officials in the city's current investigation into charges of police brutality and discriminatory police practices.

At a meeting in the police commissioner's office, Jones strongly urged that the police department immediately institute a program of indoctrination both in the police academy and in refresher courses for New York's patrolmen in equitable treatment and democratic attitudes toward the city's many racial and religious groups.

Jones also pointed out that every citizen, regardless of race or creed had a right to frequent any section of the city at any time, provided his business was legitimate. He then urged that reported cases of police brutality and increasing intimidation be investigated thoroughly.

Others of the committee include Rev. John H. Johnson, Edward Lewis, of the Urban League; Parole Commissioner Samuel Battles and a representative of the Negro press.

Feed Store Held Up For $1500 In Cash

Four men, one of them armed with a pistol, last Saturday night held up Guy Kessler and Ben Thrower, white proprietors of a feed store at 1908 E. Imperial highway, as they were locking the store for the night, sheriff's deputies reported.

Thrower said he lost $1500 in cash and $400 in checks. The bandits also took a purse containing $11 in cash from Mrs. Thrower.

Dr. Victor H. Fields, A. B., M. A., Fisk university; Ph. D., Marquette university has been appointed to the position of Professor of Chemistry in the Science department of the college it was announced by President William H. Gray, Jr.

Reed 'Unable' To Discover Police Job Bias

In a belated answer to charges made last Spring of discrimination against minority groups in the police set-up in Los Angeles, Asst. Police Chief this week asserted that it was not the policy of the department to discriminate against Negroes.

The charges were made by a committee apointed by Mayor Bowron and headed by George A. Beavers. It stressed failure of the department to integrate its Negro members and give promotions where due in the case of Negro officers.

To which Reed replied this week with the assertion that the department promoted all personnel regardless of race or color, on the basis of merit. He thanked the committee for calling to his attention the case of a Negro police lieutenant who had been by-passed for promotion, despite his ability, said he had been given "a more important assignment."

He claimed he has been trying to get more Negro motorcycle policemen, pointed with pride to the presence of only 102 Negro policemen, six policewomen, six sergeants and one lone lieutenant on the force.

He made no mention of the fact that no Negro police officer is in charge of any of the black and white traffic cars of the department.

Gov't. Assails Steel Industry's Price Racket

WASHINGTON—The Federal Trade Commission this week broadened its steel price-fixing complaint to include charges that the steel monopoly has forestalled increased in production facilities and that its selling methods discriminate against against the West Coast.

The FTC challenged the practice of the industry of basing charges on certain cities, even though the steel may not be produced in the city from which freight is charged. As a result, the FTC contended, buyers are deprived of equal apportunities to obtain steel in times of scarcity when producers refuse to quote and sell f.o.b mill.

It pointed out that Western customers are quoted prices as though shipments were being made from mills east of the Rockies although deliveries are actually made from mills west of the Rockies and in some instances near the location of the custmore's business.

Glass Factory Strikers Firm, Despite Scabs

Employes of the O & G Glass Manufacturing Co., 314 East First Street, are still on strike, although many scabs have crossed the picket lines and are now working in place of the regular employes.

The strike began October 16. It followed the firing of five members of the newly organized Furniture Workers Union, CIO, October 15, as being leaders in the organization of the Union. About 80 percent of the employes in this factory are Negroes, and about 80 percent of the employes had joined the Union. Some of the scabs, who refused to unite with their fellow employes, are also Negroes.

The five employes fired as ring leaders were: Chaslesetta Washington, Mattie Washington, Gussie Dorton, Bernice Miller, and Richard Dehr. Dehr is the one white man in the group.

Josh White Realizes Art, too, Is a Weapon In Fight for Freedom

The folks, black and white, who crowded into the Philharmonic auditorium last Wednesday evening to hear Josh White, the foremost folk balladist-guitarist, and whose feet unconsciously beat time to the rhythm of his "blues," carried away something in their hearts also which deepened into a resolve to make make America a better place to live in for everyone.

For Josh White has determined that he won't sing any place, won't work any place, where he can't sing at least one song that has a definite message in it.

"No matter where I work," he says, "there's gonna be one song that'll do it. I figure if I can reach only one or two people a month. I'm doing something for my people. I'm not a crusader, but I figure I'm helping."

The thing Josh White is liberals in America are fighting, is the accursed discrimination that is shown in this country because of the color of a man's skin. For example, when he made his motor trip across country to fulfill his engagement at Philharmonic, five gas stations at five different places along the way refused to sell him gas. Why? "This station is for whites only."

Yet he had just returned from a goodwill concert tour of Mexico, sent to that country by the U. S. government. In Mexico, says White, there is no discrimination because of race or color.

There are other little insults and slaps-in-the-face that Josh White remembers bitterly. Things that happens every day to every Negro, and that burn deep, even if there is no outward manifestation. To destroy this kind of atmosphere is the message Josh White brought to his audience last Wednesday night.

White's home town is Greenville, S. C., where they lynched Willie Earl. He remembers how Negroes have to pay a "walking tax" there, just for the privilege of walking on the street. He remembers how, too, when he was a boy he was supposed to step into the gutter when a white man went by. He didn't quite get into the gutter, he said. He just "sorta walked on the edge of the curb."

About his impressions of California, White thinks that Negroes here are not taking advantage of all their opportunities. He is surprised at the lethargy, at the lack of fighting spirit. He thinks Negroes should demand dignified parts in pictures, and not be satisfied until they get them.

White himself is given credit for refusing $87,000 for a part in a play in the Apollo theatre, New York, because the part was one in which he would have had to shoot crap and be the caricature of a real Uncle Tom.

Mrs. White, who has the beautiful name of Carol, is a singer, too. She used to sing in the Epworth church, New York, and it was there that White met her. They have four children, three girls—Blondell, aged 12; Beverly, 8; and Fern, 3, and one boy, Josh Jr., who is 7 years of age. Another baby—Josh hopes it'll be a boy—is expected to come along soon. A brother of Josh, Bill White, has also done some recording, and he and Josh often sing together. Larry Adler and Paul Draper will join the Whites to do 14 concerts in City Center, New York, this winter.

These concerts are expected to open December 25. Josh White plans to present his son, the seven year old Josh Jr., who already shows great talent, at these concerts.

Hails FCC Denial Of FM License To Biased Paper

NEW YORK—Rabbi Irving Miller, chairman of the executive committee of the American Jewish Congress, criticized the FCC yesterday for failing to establish a rule whereby racial or religious bias would disqualify future applicants for broadcasting licenses. Expressing gratification for the action of the FCC in denying the New York Daily News an FM license, Rabbi Miller said: "It is to be regretted that the FCC did not take advantage of this occasion to face the fundamental issue squarely."

Announcing that the American Jewish Congress is pledged to a continued campaign to gain such an over-all ruling, Rabbi Miller stated that "as it has already done successfully in the case of the Daily News" it will continue to oppose the grant of any license to biased publications.

Crippled Children Getting Good Education at Special Schools

"In spite of their handicaps, crippled children are enjoying the benefits of a normal, well-rounded education at the Childrens hospital, "Mrs. Frances Dean, a teacher at the hospital school, said yesterday.

Mrs. Dean, who has been engaged in special teaching for 20 years, went on to say that children come to the school from Los Angeles, Burbank, Glendale and Pasadena.

"There are 38 of us in what the Board of Education calls the Childrens Hospital Schools Department," Mrs. Dean said.

"Three of us teach in school rooms on the hospital grounds. Two others work with children who are confined to their beds in the hospital. 23 special teachers devote their time to children who are too handicapped to leave their homes, the others teach at the Washington boulevard school at Washington boulevard and Budlong; and at the Pacific boulevard school in Huntington Park."

When asked as to special qualifications for the exacting type of work, Mrs. Dean smiled and said, "No special qualifications except a Teachers Certificate. All of us are volunteers, of course. Many women cannot stand the emotional strains involved. But my co-workers and I love it. I suppose you could say that two special qualifications are a serene disposition and a deep love of children."

"We are fortunate in that our school is located on the grounds of the Childrens Hospital itself," Mrs. Dean concluded. "Our pupils have almost daily therapy in the hospital and return to their classes with little loss of time."

The School for Crippled Children at the Childrens Hospital is sponsored by the Board of Education. Hot school lunches are provided by the Parent Teachers Association.

The Childrens Hospital, a Red Feather Agency, has been serving the children of Southern California for 46 years.

Don Carpenter, editor of the Montrose Ledger, who was covering the meeting, said of the raid:

"It was just like the gestapo. The leader read some sort of edict that they knew what this outfit was, had scouted the meetings, checked backgrounds and would give us 10 minutes in which to disperse or they'd take matters in their own hands.

Two women testified one of the Storm Troopers flashed a revolver.

The intruders left when they learned that someone had telephoned for the police.

Dist. Atty. Simpson and Sheriff Biscauliz are conducting a double-barreled investigation of the raid.

Simpson indicated yesterday Collins and the 19 other Storm Troopers may be cited with misdemeanor charges of disturbing the peace.

"The dean, whose own projected speaking tour of America was cancelled due to sudden illness, persuaded Mr. Zilliacus to speak in his behalf", Judge Moffatt stated.

She said when she first fled Philadelphia, she went to Gary, Ind., and lived there for several years. Then she went to Chicago where her father operates a restaurant.

When legal matters were cleared between the states of Pennsylvania and Illinois, Clarence "Sparkey" Jones, a Homicide Squad detective, and Mrs. Annette Sledge, a policewoman, flew to Chicago and returned with the fugitive Tuesday afternoon.

The Chicago investigation, following a flash from Philadelphia police, was conducted by Lt. Asher and Det. Sgt. Link who identified Miss Coleman and placed her under arrest.

There will be no initial hearing in the case as an indictment was issued 21 years ago. Eva Coleman will face trial in about three weeks.

There after a few questions she was given a blue card and told to appear in the city attorney's office today (Nov. 20) at 11 a.m. Then she was taken back to the picket line. And Miss Miller went on marching.

What the charges against her are, Miss Miller has no idea.

"But it must be some trumped-up charge," she insists, "because I didn't do anything. It was probably done merely for the sake of intimidation."

Atty. Leo Gallagher will represent Miss Miller at the hearing.

New Church Named For Negro

JAMAICA, L.I., N.Y.—A goal dreamed of 15 years ago was reached here last week when a new church building was dedicated for the 2000 Catholic residents of the Jamaica area, most of them Negroes. The church has been named in honor of St. Benedict the Moor, saintly African Negro.

Most Rev. Thomas J. Molloy, bishop of Brooklyn, blessed the edifice and presided at the ceremonies. Following a solemn High Mass of thanksgiving, the bishop administered confirmation to a class of 45.

Father James L. McCabe, pastor of Saint Benedict's, celebrated the Mass. He was assisted by Father Vincent Smith, S.V.D., Negro priest, pastor of the Church of Our Lady of the Divine Shepherd, Trenton, N.J., and Monsignor Raymond J. Campion, pastor of Saint Peter Claver's church, Brooklyn.

The parish of Saint Benedict the Moor originated in 1932 when Father McCabe came to South Jamaica as resident priest. The new building was started last January and finished in June.

Racial Discrimination Not New

Now comes the charge by the Rev. Jerome A. Drolet, honorary member of the National Maratime Union, that it is the Communists in the NMU who are promoting racial discrimination!

The Catholic priest's accusation was read into the record of the NMU's recent national convention in New York City. It grew out of the firing of Dorothy Morris, Negro stenographer in the New Orleans office of the NMU.

Miss Morris, under pressure, had made a statement saying there was no discrimination shown, but the Communist Party of New Orleans, coming to her help, asked her to withdraw that statement. She refused. And the fat was in the fire.

At the national convention a committee examined port agents, Harry Alexander and R. J. Sullivan, who were responsible for the dismissal of Miss Morris. She refused to accuse them, and they were completely exonerated.

This is not the first time a working girl has failed to exercise her right as an American citizen of accusing her employer before a court of law, for fear of being blacklisted and not being able to get a job again. But it is perhaps the first time that anyone has had the gall of saying the Communists are responsible for promoting race hatred and race discrimination.

But that is exactly what Father Drolet is doing. In his statement he said the Communists were trying to get control of the Maritime Union by splitting them into blocs based on race, creed, and color, and pitting them one against the other.

"They heve been dinning into the ears of the Negro brothers that they are Negro, separate, different; and of course the Negro brothers resent that kind of Jim Crow," he said, "as much as the other kind."

But racial discrimination is by no means new anywhere, as everyone knows. Usually anyone who opposed such discrimination was called a Communist, however. We distinctly remember several years ago when a boy by the name of Mackey was one of the stars on the USC track team. He was one of the favorites, and nothing was said about his skin being a trifle darker than others on the same team.

Not until the day when the team was scheduled to go to Florida to play a school down there. Then Florida wired that Mackey would have to stay home. Well, the entire team wired back that if Mackey stayed, so would they.

The young man who led the fight against Florida's discrimination was John Kinloch, president of the Jr. NAACP. He and the entire Jr. NAACP were dubbed "Communistic" by the pro-Fascists of the university.

Then there was the long dispute in the Boilermakers Union, AFL, based on the fact that Negroes were supposed to be satisfied to join an auxiliary Jim Crow union, instead of the regular union. All who opposed the Jim Crow union were called Communists, you remember.

And so it has been everywhere in this country, and in the world. Anyone who dared say one human being had as much right to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness as any other was dubbed Communistic.

If this trend is changed, we wonder if the American people will be guillible enough to believe the stuff they hear, and to believe their friends have suddenly turned Fascists and their enemies have become Communists.

Will the Marshall Plan Work?

The much-tooted aid for Europe via the Marshall Plan seems to have struck a snag even before aid starts rolling.

In Paris and in Rome it is being opposed by the working people who resent being told how they must think in order to benefit by Uncle Sam's generosity.

Stevedores, metal workers, seamen, transport workers, and clerical employees have worked off their jobs in France's second city. They are being joined by their fellow patriots in other parts of France.

In Italy the same thing is happening—in Rome, Milan, and Naples. The pro-Fascist governments in both countries are threatening dire vengeance upon the leaders of the workers—all styled Communists, of course. And the working people are answering that unless the governments get rid of the Fascists in their ranks, there'll be a real civil war.

De Gaulle, you remember used to be considered at least pro-Liberal. But just recently since his party gained so much power in France, he has thrown aside his cloak of liberalism and now is strutting boldly on the stage as a pronounced enemy of all liberal thought.

The greatest enemy France has ever had, he said, is not Germany, but a much larger country with an altogether different economy which is trying to rule the world.

Now of course no one believes De Gaulle could possibly mean the United States. Although he mentioned no names everyone knows he meant the Soviet Union. Especially with the next breath he declared it would be the policy of France from now on to drive every Communist and everyone Communistically inclined out of the government and eventually out of France.

But the program of this "idol" of France is running wild even before it has actually begun. All the anti-Communist raving is being done, of course, to attract more dollars from the Big Country on the other side of the Atlantic. America seems interested. We shall appropriate many millions. But will they help in any way to control the thinking of the people of Europe? Especially of France and Italy?

Screen Actors Guild Back Tracks

The Screen Actors Gulid, which numbers among its membership some of the greatest stars in the acting profession, and which also boasted on its roster names that ranked high on the list of liberal Americans, has fallen from its high pedestal, and has gone the way of many other labor unions in running for cover, afraid of the bogeyman, Communism.

In a resolution adopted at a meeting of the Guild last Sunday, its members voted for the following: "No person shall be eligible to hold any office or position with the Screen Actors Guild . . . unless and until such person signs an affidavit that he is not a member of the Communist Party nor affiliated with such party, and that he is not a member nor supports any organization that believes in or teaches the overthrow of the United States government by force or by any illegal or unconstitutional methods."

The old line smear. The Ku Klux Klan is barely mentioned as being "also subversive." But those who are attempting to make real a little bit of the truth for which we pledge allegiance to the flag—liberty and justice to all—are immediately dubbed "Communistic" and "subversive."

At that same meeting Joe Fluellen, prominent Negro actor who starred in "The Negro Soldier" and was given a prominent part in "The Burning Cross," presented a resolution which would have continued a policy of the Guild adopted a year ago. This policy was to give more employment to Negro actors and to give them roles that would not portray them as caricatures. Mr. Fluellen spoke feelingly but not convincingly enough to continue this policy. He was turned down. Flat. The Screen Actors Guild voted "No."

The resolution in part follows: "Whereas, Negro actors have a long and honorable history in the American theatre and in the motion picture industry, and play an important part in the formation of our Guild, and Whereas, unemployment among our Negro members has reached a point more alarming than at any time in Guild history, and Whereas, Negro parts are being omitted from a great many screen plays and are in many cases actually being cut out of books and plays when adapted to the screen, and Whereas, in several instances producers have gone the length of using white actors in Negro roles, Now Therefore Be It Resolved, that the Screen Actors Guild use all its powers to oppose discrimination against Negroes in the motion picture industry."

There are two resolutions, as distinct as were the two mountains presented to the Children of Israel, one a mountain containing a curse, the other a blessing. Which resolution, we ask, is subversive? Which, un-American? Which more likely to "overthrow our government with force and violence?"

While this government is "straining every nerve" to prevent Communism from cropping up in Europe, we would better look to mending of our own fences, too. What could do more to turn people toward Communism, than the gross injustices we see before our eyes every day? When those people learn that their best friends are those condemned as "subversive" and "Communistic?"

If the Screen Actors Guild really were concerned about preventing subversive thoughts creeping into the minds of its members, it would have rejected the first resolution with an overwhelming "No," and adopted the second with a vociferous, "Yea."

But the Screen Actors Guild, too unintelligent or too weak to think for itself, is following the trend of fashion today, and is smearing with red, a la the Thomas un-American Committee, anything and everything which really speaks of red-blooded Americanism.

THE RUN AROUND!

The Road to Health

WATCHING OUT FOR RHEUMATISM

"It's really just a little stiffness in the knees, Doctor. Nothing I should bother you about. But the doctor at the factory said I ought to see you."

Jim Frost really was embarrassed. He had complained to his foreman about stiffness in his joints, which he had attributed to the draftiness in the shop. The foreman had sent hom to the factory clinic. Now he wished he had never mentioned it in the first place. Just a little stiffness—a little pain—and all this fuss.

I wish more people would go to the doctor when they feel pain or stiffness in the joints. It may be nothing important, but it may be—as in Jim Frost's case—arthritis or rheumatism. Prompt discovery of the disease is important to prevent permanent deformity and disability.

In Jim's case, we were lucky. The disease was still in the early inflammatory stage when treatment is most successful. I felt sure that we could spare him the worst crippling effects. The tragic thing about this form of arthritis is that is most frequently occurs in young adults and, if unchecked, may progress until the victim becomes a cripple who must spend the rest of his life in discomfort and dependency, waited on and cared for by others.

Arthritis may be either acute or chronic. The acute type usually comes on suddenly with sharp pains, inflammation and swelling in the joints and the patients feels sick with fever. The most common forms result from injury, infection in the joint tissues, rheumatic fever and gout. It usually wears off in a few weeks and does not leave crippled joints, although the attack may be accompanied by heart damage.

Chronic arthritis of the rheumatic type is a more difficult problem. It may result from an infection, but that is not certain. It generally develops slowly: one joint may be stiff for a few days, then others, and the stiffness does not wear off. Drugs have no direct value in treating the disease and vaccines, once quite popular, are not always helpful. The disease can, however, be arrested frequently by proper treatment in the early stages of inflammation, but no medicine has been found which can rebuild damaged cartilage or loosen stiffened joints once the disease has progressed.

The first step in the treatment of a case such as Jim Frost's is rest in bed for weeks or months. As soon as possible the patient is given exercise of the affected joints while he lies in bed. Often a member of the family can be taught by a trained expert to give the exercise to the patient. Later he can begin active exercise of the parts affected. Sometimes casts or splints are used to support the limbs in proper position and lessen crippling. Hot water baths are sometimes useful. All these methods of treatment tend to lessen stiffness and keep the muscles and joints in the best possible condition.

The prevention of rheumatism is a difficult thing to discuss, since so little is definitely known about its causes. Such things as improper food and eating habits, chronic disease of teeth, tonsils, sinuses, etc., too little fresh air and lack of exercise have all been mentioned as probabilities. Good general health habits, including a well-balanced diet and prompt attention to any illness, especially stiffness or pain in the joints, are the best safeguards against the tragic crippling that results from the disease.

Horse Out—President Locks Stable

President Truman's program for relief of the American people, to say nothing of those of Europe, is a splendid suggestion. But we fear it may be too late. It is not too little, for he surely has asked for much, but nearly everyone is agreed he is not likely to get it. It is like locking the stable after the horse has been stolen. It is too late.

The reactionary Republicans naturally oppose this plan. The plan, however, is merely insisting that the American people share some of their wealth with each other. And in order to see that this wealth is shared equally, the government will take a hand in the sharing.

The president asked that the government institute price control again to bring prices down to the level where an ordinary person can buy a chop without hocking his coat. The president wants rent control extended beyond March 1, when it is scheduled to end. The controls may not be as exacting as those of war time, but all the top GOPers are howling bloody murder and "socialism" and "totalitarianism" against them.

Sen. Robert A. Taft, who hopes to move into the White House next year, said President Truman was "seeking to turn the clock backwards", and denounced the program as "the final surrender to the left wing." He said the program would inaugurate a "police state", and warned that "we stand at the crossroads today between a free America and a planned economy."

By the way, we wonder just how many times America has stood "at the crossroads" of something or other? We somehow have managed usually to take the correct road.

But Senator Taft may be right. We may be standing at the crossroads today which shall decide whether or not the government of the United States will eventually survive. For the "free America" to which he refers is the America of Big Business which shall be free to make all the money out of its working people that it can. And if that business trait is not checked, we may well fear that America, the home of the common people, will not survive.

No, we need not worry about any police state being set up by President Truman. His message to Congress was but the reiteration of his pledge made when he took the oath of office of President of the United States, that he would follow in the footsteps of Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

Roosevelt, the friend of the common man, would have placed such a program in the lap of Congress long ago, and would have fought for it tenaciously and vigorously. Although it has come at this late day, we hail it nevertheless as a long step in the right direction, that will not lead to totalitarianism but to real Americanism. It offers a gleam of hope to those who have been sitting in the darkness of despair, and makes them feel that after all the forgotten man may once more be given a chance.

Thanksgiving

No matter how bad things are, we take time out to be thankful.

Nations like individuals always have problems. Our nation, emerging from two world wars, is now confronted with not only domestic problems, but also with problems of international scope. Instead of getting down to the business of solving these problems, we have allowed the enemies of the peace—as if in payment for our struggle to free oruselves from a Fascist world rule—to turn our interest in the opposite direction.

Thanksgiving Day, 1947, should find us checking the record and planning our future course.

The record will show that our early Pilgrim fathers were more concerned with freedom of speech and worship and thought than with an abundant harvest, on that first Thanksgiving Day in the New World.

Franklin Delano Roosevelt envisioned the needs of a world ravaged in close succession by two wars. This nation, he was sure, would be the pivot around which coming events, good and bad, would revolve. He prescribed a cure for inflated prices on food and clothing with the OPA. He attempted to break down discrimination in industry with a Fair Employment Practices Commission as an executive order. He made friends with Russia and all the European countries involved in World War II, and thus paved the way to peace and justice for mankind in the world.

Even as the signers of the Declaration of Independence dedicated this nation to the cause of liberty and justice, let us on this 1947 Thanksgiving dedicate ourselves anew to their establishment of a new nation of peace through freedom for all.

THINGS I SEE

By Marian Inglewood

It's easy enough to do business with the Russians, Sam Lush, of Philadelphia, a firm believer in the American capitalist, free enterprise, private profit system, and a man who is as anxious to make that extra penny as the next one, has found that he can not only do business with the Russians but that he can also reap about as much profit as he could doing business with thrifty, money-wise capitalists like himself. Perhaps more.

Lush is president of the Lush Trading Company which imports handicraft products and sells them through the "United Nations Bazaar," in Philadelphia. He is also the head of the Lush Cotton Products Company which each year imports more than $5,000,000 worth of cotton linters—"waste used in the manufacture of gun-cotton, bedding, etc. He imports about 60,000 bales of this kind of cotton from Russia every year. He also purchases some from China, India, and Egypt, but Russia is his principal source of supply.

In a recent article in the New Republic, Lush said, "My dealings with the Russians are the most profitable and pleasant of all." He doesn't get upset because most Americans find this hard to believe. "A great deal of misunderstanding," in his opinion, "seems to have gotten around about what goes in behind the so-called iron curtain. A lot of businessmen are passing up a marvelous opporunity to make big profits because they allow themeselves to be fooled."

Lush, however, has not passed up this golden opportunity. More than 60% of his business is done with the Russians. For more than a decade, with the exception of the war years, he has been traveling to the Soviet Union on the average of twice a year. During this time he has watched Soviet industry develop and learned how Soviet business works.

I'm anything but a Communist," he says, "and I hold no brief for the Russian system. But on the other hand I have learned certain things from experience. The Russians are very good businessmen. They're scrupulously honest, and are eager to deal fairly with us if we deal fairly with them."

"The first thing to remember," he tells anyone who will listen, "is that there is no incentive for chicanery or dishonesty; the fact that the individual cannot keep the profits takes care of that. Russian management wants to make a good showing all right, but the supervision and goals come from above."

Russian executives, however, are free to hire the most efficient help they can get. They often advertise to get the kind of workers they need. They can use whatever production practices they think best. It is only the "profits" that instead of going to one family, as in the United States, goes to the state. As a result of this kind of training, says Lush, "A Soviet executive could step into an American enterprise and do a smooth job, using methods and procedures that were as familiar to him as if he had been an executive for Big Business."

Every time Lush returns from a trip to the Soviet Union he is shocked anew by what he finds the average American believes about Russia and the reality as he found it. For one thing he says talk about war is silly.

"The Russian system is different from ours, but that doesn't mean they are going to attack us," he insists. "In June, when I split my time between Russia and the United States, I found fewer soldiers in Moscow than in Philadelphia or New York."

The Soviets are too busy rebuilding their country to think of another war. The job they face is enormous. In all of western Europe, says Mr. Lush, there are less than a dozen railway stations still intact. There are only a few undamaged houses, but few hotels, if any, of the kind to which American tourists are accustomed.

"The Russians had no nasty motive in refusing to admit junketing Congressmen," says Lush. "They just haven't the facilities to handle sightseers properly."

To businessmen and to diplomats, Lush offers some advice: Take that chip off your shoulder when you enter the Soviet Union. Give the Russians credit for having as much intelligence as you have. Don't talk to them about Communism. Russians are suspicious of foreigners who try to sell Communism to them, but they respect and even like plain-talking businessmen. Don't threaten them. An ultimatum is the quickest way of getting a door slammed in your face. Remember the golden rule. It works in Russia as well as anywhere else.

W. J. Wheaton Says

Our weekly visit was a very pleasant one. Mary Ann who had that day received a letter from Josh and Mary Ann II telling her of a successful crop and a good price for the cotton, putting her in a splendid mood. Said she, "I just felt so inspired that I went down to the store and got Mary Ann a pair of shoes and a new dress so she could look as nice as any other of the children. Well Honey I was just sitting here a-thinking. Mary Ann ask me if she could bring some of the girls who are in the same class with her to a little party some time after school. Well after a little thinking I said yes, but not too many: So I went to work, made some little cakes and lemonade and some candy. Thought I may as well give 'em a nice time.

"I was looking for a lot of little colored children, when low and behold!! who comes trapsin' in but a dozen children of all races and colors. Certainly was flabergasted when I seen more white children than others, and they all was a-chattering like magpies, and wishing Mary Ann a Happy Birthday. Well, Honey, I felt kind a shamed 'cause I had plum forgot it was my grandchild's birthday.

"Well, as I was going to say: Why can't weuns be like those children? There they was, Negro children, white children, a Japanese girl and a Mexican or Philippino—I don't remember which—all having a good time without thinking which was what. If weuns—white and black—would use a little horse sense, or I might have said mule sense, 'cause we got a lop eared mule that's got heaps of sense, there would not be any trouble. The thing is, down home some of the black folk just got a little sense, and the poor white folk haven't any. So when little sense and no sense bump together there's always trouble. Down home would be a good place to live if No Sense and Little Sense would show a bit of Horse Sense. Just as long as No Sense has a notion that they are better than Little Sense, they'll always be trouble. Look, see over there! "We turned and over in a corner of the front room squatted on the floor was Mary Ann III and a tow-headed girl with their heads together preparing their school tasks for the morrow." See: If that was back home they'd burn down the shack, saying weuns was getting on quality. I cook dinner for Mr. and Mrs. Cooper, and they's most understanding folk. I told 'em about our talks en all, and they says "Mary Ann if everybody in this world was like you, kindly and understanding human nature as you do there would be no need for wars, not even rumors of war."

"Grandmother," it was Mary Ann speaking: "May we ask the gentleman something?" What does inflation mean. Josephine and me have to write about inflation next week and we thought maybe he would help us. Will you, sir?" We promised. Ithourht usecha"s hese grand he

Funny: Both the Democrats and Republicans see, in the post election, rview a clear cut path to the White House in '48. As matters look today, President Harry Truman has the big jump on all competitors. If the trend of prosperous times keep up, Democrats will not have a push-over, but they will have an edge hard to beat.

Governor Tom Dewey seems to have an edge in the Eelephant Parade, with Senator Bob Taft a close second. Should there be a deadlock, California Governor Warren will have a good chance for the nomination. The Republicans are wary of California, which like the weather, is unpredictable.

Mississippi is slowly rounding to the point where she believes that she is a part of the union of states. The State sent to the senate a man, who at least, had sense enough to not make the race issue a part of his campaign. The race-baiter, Rankin, ran a poor fifth. If there were a chance for the electorate of Mississippi to show its trend, Rankin would be obliterated from the political arena. That is, as far as the voters of that state are concerned. Thinking men and women of the South are awakening to the fact that the fiendish deeds and acts of cruelty to human beings which they perpetrate, is detrimental to the section of the country in which they live. When they travel abroad and say they live in the South, they become at once objects of curiosity, because the world at large is acquainted with the barbarous acts with which that section of the country is charged. The sooner the South awakes to the fact that crime is a detriment to its prosperity, the better.

Do you remember when the Tariff was the dividing line between the Democratic and Republican parties? Just a few decades ago. William McKinley and Wilson, the former a congressman from Ohio and the latter a congressman from Virginia, were the towering figures in tariff debates. Tom B. Reed of Maine was Speaker in the lower house. McKinley was a high tariff proponent and Wilson was a Free Trader. In the course of debate Wilson demurred at a proposition which called for a million dollars, and the congress was stunned at the thought of such a stupendous sum being sought. Tom Reed blandly stated that this was a million dollar country. That was but a few decades ago. Think of today when we speak of millions without a second thought, and a hundred billions is just a grant to some struggling nation. Wonder what the shades of Tom Reed thinks as it hovers over the Speaker's chair in the congress and watches the distribution of billions of dollars, sent abroad to feed a hungry world. A world made hungry through the deeds of greedy men. Men who bred hatred and spawned evil. Men who placed self above God's law to kill.

A LAYMAN'S VIEW

By Leon W. Steward

E RESTRICTIVE COVENANTS OSING OUT?

There seem to be signs about ich would indicate that those farious restrictive covenants e seeing their last days. This y be considered wishful inking, but we believe firmly this idea and do not hesitate vealing what signs we eee that d us to the conclusion that s nation, which insists on erring to itself as "Christian" d "democratic," will before g rid itself of this un-ristian and un-democratic blot on its national life.

In the first place there are a ies of incidents which set the ge for the nation's looking at ese glaringly undemocratic actices with more embarrass-nt and under more compunc-n to do something about them an ever before. In the first ce we have fought a devas-ing war in defense of democ-cy as opposed to fascism. In ing so we have trained our ung soldiers as to what kind democracy they were offering ir lives to defend and they ve won the war and defeated governments which sought to titute some sort of fascism.

n the next place we find our-ves confronted with fear of a mer ally to whom we used to refer to as having a democratic government and who has eradicated just about all of the Jim-crow and anti-democratic social practices from its own country and the neighboring nations under its influence, and who points an embarrassing finger at our national hyprocrisy as our own papers and radio publish documentary evidence of such undemocratic social practices running from exonerating confessed lynchers to dispossesing from their homes some of the very soldiers who fought for democracy by the means of restrictive covenants, a most dastardly and undemocratic legal device promoted by capitalists and rendered lawful by the very courts which are established to protect the weak from the strong bullies.

RAPID DEVELOPMENTS

Under the situation created by this international climate we have had on the one hand some of the most flagrant anti-democratic occurences to mar the American scene and on the other both the historic condemnation of these practices by the President of the United States before the national NAACP convention and by the forthright report of the President's Civil Rights Committee condemning the whole gamut of undemocratic American practices towards racial and religious minorities, to say nothing of two protests to the United Nations by the NNC and the NAACP.

All of this we think has created an atmosphere favorable to dramatic American action to rid itself of this shame before its own conscience and the eyes of the world. One of our own California judges has also contributed to this atmosphere in no small way, as have California Presbyterians and Methodists.

AND NOW—

And now, at the psychological moment, the supreme court of the United States, one which has made a splendid record of fair play to little people during the past 15 years, is all set to consider the pleas of a great team of NAACP lawyers (including our own Loren Miller) who will seek to prove restrictive covenants innimical to personal rights of American citizens, when, for the first time, the United States attorney general, himself a Texan, will offer the court a favorable opinion.

Yes, from where we stand it would seem that the restrictive covenant cowards are just about to get the shock of their sordid lives.

To Secure These Rights

The Report of the President's Committee on Civil Rights

E PROMISE OF REEDOM, EQUALITY

n tthe time it takees to read sreport, 1000 Americans will born. These new Americans ll come into families whose igious faiths are a roster of those which men hold sacred. eir names will be strange and ied, echoes from every corner the world. Their skins will ge in color from black to ite. A few will be born to nes, more to average comfort, d too many to poverty. All of m will be Americans.

These new Americans, drawn m all of the races of mankind, vide a challenge to our erican democracy. We have a at heritage of freedom and ality for all men, sometimes led "the American way." Yet cannot avoid the knowledge t the American ideal still aits complete realization.

t was this knowledge which the President to create this nmittee; and the Committee's ignement has been primarily discover wherein and to what ent we are presently failing live up to that ideal. As we ve said, (in introductory notes-tor) this has meant that in deliberations ,and in this re-t, the Committee has focussed attention, not upon our ievements in protecting our itage of civil liberties, but up-our shortcomings and our stakes. These the Committee s not minimized nor has it aded the responsibility of ommending remedial action. later section of this report nfarizes some of the concrete ns which we have made in more secure protection of edom and equality. Further dence of our adherence to our at heritage in this field is the ire of our government to have national record carefully rtinized in an effort to expose shortcomings and to find ys of correcting them.

we are to judge with ac-acy how far short we have len in living up to the ideals ich comprise our American itage of freedom and equali-we must first make clear at that heritage is.

EAL OF FREEDOM, QUALITY

The central theme in our erican heritage is the im-rtance of the individual per-n. From the earliest moment our history we heve believed t every human being has an ential dignity and integrity ich must be respected and eguarded. Moreover, we be-ve that the welfare of the in-ridual is the final goal of oup life. Our American heri-e further teaches that to be ure in the rights he wishes himself, each man must be lling to respect the rights of er men. This is the conscious ognition of a basic moral nciple: all men are created ual as well as free. Stemming m this principle is the obliga-n to build social institutions t will guarantee equality of portunity to all men. Without s equality freedom becomes illusion. Thus the only aris-racy that is consistent with free way of life is an stocracy of talent and achieve-nt. The grounds on which our iety accords respect, influence reward to each of its citizens ist be limited to the quality his personal character and of s social contribution.

This concept of equality which so vital a part of the American itage knows no kinship with tions of human uniformity or gimentation. We abhor the to-litarian arrogance which akes one man say that he will spect another man as his equal ly if he has "my race, my re-gion, my political views, my social position." In our land men are equal, but they are free to be different. From these very differences among our people has come the great human and national strength of America.

Thus the inspirations and achievements of each member of our society are to be limited only by the skills and energies he brings to the opportunities equally offered to all Americans. We can tolerate no restrictions upon the individual which depend upon irrelevant factors such as his, relevant factors such as his race, his color, his religion or the social position to which he is born. (Emphasis ours——Editor.)

The men who founded our Republic, as those who have built any constitutional democracy, faced the task of reconciling personal liberty and group authority, or of establishing an equilibrium between them. In a democratic state we recognize that the common interests of the people must be managed by laws and procedures established by majority rule. But a democratic majority, left unrestrained, may be as ruthless and tyrannical as were the earlier absolute monarchs. Seeing this clearly, and fearing it greatly, our forefathers built a constitutional system in which valued personal liberties, carefully enumerated in a Bill of Rights, dere placed beyond the reach of popular majorities. Thus the people permanently denied the federal government power to interfere with certain personal rights and freedoms.

Freedom, however, as we now use the term, means even more than the traditional "freedoms" listed in our Bill of Rights—important as they tre. Freedom has come to mean the right of a man to manage his own affairs as he sees fit up to the point where what he does interferes with the equal rights of others in the community to manage their affairs—or up to the point where he beigns to injure the welfare of the whole group. It is clear that in modern democratic society a man's freedom in this broader sense is not and connot be absolute—nor does it exist in a vacuum—but instead is hedged about by the competing rights of others and the demands of the social welfare. In this context it is government which must referee the clashes which arise among the freedoms of citizens, and protect each citizen in the enjoyment of the mixiumum freedom to which he is entitled.

There is no essential conflict between freedom and government. Bills of rights restrain government from abridging individual civil liberties, while government itself by sound policies protects citizens against the agressions of others seeking to push their freedoms too far. Thus in the words of the Declaration of Independence: "Man is endowed by his Creator with certain inalienable rights. Among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. To secure these rights, governments are instituted among men."

The rights essential to the citizen in a free society can be described in different words and in varying orders. The three great rights of the Declaration of Independence have just been mentioned. Another noble statement is made in the Bill of Rights of our Constitution. A more recent formulation is found in the Four Freedoms.

Four basic rights have seemed important to this Committee and have influenced its labors. We believe that each of these rights is essential to the well-being of ours of society.

1. RIGHTS TO SAFETY AND SECURITY OF THE PERSON

Freedom can exist only where the citizen is assured that his person is secure against bondage, lawless violence, and arbitrary arrest and punishment. Freedom from slavery in all its forms is clearly necessary if all men are to have equal opportunity to use their talents and to lead worthwhile lives. Moreover, to be free, men must be subject to discipline by society only for commission o foffenses clearly defined by law and only after trial by due process of law. Where the administration of justice is discriminatory, no man can be sure of security. Where the threat of violence by private persons or mobs exists, a cruel inhibition of the sense of freedom of activity and security of the person inevitably results. Where a society permits private and arbitrary violence to be done to its members, its own integrity is invariably corrupted. It cannot permit human beings to be imprisoned or killed in the absence of due process of law without degrading its entire fabric.

2. RIGHT TO CITIZENSHIP AND ITS PRIVLEGES

ment in a democracy to regulate

Since it is a purpose of government in a democracy to regulate the activity of each man in the interest of all men, it follows that every mature and responsible person must be able to enjoy full citizenship and have an equal voice in his government. Because the right to participate in the political process is customarily limited to citizens, there can be no denial of access to citizenship based upon race, color, creed, or national origin. Denial of citizenship for these reasons cheapens the personality of those who are confined to this inferior status and endangers the whole concept of a democratic society.

(Emphasis ours—Editor)

To deny qualified citizens the right to vote while others exercise it is to do violence to the principle of freedom and equality. Without the right to vote, the individual loses his voice in the group effort and is subjected to rule by a body from which he has been excluded. Likewise, the right of the individual to vote is important to the group itself. Democracy assumes that the majority is more likely as a general rule to make decisions which are wise and desirable from the point of view of the interests of the whole society than is any minority. Every time a qualified person is denied a voice in public affairs, one of the components of a potential majority is lost, and the formation of a sound public policy is endangered.

To the citizen in a democracy, freedom is a precious possession. Accordingly, all able-bodied citizens must enjoy the right to serve the nation and the cause of freedom in time of war. Any attempt to curb the fight in its defense can only lead the citizen to question the worth of the society in which he lives. A sense of frustration is created which is wholly alien to the normal emotion of a free man. In particular, any discrimination which, while imposing an obligation, prevents members of minority groups from rendering full military service in defense of their country is for them a peculiarly humiliating badge of inferiority. The nation also suffers a loss of manpower and is unable to marshall maximum strength at a moment which such strength is most needed.

3. RIGHT TO FREEDOM OF CONSCIENCE AND EXPRESSION

In a free society there is faith in the ability of the people to make sound, rational judgments. But such judgments are possible only where the people have access to all relevant facts and to all prevailing interpretations of the facts. How can such judgments be formed on a sound basis if arguments, viewpoints, or opinions are arbitrarily suppressed? How can the concept of the marketplace of thought in which truth ultimately prevails retain its validity if the thought of certain individuals is denied the right of circulation? The Committee reaffirms our tradition that freedom of expression may be curbed by law only where the danger to the well-being of society is clear and present.

Our forefathers fought bloody wars and suffered torture and death for the right to worship God according to the varied dictates of conscience. Complete religious liberty has been accepted as an unquestioned personal freedom since our Bill of Rights was adopted. We have insisted only that religious freedom may not be pleaded as an excuse for criminal or clearly anti-social conduct.

3. THE RIGHT TO EQUALITY OF OPPORTUNITY

It is not enough that full and equal membership in society entitles the individual to an equal voice in the control of his government; it must also give him the right to occupy the benefits of society and to contribute to its progress. The opportunity of each individual to obtain useful employment, and to have access to services in the fields of education, housing, health, recreation and transportation, whether available free or at a price, must be provided with complete disregard for race, color, creed, and national origin. Without this equality of opportunity the individual is deprived of the chance to develop his potentialities and to share the fruits of society. The group also suffers through the loss of the contributions which might have been made by persons excluded from the main channels of social and economic activity.

4. THE HERITAGE AND THE REALITY

Our American heritage of freedom and equality has given us prestige among the nations of the world and a strong feeling of national pride at home. There is much reason for that pride. But pride is no substitute for steady and honest performance, and the record shows that at varying times in American history the gulf between ideals and practice has been wide. We have human slavery. We have had religious persecution. We have had mob rule. We still have their ideological remnants in the unwarrantable "pride and prejudice" of some of our people and practices. From our work as a Committee, we have learned much that has shocked us, and much that has made us feel ashamed. But we have seen nothing to shake our conviction that the civil rights of the American people—all of them—can be strengthened quickly and effectively by the normal processes of democratic, constitutional government. That strengthening, we believe, will make our daily life more and more consonant with the spirit of the American heritage of freedom. But it will require as much courage, as much imagination, as much perseverance as anything which we have ever done together. The members of this Committee reaffirm their faith in the American heritage and in its promise.

Crime and Punishment Under Socialism

By PAUL FRENCH

On September 27 of this year, local papers published the statement of the FBI that Los Angeles was first among American cities in burglaries, second in robberies, second in auto theft, and third in "assault and murder." Whereupon, Mayor Bowron, evidently a firm believer in the best 17th century theory that crime can be cured by clubs and the gallows, issued an order to Police Chief Horrall, to "get tough."

Not that Chief Horral had been, up to then, especially tender. On the contrary, he and Bowron had established a reputation of a dubious kind for police brutality, exhibited practically every day in the morgue, where one or more "suspects" end up after the local police report that "he tried to get away when we merely wanted to question him."

It might occur to anybody but a Republican mayor and a professional policeman, that there is some slight connection between poverty and crime. But, if it should dawn upon them that Los Angeles perhaps has a percentage of poor people, a proportion of low income families, and at the same time an atmosphere of wealth and luxury inducing these poor people to seek to get what is beyond their reach, economically, greater than the percentages and proportions of other large American cities, still they wouldn't do anything about it.

They would still "get tough," and earn for this city a reputation for administrative stupidity and police arrogance not eclipsed since, some years ago, Los Angeles policemen were sent to all California border towns, even 700 miles away from here, to stop poor people from entering the state. It will be recalled that in Plumas county, on the Oregon border, two Los Angeles cops were told by the local sheriff to get back to their home town or he would throw them in the Plumas county clink. That Los Angeles leads most big cities in crime, in spite of Bowron's imitation Gestapo "street blockades" and illegal search and seizure technique doesn't seem to teach him a thing.

Of course, under capitalism, mass poverty is inevitable. And so is crime. But under socialism, things are a lot different. Not under the fake kind of "socialism" they have in England, where the capitalist system is being run by the same kind of doubtful "labor leaders" of which America has its share.

There, the "labor" government made a pretense the other day to "reform" the criminal code. It proposed a bill in parliament to abolish flogging as punishment for crime—but once you're in prison you can still be flogged for "indiscipline." The bill also makes "wonderful progress" in banning the sentencing of 14 year old children to prison—they've got to be 15 years old! And for those under 15, "brisk discipline and hard work" in reform schools! More, the phony "labor" government does not propose to abolish the death penalty.

We have to look to the Soviet Union, a real socialist country, to find a government that has abolished the death penalty for civil crimes. Moreover, the whole outlook on crimes and criminals is totally different. Socialism, by giving economic security to all who work, not only takes away the mental strain that drives millions of people half insane with worry under capitalism, but eliminates the reason and cause of crimes committed to get economic gain.

Of course, there remains those crimes committed by people who are "unstable." And the "accidental" or impulsive people, children without understanding, and so on. But children of 15 are never, never sent to "reform schools" such as we and the British have, and never are treated like criminals at all. Indeed, they are never brought into terrifying "courts" with burly cops standing around, as here. Often, only a kindly woman will visit the child in his home, and talk to him, find out why he did what he did, and recommend, if needed, a special course of education, and training in some work he is interested in learning, but never as a "prisoner" under guard.

Under socialism, the purpose of punishment is never to make the criminal a victim of the theory of reprisal, namely, that he must suffer such and such punishment because he committed such and such crime. "Punishment" is given for three purposes: 1. To prevent fresh crimes. 2. To draw the criminal into useful work. 3. To bring influence on the conscience of "unstable" citizens.

Therefore, if it is thought that the offender will not offend again, punishment is extremely moderate; often taking the form of what we know as "being on parole." And all work performed as "punishment" is paid for at union wage rates. Even in cases where the punishment is work, there is no "prison" in most cases, the "convicts" living in towns like other people, free to "run away" if they want to; but equally free to live with their families, go to shows, and without wearing any "prison clothes" or being otherwise humiliated.

People who have committed crimes out of mental weakness—and a great percentage of all cases are found to be such—are given medical and mental treatment, and are not regarded as "criminals" at all, but as sick people.

And to be certain that no bureaucracy of judges and officials of the courts ignore these human considerations, every judge must have with him, when sitting in court, two simple workers or farmers, chosen by unions or other people's organizations, with the power to decide what shall be done. Such "people's assessors" as they are called, then go back to their regular work as workers or farmers, after a month or two as "judges."

By these means, and under these laws, crime and punishment under socialism is a lot different than the kind we endure in the City of the Angels.

Trail Blazers: War Perkins

By PHYLLIS SCOTT

He's tall and slim with evidence of slight bald at the top of his head. His face laughs vigorously with an enthusiastic yarn. And darkens in sharp reprimand over an unmeaningful slam. He's direct and has the peculiar talent of saying everything in a few words.

He's a gentleman and rascal, he's generous and clever, and he's naughty and nice. Above all, he's in the right corner for the right things, not always loudly but there. His movements are quick and decisions unhesitant. He's just plain War Perkins, without swagger . . . without brag.

His story might be comparable to the Cinderella tale. It's exciting and daring. Perkins was reared in Omaha, Nebraska. There he was active in radio-making and Boy Scouting. The year 1919 was an exciting one for him. He rose to the rank of second highest Negro Scout in the country. This merited him an opportunity to speak over the radio, which were only crystal sets at that time. It is believed that he might have been the first Negro to speak in the 27 year history of radio. Since that time he had a tonsilectomy which almost proved fatal. His vocal cords were cut and to this day his range, in speaking or singing, is five notes!

Things got tough for Perkins when he married against his father's consent while yet a lad in school. His allowance was stopped and he had to get out and make it for himself. He went to Columbia, Missouri for a short while before coming to California in 1932. Hoboing from Missouri, he arrived with three dollars. He went to his mother's home, borrowed twelve dollars for investments until he was able to start his perfume trade.

From perfume and real estate to a series of odd jobs he was able to save enough money to buy the contract to a quartet known as "The Four Blackbirds." He then broke into radio as the pioneer Negro announcer in the Southwest. He helped to set up the Sunday morning program at the Independent church and encouraged Joe Adams, popular emcee, to enter the field. Probably his most singular accomplishment as a radio announcer was his consistent protest against the Navy's ignoring of qualified Negroes in that branch of the service. For this Perkins was put off the air.

In the meantime he had become very intrigued in the producing end of the recording business. He produced transcriptions for various companies and in 1937 organized the first coast Negro record company. The company soon met with failure due to inadequate pressing facilities and general outlet. Perkins then signed with another company but refused to fulfill the balance of the contract when a disagreement arose on how the shows should be produced. He left for Alaska and Japan, returning to this country in 1945.

That year he and William Reed organized the Ray Million Record company. Unable to secure distributors for the records, they journied across country to secure sole outlets. This union came to be known as the Day Distributing company, which has 24 wholesale outlets and two in foreign countries. It employs 23 people at 708 East 29th street.

Perkins, in his leisure, enjoys short storywriting, archery, dart-throwing, skiing, and soccer. He has a sweet mother who resides in Los Angeles and one of the sweetest step-mothers, now living in Pasadena, a man could have. Coincidentally, they bear the same name, Ella Perkins. He plans to retire in four years from business to seriously pursue writing.

Outspoken, and justly so, on his two pet peeves, he declares that he is opposed to the wholesale hiring of unqualified Negroes on new jobs, without sufficient training, that in time discredits the race . . . and to a white man who holds an excuse of superiority because he's white and a colored man, an excuse of failure because he's colored.

Perkins has been 'a lark' in donating his services to worthy causes, and has encouraged young aspirants to his field. At present he is sponsoring a talent showcase to introduce unknown artists of ability before the public. The finals will be heard Friday evening, November 28 at Meadowbrook Gardens.

He makes liberal contributions to Father Flannagan's Home in Nebraska, the NAACP and YMCA, of which he is a member. His professional affiliations include the Record Manufacturers Association and the American Federation of Musicians.

THE LIVING SOUTH

By Harold Preece

Copyright, 1947, by New South Features

NO ARMISTICE FOR DIXIE

I am writing this on Armistice Day, November 11, 1947. And like millions of my fellow Americans, who dread the agony of war, I look forward to a time on earth when all battle flags shall be furled forever because all lines of race and color, geography and creed shall have been wiped out between the children of men.

I look forward to a world commonwealth which shall be free andwhich shall include a free South. But until that time—if the free world is to be born—I know that there can be no armistice in Dixie.

I know that there can be no armistice between the lynched and the lynchers, between the robbed and the robbers.

I know that the battle must go on til the last Confederate of 1861 or of 1947 lies rotting in the ground. I know that it must continue til the last jim crow sign is torn down from the last street car and railroad train in Dixie. til that time when we can furl our battle flags because the battle shall have been won by our long suffering but steadily uniting people of both colors.

And on this November 11, 1947, this column is a declaration of continued warefare not only against the Confederates, not only against those who war against our people with rope and whip and gun. It is also against those traitors, white and black, within our own ranks who tell us that now we have to "slow down" because we have won a few things.

It is a declaration of war against those who are satisfied with the few crumbs that have come their way from the glutton-table of Dives while the great mass of our people, like Lazarus still wait outside the door.

LICKING OUR SCARS

They have used their dogs to hunt us down for the lynch fire—they who are the dying masters of a dying, cruel old South. Now they would put muzzles on a few of the dogs and send them with their Big House Negroes and their Big House "liberal" whites to lick our sores.

As if the tongue that licks the sores is not in the same mouth with the teeth that tear our flesh.

For the sore of ignorance ,they would give us the tongue-lick of segregated ::Negro universities" whose sole purpose would be to teach our children to be "good niggers."

For the sore of lynching, they would give us a few worthless interracial commissions of Big House whites and Big House Negroes — commissions which are never able to muster quorums to do business when some Negro is taken out and cast into a furnace or a creek bottom.

And many, in this year of infamy when American guns spit fire a rebellious Greek sharecroppers in the Balkans, have stopped being barking dogs to become licking dogs.

But as Lazarus rose from the grave, so shall our people of both colors rise and, in the process, bury the dogs.

Long ago in olden times, so they tell me, it used to be the custom of peoples to bury the master's dog with the master, so that they could keep each other company in Heaven or in Hell.

Today, I'd rather bury both the dogs with the masters than bury the Southern people. For those who follow the dogtracks laid out by the master's pet poodles shall find themselves led to the grave.

But who says that our people or any other people ever chose the grave?

"For the grave shall give up her dead." And that means that the people of the South are breaking through the grave and declaring for life.

BOOKS and AUTHORS

Marie Syrkin, for 18 years a member of the New York City public school system has now written her first book, entitled Your School, Your Children: A Teacher Looks at What's Wrong With Our Schools. It is a vivid account of our public school system, telling the story of its success as well as its failure. Sketches of actual classroom situations reveal vividly the violent and confusing influences at work among American youth. It is a thoughtful reflective survey based on personal observations.

The Dark Device by Hannah Lees, a magazine story writer, was formerly serialized in Collier's. In the Fire and Ice Room of New York's swank Hotel Lavish, the ice-skating Linger family thrill many people There is Berg, the father; Christena with her crown of golden braids woven with roses; and the younger members, handsome Thor and apple-cheeked Alma. When Tena almost kills her father in her sensational jump over his outstretched body, Dr. Simon Sword, psychiatrist, knows sub-consciously that she had wanted to kill him in spite of her conscious horror. It is a tense story of past murder and present danger, of sadism, hidden cruelty and guilt.

Perry Alexander Stephens, M.D. in his book Lasting Peace and Democracy has written of peace from the religious angle, taking the Prince of Peace as his model. He brings in the question of justice, of race equality, the United Nations Charter, the atomic bomb and other pertinent questions. Born of uneducated parents on a little Mississippi farm Dr. Stephens after receiving his medical degree settled in Tennessee where he still has a lucrative practice. He has always been active in civic, fraternal and religious organizations. He is now assistant secretary of the National Medical Association and was honored as the outstanding man of achievement of his race by Chattanooga citizens in 1940.

East Side, West Side by Marcia Davenport, author of the recent best seller Valley of Decision, is the story of a crumbling marriage in the midst of the corruption of present-day New York society. Mrs. Jessie Bourne faces many problems which are the outgrowth of the baffling inconsistencies in post-war New York. She discovers General Mark Dwyer, a son of immigrants, who has kept the ideals they brought to America, and through him she finds a release from her life of unhappiness and a new pride in her East Side antecedents. In addition to the picture of human struggle there is a clear tableau of the city itself with its sights and smells and sounds and its spirituality strangely composed of hope and bewilderment, courage and hypocricy built on utter confusion.

Worship Services for Youth by Alice A. Bays is a collection of 34 services, grouped in five unified series which aid in making religion a living reality to young people and emphasize numerous ways of applying Christian principles to everyday living. Each service is built around a central theme which is strengthened and given deeper meaning by carefully chosen prayers, hymns, poems and stories. Although carefully and completely planned they allow for creativity on the part of the individual with groups.

James Hilton, son of an English schoolmaster and author of several best-sellers such as Lost Horizon and Goodbye Mr. Chips has now written his first novel about a modern young American physicist and the girl who loves and helps him. In Nothing So Strange young "Brad" becomes involved in a tragic drama—a dark secret. He had worked with a top Nazi scientist in Berlin and married and Austrian wife before he returns to America and the army air force. It is as exciting and human as anything Hilton has yet written.

How to Buy Insurance by Philip Gordis bears the sub-title "The Complete Guide to Better Protection for Less Money" and takes up household and personal property and all kinds of automobile insurance and life insurance of various kinds as well as annuities, accident and illness policies. There are valuable suggestions to guide one in choosing the right company and a list of recommended companies which offer the best rates, arranged by states. There are "Do's and Dont's" which are helpful, and a section on hospital expense and medical care insurance. A good index adds to its usefulness. It should answer most of the questions on the subject as it is the result of wide experience on the part of the author and is written in the interest of the customer since Gordis has no ax to grind.

WON'T WORK

"It's an expensive way of trying to get out of a damage suit," said Don Wheedlin, chairman of the Pasadena Conference on Human Rights, "but it won't work."

"Even though the house has been sold, we're going right ahead with the suit to show that the Waggoners suffered financial losses and were inconvenienced and humiliated at the attempts to prevent sale of their property."

Dr. Goodlett was handcuffed, slapped and thrown in jail when he resented being called a "nigger" by a police officer during an altercation relating to an infraction of traffic regulations.

Similar delegations, sponsored by the Santa Monica chapter of the American Veterans Committee and the Communist party, likewise made little progress.

Enactment of the Taft-Wawner-Ellender housing bill.

● Enactment by congress of an anti-lynching bill which provides heavy prison terms and fines for lynch mobsters and/or conspiring state officers.

● Enactment of a federal aid to education bill with adequate safeguards prohibing discrimination in the administration and allocation of funds; also prohibiting the use of funds by any agency, whether public or private, which practices discrimination.

● Enactment of legislation to outlaw discrimination in employment because of race, creed, color, or national origin; enactment of minimum wage legislation; enactment of legislation aimed at improving wage and working standards; establishment of a workers' educational bureau in the Department of Labor, directly under the secretary of labor.

● Study of the United States as an instrument for world peace.

● Participation in the food conservation program in order to feed the suffering peoples of the world.

● Support of an amendment to the present Social Security Act which would increase benefits and extend coverage to domestic workers, agricultural workers, and other occupations not now protected by the act.

● Press action for extension of public health services, both on the national and local levels.

● Promote a program of youth conservation with specific emphasis on the prevention and control of juvenile delinquency.

To implement this program the convention approved the establishment of a nation-wide plan for community "workshops" for citizenship training. Through these workshops the Council intends to arouse women to use their potential majority vote to stimulate positive legislation in these fields, and to influence both major parties to incorporate this program in their 1948 platforms.

The responsibility of women in national and world affairs was stressed by Helen Gahagan Douglas, member of congress from the 14th District, Los Angeles; and Mrs. Jane Hamilton MacCauley, vice-chairman of the Republican National Committee, both of whom told the delegates that political participation is the bedrock on which the solution of their problems must be built.

"One cannot choose to be in politics or out of them," said Mrs. Douglas, "in our form of government where the power rests with the people."

Mrs. Macauley said: "It is well for an organization to be non-partisan, but its membership cannot afford to be non-political."

The convention directed that a letter be sent to Chairman Charles E. Wilson of the President's Committee on Civil Rights, thanking him for the Committee's unprecedented report. It also proposed that the members of the Council send letters to President Truman, asking him to put the Committee's recommendations into action.

Mrs. Bethune, president of the Council since its inception, summarized the sessions with the following statement:

"These sesions have heartened me because for the first time the women who came en masse from all parts of the country seeking an action program on which to base their work for the solution of our many problems have gone away with a concrete program to guide them. In the pursuit of these broad objectives, so well delineated by this conference, the National Council of Negro Women cannot and does not stand alone. There are many great organizations, both national and international, and many agencies of the government which can give us real help, and to whom we, too, have much to contribute."

Officers, besides Mrs. Bethune, elected at the convention were: First vice-president, Region I, Miss Ruth Scott, Philadelphia; second vice-president, Region II, Mrs. M. S. Coarey, Baltimore; third vice-president, Region III, Dr. Beulah Winston, South Carolina; fourth vice-president, Region IV, Miss Arenia C. Mallory, Mississippi; fifth vice-president, Region V, Mrs. Eleanor Curtis Dailey, Chicago; sixth vice president, Region VC9, Mrs. Sue Bailey Thurman, San Francisco.

Recording secretary, Mrs. Mame Higgins, Chicago; treasurere, Dr. Dorothy B. Ferebee, Washington, D. C. chairman of the executive board, Mrs. Edith Sampson Clayton, Chicago; members of the executive committee-at-large: Mrs. Daisy George, New York; Mrs. Daisy Lampkin, Pennsylvania; Mrs. W. W. Slade, North Carolina; Mrs. Carter Wesley, Texas; historian, Dr. Mary Church Terrel, Washington, D. C. and Venice T. Spraggs, Washington Bureau.

● Pay Kickback

that they were paying in order to keep their jobs.

Finally, Nov. 18, a hearing was held at Willowbrook and Raymond V. Dourgety, county superintendent, was represented by A. B. Hawks with other members of the Board of Education present. At the meeting, so the EAGLE has been told, the teachers were not given a just chance to be heard.

The argument by the teachers was that for almost two years some of them have been paying to a fund to keep their jobs. This fund supposedly was to compensate for the loss of money the school suffered by the absence of students who paid $6.50 a month for care.

These kickbacks from the checks of the Willowbrook teachers have been as much as $75 and the teachers only receive $160 a month salaries.

Until just recently the county superintendent knew nothing of this, but at the hearing the teachers were not given a chance to state the facts, but were only allowed to answer questions with "yes" and "no."

Other teachers at Willowbrook who have suffered from these unjust payments are Emma Walker, Dolores Barkley, Mrs. Singleton and Mrs. Wyllette Harpole.

GALA XMAS PARADE

A royal reception will be extended to Santa Claus Friday night, November 21, when the old gent is escorted on his prevue tour of Santa Monica business areas by a gigantic parade.

Featuring hundreds of children, mounted units, colorful floats, bands and a host of celebrities, the parade is scheduled to start at 7 p.m. at 15th street and Wilshire blvd., proceed west on Wilshire to 4th street, south on 4th to Broadway, west on Broadway to 3rd street, and north on 3rd street to California street.

Sponsored jointly by the Downtown Businessmen's Assn., and the 14th and Wilshire Businessmen's Assn., the parade will mark the official opening of the Christmas shopping season in Santa Monica stores. Colorful street decorations in both areas will be displayed in full glory Friday night.

There will be five divisions of the big parade, according to Capt. Edward S. Gillette, USNR, who is chairman of the parade. Chief attraction is expected to be the children's division headed by Leo B. Marx who has organized this division into four units: a costumed marching unit, limited to children between the ages of 8 and 18, a decorated bicycle unit, a coaster wagon group and a motor scooter unit. Prizes will be awarded to the three best in each unit.

It was this writer's pleasure to witness the parade last year and the year before, and I rate it as one of the most colorful affairs. This year's parade will equal or surpass those of the past in a unique display and a variety of attractions.

Yours truly is hoping to see you and yours at the parade.

ASTHMA
BRONCHIAL — CATARRH - SINUS

Don't be discouraged: Read what this famous doctor says:

"Difficulty in breathing is the most characteristic symptom of asthma. Inhaling and exhaling the necessary air for the body's use are accomplished mainly by the action of the diaphragm, which is a flat muscle separating the lungs from the stomach and intestines. When the diaphragm is contracted the patient exhales the air and poisonous gases, and when it is expanded, air is drawn into the lungs. If stomach or intestinal gases are pressing the diaphragm upward, the patient will have difficulty in forcing the pressure down sufficiently to inhale. A weak diaphragm will be unable to do its work properly under this condition and there will be a struggle to draw enough air into the lungs resulting in the peculiar wheeze of the asthmatic when attempting to inhale. Of course, there are contributing causes such as irritating dust and pollen of plants, also a deranged condition of the nervous system. The patient usually wheezes along to a good age, with the misery of seeing every proposed remedy fail until he dies from the effect of drugs taken in an attempt to relieve his symptoms. It may be truly said that at first he is afraid of dying and then afraid he will not."

This Doctor further states. "A permanent cure depends entirely upon the following:

"First: The development of a strong diaphragm; so the patient can inhale and exhale to the extreme with perfect freedom of movement.

"Second: Avoiding those foods which produce an excess of stomach and intestinal gas, until digestion is improved to the point where properly proportioned meals may be taken. Certain foods produce enough flatulence to bring on an asthmatic attack and must be entirely eliminated for a considerable period and then used with great caution.

"If much bronchial mucus is present in the lungs the cure will be slower but none the less sure. Advanced cases seem to yield as readily as those just beginning, so do not think you are an exception because you have tried everything from climate to vaccines, as I do not know of a single case coming under my observation where the cure was not complete and permanent if the patient followed instructions carefully. Probably the reason the old cases respond to this method of treatment as easily as the mild ones, is because the patient who has suffered so long will follow a strict regime without deviating in a single degree whereas the patient whose symptoms are just beginning has hopes for a remedy which will relieve, and allow him to live without diet regulations. Do not waste time looking for an easier method; there is no other way.

Daniel C. Munro, M. D., says: "If I were to write the story of all the cases in which colonic irrigations seem to lift the patient from the very jaws of death, it would fill volumes."

Dr. Chas. A. Tyrell, M.D., eminent physician, says: "If the colon is clogged, the penned-up acid permeations of the stomach and duodenum will have to seek other outlets.

"The most rational and practical manner of dealing with this . . . breeding place of disease is to wash it out.

"With me, it has passed beyond the theoretical stage, for I have in my office fully 15,000 letters from grateful patients who have used this process, under my direction, with the most astounding results; scarcely a disease known to humanity, but has been relieved, and in ninety-five per cent of the cases, cures effected, while tens of thousands of gratifying messages have reached me from time to time; nor is the testimony in its favor confined to the laity, for hundreds of physicians (including some of the most prominent authorities) testify to the wonderful beneficial results achieved by its use."

"Constipation is one of the greatest causes of disease, misery, inefficiency and premature senility, and should be most earnestly combatted," says Dr. Kellogg of Battle Creek Sanitarium fame.

"Every case of constipation is curable, but not by means of any panacea.

"A coated tongue, a sallow complexion, dark circles around the eyes, appearance of brown spots upon the hands or other parts (the so called liver spots), offensive breath and perspiration . . . a thin inelastic, parchment-like skin, dullness of mind, mental irritability or depression without cause, cold hands and feet, chronic headache, arthritis, neuritis, rheumatism, asthma, pains around the heart — these and a score of other symptoms which might be mentioned are certain indications of chronic poisoning.

"A thorough cleansing of the colon, removing the cause, may prevent more serious conditions."

Residents of Los Angeles are fortunate in having the New Yorker, a haven for those who suffer, where the cause may be removed. New Yorker specializes in thoroughly cleansing and eliminating from the colon all waste matter causing toxic poisons. Rid yourself of toxic poisons. If suffering, come to our office at once. CLUBS

WHAT'S DOING IN THE SOCIAL SET

By JESSIE MAE BROWN

DOLL LEAGUE CHARITY CLUB has set December 21 for its nual Christmas party for youngsters in the community. The ditional visit of old St. Nick will take place at Central Play- ound and invitations are being sent children attending the rious grammar schools. At the regular meeting of the League Sunday afternoon at Nelle Brown's 12th avenue home, lavish plans were made to make this year's party very colorful and complete with the proper entertainment. Much of Sunday's meeting talk was centered around the League's outstanding play "Danger Girls Working," the success of which has opened the way for a broad philanthropic program this year. Sitting in on the session were Marion Ford, Lottie Martin, Margurite Singleton, Louise Collier, Fannie DeMan, Marion Jackson, Hariette Wadley and the rest of the leaguers. Lula Bendy presided the meeting, that was followed by a social hour.

Jessie Mae Brown

The imminence of Christmas, as usual, opens the way for many many groups to give to the needy. A recent release from the Social Service department states that unless this giving is channeled properly, the purpose is lost. The days , haphazard, unorganized, and therefore ineffective Christmas ving to the needy are over. Beginning Dec. 1, the City Social ervice Dept. will operate a Christmas Clearing Bureau for those ishing to give gifts of any kind to institutions, to children in oarding homes, to the aged and friendless or to any other of the housands who will have no Christmas if the philanthropists of is community do not provide the makings.

Clearing cards are available at the office of the C.S.S.D., Room -50 City Hall. The Welfare Council is marshalling all forces for e giving of gifts. Christmas parties and other forms of cheer rough its agencies.

AY SIDE

The Mike Taylors' unique play h....ouse, that graces the back rd of their South Harvard blvd. home, proved an ideal setting r the get-together that served as a pantry filler, for the soon to e married, Vance Jones and Odessa James. Friday proced to be a ppy California night, so the roaring fireplace threw the proper ow on the chatting, dancing couples.

The pool table had its cover for the night, and was centered ith a very colorful basket, into which can goods of every de- ription were heaped into it by the guests, most of whom were at or sorority relatives of the honored couple. Quite at home in apron, the genial Mr. Taylor mixed a punch that left sippers king for the receipe. Rip Russell manned the record player a odly part of the evening to be relieved by Jimmy Taylor, who A-1 at operating the different gadgets. Getting a good week-end eather from studies, Paul Beck and Maxine Clark practiced a w new dance steps, as did Mildred and Gregory Murray (Dr.), verly Cannon and Em Chapman, Leonard Beavers and Grace avis, Maethilde Kenner and Harry Cage. Cookie Cook and escort ok time out to talk over the coming S.C.-UCLA fracas with orothy Redd and Gloria Ford. Houston Entertains Century Club

Members of the Century Club of the 28th street branch YMCA were the guests of Norman O. Houston, Wednesday evening at his home on Hobart boulevard. As their host explained the members of this group represent a cross section of the leadership of this Community.

Following remarks by Rev. L. G. Robinson, Dr. E. J. Robinson and a message from Eddie Green's "grandfather," Mr. Houston challenged the "social consciousness" of the group by describing the way in which other similar groups are meeting their social problems in this fast growing metropolitan area.

In response the men present acknowledged a larger responsibility, not only to increase their own personal support of the social agencies in the Community, but especially their responsibility for bringing to the fore and harnessing to the same purpose the "new leadership" included in the thousands of new comers who have more than doubled the community's population in the last few years. Tangible evidence in the form of checks and pledges indicated that the group accepted its host's challenge and through the Century Club of the YMCA, would meet it.

The evening ended with fellowship and refreshments served under the supervision of Mrs. Houston, assisted by two members of the "Y" Cooperative. The next big event of the Century Club will be its annual dinner at the YMCA on Thursday evening, Dec. 4.

Cavalrette Formal Is Colorful Social Event

Heralding the holiday season, which promises to be more elaborate than ever this year, the Cavalrette Social and Civic club Inc., held its annual formal dance on Nov. 8, at the beautiful Elks ballroom.

The great hall was a festive scene, decorated in a mass of pink and white balloons. The pink and white color scheme was carried out to perfection, with the stage, from which the introduction was held, being colorfully arranged with fresh cut pink and white carnations forming a complete backdrop to a miniature cavalry post. The president, Mrs. Jacqueline Moore, took her place at center stage, as Frank White, commentator for the introduction, gave her recognition. She wore a delicate pink satin, grecian creation by Vincent Harris, a pink and white bracelet corsage and carried a ribboned crop that also carried out the color scheme.

The officers and members then took their places on either side of the president. Their gowns were of white, lending a delightful contrast to the pink of the president's creation. Each wore a corsage of pink and white carnations on the wrist, and carried a crop of pink and white ribbon. Beatrice D. League is vice president; Benester Fisher, recording secretary; Mamie Carter, corresponding secretary; Lucille Ivie, business manager; Esther T. Greenley, club mother and advisor. The members are Delphine Fay, Sarah Agner, Atheline Jones and Muriel McFadden.

Sammy Franklyn furnished dance music that was enjoyed by more than 700 guests, all beautifully garbed in formal dress. Following the dance, the members of the Cavalrettes and escorts enjoyed a closed breakfast that lasted until the wee hours.

Says Small Farms Can Boost Output

California's small acreage farmers, operating 68 percent of the state's farms, can prove a major factor in filling the world's food basket through adoption of new tillage methods which increase yields up to 22 percent, a study of farm production methods just made public indicates.

In addition to saving up to 34 work days each year, the state's approximately 25,400 farmers, specialty growers and subsistence farmers also can add substantially to the state's $2,121,950,000 1946 farm yield through new tilling and cultivating methods, reports Joseph W. Frazer, president of Graham-Paige Motors Corp., which made the survey.

"America has nearly 2,300,000 farms of 50 acres or less and practically all of these can expect to benefit from methods of improving seed beds," he said. "Soil has been shown to become better aerated and more moisture-retaining with new tillage methods such as that employed by the rototiller, which plows, discs and harrows in a single operation."

COUTURSTAT

By Grace Fisher Atkins

Earline Shaw, Los Angeles city school teacher, member of AKA sorority and wife of the associate pastor of the People's Independent Church of Christ, Rev. Benjamin Shaw, is one of the best dressed teachers in the system. Also, Mrs. Shaw is attractive and radiates beauty. This was not true last year. A different variety of diet and exercise is responsible for this.

So hidden was Mrs. Shaw's beauty last year that one could not become conscious of the pregence of the same individual this year. Obesity, fatigue, and exaggerated posture caused her to appear impatient, and annoyed with existence.

Today her beautiful figure, resulting from careful guidance and control of living habits, brightens her face and stimulates her personality.

Just as Mrs. Shaw made a definite adjustment in her appearance so can anyone. It is real fun to make such changes.

Experiments with domestic pets can demonstrate this phenomenon. Just limit your dog or cat to a specific diet and watch changes in the texture of his fur.

You are what you eat, think, and do, without a shadow of a doubt.

Clothes Play Disposition Role

Use clothes wisely to keep on the sunny side.

That is the advice of Elyse Knox, young romantic star of Allied Artists' "Back Gold."

"You can lift yourself right out of a depression by dressing properly," she says.

"If you are feeling down in the dumps, go to your closet and yank out something sparkling and gay, and put it on. Then just note the difference in your mood."

Miss Knox says she realizes the importance clothes play in one's disposition after appearing in a picture in which she portrayed a young woman who habitually was poorly dressed.

"At the end of the day, I found myself in bad spirits," said Elyse. "For some time I couldn't understand why. There was nothing I knew of that was causing me to be depressed.

"Finally, one evening when I went into my dressing room, I stood before a full-length mirror and studied the dress I wore. It was a dull, ill-fitting garment. I turned to the wardrobe mistress and said, 'This dress is enough to make a girl feel down-in-the-mouth.' She not only agreed with me, but said I aparently had come under the influence of that dress. Until then I did not realize it, but I had. My spirits lifted as soon as I changed into something that became me."

'DENA CHIT-CHAT

By JOHNETTA ARMSTRONG

Well, first off I would like to congratulate Ruby King and her Lee Bowles as did their other sorors last week when they became full pledged A.K.A. members. After a week or two of affect h—— they were initiated into the U.S.C. undergraduate chapter. Ruby was all grins when she came over to tell me that she was "made."

It was like old times the other night at the home of Audrey Foster, good food, dancing and games. Sy and Felix Williams were over from L. A. with their daughter Kathie. Sy spent part of the evening catching up on all the latest news here in town. He has returned to her job. Lisse Gross was there, as was Flores Carroll, who I hadn't seen in ages. Abbey Jones told me that Phillippa and Ivan Houston were down for the Cal-U.C.L.A. game. They didn't have much time to visit their friends, because they had to see all the family. Their little daughter was with them. Sarah and Tom Porterfield, Ruth and Juanita James, Walt Knot and Mary Scott were there making merry. I wonder if Audrey put aht flower in her hair when one of the guests arrived? Could it be love in bloom.

Did you read the story of "the Waggoner Case" in the Oct. 23 issue of the EAGLE? I'm almost sure you have, but if you haven't you should avail yourself with the facts. It's beginning to be the same old story—restrictions, covenants. But this case has a new twist. The Wagonners had sold their property to Negroes and when the Pasadena Realty Board found it out they sent a representative to the Waggoner home and told them that they were un-American, traitors, etc. Letters were sent to the buyer, with tints of threats, so the buyer gave up. Now in this case both of the parties lost. As most of us know in finding a house that we can buy, we are almost willing to pay any price. In this case the owner was offered more than the Negro buyer than all others. This neighborhood is mixed, whites, Negroes, and Japanese. . . . There is an organization in this town called The Pasadena Conference on Human Rights, it is a mixed group, I might say three-fourths Caucasian, that is why I'm taking time to write about it. At their last meeting, which was held at Scott's church, there weren't as many Negroes as should have been present. There were hardly any young married couples there and we are the leaders of the future. We are the ones who are looking for homes, we should be at every meeting, giving our financial, and moral help. If you'd like more information call James Penn. If you have financial aid for this group you can make checks out to the organization in care of James Penn. Now don't forget, get out and fight for your rights.

The center of attraction at the party given by the Bert Martins was Melonie Rose, their month old daughter, and Larry Edson, Mary and Billy Edson's son. It is certainly interesting to see how people's interest change when they become parents. Everyone certainly had a wonderful time talking politic, jokes, playing games and having an all round good time. Bump Cunningham, Densil Purdue, Naomi Bowins, Eleanor and Sid Heard, Pete and Bernice McCullough and several more were on hand to have a grand time . . . Sorry that we didn't get down to the Raymond Robinsons Halloween night. I'm sure that a good time was had by all. Sweets and Virgil Smock had a masquerade party Halloween night and they tell me that it only jumped.

Friends of Esther and Raymond Jones will be glad to know that they are going into the cleaning and pressing business with the Benders Cleaners. Don't forget Raymond when you need a cleaning job.

The Club Echo met at the home of Hazel Jackson to discuss plans for a forthcoming semi-formal. Everyone was greeted by a huge cocktail table, black lacquer. It is really beautiful and the rest of the furniture is arriving this week. Emma Biggs was still there, and Emma Williamson was rather sad about their eviction notice.

Well, that's all for now.

—Hasta Lueog.

Mrs. Demar Finds Big Transaction Completed Upon Return from Extended Tour of the East

Mrs. Zeater Demar, of Demarville, Lake Elsinore, returned recently from an extended tour of the East. Upon going to her desk she found there the completed transaction which she had put under way before she left—the sale of 16 estates in Demarville to Miss Theodosia Peoples, her niece. Miss Peoples is a graduate of Tuskegee institute, Alabama. She is a young woman with vision, and will definitely be an asset to Demarville.

MRS. ZEATER DEMAR, LEFT, AND THEODOSIA PEOPLES

Mrs. Demar was the moving spirit in the organization of this building project for Negro families in the Elsinore Lake Grove tract. It was named in her honor.

The Demarville organization met Sunday afternoon and perfected plans for their first big effort to raise funds to pay for their recreation ground. It has been learned positively that the new state highway will pass through this new settlement. This will greatly benefit the little community.

Watts Citizens Praised As Board Cracks Down On Filthy Cafes, Shacks

Three restaurants, one juice-squeezing joint, and two shacks used as homes by human beings were condemned by the Board of Health Commissioners, City of Los Angeles, at a meeting held in the Watts city hall and police station last Thursday.

The restaurants, as reported by Charles L. Sean, engineer-director of the bureau of sanitation, were filthy, overran by cockroaches and rats, with rancid fat encrusted on the shelves where the dishes were kept, dirt and grease on the tables and floor, etc.

The homes, if one can call them that, would have been rejected by a decent dog. Shacks with broken windows, gaping cracks in the sides of the rough boards, no toilet, garbage in the back yard, cooking done in the open. In one home a toilet was constructed by digging a hole in the ground in a shed without a door, and using a box. Eight persons call this place home.

None of the condemned restaurants and homes was located in Watts. They were scattered throughout different sections of the city, that incidentally is not supposed to have any slums, and none of them is owned or occupiel by a Negro. The restaurants are owned by white people and Mexicans, and two families of Mexicans live in the shacks they call home.

Watts, predominantly a Negro district, was given a definite pat on the back by Dr. E. G. Bashor, chairman of the Board of Health Commissioners.

"I want to commend this district," said Dr. Bashor, "for its orderliness, its sanitary condition, and general cleanliness in spite of many handicaps."

Dr. Robert F. Kolts is the member of the Board of Health Commissioners responsible for the Watts district. The population of this district, said Dr. Kolts, has doubled within the past two years and is now approximately between 160,000 and 200,000.

"The greatest problem in this area," he stated, "is overcrowding and poor living conditions. Great numbers of people are living in unsanitary and poorly constructed homes and buildings. The objective here is and has been to teach how to bring better living and health conditions to the people.

"The community of Watts is fortunate in having a Health Council composed of the leading citizens of the area. They are functioning in close harmony with the Health Department and are eager to improve the health and sanitary conditions of the community."

Tuberculosis clinics, child conference clinics, a first aid room, classes in nutrition, maternity, and dental hygiene; lectures, demonstrations, discussions, motion pictures, "these are a few of the steps we are taking," said Dr. Kolts, "to bring education and improvement to a group of citizens who are eager for knowledge."

The staff for the Watts Branch of the Los Angeles City Health Department, besides Dr. Kolts, consists of: supervisor of nurses, Mrs. Eugena Carter; public health nurses, Miss H. Lund, Miss D. Hansen, Mrs. Edna Bradshaw, Mrs. O. Pacifice, Mrs. F. Schwartz and Miss E. Yates; clinic nurses, Mrs. H. Williams and Mrs. E. Gibson; clinic orderly, Mrs. G. Hutton; housing and sanitation inspector, D. Thompson; junior sanitation inspector, R. Woodward; clerks, Miss B. Burns and Miss R. Jasper; and custodian, C. Jones.

Alpha Grad Chap. Holds Initiation

On Friday, Nov. 14, Beta Psi Lambda, the local graduate chapter of the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity held its first initiation since its inception in '41.

The weary candidates who made the laborious trek across the burning sands to Alphadem are very prominent in the community. They are: Robt. G. Van Meter, a graduate of U.C.L.A. and at present a graduate student at the same university; Father Jesse Moses, recently ordained by the Episcopal church, a candidate for his Doctorate at U.S.C. and assigned to a parish in Pasadena; Dr. Dickerson Hawkins, a graduate of Meharry, a prominent member of Medical circles, and president of the Westview Hospital Association.

The initiation ceremonies were followed by a full course dinner and all the brothers joined in the festivities welcoming the new Greeks.

Atty. Walter Gordon will be host to the next meeting of Beta Psi Lambda on Monday, November 24. Election of officers heads the agenda. All Alpha men in the city are urged to attend.

TO GO EAST—Phyllis Scott, popular church and youth editor of the California EAGLE, leaves for a trip East, Nov. 23, to visit relatives. She will be gone several weeks.

Pupente Hostess In Regular Meeting

Mrs. Mae Tramel's home was the scene of the last regular meeting of the Pupente Hostesses. Mrs. Margaret Varnado was welcomed back after an absence because of illness.

Following the business discussion, a delicious ham dinner was served. Bridge was played. Prizes were won by the following: Mrs. Margaret Varnado, first; Mrs. aMry Smith, second; and Mrs. Mabel Tray, consolation.

Hostess for the next meeting will be Mrs. Mabel Tray.

Lucille Ball was once injured in an auto accident which kept her in a wheel chair for three years.

Mrs. Vivian Heard, Ruth Viser, Bessie Rumber, Hattie O'Neil, Rosa Holland and Ruth Mollory of Pasadena were weekend guests of Murrays Dude Ranch in Victorville.

SHOPPING WITH DORIS

By DORIS AUSTIN

Hello There:

All over town and all around where there are gatherings of people, the general discussions seem to shift to the Christmas theme; the festive plans at home and in the social whirl of the coming season, but the chief idea dominating all conversations seems to be the purchasing of necessities or practical things even to the point of giving gift certificates (which is o.k. if you let your shopper buy them) to avoid exchanges and possible hurt feelings, correct sizes and harassed nerves after a tiring Christmas spree.

It is a wise plan to plan carefully before you buy for anyone, to hold family conferences before mother and dad or to even pool finances and get that one big gift they have been wanting so long. Whatever your methor or whoever shops, shop early, while stocks are new and fresh, variety plentiful and prices as good as present times afford.

Call your personal shopper for any and all aid or information—where to buy, what to buy, how to buy and above all, to buy for you—the number is CE. 2-0819 and there is no obligation to call and really lots to acquire.

Kappa Alpha Psi Founder Dies In Indianapolis

CENTURY HOST — Mr. Norman O. Houston addressed members of the 28th street branch YMCA when they were guests in his home. (Story).

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — Elder W. Diggs, founder of the Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity and local school principal, who died in his sleep here Saturday morning, November 5, was buried Wednesday, November 12, from the Wilson Funeral Home, 632 N. West street. Funeral services were private, preceded Tuesday night by a service conducted by the Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity.

Elder Diggs was born in Christian County, Kentucky, and was a graduate of Indiana State Teachers college and Indiana university. While at Indiana, he organized the small group of Negro students there, in order to secure for themselves better living accommodations and some recognition on the campus. That organiaztion was the first (Alpha) chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity, founded January 5, 1911.

He was the national president (grand polemarch) of the fraternity for six years, having served longer than any other chief executive. He was later awarded Kappa Alpha Psi's laurel wreath the highest honor of the fraternity.

Down the years, he was active in the organization and two years ago he started a movement to build a Kappa chapter house at Indiana university, to help meet the housing shortage on the campus and as a fitting memorial to Kappamen who have died in two wars.

He was active in several civic and education organizations, and with the American Legion, of which he was a member because of his service in World War I, from which he was mustered out as a captain. He is survived by his wife.

4351 SOUTH CENTRAL AVENUE

Scattergood Assn To Dedicate New Center

Some time during the early part of December, the board of directors of the Scattergood Interracial Center, will invite its several hundred members and freinds to join with them in the dedication of the new club house.

The ultra-modern building, costing $25,000 to construct and located at 855 N. Fair Oaks avenue, is nearing completion. The dedication service will be the culmination of a 20-year project that was begun by Mrs. Mae Reese Johnson and assisted by her husband, Master Sergeant George Johnson.

The building, designed by Whitney R. Smith, will provide two club rooms, a lounge, kitchen, patio and toilet facilities. It will also provide for much needed recreational facilities in northwest Pasadena. More than a dozen youth and adult groups are ready to move in as soon as dedication services are concluded.

In the meantime ,it was announced by officials of the Scattergood that Mrs. Flora Strong has been re-elected president for the third consecutive year. Mrs. Strong, a retired school teacher from the east, has been accociated with Scattergood for four years. It has been under her leadership the new club house was constructed. Other officers elected at the same time, include: Mrs. Esther R. Gross, 1st vice president and program chairman; Mrs. Lee Holloway, 2nd vice president and hospitality chairman; Mrs. W. A. Schwimley, corresponding secretary; Mrs. G. E. Kennedy, secretary; Miss Mary Orchard, treasurer; Mrs. W. L. Bangham, financial secretary; Miss Alice Pearson, auditor; Mrs. Hugh Devonport, chairman, house and grounds committee; Walter F. Worrill, chairman, personnel committee; and Thomas R. S. Pacific Names Car After Retired Waiter

Oliver Millet, known to thousands of travelers for his 32 years' service as parlor car attendant on Southern Pacific's Del Monte Limited, retired last week but his identity with the train he rode so long between San Francisco and Monterey Peninsula points will not be lost. Today the Del Monte's lounge-buffet car bears the name "Oliver Millet" in bright new letters, and the retired attendant has the distinction of being the railroad's first employe to have a car named for him.

In making this announcement yesterday, Calude E. Peterson, company vice-president of passenger traffic, said Millet had acquired a reputation as one of the railroad's outstanding ambassadors of goodwill during a career that began as a dining car waiter 45 years ago.

Publishes FDR's Boyhood Letters

"After my husband's death; my husband's secretary told me that in the little study which he always used when he was home there were a great many cardboard cases," Eleanor Roosevelt writes in her Foreword to F.D.R.: His Personal Letters, Early Years. "It was not until the spring of 1947 that I finally began to go through the cases. Then I found that I had all or nearly all of the letters which my husband had ever written to his mother . . ."

In 1887, at the age of five, Franklin Roosevelt wrote a letter to his mother. She kept it. For the next 54 years she added to her collection—schoolboy letters, casual notes, happy letters, letters detailing great events, and sometimes troubled letters. Because Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt felt that historic interest warranted the publication of these letters, she gave her permission.

Edited by Elliott Roosevelt, F.D.R.: His Personal Letters, Early Years includes all the letters from Mrs. James Roosevelt's collection from 1887 to 1904, when FDR was graduated from Harvard. Duell, Sloan and Pearce published November 12.

Sees U. S. Trying To Corner Atom Ore

LONDON — The Daily Express this week accused the United States of trying to corner the bulk of the world's uranium ore in an attempt to maintain a monopoly on A-bomb manufacture. The paper said the U.S. is "paying up to 365 pounds ($1460) a ton for uranium ore it does not need."

The Express, which is owned by Lord Beaverbrook, said the main American sources of uranium are Katanga in the Belgian Congo, Great Bear Lake in Canada and its own mines in Colorado. In addition, the paper said, the U.S. is supplied from "important" thorium workings in Brazil which recently came under American control.

Marie Haydon, Conover covergirl, has been cast for the role of the Viennese entertainer in "Berlin Express."

Two Young Pianists Will Be Heard In Concert Nov. 30th

The Gray Conservatory of Music will present two young pianists, John Brown and Jacqueline Freeze, in a Concerto program, Sunday, November 30, at 4:00 p.m. at the Metropolitan C.M.E. church, East 29th at Main street.

Tschaikowsky's First piano Concerto and Liszt's Hungarian Fantasie, the selections of the ambitious artist, will provide the necessary scope for their talents, and the familiar themes and dramatic chords will give double pleasure to the audience.

Both pianists are students at UCLA and have studied at the Gray Conservatory since grammar school days. Miss Freeze, who will play the Liszt Fantasie, is an accomplished performer, though still in her teens. Her precise technique and clear interpretation handles Liszt with assurance. John Brown, through his early training at the Gray Conservatory was able to win a scholarship while in the army that entitled him in a years study at the University of Florence in Italy. Now that he is home, he is continuing his studies at the conservatory and UCLA. The tremendous Tschaikowsky first emerges clear and flawless beneath his nimble fingers.

Ella Mae Hilson, also a student of the Gray Conservatory, will assist the two artists with vocal numbers. Mrs. Ruth Parks-Brown will accompany Miss Hilson. Prof. John A. Gray will assist at the second piano.

The concert is free to the public. A free-will offering to be given to the players will be asked of the audience. Come early, the program will begin promply at 4:00.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. IKE EVANS, D.D.

Subject: The Way of Love. Lesson Text and Otuline: 1 John 2:7-11, 15-17; 3:13-18. Motto Text 1 Cor. 14:1.

Introduction

Pastoral in its nature, the first epistle of John seems to have been written first for the churches in Asia Minor which were threatened with heresy, particularly the denial of the truth that God had been manifest in the flesh. The nature of the true faith and its confirmation are, therefore, emphasized. The epistle has been broadly outlined as containing, in the first two chapters, the truth that God is light, and in the remaining three that God is love."

Comments

1. The precept of love must be as old as human nature, but it admit divers enactions, enforcements, and motives. The Christian corporation, which thing it true to him, the matter of which was first true in and concerning the head of it; the truth of it was first and was abundantly in him; he loved the church, and gave himself for it, and it is true in you; this law is in some measure written upon your hearts, you are taught of God to love one another. The light of evangelical revelation hath shone with life and efficacy into your hearts; hence you have seen the excellency of Christian love, and the fundamental obligation thereto. We should see that grace or viture which was true in Christ be true also in us, we should be conformable to our head. But in the visible church there are often those who assume to themselves more than is true, there are those who say they are in the light, the divine revelation has made its impression upon their minds and spirits, and yet they walk in hate and enmity towards their Christian brethren. These cannot be swayed by the sense of the love of Christ to their brethren, and therefore remain in their dark state, notwithstanding their pretended conversion to the Christian religion.

2. The heart of man is narrow, and cannot contain both loves. The world draws down the heart from God; and so the more the love of the world prevails the more the love of God dwindles and decays. We should refrain from worldly love or lust; it is not ordained of God. It is not of the Father, but is of the world.

3. We are by nature children of wrath and heirs of death. By the gospel (the gospel-covenant or promise) our state toward another world is altered and changed. We pass the death to life, from the guilt of death to the right of life, and this transition is made upon our believing in the Lord. We know that we have passed from death to life, we may know it by the evidence of our faith in Christ, of which this love to our brethren is one, which leads us to characterize this love that is such a mark of our justified state.

Hatred will shut up the bowels of compassion from the poor brethren, and will thereby expose them to the sorrows of death. And it has appeared that hatred of the brethren has in all ages dressed them up in ill names, odious characters, and calumnies, and exposed them to persecution and the sword. Now he who by the frame and disposition of his heart is a murderer cannot have eternal life abiding in him, for he who is such needs be carnally-minded, and to be carnally-minded is death.

Comments on the Motto Text

The love of love is basic in a good life. The love of revenge is a cancer. The love of egotism is dry rot. The love of mammon is hardening of the arteries. Who can be good or do good without being in love with love? The lift of love is the crown of a good life. It lifts up the down trodden, depressed, and is discouraged. It lifts heavy burdens off the shoulders that are breaking under them. It lifts the wayward out of the ruts of wrong. It lifts the uncertain and the unsteady into the paths of hrigteousness and peace. It lifts Heavenward everybody who yearns for a better life and a better world. "Follow after Love!"

Singers Alliance Closes First Anniversary with Election of Officers

The Interdenominational Singers' Alliance ended its first anniversary last Sunday with a soul-stirring sermon rendered by Rev. Hicks and music by his chorus from the Maryland Baptist church. Rev. Hicks and his chorus were guests of the Singers' Alliance at the St. John Baptist church.

A. L. Johnson

The annual election of officers was held this past Monday evening with the following reelected to the same offices: A. L. Johnson, president; Marjorie Hutcherson, secretary; and the entire board of officers remaining unchanged.

The president pledged the organization of a chorus from the Alliance made from members of all groups to be under the direction of Fred Miller and Percy Jackson.

The first presentation of the chorus will be made to the public on Sunday, Nov. 23, at 3 p.m., which will be the fourth regular Sunday of their monthly programs. The program will be given at the Galilee Baptist church, 23rd and Stanford, Rev. Wilhite, pastor.

All groups will be present to render the requests of the public. The president's chorus promises to bring bigger and better programs each month. On Thursday, Nov. 27, the Alliance will sponsor a Thanksgiving dinner and they invite the public to attend. Tickets are now on sale. Any member of the group may be contacted for tickets or for further information by calling PA 8830. A. L. Johnson, president. E. Jackson, submitter.

Regular Worship

The Macedonia Baptist Church members, 1157 North Fair Oaks avenue, Pasadena, invites the public to worship with them.

McCoy Memorial Baptist Church of 802 E. 46th St. Is Out Ahead Again!

Friends, I don't know if you were present at 802 East 46th street on Sunday, November 16, or not. Well, if you weren't, then you did not follow the crowd.

Because, never before in the past year have I seen this church filled so far beyond seating capacity at an afternoon service.

REVERE GREEN

Yes, the people were here, but that wasn't the beginning, for the spirit of God was in our midst as those spirit filled choirs sang the songs that touch the heart. Yes the church was over filled long before the time came to begin the worship. Then at four o'clock sharp the musicians gave the chord. The congregation sat in suspense, as four great choirs began marching down the aisles to take their respective places.

The participating choirs were as follows: Wesley Chapel, Lucille Huley, director; Rev. Rakestraw, minister. Independent Church Cathedral Choir, Albert J. McNeil, director; Rev. Russell, minister. Pilgrim Baptist, Emma Kae Alley, director; Rev. Wade, minister. Ward Chapel, Blanche Woods, director; Rev. White, minister.

Special guest artists were Mrs. Frances Pierce, soloist; Miss Marie Prentice, orator.

Now, I must take time out to remind you that we did not have to wait until the afternoon service to start the wheels rolling. For the fire was kindled in the morning worship beginning with the Sunday School. Our hearts did burn within as our pastor, Rev. Anderson, brought forth a materful message, along with the gigantic song fest presented by our remarkable senior choir under the direction of The One and Only, The Know How—Mrs. Revere Green. The pastor and the entire membership wishes to commend Mrs. Green for her sincerity and ability as a leader.

Sunday, November 23, is Youth Day and the young people will have complete charge of the morning and evening services. Both senior and youth choirs will be singing. The pastor, Rev. E. A. Anderson, will be bringing the messages, speaking Sunday morning on the subject: "The Wisdom of a Child Paves the Way for Sin-Cure."

"Wisdom Promises Godliness and Direction to Her Children"

is the thought provoking subject chosen for the evening worship.

A special Thanksgiving service will be held at the McCoy Memorial Baptist church Thursday, November 27, after which a very luscious and delicate dinner will be served honoring the ministers of the city and the entire membership of our church. This is a display of the splendid spirit and fellowship always present at McCoy.

The Missionary Society will be in charge of the services Sunday, November 30, rendering another of their magnificent programs led by their president, the pastor's wife, Mrs. E. A. Anderson. These programs rendered by the missionaries are something each member and friend has learned to look forward to with great anticipation.

Sunday morning, November 30, the pastor will be speaking on the very interesting subject "Dry Bones."

For the evening service and by popular request of the members he has consented to bring the message we consider a masterpiece—subject, "A Haircut in the Devil's Barbarshop by a Woman Barber."

Friends, we always make you welcome to come and worship with us. Rev. E. A. Anderson, pastor; Aaron Bryant, public relations.

THE MORTGAGE BURNING CEREMONY of Zion Hill Baptist church was highlighted by the participation of many notable figures including Councilman Kenneth Kahn of the Eighth district, Reginald Gorman of the Title Insurance & Trust company, Chapin Greene, representing the Sheriff's office; Dr. Clyde Allen, who delivered the welcome address; Rev. Grant Harris, minister; Rev. John L. Jeffers, assistant pastor; F. W. Perkins, chairman of the Deacon board; James Hale, chairman of the Trustee board; D. H. Mallory, chairman of the Auxiliary Deacon board. Dr. Jarone W. Johnson, master of ceremony, and Wattie Moore, president of Usher board. Rev. Grant Harris and Trustee chairman, James Hale, are shown burning the mortgage. —Vera Jackson photo.

Second Anniversary of Mortgage Burning of Zion Hill Observed

Another milestone was made in the history of Zion Hill Baptist church as its members and friends celebrated its second anniversary of the mortgage burning. This marks the second year at their new church home, 51st and McKinley.

The ceremony was highlighted with addresses and greetings from important figures in the community and city offices downtown. Felicitations were extended from Councilman Kenneth Kahn of the Eighth district, Chaplin Green of the Sheriff's department, Reginald Gorman of the Title Insurance and Trust company, and many others.

The church was purchased in November, 1945, for $51,000 with an additional fee of $10,000. The church, under the progressive leadership of Rev. Grant Harris, paid off the indebtedness in 20 weeks.

Services began with a processional by the senior and gospel choirs, each member carrying a candle, forming a star. At the evening service the guest speaker, Reginald Gorman, gave the message. A turkey and ham banquet was given for all the members in the church annex on Monday night.

The pastor and officers of the church thank each and every member for their splendid cooperation. Rev. Harris declares that their doors are open at all times to friends as well as the community. A telegram was received from Mayor Fletcher Bowron and Connor Johnson Company.

Cicero calls gratitude the mother of virtues, the most capital of all duties, and uses the words grateful and good as synonymous terms, inseparably united in the same character.—Bate.

Donates Sum To Fight Race Ban In Catholic Schools

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—St. Malachy's, a Negro parish here, of which the Rev. Ralph W. Warner, S.J., is pastor, received an undisclosed sum of money recently from former Congresswoman Clare Boothe Luce.

Rev. Warner had previously declined a $25 donation from the Catholic Parents' association, a group formed to protest the presence of Negro students in Catholic high schools in the archdiocese.

"It is a fundamental Christian doctrine that we are all children of God," said Mrs. Luce, "and it is a fundamental democratic doctrine that every citizen, regardless of color, creed or race, is equal before the law."

The Catholic Parents' association has been disbanded.

Baha'i News

What Is True Freedom? will be discussed in the lecture to be given by Willard P. Hatch at Los Angeles headquarters of the Baha'i World Faith, 331 S. New Hampshire ave., on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 23, at 3 o'clock.

True freedom is the reality of the knowledge of God. A manifestation of the essence of God is like unto the sun, which has different risings—the dawning places are different but the sun is always the same. The lamps are different but the light is one. Baha'u'llah is the great Manifestation for this age and in the essence of his teachings are the realities of true freedom.

Western Avenue Christian Church Reiterates Pledge Against Church Prejudices

Knowing that segregation and discrimination in the church is contrary to the teachings of the New Testament and that such a church can not adequately render true service to the community, nation and God, Reverend Spears is determined, with the cooperation of the people and the Almighty God, to build anew the Western Avenue Christian church. With the assurance that such a church will serve as an organism that gives life and order the community and will aid in the development of the type of citizens that our country urgently needs, he has begun his work with great enthusiasm and will hold his first worship service in the church at 3000 South Western avenue, Thanksgiving Sunday, November 23, at 2 p. m. The public cordially invited to attend and fellowship.

Rev. Clifford B. Spears, graduate of Southern Christian Institute, LeMoyne college and Butler university, School of Religion, Indianapolis, Indiana, was recently called by the state board of the Christian Churches of Southern California to build anew the Western Avenue Christian church.

Church Meet Told Of Need to Overcome Apathy in Politics

"Jubilance through Service" was the theme of the silver jubilee and convocation of the California Baptist State convention held in the New Hope Baptist church, 1623 Paloma street, this week.

Held simultaneously to observe the silver jubilee were: the Women's Auxiliaries convention, the Junior Women's convention, the Brotherhood convention, and Auxiliaries.

One of the highlights of the convention was that of the afternoon session, Thursday, of the Women's Auxiliary. Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor and publisher of The California EAGLE, spoke on the need of action to bring answers to our prayers, and especially the need of action in the political field.

"Restrictive covenants, tolerance of lynching, the poll tax, discrimination against Negroes in securing jobs, in the government, in every way of life," she said, "are all due to our own indifference, to our lethargy in permitting such conditions to exist." We must take an active interest in our government, in its politics. There's no use in complaining about what our politicians do year after year, if we persist in electing and sending back to office those same politicians every time an election is held."

The two major parties in the United States, Mrs. Bass said, have virtually merged into one within the past year. She stressed the need for a new party, one that would really voice the aspirations of the people. Such a party is now looming above the horizon, and petitions are being circularized to secure signatures which will insure its place on the ballot. Asking how many of those present were registered voters, Mrs. Bass was delighted to see virtually everyone of the more than 200 persent raise her hand.

"Splendid," commented Mrs. ass. "Now see that your neighbors are registered, and then see that you and all your friends and neighbors do your duty at the polls next year."

Mrs. A. Hall Botts, of Stockton, one of California's pioneer families, responded to Mrs. Bass' address. She commented on the fact that everything done for the human family has been dubbed "Communistic."

Mrs. Eliza Davis-George, three times returned as a missionary within 32 years to Sinoe Baptist Mission, Liberia, West Africa, described graphically how the young folks in Liberia are working to secure an education.

Kingsley and Hill to Speak at Hamilton On Men's Day

Annual Men's Day will be observed at Hamilton 18th and Noami st., Sunday, November 23. The men of the church are sponsoring both the morning and evening services. Dr. Harold M. Kingsley, director of Pilgrim House and co-pastor of the Church of Christian Fellowship (which includes all races) will speak at the morning services, and Rev. Robert D. Hill, pastor of the Scott Methodist church of Pasadena, and former Dean of Men at Samuel Houston college, will speak at the evening service.

REV. HAROLD KINGSLEY

Lawrence B. Wilson, chairman of the program committee will preside at the morning service; and William Vell, president of the Men's Fellowship will preside at the evening services. Jesse James is a member of the program committee too. According to Wilson the theme for the day is "The Responsibility of Men in Christian Service." The objectives of the day are twofold: first, to inspire the men of the church and the community to greater Christian service and fellowship and secondly, to raise funds to erect the Samuel Miller Beane Memorial Recreational Center. The entire center section of the church will be reserved for the men and all men are requested to sit in this section.

Music for both services will be rendered by a Men's Choir arranged by Rev. Samuel Glass. Elizabeth Jones will be the director. John L. Johnson will render a special vocal selection and an instrumental number will be given by a trio comprising Messers. Sheridan Rosebore, John Sturdevant, and Jasper Jones.

A cordial invitation is extended to all men of the community to attend these services. Rev. D. De Witt Turpeau, pastor.

Priest Prays For Racial Brotherhood

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y.—Delegates who had expected a perfunctory prayer at the opening session of the New York State CIO conference held here recently, were surprised at that offered by Father John O. Curley, assistant pastor at St. Peter's Catholic church.

"Bless in particular," Father Curley prayed, "their policy of racial brotherhood and enable them to make even greater progress throughout the coming year in the elimination of every semblance of prejudice and discrimination against our brothers, the members of the Negro race."

We the People Preparedness Announcement

Samuel Reuben Alexander Dorsett, also known as Peter-Daniel E. A. Gibraltar, naturalized, bonafide American citizen, evangelist at large, pulpit orator, student of American law and procedure, speaker and lecturer and a real and fearless man, to face Rankin, Ellender and others from the South. Prospective candidate for the congressional seat in the United States Congress from the 14th congressional district. Many thousands of us have decided to use the ballot, not selfishly, but in favor of ourselves, in order that we may have honest and sincere representation.

The power of the ballot will propel us on to our ultimate redemption. The 13th and 14th amendments are all right, but we are now taking the Constitution as a whole. The preamble of the Constitution is the embardiment of the Constitution and the constitutionality of the Constitution, its objects and its meaning. I challenge the taciturnity of the United States Congress in the case of Dora Jones' enslavement. Case unfinished.

"Our Constitution," by A. J. Cloud, chief deputy superintendent of schools, San Francisco, Calif. Chapter 16, pages 180-181. Article 13. Slavery abolished. Section 1. (Quote) "Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime, where the party has been duly convicted, shal lexist within the United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction. Section 11. Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation." (End quote.)

I am also calling the attention of We the People to Chapter XIV, Article IX, Section 2, Clause 1. (Quote) "Right of citizens in the United States. The citizens of each state shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of citizens in several states." (End quote.)

To my brethren in the South, count on me. I can hold my own, and am now laying the foundation for the rising and unborn generation. Help! Help! Help!

Commemorate Gift of Building By Jewish Group to Outdoor Ass'n.

Ceremonies marking the donation of the old San Francisco building of the Los Angeles Sanitorium to the Outdoor Life and Health Association were conducted last Sunday afternoon on the Association grounds at Duarte, California, with many officers and board members of both institutions present.

The Los Angeles Sanitorium, operated by the Mt. Sinai-Duarte National Medical Center, is now undergoing an extensive expansion program which upon completion will mark it as one of the finest and most modern medical centers in America. The San Francisco, building, a 10-room stucco structure which had been part of the Sanitorium for many years, but which was out of keeping, architecturally, with the new building plan, was given by the board of directors to the Outdoor Life and Health Association and has already been removed to its new location.

In charge of the program for the day was former Assemblyman Frederick M. Roberts who introduced Dr. Leonard Stowall, who, as president of the Association, expressed the gratitude of the administrative and medical staffs to the Mt. Sinai-Duarte board members present. He recalled the early days of the struggle to establish the Association's hospital, compared the aims of the two institutions, predicted the day "when here in the desert, side by side will stand two medical havens that will be a monument to the brotherhood and affection between men."

Samuel H. Golter, executive director of the Mt. Sinai-Duarte Nat. Medical Center, speaking for his board members and staff, hailed the Association as friends and neighbors, declared "we feel a close kinship with you in your struggles — in your fight against disease, and in your fight against discrimination. Our hand is extended to you because always there has been between us the ernest desire to strengthen the bond that exists between men of goodwill — men with a common goal—to make ours a world free of the diseases that plague men—diseases of the body, like tuberculosis, and diseases of the mind, like intolerance."

Other speakers included Victor Carter, vice president of Mt. Sinai Nat. Medical Center, and William H. Joyce, a member of the Outdoor Life and Health Association board of directors.

33 Colleges Get $400,000

NEW YORK — Checks totaling $400,000 were mailed to the 33 member colleges of the United Negro College Fund on November 15, it was announced at headquarters by W. J. Trent, Jr., executive director of the Fund. This allocation makes a total of $750,000 distributed to member colleges out of the proceeds of the 1947 campaign since June.

Money raised each year is divided among member colleges on the basis of an objective formula unanimously approved by the presidents of the member institutions.

The final distribution of the proceeds of the 1947 campaign will be made in January, 1948.

Scouts Slate Ranch Branding Ceremony

Cubs, Scouts and Senior Scouts of the Los Angeles Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, are holding their nation-wide Scout Round-up with the intent of corralling all Mavericks and Strays and branding them with their own Ranch insignia. Plans are being set up now for an elaborate Ranch Branding Night during the week of December 1 to 6.

More than 101 units have met their quotas, with 49 more requiring two or less boys to meet their quotas. Nine units have registered more than 20 boys since the Round-up started, led by Pack 227C of Norwalk, which has registered 49 new boys, and including Troop 165, Cub Packs 605C, 660C, 161C 423C, 62C and 244C and Sea Scout Ship 174S. To date, a total of 1936 new boys have been registered in Cub Packs, Scout Troops or Senior Scout Units, with an expectation of approximately three times this figure to be registered in Boy Scout units by the end of the year.

Griffith In State Capital For Parley

Atty. Thomas L. Griffith Jr., president of the Los Angeles branch of the NAACP left for Sacramento last Sunday in response to an invitation by Governor Warren to attend a two-day conference and hearings on the cause of crime and delinquency on Nov. 17 and 18.

Griffith is well versed on the local situation and fully qualified to represent the 14,000 odd members of his organization. The local NAACP has an active program which supports both governmental and private agencies in their efforts to curb crime and juvenile delinquency.

Better Jimcro Schools No Answer, Says NAACP

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—"Expanded segregated school facilities and regional universities are not the answer to the South's policy of segregation practice against Negroes," Gloster B. Current, director of NAACP branches, declared at the convention of the Tennessee State Conference of branches here this week. "The South must completely eliminate segregation and treat all its citizens alike if America is to show the world that it believes in practising democracy."

600 Buildings Put On Sale At Camp Haan

More than 600 additional surplus buildings at Camp Haan, on U.S. highway 395, about 8 miles south of Riverside, went on sale last Thursday, November 13. The sale will continue every day including Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays, until the buildings are sold. Sales hours are from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Buildings are sold at low, fixed prices, and must be removed from the site by the purchasers within 30 days. They are divided into two groups. One group has been set aside for veterans' housing, and the other for farm housing.

Veterans who have not previously been certified are eligible to purchase under the state program, should file applications at county veterans' service offices. Farmers, farm associations and others in need of housing for farm labor, should apply for eligibility at farm labor placement offices or local farm advisors.

Applicants who are found qualified are mailed certified application forms which should be submitted at the sale site as identification and evidence of authority to purchase.

YOUR LUCKY STARS

The near future is big with mighty wonders, many of which are set forth in clear-cut detail in God's blessed book.

Is your heart troubled? Are there ever worries and perplexities in your mind? No doubt there are, for none of us are without some difficulties. There is so much in life which is unpleasant that we cannot help but be sensitive to our experience.

Astrology, offers us a solution to many of our problems. Wise men have been using this means to determine their future and its possibilities, why not send for your 1948 Astrological Forecast, and let it help you.

B.A.D.—Dear Sir: I just want to thank you for recommending that wonderful book With God All Things are Possible, to me. I have read lots of different books but this book tops them all. Thanks again for your help.

M.F.S.—Will I ever be able to save money?

Ans.—You will find that it is much harder now to try, and save than it was sometime ago. The cost of living is much higher thus preventing your money from going as far as it used to. My advice to you would be to place your family on a budget, and stick to it! In this manner you may be able to save a certain amount each month.

H.S.S.—Why didn't he come as he promised?

Ans.— It seems to me that your husband has made other plans and really doesn't intend to keep his word with you. I may be able to help you solve this problem if you will write in for a private reply.

Reconstruction Leader Subject of Magazine Feature

"Mississippi Reconstruction and the Negro Leader, Charles Caldwell" by Herbert Aptheker is the featured article in the Fall issue of the quarterly magazine, Science and Society.

Dr. Aptheker, one of the leading historians of the Negro people and their struggles, here traces the work of one leader, Charles Caldwell ,in the years immediately after the Civil War. He details the efforts of Caldwell an dothers to bring democracy to Mississippi, and his appraisal of their contribution is a stirring tribute to those who early fought in a cause which must yet be won.

Wyman Shows Slum Areas

Slum areas may, and do, pay interested landlords fat profits, but they cost the city and its taxpayers plenty in additional outlays for police, street and other services above the revenue received by the city from such areas.

This was brought out by O. C. Wynan, acting deputy director of California's Office of Planning and Research in an address before members of the Building Contractors Assn. of California.

Using Boyle Heights as an example, Wyman pointed out that the area yields slightly more than $200,000 in real estate taxes per year. For the same period, however, he said the police, street and other services required by the area cost the city $488,000.

The $228,000 difference, said Wyman comes straight from the pockets of the city's other taxpayers. And that, he added, does not include the cost of the crime and disease that flourish there.

As to what can be done about it, Wyman suggested application of the state's Community Redevelopment Act of 1945.

That provides, he explained, that the state shall gain title to entire slum sections be exercising its right of aminent domain and then transfer these titles in one lump to private business for mass improvement.

ROOKIE-OF-THE-YEAR

Jackie Robinson, star first baseman for the Brooklyn Dodgers' was selected Rookie-of-the-year recently by 33 baseball writers and was presented the J. Louis Comisky Award. This added to Robinson's many other forms of congratulations for the fine showing he has made this season should prove to the most skeptical that Robinson is the model athlete. Robinson is getting to be an old story and a stand by for sport writers, a lot of people think, but what Robinson has done and what he continues to show as far as character, and ability is concerned makes him the dream athlete of many Americans, and they want to continue hearing about him.

CHAMPIONSHIP CHANCE LOST

What started out to look like a very successful season for Jefferson High Democrats has turned out recently to be otherwise. In the Manual Arts game, the first Southern League match the Demo's took on, the Hooper Ave. boys showed and proved this by a beautiful played game which ended in a victory for the Demo's 30-9. In Jeff's second League contest versus L.A. high a bit of over confidence was the cause for the Jeff eleven not to win by a larger score than 13-8. And not improving their attitude, the Demo's let McElhenny, Washington High's sure Southern League back run over them for no other than psychological reasons. To finish things up for another hard luck week, the Democrats lost to Fremont by 21-0 in a game that should have been theirs or nothing less than a tie or a very close game if anything. Adding all of these things up, it just looks like Jeff threw a championship chance right out of the door; and it's to bad for Jeff this season could have been the Southern League Champs.

Motley's Title As Top Fullback At Stake When Dons Meet Browns

Will Marion Motley, the 218-pound Negro ball-carrying sensation of the All-America Conference champion Cleveland Browns be able to retain his 1946 title as top fullback of the League this season?

This question in all probability will be decided at the Los Angeles Coliseum Thanksgiving Day when the Browns come to Los Angeles to meet the Los Angeles Dons. This will be the last big game of the year, except for the championship play-off, for the Cleveland Club, and it will decide whether or not the powerful 218-pound protege of Coach Paul Brown can retain the statistical edge he now has over his greatest rival, 245-pound Norm Standlee, the ex-Stanford All-America now with the San Francisco '49ers.

In addition to featuring Motley, the local Thanksgiving classic will also put on display the greatest collection of Negro major league football stars ever to appear in one game. Besides Motley, Cleveland has End Horace Gillom, who is now topping the All-America Conference punting averages with 37 kicks for an average of 44.7 yards per punt, and Bill Willis, one of the greatest guards in football.

The Dons have the local favorites—End Ezzrett (Sugar-Foot) Anderson, Left Halfback Bert Piggott and Center Brown.

Jackie Robinson Interviewed By Local Newsmen

The management of the Million Dollar theatre sponsored a get-together for Jackie Robinson, Brooklyn Dodgers first baseman, Tuesday afternoon at the Sports Club, 518 South Hill, between 5 and 6:30 p.m. Robinson opened for a week's engagement at that theatre Tuesday and the gathering at the club gave members of the local press a chance to quiz baseball's rookie of the year.

During the course of the interview Jackie revealed his plan to operate a club for boys here as a method of fighting juvenile delinquency after he hangs up his glove and bat.

Although he stated that he hadn't heard from the Brooklyn team since the season ended, Jackie said he hoped to get "a lot more money" in 1948. He refused to reveal the amount of money he received for the 1947 season but did say that he received no bonus. Rumor has it that Jackie received somewhere around $5500, near the minimum.

After his engagement is over at the Million Dollar Jackie will make a few personal appearances, do a stint in a movie and winter here with his family. He'll also play a lot of golf.

It makes one win and one less for the Gauchos in the CCAA conference. So far this season they have defeated Pomona, Occidental, Cal Aggies, and Cal Poly. SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

By Stanley Robertson

MEMORIES OF '37

Saturday afternoon in the Los Angeles Coliseum, the Bruins from the University of California at Los Angeles and the Trojans from the University of Southern California renew their "Civil War series." This time the Bruin-Trojan game will determine what Pacific Coast team has the coveted but dubious honor of facing Michigan in the Rose Bowl come January 1, but with both teams out there "rockin' and sockin'" for all they're worth, I doubt very seriously if anyone of the 105,000 assembled at the gigantic stadium, or the countless millions that will gather by their radio and television sets, will ever forget that Blue and Cardinal game of just 10 short years ago, and I doubt if they'll soon forget the performance that day a decade ago of a tall, skinny, peculiar-walking sophomore from Lincoln High school!

Kenneth Stanley Washington was never better than he was that day against the Trojans.

One of the late Howard Jones' better teams had came roaring into the Coliseum that day to cuff and knock the poor Bruins from out Westwood way senseless for three and a half quarters.

With five minutes left in the game, the University Avenue boys had piled up a 19-0 lead. Then the Bruins came alive, spurred on by the trusty right arm of Washington, the greatest Bruin of them all.

Three times he faded back, and twice he connected; twice he connected with the fleeting Hal Hirshon, once for 67 yards, and again for 46. But still the Bruins were behind. Again he faded. Back, back, back. This time he threw a perfect strike to his teammate, Woody Strode, the former star end from Jefferson, but Strode just couldn't hold it, as he made a frantic dive for the ball deep in the Cardinal end zone.

Twenty-six seconds later the game ended, S. C. had won 19-13, but whereever they gather to talk about great individual performances, whenever the Bruins meet the Trojans, the great performance of Kenny Washington on that fall day in 1937 will live forever.

ALL-AMERICAN TIMBER—Here he is, the Aggies pride and joy, Robert (Stonewall) Jackson, fullback sensation on the A. & T. College eleven. Now in his sophomore year, Stonewall has been the most consistent ground-gainer on the North Carolina team for the past two seasons.

The Tennessee State eleven, strong contenders for Midwestern conference honors, has won 6 and lost none, amassing 155 points to 31 by opponents.

South Carolina State, making a determined bid for Southern Conference honors, has won 5 and tied one.

Jackie Robinson Guest Star On 'Sports Page Of The Air'

Jackie Robinson, first man of his race to become a star of a major league baseball team, was Ted Bentley's guest on "Sports Page of the Air," over KECA Wednesday night.

Robinson, who is a member of the Brooklyn Dodgers team and was named the outstanding rookie player of the year, is a graduate of UCLA, hailing from Pasadena.

Jackie was named No. 2 man in a "most popular person in the United States" poll conducted over ABC by film commentator Jimmie Fidler. Final voting in the poll was announced on Sunday night, Nov. 16 (KECA at 7:30 p.m.) with Bing Crosby winning first place for the second consecutive year.

Bentley quizzed young Robinson on major league baseball, and on athletics in general, when they met at the KECA microphone.

Jackie is currently featured on the stage of the Million Dollar theater in downtown Los Angeles, heading his own revue.

'TALENT SHOW CASE' IS EXCITING INTEREST THROUGHOUT THE CITY

NO FOOLING

By EDDIE BURBRIDGE

NO, NO, NOT THAT!

He loved her madly, so he said,
But somehow couldn't make it stick.
When mad he had a peculiar way
Of parting her hair with a brick.

—The Sepia Sage

HERE WE ARE again smoking a stale cigarette and figuring on what to feed you lucky people this week . . . The first concert of the season by Los Angeles City College's 75-member orchestra is scheduled Tuesday night at 8:30 p.m. in the college auditorium . . . THE CHARIOTEERS singing in front of a Columbia orchestra under the direction of MITCHELL AYRES are presented by Columbia in a record album of 8 sides. "Sweet Lorraine," "I'm in the Mood for Love," "Sleepy Time Gal," "On the Sunny Side of the Street," "I Can't Get Started" and "If I Could be With You" are six of the numbers featured . . . Yes, WAR PERKINS, I'll review those records you sen't me just as soon as I get around to hearing them without interruptions . . . COUNT BASIE scheduled to cut 24 sides for RCA Victor while on the West Coast. He opens at Meadowbrook Gardens Dec. 2 . . . J. J. JOHNSON, who used to slide his trombone in the Basie outfit is now with ILLINOIS JACQUET's combo, currently playing the Club Riviera in St. Louis . . . It's BUDDY JOHNSON and Decca's got him. Buddy's cutting discs like mad just now, including four of his own compositions . . . JOHNNY MOORE's Four Blazers getting a lot of rave notices on their new juke box favorite "Changeable Woman Blues" . . . LEONARD A. McLAIN told this scribe this week that DARNELL CARTER, whom he co-manages, is being sought for a bout in Mexico City and he is considering an offer mailed him from that city below the border. By the way, if you get in trouble, let me know and I'll let Mac know and he'll help you. . . . BILLY ECKSTINE is one of the top recording stars for the MGM [illegible] stery. He'll head west soon for his first film assignment here . . . KATHERINE DUNHAM will [illegible] to song according to the [illegible]mber "Negro Digest. Miss [illegible]ham is scheduled to warble [illegible] Every Man There's A Woman" in "Casbah" . . . JACK McV[illegible]'S back on the "Main Stem" [illegible] the folks who burn the candle like him. He goes to Sacramento Nov. 26 to open at the Zanzibar Club . . . ROY MILTON and band will be playing a one-nighter at San Diego on New Year's Eve night . . . SARAH VAUGHAN, who has a voice and knows how to use it, will start a week's engagement at the Adams theatre in Newark, N. J., December 4. When Dec. 11 rolls around she moves into the Onyx Club on New York's 52nd street for four weeks . . . The KING COLE TRIO now doing a heavy schedule of recording dates while appearing at the Paramount theatre in N. Y. Dec. 22 they move to Buffalo, N. Y. . . . NELLIE LUTCHER quitting N. Y. for a road tour which takes in Philadelphia, Richmond, Norfolk, Cleveland, Newark and Chicago. Our Nell was a sensation in the "Big Apple" . . . JOE LUTCHER, brother of Nellie, in my opinion did not click so well on his first recording for Capitol. Both sides were composed by Joe. We think that if he had selected a couple of "oldies" and dressed them up with new arrangements he would have found more favor with the juke box crowd . . . South is definitely south but it is interesting to learn that Duke University, located at Durham, has a Negro playing football on its freshman team and there hasn't been any "incidents" since the saeson started. Duke's charter states that the facilities of the school are to be available to everybody regardless of race or creed. So, it is sports, but I just got carried away. I'll have you know, I'm from the deep south, tSr . . . From $350 about two years ago weekly the lovely SAVANNAH CHURCHILL now collects $1200 for every seven days she puts in . . . Better get yourself together for that absolutely terrific "Talent Show Case" affair at MEADOWBROOK, Friday night, Nov. 28. LIONEL HAMPTON and orchestra will play. There'll be gangs and gangs of guest stars and if you can sing, dance or play an instrument you are invited to compete for the trophies which will be presented by movie and radio stars. Oh, yes . . . you may get a recording contract too out of the deal, according to WAR PERKINS of the Day Distributing Company which is sponsoring the affair. What more could you ask for your buck twenty? We'll be there, they'll be there and we'll be looking to see you there. If you do not participate yourself the applause you give will help the contestants . . . THELMA CARPENTER, former singing star of the EDDIE CANTOR broadcast, starts a ten-day stint at the Latin Quarter in Newport, Ky.

. . . BILLY DANIELS, romantic tenor, into the Little Ratskellar for two weeks in Philly. He opens Nov. 24.

Louis Jordan On West View Benefit Show

A galaxy of well known guest artists is appearing at the West View Benefit Fashion Revue to be held November 30, from 3 to 7 p.m. at the Club Alabam. Among them are: Lionel Hampton and the two featured singers with his band, Wini Brown and Harold Burton; Louis Jordan and his orchestra; the High Hatters, dancing team; and Caleb

LOUIS JORDAN

Peterson, dramatic artist. Ruby Barbee, chairman of the entertainment committee for the revue, will lend her own singing talent to this star-studded program.

Besides top-notch entertainment and a score of beautiful models wearing the smartest in new fashions, a special feature of the evening will be the awarding of a genuine mink coat to some lucky man or woman. Lionel Hampton will draw the lucky number.

Mrs. Anne O'Ferrall, head of Team 21 of the West View Women's Guild sponsoring the affair, stressed the fact that the holder of the lucky number did not have to be present November 30 to win the mink coat; and added the thought that $1.00 is little to pay for this superb show, a chance to win a mink coat, and an opportunity to help build this badly needed interracial, nonsectarion, non-profit hospital."

Tickets may be secured from members of the Women's Club.

QUARTET DUE

The Paganini Quartet, which is coming to Los Angeles on December 3 for a concert under Music Guild auspices at Wilshire Ebell Theatre, is now on its second tour of the United States.

The public is urged to attend the meeting Saturday, November 22, without any obligation, and hear Dr. W. E. A. Forde, well known physician and surgeon of the Avalon Medical Center, who will give a discourse on "Weight Lost Through Proper Dietary Control and Mechanical Aid."

Wild Bill Wright, Tila Food Experts At Shangri-La Club

The Shangri-La dining room and kitchen is now under the new management of Wild Bill Wright, well-known baseball player and Tila, former operator of the original Brownskin Cafe, it was announced this week.

The dining room of the Shangri-La, 1010 East Slauson avenue, will specialize in the preparation of fine American and Spanish dishes that Tila made famous on the eastside.

Although generally regarded only as a fine athlete Wright is also an expert in the knowledge of the cuisine.

Judy Garland, in her struggling-for-recognition days, once received 50 cents for a performance with a singing trio at a Los Angeles vaudeville house.

★AMUSEMENTS★

THE MAN BEHIND THE GUN—Pounding out information on the gigantic "Talent Show Case" the Day Distributing Company is sponsoring at Meadowbrook Gardens Friday, Nov. 28, is WAR PERKINS, official of the company. Talent in abundance will participate. Lionel Hampton's orchestra will play the music. (See story in this section).

Two Floors Will Be Used At Elks For Breakfast Dance

The largest crowd ever to attend a dance is expected at the Elks auditorium, 4016 S. Central ave., for L.A.'s first Thanksgiving Breakfast Dance and deluxe floor show, Thursday, November 27 (Thanksgiving morning) 5 a.m. to 10 a.m. By using two floors the sponsors hope to have room for all (with no overcrowding), even though a capacity crowd is expected.

This interracial Thanksgiving Dance seems to be the talk of the town.

The show will feature Mabel Fairbanks, World's No. 1 Sepia Ice Skater and Dancer, who will offer several of her exclusive on-the-floor dance creations. Sunny Bridges and his famous Recording orchestra, Guest Stars and Personality Parade, Jam Sessions, and W. E. Cooper as emcee. Fifty free breakfasts, a free turkey, a goose, duck, chicken and rabbit will be given to the lucky persons. Admission is only $1, tax included!

Now, if this isn't a real Thanksgiving treat, then the Pilgrims never landed on Plymouth Rock.

Hattie McDaniel Will Enact 'Beulah' in Own Radio Show

"Beulah," a five-a-week series of comedy-drama starring Hattie McDaniel, will debut on KHJ-Don Lee Monday, November 24 (9:15 to 9:30 p.m. PT). The program, to be sponsored by Proctor & Gamble, will replace that company's present "Mystery of the Week" series.

The story concerns the adventures of Beulah, a colored maid whose homely common sense and rich humor make her invaluable to employers and friends alike. Beulah works for a forty-ish bachelor and his aunt, but her "work" goes far beyond the usual activities of a maid. Any problems of Mr. Jones and Aunt Alice are Beulah's problems, and her often highly unorthodox methods of solving them lead to hilarious and heartwarming situations. Beulah's own problems are largely concerned with her boyfriend, Bill, who "some day" is going to marry her. Veteran stage and screen actor Ernest R. Whitman will play the part of Bill.

"Beulah" will be directed by Tom McKnight, who has written, directed or produced many coast-to-coast radio shows. Dancer-Fitzgerald-Sample, Inc., is the agency for the Proctor & Gamble account.

GABLE REVIVES DUDS

When Clark Gable reported to the set of M-G-M's "Homecoming" for a scene in which he portrays a college student, he was wearing a tie that was the cynosure of all eyes. A flashy red-and-green number, it was the snap band type that hasn't been used in years. "Believe it or not it's one I wore during my high school days," said Gable.

FILM BEAUTIES SOUGHT

Producer Arthur Freed has interviewed the last of more than 200 beautiful girls, nine of whom will be selected as the "Easter Parade Girls" of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's new film musical, "Easter Parade." Filming of the picture, starring Fred Astaire, Judy Garland, Peter Lawford and Ann Miller, is scheduled to begin Nov. 17. Charles Walters will direct.

THE MANAGEMENT OF THIS THEATRE BELIEVES IT HAS TWO BASIC OBLIGATIONS TO ACCOMPLISH...FIRST, TO ENTERTAIN ITS PATRONS AND SECOND, TO PERFORM A PUBLIC SERVICE. IT IS IN THE INTEREST OF PUBLIC SERVICE THAT WE PRESENT THIS SIGNIFICANTLY VITAL MOTION PICTURE...

. . . when I saw the motion picture "Mom and Dad" I was impressed with the quite good portrayal of the attitude of parents toward their responsibility in the matter of instruction in sex hygiene. I am personally of the opinion that the failure on the part of parents to meet this obligation contributes substantially to sex delinquency.

CALIENTE, Old Mexico.—General Manager Walter C. Marty acquired controlling interest in the world's greatest Sunday race course last week when he bought the shares of the former manager, Augustin Silveyra, and named popular John Alessio, prominent banker in Tiajuana, executive vice-manager. He stated that every effort would be made to continue to improve the quality of the sport of kings at the border course, Johnnie, as he is called by his many friends, will be a welcome addition to the official family, and this writer wants to join and say "Viva and luck to you."

Last Sunday the feature event was won by "Nitrate," who paid $13.40.

In the secondary attraction, "Flying Casca," the hottest favorite in many months, took the lead at the break and was never headed. The winner paid $4.40 for two. "Brig D'Or" was the longest price payoff of the day, coming from far back to gain the victory by a short nose and reward his backers $27.20 straight.

The form players had a good day when six favorites won out of the 11-race program. The daily double paid $53, when "Maudeen" won the second and "Chocolate Bar" the third. In the quiniela "Dalus" was the winner and "King Bachelor" was second. The quiniela paid $43.20 to the lucky ticket holders.

This Sunday another program of 11 races will be staged, with the featured event called "The Dia de la Revolucion" at one and one-sixteenth miles, for a purse of $1500. So until this Sunday drive carefully and give the other fellow half of the road. So long, George.

Meet some folks whose savings paid for your telephone

Your telephone, and the vast service facilities it represents, was actually bought and paid for by someone like this lady . . . someone with faith enough in the telephone business to invest savings in it. Each telephone requires an investment of about $245 in equipment . . . buildings, cables, poles, switchboards and the like.

Who are they . . . the people who own the Bell telephone companies? Among them are families saving for their children's education, widows, young men investing for their future. Some of your friends are probably among our owners, for there are now more than 715,000 . . . Bell has more shareholders than employees, in fact.

Many employees are Bell System shareholders, too, combining their work and their savings in our program to bring service to all who want it. And this year alone our Pacific Coast construction program amounts to $200,000,000 . . . bringing us still closer to our goal of the finest telephone service for the West.

It takes new Working Dollars . . . millions of them . . . to build the buildings and buy the equipment needed to meet the demand for more service. Millions of dollars for growth do not come from telephone bills—but from people who are willing to put their savings into the business. To attract these savings we must sell our services at fair prices which allow us to pay reasonably for the use of needed working dollars.

Nation Watching As Fight Opens On Detroit Case

WASHINGTON—The first round in the battle before the United States supreme court against restrictive covenants opened here this week when Thurgood Marshall and Loren Miller, attorneys for the NAACP, filed the Association's brief in behalf of a Michigan property owner who was ordered to vacate his home because the land upon which it stood was "protected" against occupany by non-Caucasians.

The high court's decision in the case now being argued will have far-reaching significance, especially in view of the fact that this is the first time since 1926 that the question of restrictive covenants has reached the nation's highest court. In that year the court refused to review an appeal because of certain technicalities in the brief. The anti-covenant fight will reach its climax in the high court on Dec. 8 and 9.

The action now before the court originated in Detroit, Michigan, when Mr. and Mrs. Orsel McGhee were ordered by a local judge to vacate property which they had purchased, on the complaint of neighboring white property owners that the McGhee property was part of a subdivision which was restricted by an agreement in 1934. The Michigan state supreme court confirmed the ruling of the lower court, and the case thereupon

Dr. Johnson Exonerated of Girl's Charge

Dr. Jerome W. Johnson, M.K.D., a major in World War II, was exonerated last Friday in Municipal Judge Philbrook McCoy's court of charges of statuary rape preferred by a 15 year old girl.

Dr. Johnson through his legal counsel, Attorney Walter L. Gordon Jr., entered a vigorous denial of the girl's charges.

Witnesses for the defense, including a private investigator, testified that the stepfather of the girl had sought to "shake-down" the defendant.

The hearing was marked by sharp clashes between Atty. Gordon and the deputy district attorney presenting the prosecution's case.

After the hearing, Atty. Gor-

Court Upholds Right to Picket Biased Firms

RICHMOND, Calif.—The fight for fair employment received a shot in the arm today with the announcement that the California district court had vigorously upheld the right to picket establishments which discriminate in hiring.

Written by Justice Raymond E. Peters and concurred in by Justices A. F. Bray and Samuel F. Finley, the decision voided a Contra Costa superior court injunction obtained last May by Lucky Stores, Inc., against pickets at its market in the large Canal housing project.

It likewise dissolved a contempt of court conviction against John Hughes, Richmond PCA (Progressive Citizens of America) secretary, and Louis J. Richardson, former president of the NAACP branch, who deliberately violated an anti-picketing order of Superior Court Judge Hugh Donovan last June to obtain the higher court test.

At that time, the PCA and the NAACP were engaged in efforts to secure employment for Negro clerks at the Lucky store, the bulk of whose trade comes from the large Negro population in the housing project.

Hughes and Richardson were fined $20 each and sentenced to

Voter Shift From GOP Seen Continuing

PRINCETON, N. J.—The trend of voter repudiation of the Republican party, observed in recent elections, is still continuing, according to a recent poll conducted by the American Institute of Public Opinion (Gallup Poll).

As the administration's program is being debated in the special session of congress, the weight of voter opinion is that the Democrats can best handle both foreign and domestic affairs, the Gallup poll found.

The largest population groups are hostile to the Republicans,

Bias Action Filed Against Pioneer Cafe

When Nathan Hicks, 1625 East 52nd st., ordered a glass of beer in the Pioneer Cafe, 8741 South Vermont ave., he was told by a white bartender that if he insisted on service the glass from which he drank would have to be broken and Hicks charged one dollar.

Hicks has filed complaint through Attorney Curtis Taylor, who some months ago successfully prosecuted actions for discrimination against the Hollywood Turf Club, and the Theatre Mart.

The complaint charges that on Sept. 26 Hicks entered the Pioneer Cafe in the company of a white friend who had invited him in for a sandwich and beer. After being ignored for a considerable time, Hicks and his friend were finally approached, told the conditions under which Hicks would be served. Despite protests by Hicks and his friend, the bartender refused service on any other condition.

Attorney Taylor in taking the case pointed out yesterday that the action of the bartender constitutes a violation of California's Civil Rights Law, which provides damages for any person discriminated against by a public place because of race or color.

Police Hunting Youth Dropped From Prep Team

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — A mad rush by players and fans for the exits in Sulphur Dell Park occurred yesterday following the mysterious shooting and wounding of a 15 year old player during a football game between Booker T. Washington High of Memphis and Pearl High of Nashville, both Negro prep schools.

The two teams fighting hard, had reached a scoreless tie in the final period when the shot rang out. Lewis Aldridge, Washington star halfback, dropped to the ground.

The Memphis players gathering around Aldridge fled from the field as soon as they discovered he had been shot. The crowd of several thousand fans stampeded.

Police last night said they were searching for a Memphis youth in connection with the shooting. They also said a warrant had been sworn out against James Boone, coach of the Memphis team. Some witnesses said

Wallace Rally Defies Virginia Jimcrow Laws

NORFOLK, Virginia—A mixed audience of Negroes and whites last night defied Virginia's racial segregation laws to hear Henry A. Wallace speak in Norfolk's Auditorium Arena.

Wallace spoke to a mixed audience of 2000 after Dr. Clarke Foreman, president of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare, said the crowd would move into the streets to hear Wallace if police tried to enforce racial segregation. Police did not interfere.

"It is the inalienable right of the American people to meet together . . . if the officers of the law will not allow us to continue our meeting here, we will walk into the streets and hold our meeting there," Foreman had declared.

Wallace said he was glad that President Truman had changed his mind and "now agrees with me that controls democratically legislated are a necessity." He added that Truman might again "change his mind."

The former vice-president said there was no danger of Communism in the United States. "I

GOP Solon Assails Party's Negative Attitude on Prices

WASHINGTON—A split in the Republican high command over the burning issue of high prices appeared imminent this week as several members of the Old Guard joined the few progressive Republicans in congress in assailing the policies and operations of the Republican National committee, warning that the people are becoming "ugly and bitter" over the high cost of living.

In a closed conference of senate Republicans, Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R., N. J.) vigorously criticised what he stated was the practice of the national committee of releasing statements without consultation with the party leaders in congress.

Smith told his GOP colleagues that the national committee had taken "a negative approach" to such politically hot issues as high prices.

Its approach to foreign policy is also negative," he added. "It's time something was done to bring about a positive approach."

Earlier senate Democrats called on Republicans to take "partisan politics" out of the battle against inflation. At the same time Senator Charles W. Tobey, New Hampshire Republican, warned of growing popular resentment over the failure of the Republican prices. The people are becoming "ugly and bitter" he warned his GOP colleagues.

The Labor Department meanwhile reported that average wholesale prices rose last week to a new postwar peak. It said that, as of Nov. 5, average wholesale prices for the 900-odd basic commodities surveyed were 16.7 percent above mid-November a year ago and more than 40 percent above June, 1946, when most price controls were abandoned.

Anti-Labor Law Defended by Fascist Outfit

If you fell for the propaganda conducted against FEPC by the Women of the Pacific, a fascist outfit, in the fall of 1946, here's your chance to get another free mis-education.

The organization has just issued a pamphlet on the "benefits" to workers of the Taft-Hartley anti-labor law. The pamphlet, which is available for free distribution, bewails the "misunderstanding" of the law by workers and the general public and aims, with typical Hitler technique, to correct that state of affairs.

Some excerpts from the pamphlet read:

"The Taft-Hartley law is essentially an employes' protective law.

"Never, during the 12 years since the Wagner law was passed, did you as an individual have full freedom of voice, choice and action in dealing with employers or unions or in declining to deal with either. You have it now!"

Noted Attorney Raps Lack Of Unity In Negro Group

Calling for a "closer knit unity among the minorities of America," Attorney Hugh MacBeth Jr., addressed the Independent Progressive party of California last Thursday night at the 28th street YMCA, when the political group convened to discuss the topic; "How To Get The Third Party On The Ballot in 1948."

"Among minorities in America today, especially the Negro, there is too wide a breech between the sorority and fraternity elements that make up the so-called upper crust, and the middle or working classes," the young attorney declared. "The sooner these upper classes realize that the same things that effect the lower classes effect them, the sooner the ideals and principles of equality toward all men will be realized."

C. C. Carlson, legislative representative from Southern California, sharply criticized the two major political parties.

"By their actions in congress, the Republican and Democratic parties have become almost as one, Carlson stated. "It is high time that another party that has progressive and liberal views come into being. This is our ultimate aim in soliciting persons of voting age to sign the petitions that have and are being circulated not only throughout the state, but the nation as well," explained Carlson, as he went on to make it clear that "a signature on the petition by a person, does not force him to vote for the third party in next year's election." The law requires at least 500,000 signatures before the party can be placed on the ballot.

Film Luminaries Fight Contempt Citation

WASHINGTON — The conflict between the American Bill of Rights and the Thomas-Rankin Committee today was on the way to the U. S. Supreme Court following House approval of contempt citations against 10 Hollywood writers and directors.

The House voted 346 to 17 to uphold the Un-American Committee in its charges that the Hollywood figures defied the Congress by refusing to reveal their political beliefs and convictions.

Vigorous opposition to the citations was voiced by one Republican, one American Laborite (Marcantonio) and 15 Democrats including California Representative Chet Holifield, Frank Havenner and Helen Douglas.

Holifield pointed out that in a wave of fear and hysteria sweeps over the country today, warned that "We are treading on dangerous ground. We are walking into a quicksand which will engulf our liberties. We are invading the field of thought, of opinion of political conviction. Let us get back to the stability of clearly defined laws."

Helen Douglas charged that as a result of the recent Hollywood hearings the "entire motion picture industry stands condemned by unsupported generalizations of having produced motion pictures which contained Communist propaganda.

In Hollywood last night the 10 cited personalities issued a joint statement declaring that the "Thomas-Rankin Committee succeeded today in having the Congress cite the Bill of Rights for people and the press of the country have expressed almost unparalled opposition to this Committee which pretends to defend America by calling the Klu Klux Klan an acceptable organization. This opposition will ultimately termine the issue."

They declared they would carry their appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court if necessary.

This Is News: Solons Discover Housing Crisis

WASHINGTON—A first-rate shock is building up for opponents of public housing, according to Drew Pearson who asserted that the Joint Committee on Housing will report to congress "without mincing words" that the housing problem has proved too big for private enterprise alone.

According to Pearson, even such hitherto friends of the real-estate lobby as Senator Joe McCarthy (R., Wis.) and Ralph Gamble (R., N.Y.) who wrestled control of the committee away from liberal Senator Toby of New Hampshire "will join in urging an emergency federal housing program." Their eyes, Pearson says, were opened by the cross-country hearings conducted by the committee while most congressional committees were gadding about Europe. Members of the committee are now ready to admit the gravity of the housing shortage over the nation.

The committee, according to Pearson, will seek legislation after January 1 for:

- A federal housing program for low-income groups;
- increased authority for the Federal Housing Administration to guarantee loans;
- expansion of the Labor Department's apprenticeship training division;
- curtailment of exports of lumber and wire (used for nails).

NAACP Leader Wins Tilt with S.F. Police

SAN FRANCISCO—Dr. Carleton Goodlett, chairman of the local NAACP branch, was vindicated yesterday in his feud with the police.

Municipal Judge Matthew Brady threw out of court a police charge against the prominent physician for allegedly resisting arrest.

Dr. Goodlett and, other community leaders today were considering a counter-offensive to secure disciplinary action against the offending police officer who manhandled the physician when the latter objected to the officer's use of insulting racial epithets, and to get a commitment from the police commission against repetition of such incidents.

HCL Hits New All-Time High

WASHINGTON—The Labor Department yestderday said the cost of living went up another 2.2 percent between mid-August and mid-September to a new all-time high.

The department said that, in general, prices for all major commodity groups—food, rents, clothing, fuel and house furnishings—continued to spiral during the month.

Matron Files Second Time For Divorce

Mrs. Ellen Booker, former Oklahoma socialite, has filed suit for divorce against her handsome husband, Alvin Vern Booker, well-known Hollywood man about town. This is the second time Mrs. Booker has filed for divorce, the first being in April of last year, after which there was a reconciliation and for a while all seemed to be sweetness and light between the now estranged couple.

The complaint, which was prepared by Attorney Curtis C. Taylor, charges extreme cruelty, and alleges community property consisting of considerable cash in a Hollywood bank and also considerable property. The couple has no children and Mrs. Booker has secured a restraining order, which freezes all the property until the matter can be settled in court.

Thanksgiving

A Sonnet
By C. A. TUCKER

I bow my head in thanksgiving today.
Even I, browned and curly headed, wronged
And segregated, can say my heart is thronged
With thanks, and mean it. Yet it's true my way
They've made a muddy road; whose mud, I say,
Is hate, a clay, a-wet with beads that pronged
My brow as glistening sweat. My heart has longed
To be a converter of prejudice at prey . . .
To make a useful force of it. As fire
Or coal can be misused and turned to harm,
The force of prejudice is base and dire
Misuse of God's to man extending arm
Of energies. The misuser is tapped
Of strength to rise, which by my heart's entrapped.

New York State to Back Court Fight On Racist Covenant

NEW YORK.—Dr. Stephen S. Wise, president of the American Jewish Congress yesterday voiced gratification at the decision of New York State Attorney-General Nathaniel L. Goldstein, to file a brief on behalf of the State of New York, as a friend of the court in an action attacking the legality of racial restrictive covenants, forbidding sale of property in St. Albans, New York, to a Negro. The case, known as Kemp v. Rubin, will be argued shortly before the appellate division.

Attorney - General Goldstein made his decision known in replying to a letter from Dr. Wise, in which the American Jewish Congress president urged New York State to file a brief opposing such restrictive covenants. Dr. Wise's letter pointed to the precedent set by United States Department of Justice which has announced its intention of filing similar briefs in a series of restrictive covenant cases pending before the United States supreme court.

Attorney - General Goldstein wrote Dr. Wise, "I am, of course, wholeheartedly opposed to the discriminatory doctrine of racial restrictive covenants."

Dr. Wise yesterday said, "The State of New York has reaffirmed its leadership in combating racial and religious discrimination. We are gratified that the State will not remain silent on an issue which is of such vital concern to the people."

The American Jewish Congress and several other organizations have already filed briefs as friends of the court in this case. No appellate court in New York has yet passed on the legality of such covenants.

Court Ruling Seen Affecting $1 Million Suit Against Pickets

SAN FRANCISCO — The decision of the district court of appeals upholding the right to picket biased establishments probably has cleared the way for defeat of a million dollar damage suit in San Francisco, attorneys for defendants in the suit said yesterday.

The San Francisco suit arose out of the picketing of theatres earlier this year by organizations seeking to enforce fair employment practices. The owners of the theatres and the top officials of three AFL theatrical unions seek $1,000,000 in damages from local branches of the NAACP, the National Negro Congress, the American Youth for Democracy, the Communist party, and 100 John Doe individuals.

The complainants alleged that such picketing is illegal and always should be enjoined as a matter of public policy.

The case is to be heard soon by San Francisco county superior court Judge M. Foley.

Noah's Ark cruised around 40 days and nights before it came to a stop—just about the length of time it takes the average driver nowadays to find a parking place.

City Prodded on Slum Program

The city council was prodded this week on the question of what it intends to do to take advantage of legislation passed by the state legislature to provide financial aid to cities seeking the replacement of their slum blighted areas with housing projects.

The prodding came in the form of letter from State Senator Gerald J. O'Gara, chairman of the State Interim Committee on Community Redevelopment and Huosing.

O'Gara called for prompt action and immediate response to a questionnaire on the city's intentions. He said the legislature meets in four months, and, unless something is done quickly on this proposal the session will be devoted solely to budgetary and finance matters.

Meantime, it developed that the city has made some little progress toward participation in this program. Mayor Bowron is understood to aprove the objectives of the state law and is said to be making a study of the act before asking the city council to authorize a City Community Redevelopment Commission.

Negro Congress Backs Picket Line at Sears

FLASH!

The management of Sears and a group of so-called friends of the Negro people are working feverishly behind the scenes to bring the boycott and picketing to a speedy end, with a probable sell-out in the offing.

The attempt to end the picket-boycott action was set in motion as a result of growing community support for the demand that Sears end its biased job policy, employ Negroes as clerks.

Full details will be given in next week's EAGLE.

SANTA MONICA — National Negro Congress support was announced yesterday for the fair employment picketing started at the new Sears-Roebuck store here by the local branch of the NAACP.

The NAACP has maintained a daily picket line at the store since Friday, Nov. 14, following refusal of the management to consider employment of Negro clerks, although qualified sales persons have made application.

In a letter to all members, National Negro Congress leaders said the NNC had organized a delegation to Sears' management in support of the association's campaign.

The delegation was told, the letter said, that 10 Negroes were employed in janitorial positions, the inference being that the Negro people should be satisfied with this representation.

Additional support for the pickets came from the Venice Communist party club. A club leader said that "the Communist party will do all it can to help see that this (action) is a success. 'We urge all those who desire to defeat the jimcrow practice of job discrimination to give their all to this cause."

Major Parties Urged Adopt Civil Rights Report in Platforms

The Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith has called upon President Truman and the Democratic and Republican parties to put into positive action the reccommendations of the report of the President's Committee on Civil Rights.

In a communication sent to Sen. J. Howard McGrath (D-R.I.), chairman of the Democratic national committee, and former Congressman J. Carroll Reece, chairman of the Republican national committee, Justice Meier Steinbrink of the New York State supreme court, national chairman of the Anti-Defamation League, urged that the specific proposals for the strengthening of civil rights which the President's Committee submitted three weeks ago, be incorporated in the platforms of both major parties when they assemble for national conventions in Philadelphia next year.

"A bipartisan effort of this nature will go a long way to bring the program into being," Justice Steinbrink said. He characterized the Committee's lengthy report as "a thrilling document . . . bold and candid."

In a letter to the President, Justice Steinbrink stated that "democracy and liberalism need a new rallying point, they need vital leadership." eH urged the President to assume that leadership.

"The report of your Committee," he wrote to Truman, "can provide that focus for the onward march of American democracy. Therefore, we urge that you, as President of these United States, take every step consonant with your office to press forward for the enactment and establishment of the program recommended by the report. And we also reiterate your Committee's further recommendation that the time for action is—'now'."

Specifically, Justice Steinbrink asked the President to:

- Take action on those proposals which can be met throu executive order;
- Address yourself to the congress to consider immediately those proposals which require legislation;
- Direct an appeal to the governors of the several states calling attention to the report, suggesting they take all possible action within their province.

Initiative to Reapportion Senate Filed

SACRAMENTO — An initiative to reapportion the state senate on the basis of population was filed yesterday with Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan.

The proposed constitutional amendment provides that counties be represented in the senate in proportion to their population, except that no county would have more than 10 senators.

At present all counties have one senator, thus giving scantily populated rural counties the same voice in the senate as Los Angeles county and other thickly populated counties.

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui is a liquid medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help:

1- Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion, thus help build resistance for the "time" to come.

2- Started 3 days before "your time", it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes.

Try Cardui. If it helps, you'll be glad you did.

Rankin Group to Conduct Token Probe of Fascists

WASHINGTON—Put on the spot by increasing popu- criticism of its exclusive attention to "investigating" ups engaged in the struggle to extend American demo- cy, the House un-American Activities has decided to duct a token investigation of native fascist organiza- s.

ep. John McDowell, Pennsyl- ia Republican chairman of hitherto dormant subcom- ee on fascism, said open rings on fascist groups will t in about two weeks. He that while he is not ready to name any names, "we working on some pretty im- ant people."

f the investigation comes , it will be the first time in history of the Thomas- kin Committee that it has de any effort to probe the itious activities of such ups as the Ku Klux Klan, Columbians, and the Ger- L. K. Smith outfits, de- te the fact that members the house and the senate e given it lists of Ameri- fascists for investigation.

its Nov. 17 issue, In Fact, onal news letter, charged: One reason the un-Americans se to look into fascism is be- e the directive upon which Committee functions was ten by John W. Davis, lead- attorney for the J. P. Mor- empire . . . Another reason e alliance between the un- ricans and W. R. Hearst."

Hearst, In Fact quotes for- Senator Schwellenbach (now tary of labor) as declaring: The leader of the movement this country today toward cism, the man who when he rned after a visit with Mr. Hitler in Germany editorially praised Mr. Hitler, the man who more than anybody else is advocating fascism in this country . . . is William Randolph Hearst."

Hearst, one of the main back- ers of the Youth for Christ movement, produced one of the first openly fascist films in this country, "Gabriel Over the White House."

Hearst's special editorial writ- er, Richard Washburn Child, wrote pro-fascist editorials for all the Hearst papers and at the same time engaged in various propaganda jobs including a film entitled "Man of Courage," which he declared would be an inspiration to the American people in the crisis he saw approaching, according to In Fact. The news letter declared that Child had become converted to fascism while he was U. S. ambassador to Italy. "Man of Courage" showed Mussolini marching on Rome.

The New York Post also characterized Hearst as a fascist as early as April, 1935. Said the Post:

"The revelations cast some light on the quality of Mr. Hearst's own "Americanism" for Richard Washburn Child expressed Mr. Hearst' own ideas. Add Mr. Hearst's pleasant visits with Hitler officials and the picture of Mr. Hearst's real aims is complete — he wants to destroy, not preserve democracy. Mr. Hearst would put a black shirt onthe American eagle, and make it hell."

Hearst and his chain of newspapers are today openly supporting the unAmericans' current witch hunt against progressive organizations and individuals.

Atty. Jefferson Urges Pepped-up Support For Chest Fund Campaign

Los Angeles citizens may celebrate Thanksgiving day with the knowledge that efforts are being made to give direct, sympathetic aid to the less fortunate of our people by the Community Chest.

So stated Bernard Jefferson, chairman of Adams-Central, one of the two local Community Chest Campaign districts.

Jefferson warned, however, that the degree of that aid, as well as its kind depends upon the generosity of all Los Angeles citizens in the current fund campaign.

One of the best ways we can celebrate Thanksgiving tomorrow is to be at peace with ourselves in knowing that we have supported to the best of our ability all efforts to improve the lot of the city's needy sick, and troubled," he said.

Los Angeles is fortunate in having a well developed welfare organization such as the Community Chest to handle the problem of general welfare. The Chest is currently conducting a campaign of support for 159 welfare agencies that aim at this general welfare."

Latest progress reported this week by Jefferson and his fellow campaign leader, Mrs. J. S. Peach, chairman of South Park shows general improvement with "a long way yet to go."

Jefferson announced that Adams-Central had reached 71 percent of the district goal with $5526 collected from 843 local people. The district is the 10th in the city in percentage of goal achieved.

Mrs. Peach reported reaching 23 percent of her district goal with collections totaling $631, representing the giving of 267 local people. South Park has in the past been one of the first districts in the city over its goal.

The city-wide average is 64.77 percent.

Singled out for special praise this week were additional local workers who by diligent efforts have managed to reach their subdivision goals. They form a Community Chest "honor roll" set up for successful campaigners.

As announced by campaign leaders, the local new "honor roll" campaigners here are:

Adams-Central. Jefferson reported the following of his workers were over the top: Charles Corley, 416 East 30th street; Mrs. J. L. Spinger, 509 East 35th street; Mrs. Estelle Blodgett, 432 East 43rd place; and Mrs. Bertha Dandridge, 627 East 50th street.

The following members of the Adams-Central district's special gifts committee were cited for outstanding work in the local campaign: Mrs. Gertrude Hicks, 1225 South Wilton place; Mrs. Exie Lee Hampton, 1219 East Adams boulevard; and Mrs. Lillian Anderson, 3612 Second avenue.

Mrs. Josephine Brown, Catholic cooperation chairman of Adams-Central commended the outstanding work of the Catholic women of St. Patrick's church in the campaign. Mrs. Nettie Francis, 972 East 35th street, is the leader.

Wounded Vet Paces Petition Campaign Here

World War II veteran Willie Wilson to date is the outstanding third party signature-gatherer in Local 1421, CIO United Electrical Workers.

Most of his 150 signatures on petitions to qualify the Independent Progressive party of California on the ballot have been from residents of housing projects on the Eastside.

Asked if he met much resistance from tenants in the housing projects, Wilson smiled quickly. "Oh, they're ready for it," he replied.

"A lot of them," he said, "want to know if the Progressive party is behind Wallace. I tell them we're ready for his program, and we think he's for our program. Then they sign."

As if it were just an ordinary event, he went on casually, "Yesterday I went around in the neighborhood of Long Beach and 45th, I got 26 names in 40 minutes."

It was pointed out to him that in Hollywood circulators from door to door were averaging nine an hour.

"I would have finished that petition but it started to rain," he said calmly.

Wilson served with the 92nd division in Italy. A few days before the war ended, he was wounded, but before he was wounded he had been firing a mortar so long in the last offensive he was deafened.

His hearing now restored, Willie Wilson is not entirely well. He still has pronounced headaches. But he works tirelessly in his union, and to help establish a third party.

Wilson lived in Mississippi before the war, knows what the denial of democracy means. He is determined that not only shall it not happen here, but that the democratic process shall be extended to the South.

Wilkins Case Halted As Covenanters Wait High Court Ruling

The restrictive covenant case of Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Wilkins, 2425 Sixth avenue, has been taken off the calendar at the request of those who brought the suit against the Wilkins family. They said they were willing to await the decision of the United States supreme court expected within a few days in several restrictive covenant cases now before it.

The request was made at a hearing in Judge Swain's court held last Monday morning. John T. McTernan is the attorney who represented the Wilkins family.

Fanning Urges Early Mailing Of Xmas Gifts

Postmaster Michael D. Fanning yesterday urged every citizen to take seriously the usual warning to "mail early" in order that everyone shall receive Christmas mail on time.

Fanning stated that the volume of mail being handled is now at an all-time high and that the postal authorities are expecting the biggest Christmas mailing in the history of the post office. He further stated that inasmuch as the normal facilities and personnel are now taxed to the limit, it will be imperative that all Christmas packages and letters be mailed before December 10.

"Those who 'put off' mailing their Christmas packages and greeting cards until after the 10th of December can have no assurance that these will be delivered before Christmas day," Fanning warned.

Fanning also mentioned that the public can be of great assistance to the post office in their job of handling Christmas mails by wrapping all parcels securely, by writing the addresses plainly, and by using zone numbers on every package and all greeting cards.

Finds War Yet Starving, Down To 85 Pounds

PITTSBURGH, PA.—To the long list of Negro war veterans who have suffered neglect and injury since their return from the war theatres, add this story of a white war veteran who lies in Allegheny General Hospital today suffering from malnutrition.

Police found Joseph Snyder, 22, lying on the floor of a room he shared with his brother. His wasted frame, once 165 pounds, weighed about 85, his arms and legs had shrunk to the dimensions of broomsticks.

Snyder, who said he served 22 months in the army, including a year in the European theatre, told in a weak voice how he had been unable to get work since his return from the service in October, 1945. He had not eaten regularly since his meager savings ran out three months ago, he said.

"For a while I lived on the $20 a week government unemployment compensation. I had about $200 in mustering out pay but that ran out in September," he told police.

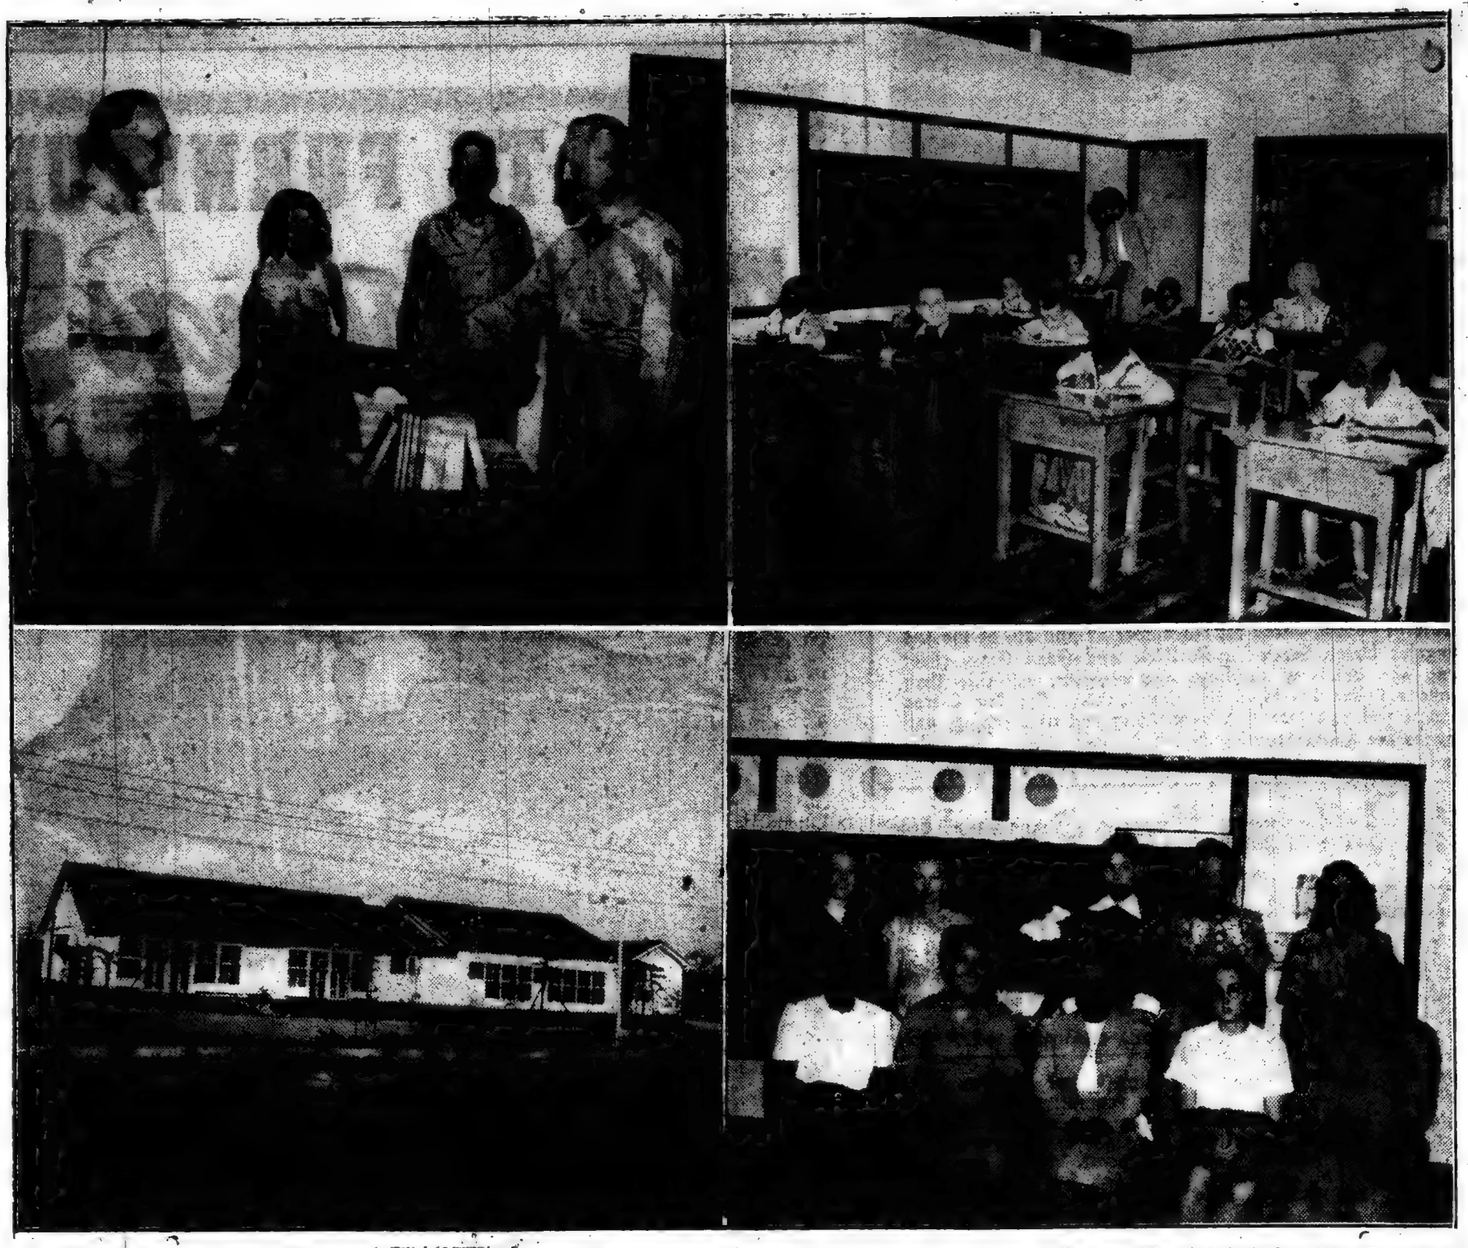
His brother Richard took Joe to live with him two weeks ago, but Joe slept on the floor because there was only one bed. He said Richard didn't have money to feed him regularly but sometimes brought him eggs or potatoes or coffee.

Voorhis Blasts Plot to Kill Cooperatives

WASHINGTON—Former Rep. Jerry Voorhis, California Democrat, charged this week that a "handful of powerful profit corporations" are working through the National Tax Equality League to destroy cooperatives and protect their own profits.

Voorhis, now executive-secretary of the Cooperative League, told the House Ways and Means Committee that cooperatives are the best possible protection against extremes of depression and inflation.

The committee is studying proposals to eliminate cooperatives' tax exemptions. Critics say the bonuses returned to members of consumers cooperatives should be taxed the same as dividends paid investors by corporations.



Voorhis praised the cooperatives for saving money for consumers, setting up yardsticks of quality, service and price and retarding the trend to monopoly.

"So a handful of powerful profit corporations who are the power that moves the National Tax Equality League and which are comparatively new in America and which are subject to intensifying extremes of inflation and depression by their methods of operation, attempt to deceive the American people and particularly the small businessman about cooperatives," he said.

The League has been spearheading the fight against cooperatives. League oficers testified it is supported by voluntary contributions.

Carrie Miller Youngest Medical Social Worker With State Board

NEW YORK—Carrie Miller, graduate of New York university and Fordham, is one of the two youngest professional workers with the New York State Workmen's Compensation Board. Graduating from college at 21, she was then the youngest member of their Phi Beta Honorary Chapter.

Miss Miller was also active in student activities and was the first president of the James Weldon Johnson Society, endorsed by the school officials and Mrs. James Weldon Johnson, wife of the late poet and philosopher. It was through Miss Miller's efforts that Negro History Week was established on the NYU's campus.

Now barely 25 years old, Miss Miller has completed work for her master of science degree in Medical Social Work from the East's Fordham university, and lends her technical knowledge of this and Case Work procedure to the After Care Service, division of the Compensation Board. As an employe of the State, Miss Miller has among her duties that of helping administrate State Compensation Law.

Carrie Miller is also known from coast-to-coast for her breezy columns, "Backstage" and "Stagedoor," in the N. Y. Amsterdam News, and the California EAGLE. Her more serious writings, include a book of poetry soon to be released by a New York publisher and a Treatise on "Negro Women In The Professions."

Miss Miller is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Miller presently visiting South America. Both parents are well known in New York, for their professional services and civic interests. A son, Carlyle Miller, is attending a South American junior college, and appeared on several New York radio programs as one of Harlem's consistent representatives in Teen-Age forums, while in public school.

Chinese Ignore Nat'l. Elections

SHANGHAI—Apathy and disdain for the phoney Kuomintang-dominated elections were virtually the rule here and in most Chinese cities as embarrassed election officials were deluged with charges of fraud, incompetence and regimentation in the first national election in China's history.

The great lack of popular enthusiasm stemmed from the fact that the voters were not given the opportunity of voting for candidates other than those of the Kuomintang party. All other political parties have been outlawed by the Kuomintang-controlled government. Lack of education of the workers and the middle class, a large percentage of whom cannot read or write, also was cited.

GOP Publisher Sparked Raid on Democratic Club

Presence of a prominent Republican publisher among the Storm Troopers who raided a meeting of the Crescenta-Canada Democratic club has added another sensational aspect to the raid, which already has been linked to the FBI, the Ku Klux Klan and anti-Semitic outbursts.

The publisher, H. C. Burkheimer of the Glendale News-Press was picked out of a district attorney's lineup this week as the man who "roughed up" Hugh Handyman, program chairman of the Democratic club, on the night of November 14.

Handyman and other members of the club unhesitatingly pointed to Burkheimer as a ringleader of the American Legion Storm Trooper gang which attempted to break up the meeting in Handyman's home.

Handyman also told local U. S. Attorney James M. Carter that he had proof that a Glendale policeman was with the gang.

Also identified as a member of the raiders was Salvador J. Felix, News-Press photographer, who was said to have carried a gun.

The dramatic identification of the Republican publisher came scant hours after county Democratic chairman Rollin McNitt first charged that Burkheimer sparked the raid.

The county Democratic central committee unanimously voted a resolution demanding criminal prosecution of the Storm Troopers.

"We declare that the act of any group in attempting by threats or otherwise to control the thinking or peaceful activities of any individuals is un-American and subversive of our democratic institution," the resolution said.

Orville Collins, commander of Glendale Legion Post 127 had previously admitted that he was one of 20 men who carried out the raid.

Two weeks before the raid on the Democratic club meeting the letters KKK were smeared on a synagogue in the same area and a Jew was said to have been beaten.

Under investigations are reports that the men who assaulted the Jew wore Legion caps and participated in the raid on Handyman's home.

Two FBI agents were said to have been present when the Storm Troopers raided Handyman's home. The FBI men did not participate in the raid, but were present as passive observers, according to reports.

Joan Blondell will get the month of July off from "Nightmare Alley" to go to Seattle to take possession of a 58-foot cruiser which she bought this week.

New Book Stresses Negro's Leading Role in Creation Of the Music of America

The influence of the Negro on American music is described as "more profound than any single souces" by David Ewen, in his new book Songs of America just published by the Ziff-Davis Publishing Company of New York and Chicago.

In Songs of America, the author tells how the Negro found himself a stranger in a foreign land, despised and rejected, who answered the need for an emotional outlet through singing, blended religion and song into the great spirituals that are now a part of the nation's musical heritage.

Among the 58 songs for which words and music are included in Ewen's book are "Gimme Dat Ol'-Time Religion," "Nobody Knows the Troubles I've Seen," and "All God's Chillun Got Wings"—songs out of the heart of a race which sang "in sorrow or in religious ecstasy and gave birth to a music which became a great art."

In telling of the coming of "ragtime," Songs of America again credits the Negro. The music that came before jazz and swing can be traced to the clog dancing of New Orleans Negroes. Originally known as "ragging" the syncopated music swept the country and made it possible for the Tin Pan Alley tunesmiths to compose the popular music of today. The improvisations of solo wind instruments—"perhaps the most important element of jazz"—found its beginnings in the Negro's desire to sing with instruments in the same way that the spiritual came out of the desire to sing with religion.

Ewen honors Duke Ellington as a "great jazz stylist"—distinguished in the triple role of composer, orchestrator, and conductor. He recognizes such works of Ellington as "Solitude," "Mood Indigo" and "Sophisticated Lady" as classics in which jazz writing has achieved precision, clarity and power.

Songs of America charts the history of American music from Colonial days to the hit parade tunes of today. It is a history of America set to melody which includes the words and music of 58 of the popular classics that reflect the spirit and flavor, the thoughts and customs of the people who wrote and first sang them. It pays tribute to the Negro people for creating a music of their own which has become the music of America and a rich contribution to the music of the world.

Lo, the Poor Male; Science Gives Little Woman New Weapon

BLOOMINGTON, Ind.—a nine-year study of the sexual behavior of more than 12,000 persons indicated that about 50 percent of all married men are unfaithful, an Indiana university professor said this week.

CIO Leader Calls For Federal Low Cost Housing, Continued Rent Controls, Covenants Ban

SAN FRANCISCO—Less investigation and more low-cost housing.

That's the demand California CIO Council Administrative Asst. Paul Schlipf put before the joint congressional committee on housing at hearings in San Francisco last Friday.

Schlipf called for federal building program and extension of federal rent controls.

"Our membership is fed up with the investigations of the housing problem," Schlipf declared, "Action and not more investigations is needed.

Schlipf urged:

- Federal rent controls extended beyond time limitation new set, with elimination of the "fraudulent 15 percent 'voluntary rent increase provisions, strengthening of the anti-evictions section of the law and restoration of the enforcement powers of the rent administrator."
- Federal construction of rental housing "with sufficient subsidy to house all Americans without respect to race, creed or economic status who cannot now secure adequate shelter within their means at today's exorbitant prices."
- Government assistance to manufacturers of industrially built low-cost housing.
- Limitations on non-residential construction.
- Present occupants of existing publicly-built war housing projects be given consideration in the disposition of such projcts.
- Immediate enactment by congress of the original Wagner-Ellender-Taft bill and the Doulas-Taylor bills.
- Appropriate congressional legislation to end restrictive covenants.

Schlipf suggested that if the committee did wish to go investigating it investigate the "exorbitant real estate prices and the high profits which are made by the builders."

Citing CIO research department statistics Schlipf pointed out that in California there is an immediate need for 743,368 housing units.

With only one-third of the families needing housing able to pay more than $6000 or $50 a month the $5000 home of 1940 is new selling for between $10,000 and $15,000 and 82 percent of newly built rental units are renting for $50 and up, Schlipf pointed out.

He presented excerpts from San Francisco advertisements revealing that practically all available apartments were renting for over $100 a month.

Answering charges of the "building fraternity" that wages are the cause of high construction prices Schlipf pointed out that "The U .S. department of labor reports hourly wages of construction workers increased 53 percent from 1940 to the middle of 1947. This would increase housing costs between 16 and 20 percent. Housing prices have increased between 120 and 150 percent.

Legion May Drop Fight On Public Housing In U. S.

WASHINGTON—Rank and file members of the American Legion scored a post-convention victory this week in forcing the ousting of Richard Cadwallader as housing chairman.

It was Cadwallader who blocked passage of a resolution at the convention favoring government housing and openly supported the campaign of the real estate lobby against public housing.

The new Legion housing chairman will be Walter Alessandroni of Philadelphia, the man who led the fight against Cadwallader.

Communists (?) In France

All is not going so well in France, and its sister country, Italy, in the attempt to smooth out the trail over which the Marshall plan for aid to western Europe is to roll

Of course, the "Communists" are to blame for all that. Evidently, according to many of our American newspapers, no French peasant, no Italian workingman has the ability to do any thinking at all for himself. But do they expect us to believe that close to a million workingmen would walk away from work, just at the mere say-so of one or two Communists? All we have read and heard of the French and Italian workers is directly the contrary of such a spirit.

Working people all over France are mobilizing. They have struck for better working conditions, for higher wages which they know full well can be paid, and they do not intend to accept a sop of a few bushels of wheat from the capitalists of the United States as a substitute.

But are all these Communists? Isn't it possible that workers can organize and can strike without being Communists? If they have members of the Communist Party as their leaders, it is because those leaders best express their desires and because under their leadership they seem most likely to attain those desires.

A new government is taking the helm of France in one of that country's darkest hours. It is said to be striving desperately to steer a course between the De Gaulists on the right, and the Communist Party on the left.

We wish it well. France has suffered much in her history. Enough, we should say, to have at last a stable government, one that would really represent the people. And if the new regime may not answer all the hopes of the French peasants and workers, it will at least move in that direction.

And if the De Gaulists are not swayed too much by American capitalists, and if they can be persuaded to let the French common people work out their own salvation, there is a reasonable hope that eventually those same people will be able to establish their own government without the shedding of blood. Enough has been shed already to pay for all of France's sins.

There is another great IF implied in the hope of peace for France. Or Italy. Or China. Or any other country where the people are fighting against the tyranny of their overloads—the big business men of their country.

It is the lying propaganda being disseminated by the newspapers and radio. Especially the American press. It is not only the Hearst and the McCormick papers. They have been acknowledged reactionaries for many years. It is the slant given to news in newspapers formerly considered fairly liberal. All of the peasants fighting in Northern China for what we fought for in 1776, are "Communists," according to most newspaper logic. All of the workers in France and Italy who are asking for better working conditions, are "Communist" led.

And from those who know comes a thunderuous "Not true" to all these insinuations. It is newspaper ethics to print the truth. And if our newspapers cannot learn the real truth, then any paper worth the ink with which it is printed should refrain from saying anything.

It Can't Happen Here!!

So it has really happened in America, the thing we've been told over and over again, "It can't happen here."

You have read the headlines in the papers and heard over the radio of the 17 "storm troopers" wearing American Legion caps who broke up a meeting of a legally organized Democratic club in La Crescenta recently. The 17 men entered the home of Hugh Hardyman, where the meeting was being held, roughed up the chairman, read a prepared ultimatum telling the club to disperse within 10 minutes, or else, and acted in a generally tyrannical and Hitler-like manner.

Five of the 17 men confessed that they were members of the H. C. Burkheimer owned Glendale News-Press. Burkheimer himself was one of the number, another was the photographer of the paper who took pictures and had them published in the News-Press the next day. The other 12 admitted they were members of American Legion Post 127 in Glendale. In fact Orville Collins, commander of the Post, was their leader.

Now, we've been reading and hearing stories of "Communist" organizations having their places of meeting raided. But the majority of us thought little or nothing about it. Obstruction of justice? Oh, well, they were just "Communists," we said. And let it go at that. Even though we had been warned again and again that what was happening to "Communists" would eventually happen to all trade unions and finally to all real Americans.

But we weren't interested. Now, however, we are beginning to sit up and take notice. It can happen here. It is happening here. If a Democratic Club can be raided, so also can a Republican Club. And likely will be. Especially if it is a Club that prefers to do its own thinking, and refuses to take orders from the powers-that-be above.

Fortunately, at long last, the citizens of Los Angeles and Glendale are aroused. Everyone of those 17 raiders has been given a criminal complaint ordering him to appear in court to answer the charges of disturbing the peace, disturbing an assembly, and using threats in violation of the state election code. Each count carries a possible penalty of $1000 fine and a year's imprisonment. Let's hope, for the sake of justice and of discipline, everyone is convicted. We want no more of Hitler's stormtroopers in America.

Jim Crow Can Be Licked

Citizens of Gary, Indiana, with a population of 130,000 has shown to the world that Jim Crow can be licked, if the people make up their minds to do it.

Gary's schools appeared in the headlines some two years ago when white pupils staged a walk-out in protest to Negro students enrolling in their high school. Frank Sinatra, you remember, even went to Gary to urge those high school students to be "real Americans" and that America was made up of all citizens, black and white. But his pleading had little effect.

The Board of Education adopted a resolution. Stated briefly: "Children under the jurisdiction of the Gary public schools shall not be discriminated against in the school districts in which they live, or within the school which they attend, because of race, color, or religion."

The labor unions, the different liberal organizations of the city backed up the school board in its decision. But last fall in one school which had an enrollment of 1700, some 1300 of its students walked out. Nevertheless the school board, the teachers, the truant officers remained firm.

Those rebellious youngsters were treated as truants. Parents who disregarded the truancy notices were notified that they would be charged with contributing to juvenile delinquency.

And at last the un-American Jim Crow element was forced to yield. The parents of the absentees met and decided they couldn't buck the solid opposition of the community.

Negro children are enrolled in any school in Gary today. They are quiet and well-behaved. There has been no trouble of any kind since the grown-ups made up their minds to quit acting like spoiled children. Gary schools no longer have any "racial problems."

But what about the schools of Los Angeles? Has our Board of Education adopted any resolution saying "children of Los Angeles schools shall not be discriminated against?" We remember the sporadic outbursts in Fremont High school, egged on no doubt by the parents of the parents of the Fremont students

In our opinion, if the principal of the Fremont High, if the Los Angeles Board of Education showed just as much intestinal fortitude as the Board of Education of Gary, Indiana, there would never be any fear of any discrimination shown anywhere in any of the schools of this city.

Los Angeles, which boasts a population of more than ten times that of Gary, which claims to be the third city in the United States, should have ten times as much civic pride as the little city in Indiana. Mere size counts for nothing. A city, like an individual, is judged by its actions, not by its much boasting.
